ACT ON AGGRESSIVE

Building Trades Governors to Form a Union.

MEETING CALLED FOR MAY 15.

Iron League Will Join Building Trades Association For United Action Against Demands of Labor Organizations—Most of the Trades Affected Are Already on Strike.

New York, May 13.—The most important developments in the strike situation was the expressed determination of the Building Trades Association, composed of the most prominent concerns in the building business in Manhattan and the Bronx of the iron league, which includes most of the employers of iron workers in this vicinity, to combine for united and agressive action against the demands of the labor organizations.

Upward of 100,000 workers will be affected by the action of the employers.

While some instances of violence occurred among the strikers in Brooklyn, an understanding was reached between a committee of the central federation union and the leaders of the striking rockmen and excavators that the men on the subway shall return to work today.

The governors of the Building Trades association met and practically decided to attempt to form a union similar to the labor unions. The meeting was attended by all the governors with but two exceptions and the sentiment in favor of united and aggressive action was unanimous.

As a result the following letter was sent out to every labor employer engaged in building in Manhattan and the Bronx:

"The time has arrived when employers of labor in the building trades are facing a serious situation. A meeting will be held the night of May 15 to which all are invited, for the purpose of determining what steps shall be taken to remedy the present intolerable conditions.

"Warren A. Conover, President."

The trades to be affected have a membership of more than 100,000 men. Most of these already are out of work through the lockout of the drivers by the masters, or their own strikes.

The iron league also held a meeting, J. M. Cornell presiding and took action upon the strike of the inside architectural iron workers which is now in effect.

EDITOR KILLED IN A DUEL.

He and an Ex-Judge Whom He Criticised Exchanged Shots on the Street.

Dallas, Tex., May 13.—George F. Koregay, editor of the Dalhart Sun, and ex-Judge George Keith, one of the leading lawyers and jurists of the Texas Panhandle region, fought a duel in the streets of Dalhart, pistols being the weapons. Koregay is dead and Judge Keith is in the custody of the sheriff at the jail of Dallam county.

The men had been on unfriendly terms for a long time, local politics being the cause of the ill-will. Recently the Sun had printed severe criticism of Judge Keith as a politician, a lawyer and a judge. The criticism involved the judge's personal integrity. The two men met and drew their weapons without explanation and began firing.

Keith fired four shots and Koregay three. None of the editor's shots went straight, and his antagonist escaped without a wound. Two bullets entered the body of the editor. He lived three hours, but was unable to make any coherent statement. Both men were popular.

"It was almost a miracle. Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Fitbridge, West Cornwall, Conn.

LIBERTY OF PRESS.

May Be Endangered by Grady-Salus Law.

BILL SIGNED BY THE GOVERNOR.

Bill Has Been In His Hands Over a Month—Sufferers From False Report Can Recover Damages If They Prove Negligence or Lack of Care on Publisher's Part.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 13.—Governor Pennypacker approved the Grady-Salus libel bill and at the same time issued a long statement giving the reasons for his action.

The bill, which was in the governor's hands for more than a month, goes into effect immediately and repeals all laws or parts of laws inconsistent with the new act.

The governor says in his statement that the questions raised by the bill are of very grave importance and effect large business interests, the freedom of speech and the press, the right of the citizen to be informed concerning current affairs and the conduct of government, as well as his right to protect his reputation and home from the injuries that rise from careless or negligent, as well as malicious false report.

He claims there is nothing in the terms of the measure which prevents any newspapers from making such comments upon legislative measures or upon the official acts of state, municipal, county or public officers as are proper for the information of the public or are in the line of legitimate public discussion.

Continuing, he says:

"The bill in its application is not confined to officials, but affects as well the citizen or business man, whose conduct constitutes no part of the right of the public to information. The corporation officer who has been falsely charged with crime; the manufacturer who has been falsely accused of being a drunken brawler; the woman whose domestic griefs have been unfeelingly paraded, or whose chastity is improperly suspected; the student who has been falsely accused of cheating; the clergyman who has been cruelly maligned; the quiet citizen whose peace of mind has been destroyed by the publication of evil gossip; the merchant whose credit has been affected by groundless rumors; the sufferers from reckless but not necessarily malicious publications, are given the right, not to prohibit publication, but to recover the damages which they have sustained, provided they prove negligence or lack of care on the part of the publishing newspapers. All of these are instances of what has in fact recently occurred."

After mentioning some instances in kind of recent occurrences in Pennsylvania, and referring to cartoons, the governor says: "If such abuse of the privileges of the press is to go unpunished, if such tales are permitted to be poured into the ears of men and to be profitable, it is idle to contend that reputable newspapers can maintain their purity."

The governor also says that many years' experience on the bench has led him to the conclusion that crimes are widely propagated not by the malice, but by the recklessness of the press, and that in certain classes of cases, among them murder, the accused were at times convicted or acquitted before they reached the court room. He claims that the damages provided for by the bill follows the ordinary rule of damages for want of reasonable care, and that no harm can come from the provision in the bill requiring that the names of the owners, proprietor, publisher and managing editor should be printed with each issue of a newspaper published in Pennsylvania.

He argues that the omission of the word "weekly" from the provisions of the bill was unwise, but in no sense fatal.

In conclusion he says in part:

"The proposed legislation has been regarded by a large proportion of the reputable press with great misgivings. It is natural that this should be the case. This bill may not be the best possible legislation, but the purpose is commendable, and should experience show it to be defective, something better may be devised. It ought to be cordially and cheerfully accepted by the reputable press, for they have a special interest in its becoming a law. It threatens them with no danger. Seeking to utter the truth and not the falsehood, what have they to fear?"

British Schooner Missing.

Halifax, N. S., May 13.—The British schooner Laura C. left here April 8 for Louisburg to load coal and has not since been heard of. She registered 249 tons and was about two years old.

Municipal Water Plant.

Saranac Lake, May 13.—Saranac Lake village voted to issue municipal bonds to the amount of $40,000 to procure pure water from McKenzie pond for domestic use and protection against fires.

Victim of the Mafia.

Greenwich, Conn., May 13.—Nicola Bruno, an Italian, who was shot last Friday during a strike riot, is dead. The police have received information that the leaders of the gang were members of the Mafia.

Avoidable Railroad Accidents.

The Railway Age of recent date calls attention to the "surprisingly large number of that most inexcusable form of railway accidents, head end collisions." According to the account kept by the Age, there were sixty-three accidents of that character during the first three months of 1903, involving a loss of seventy-six lives, injuries to 124 persons and enormous destruction of property.

The other important accidents in those three months numbered twenty-three and caused seventy-five deaths and injuries to about as many more. Ten of these twenty-three accidents were rear collisions, which, while regarded as inexcusable, are sometimes due to breakdowns on the train ahead without time enough to stop the train following on the same track.

Many accidents occur for lack of proper facilities, while others are a result of disobedience of orders and an engineer's willingness to take chances. Three persons were killed and five injured in a collision at Shelburne, Vt., because the engineer of a wild engine "figured that the flier would be later, but it was not late, and the collision was the result. Another similar mistake of an engineer occurred on the Illinois Central and caused three deaths.

In several cases accidents occurred because the engines used were unable to pull the heavy trains, and before they could make a siding an accident occurred. The failure of operators to deliver orders is frequently the cause of accidents, but under the block signal system a failure to deliver an order should not cause an accident if the signals are properly operated, watched and obeyed.

While due account must be taken of the infallibility of human nature, which human ingenuity cannot wholly overcome, it is apparent that the number of accidents which may fairly be termed inexcusable is far too numerous. With the growing tendency of the courts to increase the amount of damages for death and disability caused by accidents resulting from negligence, it would appear that the railroad companies would be driven in self defense, if for no other reason, to greater care in the operation of their trains.

Forest Fires and Reforestation.

Probably this spring's forest fires have done more to destroy than has been done either by public or private effort to protect the country's woods since the work of forest preservation began to receive attention. In many states vast tracts have been swept clear by the flames, and it is probable that carelessness, or worse, can justly be held responsible for the starting of every one of the many fires. No one ever hears that any one has been punished for setting forest fires, and the measures taken to extinguish them when started are for the most part of a desultory and inefficient sort.

Unless effective measures are taken to prevent these disasters, there is little use in preaching the benefits of scientific forestry or in spending money for the results so slowly to be obtained by its application. There is no question that the forests should be better protected than they are and that larger expenditures for this purpose than are now voted would receive almost unanimous public approval. At any rate, it is the height of folly to spend even a little money for guards that do not guard and to plant trees on a few acres of ground only to let fire remove them from as many square miles.

Russia continues to be "deeply pained" that her benevolent intentions in Manchuria should have been so badly misunderstood, and Secretary Hay has assured Count Cassini, the Russian foreign minister, of his "great regret" that the mistake should have occurred. This is quite according to the rules of the game and deceives no one, least of all the players concerned. Meanwhile, China has refused to grant the concessions which Russia "did not ask." At any rate, Russia may continue to serve notice that the feeling of the powers toward her permanent occupation of Manchuria Nevertheless the law of the jungle that walks like a man" continues to be heavily upon a portion of the Celestial empire, and there are no apparent indications of its removal either in the near or distant future.

The example of the New York authorities in sending Al Adams to Sing Sing appears to be contagious. In Philadelphia also a rich man who is alleged to be the backer of the policy game in that city has been arrested. This is a sort of contagion that ought to spread.

A preacher who rescued a girl from drowning in the Choptank river in Maryland last summer has just married her to another man. There is some advantage, after all, in being a clergyman.

President Castro appears to be proceeding with his customary martial duties as if that little episode with Germany had never occurred.

The introduction of the automobile police in New York adds a new terror to pedestrianism in the eastern metropolis.

TESTING METHODS

A test as to the value of newspaper advertising over other methods was made a year ago by the great publishing house of Harper & Bros. Two books were selected, one by a well known popular author and the other by an unknown writer. The latter was selected for the newspaper advertising and the other for the usual channels.

With equal expenditure the work advertised in newspapers outsripped the other in sales by 200,000 copies.

The result was a complete surprise and established the fact that readers go to the newspapers for information with regard to books as well as with regard to most other matters.—National Printer-Journalist.

The best advertising medium for any merchant is the local paper which goes into the homes of the people, as this paper does.

Doctor

Tried but Could Not Relieve Me

Of Headache, Dizziness, Twitching.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Did Relieve and Cure.

"The doctor tried but couldn't relieve me" is a phrase commonly met with in the letters we receive from grateful patients. The reason is plain. The doctor tries to cure the symptom and neglects the disease. In all cases of chronic headache, nervousness, weakness, general debility, dizzy spells, loss of appetite, inability to sleep, lack of energy, loss of flesh, lack of interest, morbid tendencies, hysteria, the disease is a nervous disorder and some means must be taken to strengthen and restore the nervous system. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is performing wonders every day and will cure you as it has thousands of others. Read how quickly it acted in the following case:

"A few years ago I was greatly troubled with nervousness and indigestion. While at work a dizzy spell would come over me and I would be forced to stop and rest. I suffered terribly from headaches and my nervousness was so marked as to cause almost constant twitching of the muscles. My doctor tried but could not relieve me. I finally began the use of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and continued until I have used four bottles, although I have not had a dizzy spell since taking the first dose. I am very thankful for what your medicine has done for me and shall take pleasure in recommending it whenever I can."—FRANK P. BENTLEY, Middlebury, Vt.

A SWEEPING INJUNCTION

Omaha Business Men Restrained from Boycotting Union Labor.

Omaha, May 13.—Judge Dickinson in the district court, on application of John O. Yeiser, an attorney representing the labor unions whose members are on strike, issued an injunction against the business men and proprietors even more sweeping than that issued by the federal court against the unions last week.

The order restrains the business men from refusing to sell goods to dealers who employ union labor, prevents them from boycotting union labor, requires the business men's association to cease holding meetings or conspiring against the unions or in any way interfering with the unions in the management of their affairs.

Some of the other provisions of the injunction restrain the business men from receiving or paying out any money whatever in pursuance of any agreement to break up labor unless, except attorneys in this action, from paying or offering any money to officers or members of unions directly or indirectly as a bribe; from importing any laborers into the city of Omaha or state of Nebraska, in pursuance of any existing plan to destroy labor organizations, and from bringing any other injunction suits or actions, in pursuance of any general plan of prosecutions to break up labor unions, or of any new or similar plans connected directly or indirectly with any existing plans.

Federal Salt Company Guilty.

San Francisco, May 13.—Before Judge Dellaven in the United States district court, the Federal Salt company, of which D. E. Skinner is president, was convicted of maintaining a monopoly contrary to the Sherman anti-trust law. When the case was opened counsel for the corporation withdrew its original plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to the first count of the indictment. Judge De Haven will pronounce sentence on Thursday. The maximum fine is $5,000.

No Cut in Steel Billets.

New York, May 13.—A high official of the United States Steel corporation said that there was no truth in the report of a cut in the price of steel billets. He pointed out that the corporation had only recently commenced to turn out billets at their plant at Youngstown to meet the demand. Dispatches from Pittsburg bring denials of any cut in billets. The denials come from the Jones and Laughlin Steel company and the Carnegie Steel company.

Declines the Appointment.

Yonkers, N. Y., May 13.—F. W Hollis, who was asked by President Roosevelt to act in the capacity of umpire in the Venezuelan dispute said last night that he would have to decline the honor.

Railway Conductors.

Pittsburg, May 13.—Grand Chief Conductor Clark stated that during the past six months the railway conductors had succeeded in having wages readjusted, carrying with it a general increase on all of the railroads of three countries with the exception of the Mobile and Ohio and the Great Northern. Since its organization the order has paid to the widows and orphans of members and to those permanently disabled $5,000,000. The association has about $5,000,000 invested in good securities and its financial condition is exceptionally good.

A German newspaper which is said to have a semiofficial character pictures Brazil as the future India of the German empire. If the German ambassador would encourage a more tolerant tone in the American press toward Germany, which he professes to desire, he should begin by choking off such outbreaks as this in the pipes of his own country.
