THE ANDOVER NEWS.

HAMILTON C. NORRIS, - EDITOR

ANDOVER, N. Y., APRIL 22, 1891.

AN ERIE COUNTY YAUP.

The people of Western New York are urging the reopening of the abandoned Genesee Valley Canal. Since the development of the salt industry in the vicinity of the canal the blunder of its abandonment becomes more apparent. The agitation for the reopening of most of the lateral canals is growing.—Buffalo Express.

In the name of common sense, how many of "the people of Western New York" are urging the reopening of the Genesee Valley Canal? Do the persons engaged in the salt industry constitute the entire population of this portion of the State? Surely we believe no one else is agitating such a foolish measure, at least up to the time of writing we have not heard of it. The Genesee Valley Canal has been replaced by a railroad, upon which the salt men and others can have their goods transported by paying a reasonable charge, such as is paid by everybody who does not happen to have access to the "free" canal, which is made free only by taxing somebody for the expense who is not benefitted. In the long ago, when the transportation of goods was a serious problem by reason of the lack of facilities, the canal business was well enough, but now, when any city or town can be reached, from even the most remote portions of the state, in a few hours, and when the state is so thickly populated that not one in 10,000 would be benefitted thereby, it would be nothing less than robbery to repair and reopen the long-condemned tax-multiplier.

THE ITALIAN MATTER.

Secretary Blaine has completed his reply to the last letter from the Italian Government and has sent a copy of it to the Marquis Di Rupini. It is a long and complete answer to all the questions raised in the last note from Italy, being more voluminous than any of the preceeding letters.

Blaine in his note has not withdrawn in the least from his original attitude in declaring that the law will take its course and cannot be hurried; that indemnity will probably be granted the families of the men killed at New Orleans in cases where it is proved they were Italian subjects and entitled thereto, but that this proof must be undoubted and that the Federal Government cannot trespass upon the prerogatives of the State which now controls the actions in the case.

In political circles in Rome Mr. Blaine's latest communication to the Marquis Imperali has created a feeling of disappointment. The note of the American Secretary of State is regarded as at once vague and inconclusive and as leaving the matter at issue between the Italian Government and that of the United States unchanged.

We haven't much of a navy to fight Italy, but if the American eagle emits one of his fiercest shrieks the organ grinders will be frightened out of seven years growth.

Mr. Harrison evidently is not superstitious or he would not venture to "swing around the circle" in the face of the fate of the other Presidents who accomplished that feat.

There is always hope for the man who is aware of his own faults. Ex-Senator Blair, just before sailing for China, his new post of duty, declined to be interviewed, saying, "I have talked too much already." He has evidently read the newspapers.

When the young Emperor of Germany has a spell of indigestion and speaks a little cross, as all of us are liable to do under similar circumstances, all Europe shivers with fear and the air is full of war rumors. Americans have trouble enough, but, thank heaven, fear of war isn't one of them.

Ex-Senator Ingalls says he proposes to devote his time to making money by farming. We trust he will succeed, but whether he does or not he will be better occupied than in making money out of farmers by exacting usurious rates of interest for money loaned upon mortgage, as he is credited with having done for years.

It was Senator Sherman who originated the expressive political phrase "I am looking after my fences," and he has now started a new one on its travels by saying: "I came out here to build a barn." There are not a few people in Ohio who would like to know the kind of crop the wily politician proposes to store in that barn.

There is a wide difference of opinion in the ranks of the Republican party on the question of Canadian reciprocity. Senator Morrill says: "It will never come," and ex-Representative Butterworth says: "It is bound to come." These, of course are the extremes, but even among those who favor the idea there is little hope of anything being accomplished under present circumstances.

Secretary Tracy is deserving of the sympathy of all honest people in his efforts to take the navy yards of the country out of politics, but he will probably realize, if he has not done so already, that he has undertaken the largest contract of his life, and his failure to carry it out need not surprise anybody. Mr. Tracy is only one man and the politicians that work the navy yards for their own personal benefit are numerous and influential.

Who pays for the costly and magnificent special train that the railroads have placed at Mr. Harrison's disposal during his across-the-continent trip? The people at large do, and you, dear reader, must put up your share of the money in some shape, for you may be sure that, although the railroads furnish the train free of any charge to Mr. Harrison or any member of his party, they expect to be recompensed therefor. It occurs to us, in this connection, that an accurate statement of the expense incurred by the running of special trains or cars on all the railroads of the country would make what the late Horace Greeley termed "mighty interesting" reading for the people, and it also occurs to us that if this expense, which must be enormous, was wiped out by abolishing the practice, the railroads could afford to make a material reduction in the price of both freight and passenger traffic without reducing their profits.

Special Clubbing Arrangement.

The formation of an insurance company on the plan of the co-operative farm insurance society of this county, is talked of, to take risks on village residences.

At the charter election held recently in Horseheads R. M. Bundy was elected city treasurer. The funds are in safe hands, and Andover is glad that one of her former citizens has been honored.

The trial of Wm. Decker, who killed Nellie Foster of Elmira, last fall, was concluded last Friday. The verdict of the jury was murder in the second degree and Decker was sentenced to Auburn state prison for life.

The state dairy commissioner has provided for a series of dairy schools, the first of which will be held in May, probably at Cuba, to last four days, at which instruction will be given on the care of milk and cream, and feeding for the best results.

Mrs. A. W. Allen of Whitesville, E. L. Henderson and wife and Mrs. Karl Beever of Wellsville were in town Saturday, being called here by the serious illness of Mrs. F. P. Cole. Mrs. Cole was very low with pneumonia, but her condition is now considerably improved.

The terrible railway wreck near Hinsdale recently, by which three lives were lost, has been the subject of a coroner's inquest at Olean, and the blame is attached to the crews of the two trains that left the siding too soon. They have been discharged by the railroad company.

IT COSTS YOU NOTHING.

It is with pleasure that we announce that we have made arrangements with that popular, illustrated magazine, the American Farmer, published at Cleveland, Ohio, and read by farmers in all parts of this country and Canada, by which that great publication will be mailed one year, FREE, to the address of any of our subscribers who will pay up all arrearages on subscriptions and one year in advance from date, and to any new subscribers who will pay one year in advance. This is a great opportunity to obtain a first-class farm journal free. The American Farmer is a large 16-page illustrated journal, of national circulation, which ranks among the leading agricultural papers. Its highest purpose is the elevation and ennobling of agriculture through the higher and broader education of the men and women engaged in its pursuits. The regular subscription price of the American Farmer is $1.00 per year. IT COSTS YOU NOTHING. From any one number ideas can be obtained that will be worth thrice the subscription price to you or members of your household, YET YOU GET IT FREE. Call and see sample copy.

The grip has almost been epidemic in Andover during the past two weeks. Scarcely a family has escaped, and several cases of pneumonia have developed.

If you want a stylish hat call on Phillips.

The Social which was to be held in the new Guinn cheese factory next Friday evening, has been postponed on account of so much sickness in that neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Crandall have so far recovered from their recent sickness as to be able to leave for Belmont Monday, where they will spend a short time with relatives.

J. L. Coyle was elected cheesemaker at the Dryden Ridge cheese factory, at a meeting held last week, and Mr. Coyle and W. H. Fryar were made salesmen. P. Cannon & Son are secretary and treasurer.

F. A. Dutcher of Hornellsville, has opened a meat market in the Lynch building on Greenwood St., and proposes to keep a first-class place. He evidently understands the business. Read his advertisement.

Mrs. David Davis has been seriously ill for the past week or more, and for a few days her condition has been critical. There seemed to be a slight improvement in her symptoms this morning, but she is still very low.

What we like about the Buffalo Express is, first, its independence; second, its enterprise in getting and presenting the news; third, the pithy way in which it puts its facts and views. The market reports in the Express alone are worth $8 a year, the subscription price.

The patrons of the Murray cheese factory held a meeting Saturday, April 18, 1891. Messrs. Bernard Murray and F. S. Clark were elected salesmen, and P. Cannon & Son were made Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. Murray is to receive $1.15 per hundred for making cheese the coming season. The factory will open Monday, the 27th inst.

A stock company has been formed in Greenwood for the purpose of putting down a test well for oil or gas. Nearly all the stock has been subscribed, and the contract for the rig has been let. Michael Lynch, Jr., has contracted to drill the well, which will be located near Byron Rugar's foundry. We hope our Greenwood neighbors will strike a gusher.

On the first page this week we publish a letter written by Dr. W. W. Crandall while absent on his recent trip through the west. The letter was a private one, not intended for publication, but we have kindly been permitted to use it for the benefit of our readers. It is doubly interesting by reason of having been written by a resident of this county, and we believe our readers will take great pleasure in perusing it.

Mrs. J. W. Richardson has been confined to her bed for the past ten days with illness which started with the grip. It is hoped her condition will soon improve.

The date for the Allegany County Farmers' Club Exhibition and Sales Day has been fixed for April 29 and 30, at Belfast. These exhibition days are for the benefit of the farmers, and it gives them an opportunity to examine the workings of many articles needed on the farm, the different makes of which are brought in direct competition with each other.

It isn't often that people can get a good farm journal, like the American Farmer, free for one year. We have just made arrangements whereby we will send it to any address for one year absolutely free of charge. You only need to see a copy of this publication to realize that it is of inestimable value to you. Call at this office and see a sample copy.

Freeman Slocum died at the residence of his brother, Abram Slocum this (Wednesday) morning, at 5 o'clock, of consumption, aggravated by the grip. His age was 67 years. He was confined to the bed nearly two weeks and his condition has been considered critical for several days. The funeral services will be held at the M. E. church in this place Thursday morning, April 23 at 11 o'clock.

Dr. W. W. Crandall has perfected arrangements for opening an office in his former location—the basement of the dwelling owned by him on Greenwood street, in this village. His office hours here will be from two to four o'clock each afternoon. He will also be prepared to respond to outside calls. The Doctor's professional card will be found on the first page of the NEWS, and our readers should consult it so that in case they find it necessary to consult him they will know when and where to find him. Dr. Crandall now holds the decidedly honorary position of Vice President of the New York State Medical Society, to which office he was elected at the last annual meeting of the Society, held in February. He received notification of his election while absent on his recent western trip. This Society is the highest medical organization in the State, and this is the first time Allegany county has ever been honored by the selection of an officer from within its limits.

Death of H. C. Beebe.

Henry C. Beebe died at his home in this village on Saturday, April 18, 1891, of typhoid pneumonia. He had been ill for several days, but had been dressed every day until the day before he died, when his condition grew worse and he continued to fail until he died.

Mr. Beebe's age was 72 years. He was born in Brookfield, Madison Co., N. Y., and came to Elm Valley when he was but a small boy, living there until six years ago, when he came to this village and has since resided here, with the exception of two years spent on the farm at Elm Valley. He was a member of the Seventh Day Baptist church of Andover, and was a respected citizen, kind in his family, and a good neighbor. He leaves a wife and five children—Mrs. Kennedy of Olean, Mrs. Palmiter of Alfred Centre, Miss Ella Beebe of this place, Edward Beebe of Tustin City, Cal., and Arthur Beebe of Elm Valley.

The funeral services were held at the house Monday at 1 p. m., Rev. Joshua Clark officiating. The burial took place at Alfred Centre.

The family of the late H. C. Beebe desire to publicly express their gratitude to the kind friends and neighbors who rendered timely assistance during and after the illness of husband and father. We assure them that their kindness is appreciated, and we shall ever hold their acts in grateful remembrance.

The I. S. C. E. will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Green next Sunday evening, weather permitting.

Sunday evening I received an unexpected call from an old friend, Mr. John Livermore of Sharon Centre, Pa., who formerly resided in this town. He came out to make arrangements for the funeral of his aged father, Mr. Samuel Livermore, who died Saturday night of old age, kidney trouble and dropsy. Mr. Livermore was among the first settlers of this neighborhood, and had been a member of the Seventh Day Baptist church of Independence since its organization, over 50 years ago. He had been twice married, but lost his last wife and had made his home with his son for thirty years or more. He was 91 years of age last March and had been very feeble for a long time. The funeral services were held at the church Monday afternoon, Elder Jared Kenyon officiating. SOME GUMPTION.
