Stocker and feeder shipments from 12 important markets during the week ending Aug. 11th were: Cattle and calves 83,895; hogs 3,278; sheep 54,580. Eastern wholesale fresh meat prices showed mixed movement for the week. Beef and fresh pork loins steady to $1 lower while lamb and mutton were generally firm to $1 higher. Veal generally steady, the medium grade showed a $2 decline at some markets. On Aug. 21st, better grades of beef generally firm with other grades steady. Veal, lamb and pork loins ranged from steady to $1 higher. Mutton prices unchanged. Aug. 21st prices good grade meats: Beef $16 to $18; veal $15 to $18; lamb $24 to $28; mutton $13 to $18; light pork loins $23 to 27; heavy loins 1 to 19.

Hay

Market generally firm on higher grades of hay because of light receipts. Country loadings still light and shipments are moving slowly because of the strike. Poor hay continues in poor demand. Prices steady. No. 1. Timothy quoted Aug. 19: Old Boston $29, New York $30.50, Philadelphia $21, New Pittsburgh $19.50, Cincinnati $17, Chicago $28, Minneapolis $18.50, St. Louis, $20.50. No. 1 alfalfa Memphis $22.50, Omaha $15.50, Minneapolis $14, Chicago $19.

Feed

Feed markets featureless. Offerings and demand light. Increased storage of wheat feeds reported. Export inquiry for all meats disappointing. Prices with few exceptions unchanged. Alfalfa meal firm, good inquiry for spot stuff, light demand for future shipment. New drop beet pulp offered at about $20 per ton less than old crop stuff in many markets. Receipts and movement light. Quoted Aug. 21: Bran $14, middlings $16, fine middlings $21.50, rye middings $14, 33% linseed meal $43 Minneapolis. White hominy feeds $24.50 St. Louis, $25 Chicago. No. 1 alfalfa meal $21 Omaha $22.25 St. Louis gluten feed $29.85 Chicago. 36% cottonseed meal $34 Atlanta, $34 Memphis, beet pulp, new crop $33 Cincinnati.

Grain

Chicago wheat market uncertain for week; prices had downward tendency and closed slightly lower. Temporary upturn middle of week but advance more than lost later. Maine bearish factors were decline in Liverpool market; restricted export business; increase in Canadian crop estimates; weakness in coarse grains as result of rains over corn belt. Chicago Sept. wheat 7c lower; Dec. Sept. corn 2c higher. Aug. 21, wheat sold at new low for season but rallied toward last and closed higher. Early weakness in sympathy with Liverpool. Export demand good. Visible supply of wheat 27,020,000 bushels compared with 38,580,000 bushels last year. Corn lower early but higher on short covering. Visible supply of corn 8,115,000 bushels compared with 9,909,000 bushels last year. Closing prices in Chicago cash market: No. 2 red winter wheat $1.03; No. 2 hard winter wheat $1.04; No. 2. mixed corn 62c; No. 2 yellow corn 62c; No. 3 white oats 31c. Average farm prices No. 2 mixed corn in Central Iowa about 48c; No. 2 hard winter wheat in Central Kansas 86c; No. 1 dark Northern wheat in Central North Dakota 91c. Closing future prices: Chicago Sept. wheat $1.01; Chicago Sept. corn 59¾c; Minneapolis Sept. wheat $1.03⅝c; Kansas City Sept. wheat 94¾c; Winnipeg Oct. wheat $1.00⅝.

Dairy Products

Butter markets firm during the week with price tendency still upward. Hot weather affecting both quality and quantity of receipts on markets resulting in reduced supply of fancy grades. Some export inquiry for under grades. Closing prices 92 score butter: New York 36c, Philadelphia 37c, Boston 36½c, Chicago 34½c. Cheese markets steady. Peak of production past and seasonal shrinkage has begun. Lighter available supplies and good demand have caused better feeling among the trade. Prices at Wisconsin primary cheese markets Aug. 19: Twins 19¾c Daisies 18¾c; Double Daisies 18¾c; Young Americas 19c; Longhorns 19¾c; Square Prints 21¾c.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

EARLY RISING

I love the crispy mornin' air, about the hour of five, when the other birds is up to greet the sun. . . There ain't no safer by-law for to keep a man alive, nor holds more satisfaction, when it's done. It don't take no alarm clock to yank me out of bed, when the honey-dew is whisperin' out of doors,—for the delicate machinery that's inside a feller's head, informs him that it's time to do the chores. . . O, the medderlark, an' sapsuck, and the sassy little wren—and the oriole, a-swingin' in her tree, has never claimed the credit of knowin' more than men, but that's the way the fact appears to be! So, I get up in the mornin' when the dawn begins to peep,—afore the other neighbors is aware. There ain't no inspiration in an overplus of sleep, like there is in breathin' early mornin' air. . . I can taste the sperit in it, that invigorates the soul, lots higher that a "bonded" liquor can. It produces exultation that is allers in control, yet, makes a common plug a superman! . . . When heaven uncorks her demijohn of early-mornin' booze, and passes it around afore it's light, a feller's conscience tells him it's the only sort to use, and his appetite confirms it that he's right.

Yr. truly Uncle John.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1922

REMEMBER those hoop skirts—how quaint and winsome the girls looked, and then the skirts so tight they had to trip instead of walk? How fascinating they were—as they pit-a-patted along. Soon came those long and sweeping lines, that all concealed yet half revealed the grace and beauty of the pretty miss, and then of evenings those majestic trains and that bewitching Princess gown, displaying every curve and undulation of the form divine—all so wonderful. Now, oh boy! they're prettier still, and tomorrow they'll be longer and still prettier. Styles change, but the ability to make styles always the best ever is the thing that counts.
