THE ANDOVER NEWS.

HAMILTON C. NORRIS, - EDITOR

ANDOVER, N. Y., APRIL 15, 1891.

The farmer, mechanic or merchant who expects to earn his bread by the sweat of a hired man's brow, will find out that he must be content with a crust while the hired man gets the pie.

The last decade of every century is supposed to be loaded with trouble. Then thrones totter, kingdoms crumble, and the nations go to war as if they had to. It must be confessed that so far all the indications for the last decade of the 19th century bear out this theory. The South American states are already in political or financial hot water, Ireland's affairs are inextricably tangled, Newfoundland is doing her best to bring on a war between England and France, we are in difficulties with England over the seals, Italy has just opened out on us over the Mafia, France is hardening up her muscle for Germany, Russia is reaching for the Balkans again, and Col. Ingersoll is still unconverted. If there isn't a scrap somewhere this year it's a wonder.

OUR ITALIAN SQUABBLE.

Developments within the past few days have shown that the differences between the United States and Italy have not been brought to as satisfactory a conclusion as was believed to be the case a week ago. And while there is of course no immediate prospect of war between the countries, yet there is as little wisdom in saying that we are in no possible danger of an attack from Italy as there is in creating a useless war scare. A declaration of hostilities from King Humbert would cause no greater surprise than did the attack on Fort Sumter. When we get into a diplomatic squabble with England we can rest assured that John Bull has as much cool, common sense as Brother Jonathan. But Italy's warm southern blood gets the better of its brains without much stimulation. This has already been evidenced by the recall of Baron Fava, the Italian minister to the United States.

It would be a wise plan to make some quiet preparations for the reception of some of Italy's great war ships, of which she has several. By statistics recently compiled it is shown that since the year 1700, actual hostilities have preceded formal declarations of war in more than a hundred conflicts, while fair warning has been given in only ten cases.

New York probably will be unharmed by the great guns of the Italian war ships, but the danger is great enough to teach the lesson that the metropolis should be left defenseless no longer.

SOUND FINANCIAL VIEWS.

It is well known that the State has received from the Federal Government the sum of $2,213,330.86. This large fund was at once deposited to the credit of the "General Fund" of the State, awaiting disposition by the Legislature.

The plans for expending this money are many, and new ones are being presented daily. One prominent gentleman proposes that an Adirondock park be purchased; a state Senator wishes to apply the money to the general state expenses this year, and thereby obtain a low tax rate; a third proposes the completion of the Capitol building; but the best suggestion yet, the one to appeal to sober-minded tax-paying citizens, comes from State Comptroller Wemple.

Mr. Wemple says: "Let this money be devoted to paying the just debts of the State, for it is a good business maxim to pay your debts with the first moneys you have on hand, and not speculate with them. If an honest man in debt comes into possession of money the first thing he does with it is to satisfy his creditors.

The State debt on the first of July next is as follows:

Canal debt	$1,641,250 00
Niagara Reservation bonds	100,000 00
	$1,745,250 00
Interest on canal debt	$49,357 50
Interest on Niagara Reservation bonds	6,250 00
	55,607 50
	$1,800,857 50
Balance on Niagara Reservation bonds	400,000 00
	$2,200,857 50

So by using that money for this purpose it will liquidate the entire indebtedness of the state, with the exception of a small amount for Indian Annuties; and by paying the debt this money will all be used up, with the exception of about $12,500, which can go in the general fund for State purposes.

By adopiing this mode of procedure it will not only place the State in that happy condition of being without a debt unprovided for, but it will reduce the tax levy for this year over $400,000, and thus aid our farmers to that extent at this time in their depressed condition.

By this plan the debt due on October 1, 1891 and 1893, of some $2,700,000, including interest, can be paid from the funds in the Sinking Fund now on hand, and have a surplus of something like $1,100,000 well invested, the interest on which can be used for the reduction of the tax levy for each and every succeeding year thereafter. This will be of great and material benefit to our taxpayers for many years to come.

If the Legislature will only act on Comptroller's Wemple's suggestion and use this money for that purpose; use the interest from the securities on hand for the reduction of taxation, and enact the laws in regard to special taxes as recommended in the Comptroller's last annual report, such as collateral inheritance tax, taxation on corporations and the indebtedness of corporations, there will be no necessity whatever of any tax for state purposes on the real estate of this great commonwealth.

The Tramp Got the $10,000.

Jacob Mendock, a farmer living near Pitman, a village several miles from Ashland, Pa., died recently and left a small fortune, which has been secured by a tramp, who has disappeared. His name is Chas. Wilson, a knight of the road. Mendock was a bachelor, and supposed to be rich. Several weeks ago the farmer was taken sick, and being unable to attend to his work gave it in charge of Wilson. Mendock continued to grow worse, and his condition became so alarming that his neighbors sent for his brother William, who lived in Mahantoy Valley. William arrived next day, but Jacob died during the night.

Before his death he directed that a package of letters be given to his brother. William thrust them in his pocket as soon as they were given him, believing them to be of no importance. One morning he examined them, and found that one revealed the hiding place of a small fortune. The letter said that in an old overcoat William would find $10,000 in paper money sewed in the lining. This was glad news to William and he went at once to the old farm house in search of the treasure. The old overcoat was found in the attic, but the money was missing. Wilson, the tramp, had disappeared the day of Mendock's death, and with him also went the $10,000.

The "Erie's" Charming Spring Excursion to Washington via the Lehigh Valley Route.

In compliance with numerous requests from patrons of former pleasant trips by this route, the popular "Erie Railway" have arranged a low-rate excursion for Monday April 27, which will afford a grand opportunity to visit the capital city in all its spring time loveliness and beauty. The route will be via. Erie, Lehigh Valley, Philadelphia and Reading, and Baltimore & Ohio Railroads, through Philadelphia and Baltimore, at the low rate of $10 for the round trip, tickets good to return on or before May 7, 1891. The excursion will be in charge of J. O. Prescott of the Erie. Pullman palace cars will run through to Washington. For tickets, Pullman car berths and further information apply to ticket agents of the Erie Railway or address A. W. Bodle, Division Passenger Agent, Buffalo, N. Y.

WISPS FROM WELLSVILLE.

DEAR NEWS:—Since I wrote you last we have had quite a ripple of excitement, and everybody turned out to the fire. On Thursday last at a few minutes before 5 o'clock the fire alarm sounded loud and shrill. The trouble was soon located in the school building, and that with the small dwelling partly back of it were soon things of the past. It is not certain how the fire caught but it is supposed to have originated near the closets in the basement. A few of the scholars were there and all of the teachers. The fire had made such headway before being discovered that some lost their wraps, and the books were all or nearly all burned. Prof. Harding lost his hat and many valuable books. Insurance on the building was $10,000. Mrs. McClure lived in the burned dwelling house Some of her children were down with the measles, but children and household goods were safely removed. Our firemen worked with a will, but it had gained too much headway before discovered to make saving of the building possible, but there has been little delay in school in consequence, and the Professor and his assistants jog along at the same pace as before, neither measles nor fire have succeeded in breaking up our school though many are ill with that complaint at this time.

There is a rumor on the street that Wm. Duke is not quite as well to-day.

A sad accident occurred at Hallsport last Tuesday, resulting in the death of Mrs. Harriet Parker, widow of Zelman Parker. Mrs. Parker was standing near a wagon loaded with goods, her son was hitching a span of spirited horses to the loaded wagon, when they became unmanageable from some reason and started to run throwing her down and the wagon passed over her chest, causing death in a few hours. Mrs. Parker leaves four children to mourn her loss, besides hosts of friends. She was a good woman and such are always sincerely mourned.

The same old round of news this week, last week, and the week before—just the same beautiful record of drunkenness, the same round of trials and fines. "Oh, the drink, the beautiful drink! I'm bound to have it if Wellsville sinks," sang one hilarious chap, as he walked down a cross street measuring both edges of the walk at one and the same time.

By the way, the Reporter has shut down on free ads. We think it was the conundrum supper that did it. Somebody said the boss only got a drink of water and a pickle when he called for a spring offering and fruit of the vine. He had his mouth fixed for chicken and wine. Oh dear, may be it isn't so; we are not sure; only heard so you know, only they won't print free ads. any more, and we are glad they have taken this stand bravely. We like to see folks brave and bold. Q.

Masonic Gathering.

Last Wednesday's Wellsville Reporter says:

Wellsville Lodge, 230, F. A. M. at the regular meeting held last night conferred the third degree upon three candidates. It was made the occasion of a fraternal visit by members of the order from several surrounding towns. A large delegation from Allentown and Bolivar came over by special train, returning after the program for the evening was completed. A number were present from the line of the river road between here and Ulysses, Pa. The towns represented were Belmont, Andover, Bolivar, Hornellsville, Belfast, Allentown, Cuba, Lewiston, Genesee Forks, Shongo and others whose names were not obtained.

After the close of the very interesting ceremonies at the lodge rooms, the members, with their guests, and the new made Masons sat down to a banquet at the Fassett House. A very fine spread was set before them, in fact it was a royal feast. Two hours were spent in a discussion of these good things and at an early hour this morning the well pleased company broke up.

At the lodge meeting something over 150 were present and 116 took seats at the banquet. It was an occasion of great pleasure to all concerned, and one that marks a bright spot in the history of the Wellsville Lodge.

Quarterly meeting at the Methodist church next Sunday.

Mrs. W. D. Hood of Belmont, spent Sunday with O. P. Crandall and wife.

Fresh stock Florida Oranges, Sweet Potatoes and Lemons just received at H. E. Miner's.

V. A. Willard and wife of Belmont, visited friends in Andover and Lanphear Valley the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Crandall have both been quite ill during the past week or more, and Mrs. Crandall's condition is not as favorable as her friends would wish.

Operator G. B. Swartz, who was recently transferred from here to Hornellsville, has again been transferred, this time to Salamanca, where we understand he has a good position.

Died, April 9, near Belmont, Noble McClary, aged 80 years and 6 months. He was the father of Mrs. M. E. Bassett and a member of the Baptist church of Andover.—Belmont Post.

One compositor sick and another drunk explains why we are a little late this week.—Friendship Register. We think the paper we received must have been printed by the one that was drunk.

Dr. W. W. Crandall has decided to open an office in Andover within a week or two, and will have stated hours during which he may be consulted here. Dr. Crandall is known as one of the most skillful practitioners in Western New York, and his resumption of practice here will be regretted by none.

The 17th annual convention of the Allegany County Sunday School Association will be held in the Baptist church at Belmont April 29th and 30th. An excellent program is being prepared and a large and profitable meeting is expected. Each Sunday School in the county is expected to send delegates.

The popular "Buck" Ewing, captain of the New York's, has written an article for the Boy's Department of The Ladies' Home Journal for June on the "Ins and Outs of Base-ball" in which the famous catcher will tell how to play the game; how to form a nine; the hardest positions and how to fill them; how to throw a ball, etc. This is Ewing's first article, and it is said to be the best that has ever been written for boys on the great national game.

Mrs. J. M. Goodwin is quite seriously ill.

Burr W. Deming is home from Brockport.

H. C. Beebe is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

P. Cannon is having a fine large verandas built on the front of his residence.

E. W. Jones of Canaseraga, is in town, and will assist his brother, A. L. Jones, in painting this summer.

W. H. Phillips is represented in the NEWS' advertising columns. He talks as if he wanted your trade, doesn't he.

Mrs. F. R. Hincher is ill with pneumonia, which followed an attack of the grip. The case is not an aggravated one as yet, and it is hoped it will not be.

Remember the temperance lecture next Wednesday evening at Prest's opera house, by Rev. M. J. Kean. Admission 25 cents. Reserved seats can be secured at P. Cannon & Son's store.

D. D. Rogers of Whitesville, was in Andover yesterday. His son shot a loon on the Whitesville pond a few days ago and Mr. Rogers brought it to Andover to be mounted by taxidermist O. E. Vars.

Rev. Father Brown was unable to hold services last Sunday, on account of sickness. His place was supplied by Rev. Father Foley, a former class-mate, who happened to be here on a brief visit to Father Brown.

The ladies and friends of the Presbyterian church will hold a social at the new Guinn cheese factory, on Friday evening, April 24. A cordial invitation is extended to all and a good time is assured to all who attend.

At the meeting of the patrons of the Andover cheese factory, held yesterday, W. F. Snyder was elected cheese maker, to receive $1.15 per 100 lbs. Michael Dean and W. F. Snyder were elected salesmen, and A. M. Burrows Secretary and Treasurer. The factory will open April 27.

O'Malley & Forbes of the Excelsior Marble and Granite Works, Cuba, N. Y., were in Andover on business yesterday. They are working up a good trade in this vicinity, which will increase as fast as the people get acquainted with their work. See their advertisment in the NEWS.

Mrs. Oakes of Hartsville, was found dead on the Call Hill road last Thursday morning. She resided with her daughter, Mrs. Comstock, about three miles from where the body was found. On Wednesday she started to visit a relative. The supposition is that Mrs. Oakes became bewildered and wandered about until exhausted, when she sat down at the roadside where she died from appoplexy. She was 63 years of age.—Canisteo Times. Mrs. Oakes was a sister of Mrs. Chas. Atwell of this place.

The Hawthorne Circle will meet with Mrs. Frisbey next Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The following program willl be presented: Singing from Chautauqua Songs; quotations from Shakespear; lesson, classic French course in English, first 12 questions and answers from Walks and Talks, 21-31 in the question table; the Queen's English, No. 6; essay, Schiaparelli's Discoveries, Mrs. Herrick; reading on Geology, Mrs. Cunningham: Mrs. Frisbey as questioner.

MRS. CHAS. COCHRANE, Sec.

A Demorest Medal contest was held at Prest's opera house last Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Loyal Temperance Legion. There were eight contestants, who had been drilled for one week by Mrs. Bertha Morris Smith, of Elmira, an elocutionist of rare ability. L. C. Van Fleet, W. B. Bundy and H. C. Norris, were judges, and after adding up the total number of points credited to each contestant by each judge it was found that Miss Grace Hardy was ahead one point, and the medal was awarded to her. The contestants all showed great ability in elocution, and several of them were very near the winning mark.

Father Kean's Lecture.

We would again remind our readers that Rev. M. J. Kean of Hornellsville, will deliver a lecture on the subject of temperance, at Prest's opera house, on Wednesday evening, April 22. Father Kean is a most able and sincere advocate of temperance principles, and the good that he may accomplished in this place by a single lecture is not to be measured in dollars and cents. The NEWS most heartily wishes that every person of mature years in this town could hear him, and we believe if such could be the case there would not be one who would not be benefitted. Every one who can do so should arrange their matters so as to enable them to go next Wednesday evening and hear this lecture.

The admission price is 25 cents, and those who desire can reserve their seats at P. Cannon & Son's store.

Hon. A. S. Thompson's Daughter Dead.

(By telephone to the NEWS.)

CUBA, N. Y., April 15.—Mary, only daughter of Assemblyman A. S. Thompson, of this place, died yesterday of pneumonia. She attended school last Friday, but was taken ill that day and grew rapidly worse. She was about 14 years of age. The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Thompson moved from Black Creek to this place last fall to give his children the advantages of attending the Cuba school, and universal sympathy is expressed for the family in this bereavement.

A Principal Secured.

The Board of Education of Andover Union School has decided to engage Thomas H. Armstrong, of Pompey, N. Y., as principal of the school for the coming year. Every indication points to the conclusion that in reaching this decision the Board has acted wisely. Mr. Armstrong was in Andover a few weeks ago, and everyone who had the pleasure of meeting him was most favorably impressed with his appearance. The Board has taken considerable pains to ascertain what qualifications are possessed by him, and the result in every instance has been entirely satisfactory. The reports that have been received concerning his ability and moral standing could scarcely be improved upon—in fact there could be no higher endorsement than has been given by those who have had dealing with him, and it will be strange indeed if Andover Union School does not prosper under his supervision. Mr. Armstrong comes to a school which has few equals as an institution of learning in places of this size, and it will be expected that it shall continue to be such and that he will carry along the work to a still higher degree of perfection. Probably not one of the many applicants is better prepared to do this than is Mr. Armstrong, and we believe he will receive the hearty cooperation of the Board of Education and the public generally.

Wellsville School Building Burned.

News was received in Andover by telephone Thursday afternoon that Wellsville Academy and Union School building was burning. Later reports confirmed the statement, and the school building and a dwelling house owned by the Congregational society were consumed before the flames could be stayed. The fire originated in the school building after school was over for the day, and while the faculty were holding a business meeting in one of the rooms. Such rapid headway did the flames make that very little property was saved, the scholars and teachers losing most of their books and other property which happened to be in the building, and the school library and apparatus being entirely destroyed.

There was an insurance of $10,000 upon the building and a policy of $500 upon the Congregational residence, which was occupied by Mrs. McClure.

The Board of Education will secure temporary quarters until better arrangements can be made.

Mr. Thomas Colver, who resided about two miles south of Whitesville on the Shongo road, was buried in Whitesville last week Tuesday. He was one of the oldest settlers of the town, and was over 90 years of age.

Mrs. Harriet Parker, relict of the late Zelnore Parker of Hallsport, was assisting her son in moving last week Tuesday, and was standing at the head of a span of colts holding one by the bit, while her son had hold of the lines and was hitching the colts to the wagon. He was fastening the last tug when one of the colts sprang against the other, pushing it against the lady, knocking her over, when they ran, but were stopped by the young man. Mrs. Parker was helped into the house by her son, who did not think she was much injured. It was feared, however, that she might have sustained internal injuries, and Dr. Witter of Wellsville was called in, but thought she was all right. He administered a dose of morphine to quiet her nerves and said he would not have to call again, but she died that night. The funeral was held at Fulmer Valley Thursday, Eld. Kenyon officiating. She was in the 57th year of her age.

Married, by Elder Jared Kenyon, at his residence, April 12, 1891, Mr. Spurgeon Atkins of Greenwood, N. Y., to Miss Lana Fanton of Willing, N. Y.

Mr. Seymour Richardson recently moved his family to Petrolia, where he is employed about the oil wells.

Miss Ora Brown, who has been quite sick, has so far recovered as to be up and about the house.

It is reported that Mr. Henry Kenyon had a quantity of sap burned and his evaporator damaged last Friday night, while he was at supper. The fire was all right, but the feeder became clogged. A hole was burned in the evaporator, and the damages are said to be about $50.
