Short Talks on Advertising
By Charles Austin Bates.

No. 9.

The first insertion of an advertisement very seldom pays. That is to say—if you have never advertised before in a certain paper it will take some little time for its readers to get acquainted with you, and until they do, don't expect much return. There are occasional exceptions, of course, but they are few and far between. It is the systematic, persistent effort that pays in advertising as in everything else. In taking medicine the regularity of the dose is almost as important as the drug itself.

For that reason the columns of the newspaper offer the very best medium for business announcements. For that reason, programs and wall hangers and schemes of all sorts, from an industrial write-up of the town to a picture card, are never effective. It may be well enough to indulge in a pretty novelty occasionally, if you are using all the space you need in the papers.

"The local newspaper goes into the home bristling with intelligence."

I have been a publisher of programs and of other "schemes" I have advertised for them, and in my whole experience on both sides of the fence, I have never heard or known of a single advertisement in a medium (?) of that kind that paid.

The local newspaper goes into the house bristling with intelligence, brimful of the news of the world, sparkling with the daily doings of the community. If its advertisers are awake to their opportunities it contains business news of value to every reader, for it pays to read advertisements. Advertisements are becoming more truthful every day. Business men know that their news must be true, or it will fail—they remember the story of the boy and the wolf. I think it is safe to say that any woman who makes a business of reading business news—ads.—will increase the buying power of her husband's dollars as much as twenty-five per cent. I am not sure but that the percentage is even greater at my house.

Remember the story of the boy and the wolf.

FATAL LIGHTNING BOLT.

Struck a Tree, Glanced and Killed Nelson S. Anderson.

Washington, N. J., July 29.—Early Sunday night in a severe thunder shower lightning struck and killed Nelson S. Anderson, a successful contractor and builder of Port Murray. Anderson's wife and her sister were knocked down.

To escape the intense heat Anderson and his family were sitting under a large pine tree in front of his house. As Anderson was about to enter the house a bolt struck the tree top, descended to within 18 feet of the ground, struck a knot and glanced off and hit Anderson on the breast. The fluid ran down his left side and burned a deep furrow in his foot. His shoe was torn off.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

PRISONERS AT LARGE.

One of Escaped Convicts Killed by Posse.

HAVE RELEASED THE HOSTAGES.

Convicts Are Now Near the Sierra Nevada Mountains—Pursued by Sheriffs and Deputies of Three Counties and a Company of Militia—Escaped from Surrounding Posse.

Placerville, Cal., July 29.—Of the 11 convicts who escaped from the state penitentiary at Folsom Monday 12 are still at large. Joe Murphy, who was serving a 14 years sentence for robbery, was shot dead Monday night at Pilot Hill.

Gordon, the reported leader of the gang, who had been sentenced to 40 years for robbery, deserted his fellowers soon after they left the prison. It is not known where he went. A negro convict named Seavis, who was reported wounded, appears not to have been injured.

The outlaws who remain together are making for the Sierra Nevada mountains. They are closely pursued by the sheriffs of three counties, backed by deputies, and assisted by a company of militia. About 20 guards from the Folsom prison are also engaged in the chase. A desperate battle is anticipated.

The work of the pursuing posses has been rendered less difficult than was anticipated by the unexpected action of the convicts, who have released all of the men they held as hostages. The convicts are now believed to be near Placerville, not far from the mountains, where they evidently hope to find refuge.

The fight at Pilot Hill between the convicts and their pursuers seems to have been a more serious affair than at first reported. After they had looted a provision store the convicts were practically surrounded by a strong posse.

All four heroes of the convicts wagon were shot and one of the criminals was killed outright. The outlaws raised a white flag and marched up the road with the guards and others whom they had captured on each side of them. A general volley was not ordered for fear of killing innocent men. The pursuing officers have been instructed to shoot the convicts on sight.

Building Trades Situation.

New York, July 29. — Another important move was made in the labor situation when the Iron League, employers of the iron workers, following the action of the Employers' association, sent formal notice to the House smith and Bridgemen's union that unless their men returned to work by next Monday their places will be filled by any men who are willing to work individually under the joint arbitration agreement. In taking this step the iron employers received the support of the newly organized board of building trades.

Railway Strikes in Russia.

London, July 23.—The Russian correspondent of the Times says that the strike at Baku seems to have been the most serious labor disturbance that has ever occurred in Russia; that it extended to Tiflis, to Nostof and Novo Tcherkask, in the district of the Don Cossacks, and that the Far Eastern railway employes were concerned. According to the same authority the disturbances have been renewed at Borisoglebsk, on the railway between Voronoch and the Lower Volga.

Arrested For a New York Murder.

Philadelphia, July 29. — Patrick Shea, alias Sheerna, who is wanted in New York city in connection with the murder of Michael McMahan, and who was arrested here, was given a hearing and held to await requisition papers from New York. McMahan's widow identified Shea. When recognized Shea is reported to have said: "It is all up with me now." The murder occurred on May 5 and was the result of a quarrel.

Transport Six Aground.

Washington, July 29.—Quartermaster General Humphrey has been informed by cable that the transport Dix went aground off the Japan coast last Saturday. She has since been docked at Dragen and it is estimated that it will take 40 days to make the necessary repairs as she is in rather bad condition. The Dix had on board 225 tons of Philippine exhibits for the St. Louis exposition.

Hawaiians Want Home Rule.

Honolulu, July 29.—At the session of the Home Rule convention ex-Delegate Wilcox urged that congress be memorialized to grant Hawaiian independence and the establishment of a government similar to that of Cuba. His remarks were received enthusiastically. It is probable that a petition embodying Wilcox's views will be prepared.

New College For Women.

Geneva, N. Y., July 29.—It was announced that William Smith, a millionaire manufacturer, will found and endow a college to be known as the William Smith college for women. The institution will be on a plot of 50 acres in the outskirts of the city. The plan call for one building to cost $110,000.

Our Relations With Russia.

Just what relation the "open door" in China bears to the slaughter of Jews in Bessarabia is not quite clear, though it is significant that on the day following the receipt of formal assurances from the Russian government that no further objection would be offered to the opening of the Manchurian ports the secretary of state announced that the so called Kishineff incident was closed by the refusal of the Russian government to receive a petition in behalf of its Jewish subjects.

Outwardly, of course, there is supposed to be no connection between these events, but the circumstances suggest something of the kind. However, as the matter of the petition is a "closed incident" it is not particularly important whether there was any diplomatic connection between it and the promise of Russia not to interfere with our trade in Manchuria. At any rate, the czar's government has a pretty clear idea of public and official sentiment in this country in regard to the Kishineff outrage, and possibly the moral effect of the protest is as great as though it had actually been presented. It went far enough to cause the Russian government to take energetic steps to punish the Kishineff rioters.

As to the agreement of Russia in the Manchurian matter, the state department appears to have won a substantial victory. The United States had previously been assured that the Chinese government would "open as treaty ports several ports in Manchuria now close to the world's trade." Now Russia, which practically controls Manchuria, assures us that it will not in any way interfere with the opening of these ports, as proposed by China.

Although the ports to be opened have not been specified, it is gathered from communications that they are Mukden, the principal inland port of Manchuria, and Tatungkao, at the mouth of the Yalu river.

If Russia keeps her promise, as the state department apparently believes she will, this action is of highest importance both to this country and other nations trading in Manchuria. It means the fulfillment of the American policy of the "open door" in China, which is practically the source of our contention in that quarter.

Threatened "Chop Suey" Trust.

According to the Chicago Record-Herald, that city is threatened with a "chop suey" trust, the distressing news being given out that Chinese restaurants are being absorbed by a Chinese company and that Chicago epicures will have to pay a fancy price for "chop suey."

Since the "great fire," from which all things Chicagoesque are counted, the Windy City has suffered from many things—tornadoes in corn and pork, strikes innumerable, microbes in the lake water, et cetera—but a "chop suey" trust seems to be trenching very nearly upon the limit of Chicago patience and endurance.

In Chicago, as elsewhere, the "chop suey" habit is a hard one to break off when once acquired by an American. To the palate of the epicure it is the choicest product of Chinese cookery. Not one in a thousand knows what it is made of; but, like American sausage or corn beef hash, it is taken "on faith" and no questions asked.

"Chop suey" is a mixture of the white meat of chicken chopped fine, white mushrooms, sliced water chestnuts, celery, onions and bean sprouts, with a seasoning of "Gee Yow," or brown sauce. Most of the vegetables used are imported direct from the Celestial Kingdom.

Thus it may be seen that "chop suey" is innocent of any canine or rodential ingredients. Indeed, no one cares about its composition so long as it is "chop suey" and is made by a Chinaman. The important thing to be considered is how to throttle the "chop suey" octopus and keep the price within the reach of the plain people.

After negotiations lasting three months the conductors and brakemen on the Illinois Central railroad have obtained advances in wages which will add more than $200,000 to the annual pay roll of the company. This is much better for both the men and the company than a strike would have been. If fair and full discussion were common had in regard to labor disputes there would be fewer strikes.

It now appears that the Missouri Pacific, the Wabash and other Gould railroad properties are to be welded into one great transcontinental system, following the example of the Rock Island and Frisco consolidation. At the present rate of merger it is only a matter of time until there will be only one railroad system in the country.

At this season of the year the weather prophet can generally feel sure of being vindicated sooner or later if he keeps right on predicting hot weather.

At any rate there is no lack of hands in Europe to harvest the crop of American tourists, which is more abundant this season than ever.

Kansas tall cornstalk stories are now about ripe and the crop promises to be unusually abundant.

Another Mosquito Remedy.

The announcement comes from Washington that Dr. Charles Wardell Stiles of the United States public health and marine hospital service has discovered a parasite, which he has named the Agonomermi culicus, or mosquito destroyer, which, it is believed, can be artificially propagated and used to kill off the mosquito far more rapidly and successfully than any of the many means previously suggested, whether oil, permanganate of potash, wire screens or "toy" minnows. The Agonomermi culicus is an internal parasite which causes infection in the larvæ or pupal stages of the insect, making it sluggish in its habit, rendering the female unable to breed and killing the mosquito in its early youth before it has become troublesome.

The agitation over the mosquito is gratifying, because it may sooner or later solve the problem of exterminating the insect. Mankind, which has stood its irritating sting for countless centuries, is growing restive. It would seem, too, that the mosquitoes are growing worse. The papers tell of swarms of them in the suburbs of Greater New York that have made life there almost unendurable, and even in England, where the mosquito was supposed to be extinct, it has become a nuisance the like of which cannot be remembered. In all the London suburbs along the Thames, especially at Woolwich and Greenwich, and even in the highlands toward Blackheath, swarms of mosquitoes have appeared.

It is to be hoped that the Agonomermi culicus will prove an effective destroyer. Despite the failure of various experiments, the phagocyte remedy—that is, using one insect to destroy another—is apparently the surest means of getting rid of the mosquito, and if Dr. Stiles' little parasite will do the trick he and it are to be hailed as public benefactors.

Seeking the Magnetic Pole.

There is a possibility that the arctic expedition of Captain Roald Amundsen, who recently sailed from Christiania on the whaling ship Gjoa for the far north, may be of great importance to science. Captain Amundsen is not seeking the geographical pole, as so many adventurers have done, but is bent on finding the exact location of the north magnetic pole.

The only explorer who located the magnetic pole even approximately by observation was Sir James Clark Ross, who in 1831 found it to be at about 70 degrees 7 minutes north latitude and 96 degrees 39 minutes west longitude.

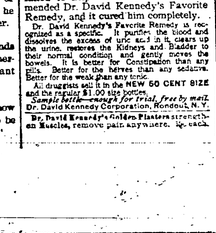
Captain Amundsen has planned to spend about five years in the work. He will establish a station in the neighborhood of the magnetic pole and will devote about two years to work at that point. Then he will move westward, ice conditions permitting, with the intention of passing around the northern coast of this continent and coming out through Bering strait. If he succeeds he will of course have made an actual northwest passage with his boat, a feat never yet performed, although attempted by a number of explorers. Franklin's expedition was lost in attempting to discover such a passage. The fate of this party was determined more than thirty years later by Lieutenant Schwatka of the United States army.

Captain Amundsen, who is a Norwegian, was the first officer of the Belgica, in which the Gerlach expedition explored the antarctic region in 1897-99. His present undertaking is largely the result of the efforts of Professor Neumayer of Hamburg, the leading authority on terrestrial magnetism.

Cholera Infantum.

This has long been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated. All that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy and castor oil, as directed with each bottle, and a cure is certain. For sale by O. E. Vars & Son, Andover, and N. E. Coston, Greenwood.

A CIVIL WAR VETERAN



J. W. Stanton of Canastota, N. Y., contracted Rheumatism during the civil war, owing to the constant exposure, and up to a few years ago suffered torments. The best of doctors failed to help him. A friend recommended Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and it cured him completely.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is recognized as a specific. It purifies the blood and removes the excess of uric acid in the urine, restores the Kidneys and Bladder to their normal condition, and gently moves the bowels. It is better for Constipation than any pills. Better for the nerves than any doctors. Better for the weak than any tonic.

All druggists sell it in the NEW 50 CENT SIZE and the regular $1.00 size bottles.
