Death of Rev. Andrew Sutherland.

Rev. Andrew Sutherland died at his residence in Rochester on Friday, Feb. 27, 1891. Mr. Sutherland was a retired Methodist minister. He was located in Andover two years, leaving here about six years ago. From here he went to Webster, N. Y., which was his last charge, his eyesight failing him while at that place. He afterwards moved to Rochester, where he has since resided. He leaves a wife, two daughters and three sons. Mr. Sutherland had been a member of the Genesee conference for fifty years, and served three terms as presiding elder. The funeral services were held on Monday at the first M. E. church of Rochester. Rev. Dr. Wilbur of Rochester made extensive remarks concerning the work of the deceased brother, and brief remarks were also made by other ministers, of whom a large number were present.

Mr. Sutherland made many warm friends during his pastorate in Andover, all of whom will be grieved to learn of his death, and who will also extend sympathy to his widow and family.

Effects of Railway Whistles.

An eminent Glasgow aural surgeon, Dr. Thomas Barr, has communicated to the British Medical association some valuable data concerning the injurious effects of railway whistles upon the hearing. In railway whistles the arrangement for regulating the pressure of steam passing through from the boiler to the whistle is not usually sufficiently delicate. If the boiler should be under high pressure the whistle is very much louder and shriller than when it is under low pressure. So that when a passenger train is leaving a station for a long run, and having, therefore, its boiler under high pressure, the whistle is unnecessarily loud and shrill, just when those qualities are least required.

Dr. Barr urges upon the attention of the association the adoption of lower pitched whistles, with proper regulators, so as to lessen the present jarring of sensitive ears and nerves. The question of whether a whistle of lower pitch than that usually employed would be as efficient as an acoustic signal is said to have been solved by the introduction on a Scotch railway of a new form of whistle very much resembling an organ pipe. The steam is forced on the lower edge of a brass tube closed at the upper end, and the sonorous impulses are taken up by the current of air in the tube and immensely re-enforced, the pitch depending upon the length of the tube as well as upon the force of the blast. The sound resembles very much a steamboat whistle, being loud and much lower in pitch and, therefore, less painful to the ear than the ordinary railway whistle.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Despise Not Old Maids.

How old maids are misjudged! It is a great mistake to suppose that most of them are old maids from necessity. How many a bride or matron, who carries her head high and flaunts her rich dresses and glories in her costly equipages, would have her pride humbled if she only knew that the neighboring old maid, whom she affects not to despise, to be sure, but whose condition she commiserates, had refused her own liege lord long before she herself ever had a chance to marry him?

And it is not one, but many a one, that numerous old maids have declined to marry. They preferred single life, whether it were "single blessedness" or not, to wedded misery. Shriveled and withered you say they are! Men and women grow old and grow gray, whether married or single; but many an old maid lingers today on this mundane sphere who would have died long ago an unhappy but popular and admired wife had she consented to marry some man whom she did not love, but did despise, and said "Yes" where conscience and God commanded her to say "No."

Long live old maids, and let no woman, from the fear of becoming one, ever willfully and deliberately sacrifice herself. It is the next crime to suicide.—New York Ledger.

How to Choose a Seat.

Do you know how to choose instantly and without a knowledge of where the sun is—which a woman never has—the cool and shady side of the elevated or horse car? Just this. Take the side on which there are the most men—not women. The instinct of the average man for comfort amounts to positive divination. Have you never watched him in a railway train or the cars in the city? When he enters he gives one little glance about him. That seems to suffice, and he moves straightway, as if by a kind of gravitation, to the most comfortable seat that is available.

Not so with a woman; she casts wildly about her for the nearest seat and falls into that. After a while she discovers that it is right in the glare of the sun, or that there is a boor of a man next to her who takes as much of her seat as she will allow, or that there is a cozy corner seat just a little further along which she would have liked much better. Bless your soul! The man saw all that the instant he entered the car and steered the other way. He really didn't know himself that he did it, but he did. As we have said, it is a kind of divination rather than an intellectual process.—New York Evening Sun.

Ruskin Opposed to Bicycles.

Ruskin's views of the bicycle were expressed years ago in a letter not generally known. It has recently been brought to public attention in England, and contains the following: "I not only object, but am quite prepared to spend all my best 'bad language' in reprobation of bi, tri and 4, 5, 6 or 7-cycles, and every other contrivance and invention for superseding human feet on God's ground. To walk, to run, to leap and to dance are the virtues of the human body, and neither to stride on stilts, wriggle on wheels or dangle on ropes, and nothing in the training of the human mind with the body will ever supersede the appointed God's ways of slow walking and hard working."

The Gentleman Born.

We are all made of the same clay. The nicest analysis can detect no difference between the "blue blood" that runs in the veins of the descendant of a line of kings and the "vital fluid" of a pauper; but there is nevertheless an inborn aristocracy of mind and soul which all men instinctively recognize and which compels respect from the haughtiest. Patricians by the accident of birth are often base, selfish and stupid; but God's gentlemen, though reared in poverty and the heirs of toil, are sure to manifest their innate nobility in spite of adverse circumstances.

The gentleman born has the right sort of pride, too. He will go out of his way to show a stranger the nearest road to any point he may desire to reach, share his last crust with a starving brother, peril his life to protect a woman from insult, and is ever prompt to assist weakness and avenge wrong. Yet if you offer him compensation for obeying the impulses of his knightly nature his cheek will redden with indignation at the thought of being mistaken for a mercenary, willing to make a trade of doing good. His labor he will sell, but not the services which his noble heart teaches him are due to all who are in necessity, tribulation or danger. Such a man, though his spelling book experiences may be too limited to enable him to spell the word "pedigree" and he may have been "raised" in a log shanty on salt pork and corn dodgers, is nevertheless royal and the moral peer of any of his species.—New York Ledger.

Instead of increasing the weight of locomotives to secure better traction, efforts are being made to use the electric current, as experiment has demonstrated that the passage of a current through the driving wheels increases the traction far beyond what additional weight accomplishes.

The Guanches rudely embalmed their corpses, drying the bodies in the air and covering them with varnish.

Many years practice have given C. A. Snow & Co., Solicitors of patents at Washington, D. C., unsurpassed success in obtaining patents for all classes of invention. They make a specialty of rejected cases, and have secured allowance of many patents that have previously been rejected. REMARKABLE RESCUE.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption, and that no medicine could cure her. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. The Hawthorne Circle will meet with Mrs. Chas. Cochrane next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Clinton B. Hann brought us a sample of nice new maple sugar the other day, for which we desire to return thanks.

H. J. Howe and Miss Jennie Howe, of LeRoy, visited their sister, Mrs. Jas. Gilmore, a few days during the last week.

Mrs. H. E. Miner, who has been dangerously ill, is much improved under the careful attention of Dr. O'Donnell.

We are requested to announce that the G. A. R. Post will meet at 7 o'clock Saturday evening. The invited guests will be welcomed at 8 o'clock.

"Weep with those who weep, and rejoice with those who rejoice," is a precept that can only be obeyed in a one-sided manner the next day after town meeting.

The NEWS printed town meeting ballots for four towns. All the work was done after the paper was issued last week, and you may believe it kept us hustling.

Was it the Alliance, the McKinley bill, the new manner of voting, or wasn't the town meeting held in the "right time of the moon" to elect Republicans?

Whether a well-managed manufactory is a benefit to a village has been admirably illustrated at Lyons. The newly established silver-plating company disbursed $30,000 in wages during 1890, paid a dividend of 7½ per cent, and used 7½ per cent more of net earnings to enlarge the business.—Ontario Co. Journal.

Frank Bassett, town clerk of Independence was in town Monday. We venture the assertion that Mr. Bassett has given the best of satisfaction in his official duties. He is a competent business man, and the interests of the town would be well looked after by him in any capacity. He is a member of the hardware firm of B. S. Bassett & Co., who do a large business in their line.

A number of communications are necessarily crowded out this week.

Miss Hattie Hammond of Nelson, Pa., is visiting the family of her brother, Jas. Hammond of this place.

Married, at the Methodist parsonage in Andover, Feb. 28, by Rev. G. W. Gibson, Mr. L. P. Crandall to Miss Jennie May Perry, all of Andover, N. Y.

Town Clerk Byron A. Clair led the Democratic ticket in the number of votes polled. He is an efficient and accomodating official, and is popular with the voters.

The Baptist Pastors of Allegany county held their second Conference at Belmont on Monday, adopted a constitution and elected Rev. A. M. Bennett president and Rev. Lucius C. Davis secretary.

The vote on the question of raising $50 to defray the expenses of Memorial Day is a disappointment to many outside the G. A. R. Post. We fear the time-honored custom of observing this day will not be adhered to in Andover this year, unless special effort is made by our citizens.

David Tatum, the Quaker Evangelist, will deliver a lecture at Prest's opera house on Monday evening, March 16, on the subject of intemperance, the home and saloon, and the enormity of the liquor traffic in contrast with the great benefits of prohibition. No charge, collection only.

C. H. Richardson went to Wellsville on Monday and assumed the duties of station agent at that place. His son G. B. Richardson has received the appointment as agent at this place. The transfer was made without a hitch, and everything is running smoothly. T. K. Regan has been appointed baggage master at this depot, and will make a first-class official. LATER.—Mr. Richardson was taken ill at Wellsville Tuesday afternoon and was obliged to return home. He is better to-day.

New Street.

Highway Commissioner Benton has ordered a new street laid out across the land of G. M. Barney in the north-eastern part of this village. Elm street will be extended east a short distance and the new street will run from the east end of Elm street across Mr. Barney's flats, near the foot of the hill, and will intersect Factory street at a point near the residence of C. M. Crandall.

Fire at Whitesville.

Early Monday evening two barns were burned at Whitesville, one owned by Prof. A. D. Howe and the other by Mrs. Mary Horton. In Prof. Howe's barn was 10 tons of hay and a quantity of grain. Mrs. Horton's barn contained about 40 tons of hay and a quantity of lumber. The hose company responded quickly to the alarm, and saved more value in property than the whole system of water works cost, as other buildings in close proximity to the barns must have been destroyed had there been no facilities for fighting fire, and a large portion of the town would have been consumed. Prof. Howe's barn was insured for $300 in the Andover Agency. Mrs. Horton had $200 insurance on her barn.

Found Dead.

Alpheus A. Wood, who lived in this town, about four miles south-east of Andover village, was found dead in his house last week Wednesday evening. Appearances indicate that he had been dead about 24 hours when found. Tuesday morning his wife went to Wellsville in company with her daughter and son-in-law. They remained over night, returning Wednesday evening, when they found Mr. Wood on the floor dead, with his hand upon his heart. Coronor Barney of Belmont, was called, but as it was evident that heart disease was the cause of death, no inquest was held. Mr. Wood had been a sufferer from heart disease for a long time. The deceased was aged 71 years, and was a brother of N. P. Wood of this village. The funeral services were held at Green's Corners on Friday, Rev. H. D. Clark of that place officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Lewis and their mother, Susan E. Wood, of Andover, desire to return their heartfelt thanks to the many kind neighbors and friends who aided and sympathized with them in the recent loss of their father and husband.

IT'S ALL DEMOCRATIC!

Or so Near it that the Republicans Elected are Lonesome.

The Democrats carry off about all the glory from yesterday's town meeting, they having elected their entire ticket with the exception of Justice of the Peace, Collector, Inspectors of Election, two Constables and Excise Commissioner. The latter being considered as practically out of politics cannot really be called a Republican victory. The defeat of all the prominent Republican candidates was hardly looked for although a few had felt a little "shaky" for several days. As a consequence the Democrats are jubilant, and they have a good right to be.

We give below all the principal candidates on each ticket, the figures on the right of each name indicating the vote, and those on the left the plurality or majority in case of Town Clerk and Collector:

Laid to Rest.

The funeral services over the remains of Alice Sherwood were held at the M. E. church in this village last Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. G. W. Gibson officiating, assisted by Rev. G. M. Jones and Rev. Lucius C. Davis. It is rare that an occasion of this kind brings out a greater number of people, or more earnest expressions of sympathy than were shown at this time. A large delegation was present from Andover Union School, of which Miss Sherwood was a much-beloved student. The floral tributes were elaborate. Among them may be mentioned a broken circle from the Epworth League, a basket from Mrs. Felton Robinson, 1 piece from Miss Georgia Wafer of Hornellsville, 1 piece from the 9th grade of the school, also loose flowers for trimming the casket from the family of A. C. Frisbey, and others from friends and neighbors. The 9th grade strewed flowers upon the casket as it was lowered into the grave.

Miss Sherwood's former home was in Stevenson, Mich. She has resided with her aunt, Mrs. A. C. Frisbey, for over two years, and since her residence here has endeared herself to all her associates and to all with whom she came in contact. She attended the M. E. church and Sunday School and was an active member of the Epworth League. She was always cheerful and light-hearted, and carried sunshine wherever she went. That her thoughts were pure and her inner life noble is evidenced from the many kind actions shown to those around her, and also from her private books and papers, upon which have been found written mottoes and sentiments that none but the children of God would care to cherish.

Her mother and other members of the family were prevented from being present during her last hours and the sad ceremonies that followed, but they know that the tenderness of a mother's care was bestowed upon the deceased by those who attended her, and that the grief of those who followed her remains as mourners was as genuine as though she had been a daughter of the family in which she lived.

In Memoriam.

Resolutions adopted by the Methodist Sunday School of Andover, on occasion of the death of Miss Alice Sherwood.

Whereas, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from our midst our friend and associate, Miss Alice Sherwood, therefore resolved:

1. In this visitasion our school is deeply bereaved and all of us are mourners.

2. That we offer our sincere and heartfelt sympathy to the family and friends of our departed sister in this hour of sorrow.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family and friends of our sister, also to the Andover NEWS for publication.

The above resolutions were also read at a meeting of the Epworth League, of which Allie was an esteemed member, and the same sentiments were unanimously and heartily endorsed by the League. G. W. GIBSON.

Card of Thanks.

We lack words to convey our heartfelt gratitude and thankfulness to our kind neighbors and friends, old and young, for their sympathy, care and kindness, shown during the illness, death, and burial of our dearly beloved neice, Allie.

Political Science and Soap.

It is often charged that men gain high positions by the liberal use of 'soap.' If 'soap' enough is used a man may make a clean sweep. Of course this is spoken figuratively, yet one can always make a clean sweep if he or she uses tulip soap, for its mission is to purify and cleanse, and this it does with surprising rapidity and celerity. All who use tulip soap attest the fact. It's economical.

INDEPENDENCE NEWS.

There is to be a surprise visiting party for Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Clarke to-morrow (Monday) evening.

Mr. Aaron Bledsoe has taken a farm near Friendship, and removed there last week.

Miss Fannie Remington of Eldred Pa., is making an extended visit to relatives and old friends in town.

E. D. Potter is tearing down an old horse barn, which he intends to move into the woods and put up for a sugar house.

Last Saturday we were treated to a blizzard, the snow being so fine and thick one could scarcely see any distance.

J. P. Remington returned from a short visit to Portville, last week Monday.

Mr. Algeron Wood of Andover, who died the 23d ult., was brought here for burial the 27th, Elder H. D. Clark officiating.

Dr. A. J. Remington of Whitesville, who is on the sick list, is being treated by Dr. M. B. Titus, into whose hands Dr. Remington also committed his patients. The doctor is reported as much better.

Last week Tuesday forenoon while Mr. Foster M. Reynolds was at work in his saw mill in the village of Whitesville, one of his legs got caught between the logs and was broken above the knee near the body. Fortunately Dr. Titus was at the mill and reduced the fracture, and Mr. Reynolds is reported as doing finely.

A boxing school has been organized at this place, and all who are in favor of the "manly art" are invited to drop in at Potter's hall Wednesday evening of each week and run their noses against a "bunch of fives," or vice versa. SOME GUMPTION.
