Iron Refuse for Manure.

Many readers have doubtless heard of the "Thomas-Gilchrist process." It consists in lining the Bessemer converter (the vessel in which the molten pig iron is subjected to the blast of air) with a basic material which combines with the phosphoric acid formed by the oxidation of the phosphorus contained in pig iron made from the most abundant and cheapest iron ores. The phosphate thus obtained should be useful as a manure, and M. Fleischer has for some time past been working on the subject to determine whether such theoretical anticipation is verified in practice.

Numerous experiments made at various experimental stations show some good results when this slag, ground to powder, was tried against other manures, and although M. Fleischer thinks it premature to give a definite opinion, he believes that Hemp is a good manure for this material. Deep [illegible] recommended.

PROGRESS IN ART.

The Evolution of the Artistic Sense in the Race—Religion's Part.

The history of the development of the artistic sense in the race is quite as surprising as that of the evolution of any other faculty or power, or of any great movement that may have had centuries for its culmination. The student of art, commencing with primitive forms as discovered in the remains of Oriental cities, and passing through the cultured period of Greece to the dominancy of mediæval imagery and on to the present time, will be struck with the advantages of each succeeding period, and the complete triumph of taste in our latest civilizations.

Primitive art in Egypt, Assyria and Phœnicia, with its grotesque images and incongruous ideas of beauty, served to excite the fears of the people, developing all the superstition of which they were capable, and thus became the source, not of moral education but of degradation and oppression of the intellectual life.

Religion was not the mother of superstitious art, for the latter really preceded the former, and became the mother of the superstitious symbols of religion. In this way the æsthetical principle, untrained and without subjective strength, ran to objective forms that discredited it, and really perverted the religious principle itself.

With the development of a refined æsthetics among the Greeks religion had another chance of expressing itself, but while primitive art tinctured religion with superstition, Grecian art corrupted it, and in time extinguished its open manifestation. As neither the one nor the other in any way assisted in the purification of religion or the assertion of its teachings, Christianity finally appropriated it, and has both borrowed from it its entertaining power and conferred upon it its approval and benediction.

At the present time art stands alone; it is not the handmaid of religion, nor is it related to religion any more than it is to civilization. In this isolated condition it may be better viewed and estimated than when vitally related to a particular religion or a particular form of civilization. It is now in bondage to nothing, but is seeking a channel of its own, a form and an expression that must distinguish it from all associated developments of the art life in man. Free from the direction of religion it is not particularly directing or aiding religion, but is developing itself in spontaneous forms according to its constitutional vigor, and with reference to no ends but art itself, except the great end of all conserving forces—the education of the race.

Art is not for religion, but for itself, and to be judged by what it is in itself, unrelated to other things. Thus its perfection, or imperfection, will be determined, not by its relation to religion, but by its own potencies and the ends it serves in human society. It has outgrown primitism, cultured paganism and Roman Catholic individualism; and, being free, like commerce, philosophy and social statistics, it should powerfully aid the race in culture, refinement and progression.—Methodist Review.

The Tactics of Love.

Miss Hurryup—Ah! George, you cannot tell what troubles a girl has who is receiving the attentions of a gentleman.

Mr. Holdoff—Troubles, Carrie? Of what nature, pray?

Miss H.—Well, one's little brothers are always making fun of one, and one's relatives are always saying, "When is it to come off?" as if marriage was a prize fight. There's the inquisitiveness of one's parents. They want to know everything. There's pa, now; he is constantly asking such things as: "Carrie, what are Mr. Holdoff's intentions? What does he call upon you so regularly for, and stay so late when he does call?" And he sometimes looks so mad when he asks these questions that I actually tremble.

Mr. H.—And what answer do you make to his questions, Carrie, dearest?

Miss H.—I can't make any answer at all, for you see you haven't said anything to me, and—and—of course, I—I——

Then Mr. Holdoff whispered something in Carrie's ear, and the next time her father questions her she will be ready with a satisfactory reply.—Boston Courier.

How It is.

"You take your life in your own hand when you travel on this street car line," said one passenger to another.

"Why, the cars travel so slowly I can't see how fatal accidents can occur."

"That's it, exactly. You are likely to die of old age before you reach the end of the line."—Harper's Bazar.

Cigarettes Not Tobacco.

THE NEW DISCOVERY.

You have heard your neighbors and friends talking about it. You may yourself be one of the many who know from personal experience just how good a thing it is. If you have ever tried it, you are one of its staunch friends, because the wonderful thing about it is, that when once given a trial, Dr. King's New Discovery ever after holds a place in the house. If you have never used it and should be afflicted with a cough, cold or any throat, chest or lung trouble, secure a bottle at once and give it a fair trial. It is guaranteed every time, or money refunded. Trial bottles free at N. P. Brainard's drugstore.

A LADY'S PERFECT COMPANION

Our new book by Dr. John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness, and many other evils attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: it will save you great pain, and possibly your life. Send two cent stamp for descriptive circulars, testimonials, and confidential letter sent in sealed envelope. Address Frank Thomas & Co., Publishers, Baltimore, Maryland.

HOLD IT TO THE LIGHT.

wastes or gives away during the year many pounds of valuable kitchen grease, each pound of which, when rendered in a few minutes be converted into two pounds of the PUREST SOAP, far superior to any soap that can be found on sale. The only cost for making ten pounds of this soap, with lye and one-half pounds of grease or oil, is the trifling cost of one can of BANNER LYE.

Dissolve the contents of one can of Banner Lye in three and one-half pints of cold water and pour slowly into five and one-half pounds of lukewarm grease, stirring from the one way until it thickens into a mushy condition; then pour into any kind of mould to harden. Any child can make it, and full directions are found on back of each label.

A can of Banner Lye will do the work of twenty-one pounds of washing soda, and besides its value for scrubbing purposes, for cleansing and disinfecting of Sinks, Closets and Waste Pipes, destroying the Filth and Disease arising therefrom, makes it, when mixed as stic use one of the greatest boons the housekeeper has fallen heir to.

The Seventh Day Adventists of the Pennsylvania Conference will hold their annual Camp Meeting and Conference at Castanea, Lock Haven, Pa., June 3 to 10, 1890. Public services will be held every day at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. in a large pavilion erected for the purpose. Reduced rates on all principal railroads will be given. Many eminent speakers will be present. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

"Bill" Decker of Wellsville, is making arrangements to sell liquor in Wellsville in "original packages," believing that a recent decision in the Federal Courts will sustain him in so doing. The "original package" scheme seems to be a loop-hole in the law through which liquor dealers can escape the penalty of selling without license. The matter is to be brought to the attention of Congress and an attempt will be made to secure such legislation as will enable states and towns to "make prohibition prohibit." It can't be done too soon.

A law-suit between Julius Updyke and N. P. Brainard was tried last Friday before Justice Kinney and a jury. L. C. Van Fleet appeared for Updyke and O. A. Fuller of Wellsville, for Brainard. The case had been tried before, the jury not agreeing. The action was brought to secure payment for sawing a quantity of lumber. There was a number of complications in the case, but the jury thought Updyke entitled to the full amount claimed, less some offsets in the shape of negotiated notes, and rendered judgment accordingly.

Dr. Jones' Lecture.

Doctor Jones, who is to lecture at the M. E. church on Wednesday, May 28, is a born Irishman, full of wit, wisdom, pathos, and pleasantry. He is among the best scholars in Western New York. He was pastor of the Methodist church of Bradford, Pa., from 1885 to 1889, when he was made pastor of Asbury Church, Rochester, N. Y. He ranks as one of the ablest ministers in the Genesee Conference. Be sure and hear him.

HIGH WATER.

We are Reminded Again of the "Big Flood."

Yesterday morning all the creeks and small streams in this vicinity overflowed their banks and railroad traffic was impeded. The water covered the street near the railroad track in this village, and the flats lying near the creek were also under water. No great damage resulted and before noon the water began to recede.

Reports from all places in this vicinity show about the same condition.

The first trains over this division of the Erie yesterday were Nos. 14 and 12 from the west and No. 1 from the east. They all arrived about 9 p. m.

Memorial Services.

Union Memorial Services will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening. Rev. G. M. Janes will deliver a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

On Memorial Day the usual services will be held under the auspices of Seaman Post, G. A. R., and will be participated in by the Sons of Veterans, the Union School and citizens generally. The address will be delivered in Harman's hall by Rev. G. W. Gibson.

Rev. James A. Miller.

Last Friday's Angelica Republican says:

"The Rev. James A. Miller, from Union Theological Seminary, New York city, has engaged to supply the pulpit of the Presbyterian church during the summer. His first service will be next Sabbath, when he is expected to preach morning and evening."

Of course all the readers of the NEWS in this vicinity will know that the gentlemen referred to above is "our" Jas. A. Miller, whose home is very near this village in the town of Greenwood. While in New York, before his time was too much occupied in other directions, Mr. Miller wrote a number of interesting letters to the NEWS. We are sure the people of Angelica will have reason to congratulate themselves upon securing the services of Mr. Miller, and the NEWS hereby tenders him its best wishes for abundant success.

Death of a Beloved Child.

Inez, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. McTighe of this place, died on Saturday May 17, aged 7 years. She had been ill for ten days previous to her death with ghastric fever which developed into brain fever.

The funeral was held at the church of the Blessed Sacrament on Monday at 2 p. m., and was attended by a very large number of our townspeople. Rev. Father Brown officiated and spoke words of consolation to the afflicted parents and friends. The Epworth League of the M. E. church presented a beautiful cross of flowers. The department of the Union School in which Inez was a pupil was closed during the services and the scholars attended in a body, her classmates being dressed in white and following the casket carrying boquets of flowers. Six of her schoolboy friends acted as bearers.

Inez was a particularly bright and lovable child and her death carries a gloom to the hearts of many people outside the family circle of which she was a member, and although little can be done by friends to relieve the grief brought to parents by the death of a child who had promised so much for the future, yet Mr. and Mrs. McTighe have the knowledge that the sympathy of the whole community is with them in this time of affliction.

The Y. P. S. C. E. Convention.

The annual convention of the Young Peoples' Society of Christian Endeavor of this district, Steuben and Allegany counties, was held in this village on Thursday, and was the largest ever held; 212 visiting delegates being registered. The morning service was held in the Baptist church, and it was the intention to hold the afternoon session there also, but the crowd swelled so that the church would not hold them, and they adjourned to the Presbyterian church, in going from one church to the other they made quite a formidable procession. The evening session commenced at 7:15 at the Presbyterian church, which was jammed full, probably over 300 people being in the audience. A musical hour was taken, with solos rendered by out of town people, except one by Mrs. Henry Ferris. The singers received much applause. Rev. E. M. Roberts of Hornellsville, delivered an address on the "Evolution of the Christian Endeavor." He said it evolved from Methodist class meeting, which was very enthusiastically taken part in. A consecration meeting closed the session.

The Pond Broke Away.

The big pond near Andover broke loose again a few nights ago and when morning arrived the bottom was bare in many places. Thousands of crabs and small clams could be seen in the mud. The work of repairing the break was begun at once. During the big floods a year ago the dam gave way and the damage was repaired by erecting a strong fortification. It was this fortification that was forced out by the rains this week. For years the water was kept in the dam by means of a fortification made of logs.—Hornellsville Press.

The idea that the water in that pond should flow out and allow nothing to be seen but crabs and small clams! Don't you know that this pond is a private(?) park and that it is full of carp and bullheads? If John Brigham should get after you with one of his warrants you'd think there was something in the pond besides clams and crabs. If you don't believe it ask some of the "boys."

Elder H. D. Clarke delivered his second lecture on Astronomy before the Society of Christian Endeavor, at the church last Saturday afternoon. The lecture was a scientific illustration of the planetary system as understood by astronomers, and was well worth listening to.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Stillman and two children, and Miss Emma Bossard, of Alfred Centre, Mr. and Mrs. George Bloss and Mr. Algeron Wood of Andover, were in attendance at church here last Saturday.

Mr. Henry C. Coleman of Alfred Centre, and two daughters, Mas. Will Smith of Albany, and Mrs. J. H. Backus of Alfred Centre, were in town last Saturday.

Mr. Willet Barnes, of our neighboring town of Willing, who was made insane by an attack of 'la grippe,' and who was taken to the Buffalo Insane Asylum, is reported to have cut his throat. He was the son-in-law of the late Erastus Wilson.

The eight-year-old twin son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conkling, died last Saturday under peculiarly distressing circumstances. About 4 or 5 weeks ago he received a heavy fall while playing in the loft of the barn, striking on his head and shoulders, and though not disabled by the fall, did not act just right. A week or two afterward he ran against a manure fork in the hands of an elder brother, one tine of which entered his head near the temple, causing a slight wound. It is thought both shocks caused spinal trouble from which he died. Funeral was held at the house Sunday. Much sympathy is expressed for the family in their sad bereavement.

Will the editor of the NEWS please inform his readers if the dog law is inoperative in Allegany county the same as in other counties east of here?

SOME GUMPTION.

[If you mean the law requiring dogs to be registered and wear a collar, our answer is that the law is inoperative in this county as well as in all others in the state, inasmuch as it has been repealed.—EDITOR NEWS.]

To Our Subscribers.

The special announcement which appeared in our columns some time since, announcing a special arrangement with Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., of Enosburg Falls, Vt., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," whereby our subscribers were enabled to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address to B. J. Kendall Co. (and enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) is renewed for a limited period. We trust all will avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining this valuable work. To every lover of the horse it is indispensable, as it treats in a simple manner all the diseases which afflict this noble animal. Its phenomenal sale throughout the United States and Canada, make it standard authority. Mention this paper when sending for "Treatise."
