DOUBLY PROVEN

Andover Readers Can No Longer Dout the Evidence

This grateful citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief — of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. A. D. Lewis, 151 Earley St., Wellsville, N. Y., says: "My back was so lame and sore that I could not get about to do my work. If I sat or stooped it was some minutes before I could straighten. I also had trouble from the kidney secretions and was often dizzy. After I had taken three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills I was free from kidney complaint."

LATER TESTIMONY

TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Lewis said: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a very good medicine and I am pleased to confirm my former endorsement."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills — the same that Mrs. Lewis has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

MISS EDNA GOODRICH

In "Armstrong's Wife" at the Auditorium, Wednesday Evening.

The Lasky Feature Play Company in bringing Miss Edna Goodrich, most beautiful of American dramatic stars, before photoplay audiences of the world, takes special pride in this announcement. Miss Goodrich will make her photoplay debut in the strong dramatic feature, "Armstrong' Wife," by Margaret Turnbull. The star only recently returned to the United States after a year of nerve-wracking experiences as as a nurse in war hospitals in Europe. Her own beautiful home near London is now being used for convalescent wounded.

"Armstrong's Wife" provides Miss Goodrich with those opportunities for her dramatic talent which has given her fame here and abroad. She appears as a young woman, for whose affections two men are seeking. Disappointed, unhappy and discouraged after a few months with one of them who she discovered was married, May, as portrayed by Miss Goodrich, consents to lose herself in the Canadian wilds with her other suitor. This man offers his name only to her. Subsequently, at a meeting of the three principals in this strange case, wrong is righted.

Snatched From an Art Entertainment

DRAWING BY ZWICKEY.

THIS illustration is one of the many made by Lorenzo Zwickey in his Art Entertainment, which is to be the closing feature of the five days' Chautauqua. He draws pictures on a large easel in full view of his audience and talks as he works. Not all of his entertainment is serious, as might be judged from the sample shown.

It is a lecture-entertainment with true artistic spirit, made educational and uplifting. The beauty of his compositions and the good sense and refinement of his lecture will appeal strongly to Chautauqua patrons.

He tells the women how to choose colors in their dress and how to arrange tastefully the furnishings of a home. Mighty good thing to know—what an artist has to say along this line.

He Draws In Colors

Many of his pictures, with which he illustrates his talk, are made in gorgeous colors. These are shown to wonderful advantage with the aid of an electric lighting device, which brings out the colors just as they should be.

Remember Mr. Zwickey is the closing number of a whole five day Chautauqua program. Nine wonderful programs precede his. A season ticket admits to everything and makes the cost less than 20 cents an attraction. Plan to attend all the numbers and get tickets TODAY.

Automatic Bargain Table
In The Basement

A plan that makes it possible for you to buy wanted merchandise at your own price.

This table holds 20 articles, every one different, most of them household necessities, labor saving devices and home beautifiers.

The plan is this: An article is placed on the table marked at a special price. If it has not been sold in the period of a week it is automatically marked down 10 per cent. If still another week passes and the article is still there, down the price goes 10 per cent. more. And so on until the article is sold or until at last the price is reduced to 1c (since 10 per cent. subtracted from 1c still leaves 1c).

When an article is sold from the table another one is put in its place, so that the table always holds 20 articles.

Come in tomorrow and examine these remarkable offerings

The table has been in operation three weeks and a great many articles have been marked down three times. Just the thing you have wished for so long may be on the table.

You may buy it tomorrow or wait a week and get it 10 per cent. lower. You may even wait several weeks, but you take your chance, of course.

Come in every week, watch for new bargains and buy just what you want at your own price.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS

It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence, for it often leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.

If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excitable; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.

It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.

Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. No alcohol.

The Fight Against Infantile Paralysis

The Following Bulletin Was Issued Today by Commissioner Dig[illegible] of the State Department of Health:

INCREASING dread on the part of the public regarding the epidemic of INFANTILE PARALYSIS now prevailing in New York City, and especially in the Borough of Brooklyn is largely due to the character of the disease, the apparent mystery which surrounds its method of spread and the wide publicity which, as a measure of protection to the general public, health officials throughout the country have deemed essential to utilize in the campaign against it.

A disease which kills 20 per cent or more of the persons attacked, which leaves 75 per cent more or less crippled for life, which may do its deadly work in TWENTY-FOUR HOURS from the onset of symptoms and against which previous robust health seems not the slightest protection, can only be regarded with extreme gravity, and yet, when the epidemic has run its course or has been checked, it will be found that the toll of life and permanent damage to the physical condition of patients will be far less than that which was caused during the past winter by the epidemic of grippe and pneumonia and which is being caused by the ever present scourge of tuberculosis. The degree of INFECTIOUSNESS of infantile paralysis is very much less than from many other communicable diseases, such as measles, smallpox, diphtheria and scarlet fever, or rather many more individuals are IMMUNE to it than to the latter diseases. The occurrence of more than one case in a household is the exception rather than the rule, and cases cared for in hospitals practically never infect other inmates or attendants. On the other hand, it seems to be indisputable that many persons can carry the disease germs, especially in the nose and throat, for weeks and even months and thus start up new centers of infection.

New York State, outside of the city, is now suffering from an influx of children in the incubation stage of the disease, in the acute stages or recovering from it. This unfortunate fact is DUE TO IGNORANCE on the part of mothers, to willful breaking of quarantine in New York City and sometimes, it is to be feared, with the connivance of physicians. Health officers and other physicians throughout the state have been given very DEFINITE INSTRUCTIONS regarding the protection of their communities from individuals, especially children, coming from infected districts. The railroads are co-operating in every way possible with the Department of Health. A record is being kept of every case reported in the state outside of the city and the source of infection traced if possible.

It is to be hoped that communities will use every reasonable precaution to protect themselves through their local health departments, but that they will be guided by COMMON SENSE and inflict as little hardship on arrivals as possible. On the other hand, such persons must be willing, even at the expense of considerable inconvenience and annoyance, to place themselves absolutely under control of the local authorities. The present is not the time for hysteria or panic on the part of the public, but for the exercise of calm judgment and ABSOLUTE OBEDIENCE to the rules which health authorities have seen fit to impose for the protection of the public health. The fact that in no previous epidemic of infantile paralysis of which there is record has there ever been put in motion such a vast and efficient machinery for control of the disease makes it very probable that before long there will be concrete evidence of the value of this work and a RAPID SUBSIDENCE of the number of cases. The fact that the minds of the most eminent sanitarians and research workers are directed toward measures of prevention justifies the hope of finding a specific means of prevention in the near future.
