13 YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Republic of Panama was Declared, Paving the Way for the U. S. to Complete the Panama Canal.

The French government from whom we purchased a part of the Zone, had failed in their attempt to join the two oceans. The American constructors of this canal were men of remarkable skill who conquered almost unsurmountable difficulties that constantly presented themselves. At the same time the canal was only made a reality through capital. The big things in life take money and money is only acquired through the savings of the people.

WILSON VICTORY

President Seems Sure of Election this Friday Morning—Republican Chairman Admits that Mr. Wilson is Probable Winner in California, Which Will Give Him Enough for Election

PRESS DEMOCRATIC, TOO

As we go to press word comes that Wilson has carried California by a majority of from 5,000 to 10,000. This being the case he is elected without doubt.

"IT'S ALL OVER" SAYS MCCORMICK

New York, Nov. 9th.—Chairman McCormick reappeared at Democratic Headquarters this afternoon and said "It's all over." When he cleaned them up. We stick unchangingly to our original figure—Wilson by 288 electoral votes."

Mr. McCormick added that no precaution was being taken to protect the ballot boxes where vote was running close.

New York, Nov. 9.—If the result of the incomplete returns of Tuesday's balloting are accepted as final in all but four states, the electoral vote would give President Wilson 256 and Mr. Hughes 248.

The doubtful states with their total votes are California 13, Nevada 12, New Mexico 3, North Dakota 5.

The sudden switch of New Hampshire, which might be reversed yet as doubtful, from a small Hughes plurality to 121 votes for President Wilson was a dramatic change in the situation this forenoon. It came in announcement from the Secretary of State that a partial official count of all the districts disclosed errors in tabulation by town and ward clerks to that extent. The official count is still progressing. In Minnesota the incomplete returns show Mr. Hughes to have a lead; while Wilson, in later returns, is reducing, while in California and North Dakota Mr. Wilson is leading.

New Mexico is so close and so large as to permit of no classification.

The returns from the doubtful western states are belated and are not expected to be available before a late hour to-day.

The chairman of the California Republican State Central Committee to-day admitted that Hughes is running behind Wilson in that state, but he refuses to concede the state to the President, declaring that an official count will be necessary.

Minnesota Democrats are very sanguine and express confidence, even in the face of the present returns, that Wilson will win.

The one great and indisputable fact stands out to-day and that is that if Wilson gets either California or Minnesota his election will be conceded, while Hughes must get both of those states to win the race.

Congress

New York, Nov. 9.—Returns on the election for Members of Congress up to 1 o'clock showed 212 Democrats and 203 Republicans with 16 districts not yet accounted for.

"France is Dying."—Hindenburg

If France is dying she dies as day
In the splendor of noon, sun-aureoled.
If France is dying, then youth is gray
And steel is soft and flame is cold.
France cannot die! France cannot die

If France is dying, she dies as love
When mother dreams of her child to-be.
If France is dying, then God above
Died with His son upon the Tree.
France cannot die! France cannot die

If France is dying, true manhood dies.
Freedom and justice all golden things.
If France is dying, then life were wise
To borrow of death such immortal wings.
France cannot die! France cannot die

GOVERNOR WHITMAN IS RE-ELECTED

Republicans Gained One Congressman in Buffalo by Defeat of Daniel A. Driscoll—Republican Majorities in Both Houses of State Legislature Maintained — Old Officers Will Be Re-Elected.

New York, Nov. 9.—Charles S. Whitman has been re-elected Governor over Samuel Seabury, the Democratic candidate, by 107,000 majority. The entire Republican state ticket has been elected by a smaller majority.

William M. Calder of Brooklyn, a former congressman, was elected United States senator over William F. McCombs, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, by a large majority.

Returns showed that the Republicans had gained one congressman, W. W. Waldow being elected in the 42d district over Daniel A. Driscoll, who was renominated by the Democrats.

In the 30th district Henry S. Deforest, Republican, defeated the Rec. George R. Lunn, twice elected mayor of Schenectady by the Socialists, but who was running for congress as a Democrat.

William S. Bennet was re-elected in the 22d district, where a vigorous campaign was waged against him. Walter M. Chandler, a nephew of the former district attorney, was defeated by Peter J. Dooling in the 16th district. Monroe Talbot, running as a Republican and progressive on a home-rule anti-Tammany platform, was defeated for State Senator by Michael F. Riordan of Manhattan, who was re-elected. G. W. Fairchild was re-elected in the 34th district over his Democratic opponent.

Indications are that the Republican majorities in both houses of the state legislature will be maintained.

Present leaders of the senate and assembly organizations were re-elected without exception, and the legislature of 1917 will be officered by the same men as in 1916. Thaddeus C. Sweet of Oneida was re-elected to the assembly, and undoubtedly will again be speaker. Elon R. Brown, Republican leader of the senate, is returned from his Jefferson-Oswego district, and unless unforeseen possibilities arise, he will again be elected president pro tem of the senate.

Robert F. Wagner, minority leader of the senate, is re-elected, as is Joseph M. Callahan of Bronx county, minority leader in the lower house. Simon L. Alder is returned from Monroe county and will again be majority leader of the assembly.

REPUBLICAN MAJORITY REDUCED IN ALLEGANY

While the Democrats of Allegany County Show a Growth in the Republican Majority of 4115, Has Been Reduced 1048.

Democrats in Allegany County have every reason for rejoicing on account of the showing throughout the entire county election day. They have not only made a fine gain themselves, but have cut the Republican majority from 4115 in 1908, to 3067, the smallest, with the exception of 1912, that the Republicans have polled in Allegany County in the memory of man.

Following is the Allegany County vote by towns as sent us by the Democrat committeemen of the various towns.

WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee, Nov. 9.—The latest figures on Wisconsin's election returns show that a solid Republican delegation will represent this state in the next congress.

Additional returns received did not alter the situation as forecast last night with regard to Hughes carrying the state for president, and Governor E. E. Phillipp, Republican, being elected. The governor will have a working majority in the legisature. Socialists increased their representation in both branches of the legislature by one member in each house and will have nine members in the house and three in the senate.

WHAT PANCHO IS UP AGAINST

Real Causes of Conditions of Anarchy Existing in Mexico—Schools and Court Justice Needed to Quiet People.

(By M. J. Brown.)

Diaz	Gutierrez
Madero	Garsa
Cabajal	Villa
Carranza	Carranza

The above is Mexico's shake-up for the past five years.

The question is how long will it continue?

No doubt every reader of this article has an idea how Mexico can be quieted. There are several ways. But the right way is to quiet it so it will stay still.

And my idea is that it can be done in three moves. Break up the great estates that hold enormous tracts of land out of use and give the land to the Mexican people — not by confiscation, but through compensation. Educate the Mexicans by a system of free public schools, similar to our system, and establish a court system that will give every man a square deal—black or white.

If these three things could be worked out in Mexico they would stop anarchy and quiet the country much sooner than a war of intervention will—and it will stay quiet.

I know what I am talking about when I make the statement that if a Mexican is given a piece of land on which he can make a living for himself and brood, and is given protection in making that living, there won't be much trouble from that Pancho.

There are no people on the western continent that require so little to make them contented as the Mexican people. Give them a little coin, a bit of bacon, plenty of frijoles and a shack and it will be a long time before that Pancho will start anything.

A Mexican is naturally the laziest most indolent and care-free of men. Of the peon class very few have ambitions beyond enough to eat and a place to sleep and they want these in the easiest way it is possible to get them. And the world is theirs when they get them.

A Mexican is a queer mixture, and he can no more be made an American than can a Navajo Indian. He is rebuilt from the Spaniard and the Indian and that cross doesn't fit into American ways and never will. It's a case of providing a means whereby they can live their own lives in their own way, and let them alone or go to it and clean up for them proper, and herd them into reservations as we do our Indians.

It's a hard matter to get along with Mexicans because we don't know them or their ways — we don't savvy them.

They remember a kindness like an Indian, of which they are part and their Spanish blood makes them naturally courteous. At the same time the mixture of the two races makes them revengeful. I wouldn't care to have a Mexican have it in for me and be where he dared to break even.

I once employed a Mexican, a middle-aged man who was a cripple, and because of his infirmity I favored him, and did for him many little acts of kindness. He remembered all this one night when a bunch of Mexicans tried to run off with some sheep. They sneaked in one night, caught a half-grown lamb, hung a tin pail over his head and turned him loose. He ran into the flock and stampeded them. Pancho knew the game. He came to my tent, grabbed a shot gun, slipped out and emptied both barrels into the bad hombries. The next morning we found blood spots on the rocks.

This Mexican would not have done this against his countrymen unless he had a good bit of gratitude to square. I had used him white and he returned it.

Yet some time later this same man brandished a hunting knife I had made him a present of and told me he would cut me up if I came near him. In a shearing pen I had rounded on him because he was keeping the shearers from working with his nonsense—and a Mexican won't stand for any bad names, unless he has to.

He was promptly fired from the job and he struck around the ranch for a week trying to "get me" without being "got."

And such is Pancho.

Treat him too well and he will think you are not "the boss" and will impose on you. Treat him ill and he will have it in for you. He is a hrad proposition for a white man to handle because he is a Mexican — and you can't change these degenerates of old Castile over to modern ways in 30 days. The Indian and the Spaniard have been too long in the blood.

This will illustrate a Mexican:

One who had worked for me came to me one day and asked if I would loan him my Winchester, while I was away for a month. I asked a rancher if he could be trusted.

"Sure he can, because he likes you. He will bring the gun back, right enough, but after he brings it back, watch him or he will steal it.

There's Pancho for you.

I met a young man who was a peculiar scramble of blood. His father was an American and his mother a Mexican—a rather unusual breed

He told me he had educated himself as far as it had been possible, and that it had been his aim to educate the Mexican people, but he said he now realized that there were other things that must come first.

"There is little use in providing school houses ahead of homes. A place to live in must come first," he said.

"And there is little use trying to provide homes when the American and Spanish people hold such huge grants and tracts. Your William Randolph Hearst, who
