THE ANDOVER NEWS.

HAMILTON C. NORRIS, - EDITOR

ANDOVER, N. Y., MAY 6, 1891.

Ex-Senator Blair will not go to China as United States minister, for the very plain reason that the Emperor of China has notified the Department of State that he does not want him to come. Mr. Blair will be sent elsewhere, probably to Japan.

The report of the investigation made by U. S. officials of the records of the Italians lynched at New Orleans has been received at the Department of Justice and turned over to Mr. Blaine. It will probably not be made public until after Mr. Harrison returns and possibly not until the Italian government is again heard from.

Writing upon "Means of town improvement," the Boston Journal says: "Efforts made by pupils upon Arbor Day in various states have already resulted in great improvement of school house grounds. In Pennsylvania more than 300,000 trees have been planted by the schools during the past seven years. On two Arbor days in New York state the total number of trees planted by the schools was 51,296. With rows of shade trees along the highways and neat and ornamental church and school grounds, any village becomes attractive, is visited by summer residents and receives a gain which more than compensates for effort expended." There will be increased interest in Arbor Day this year, because its work constantly grows into attractiveness.

JUSTICE WARD.

It seems to be generally conceded in this and adjoining counties, and as far as we are able to learn, in every county in this Judicial District, that Hon. Hamilton Ward shall be nominated next fall for the position to which he has just been appointed by Governor Hill—Justice of the Supreme court. In all probability Mr. Ward's name would have been presented at the coming Judicial convention if he had not received the appointment to the vacancy, and he would quite likely have received the nomination. But this appointment gives him a much stronger claim than he would otherwise have had. In an interview as to whether he would be a candidate the coming fall Mr. Ward is reported to have said in substance in his characteristic way, "We won't say anything about that now; wait and see how I do in the meantime." But Mr. Ward's friends know how he will do in the meantime, and they will not be satisfied until he has been regularly elected. To show the prevailing sentiment which exists throughout the district, we copy from the Rochester Union and Advertiser, a Democratic newspaper:

"The Union heartily congratulates Judge Ward upon his appointment, which means, in addition to filling a vacancy until the first of January, nomination and election for a full term of fourteen years next fall, the eight counties of the district being so hopelessly benighted as to give Harrison an aggregate majority in 1888 of over 18,000.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

A Week's Record of Events at the National Capital.

(From the News' Regular Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, May 4, 1891.

Senator Peffer does not like the charge that has been made against him of being a victim to the Presidential itch, and he told a friend that he thought it was a part of a prearranged program to use ridicule or any other weapon that might be available to break the force of the arguments he has made since he came east in defense of the rising of the common people, as represented by the Farmers' Alliance and organizations in sympathy therewith. He says further that he isn't a candidate for President, and that he doesn't expect to be, as he calculates to devote the next six years to the service of the people on the floor of the United States Senate chamber, and that is about as large a contract as he cares to undertake for the time.

What is the actual condition of the United States Treasury? How much cash, available for immediate use, has the Secretary of the Treasury at his command? These questions would seem to be simple and easy enough to answer, but what knowledge does the public gain when the daily Treasury balance sheet gives the surplus of available cash at between eleven and twelve millions; the director of the mint gives it as $258,000,000, and Secretary Foster as $70,000,000 Which, if either, is right? Certainly all cannot be. Mr. Foster very sensibly says that he believes it is wise to discuss the financial affairs of the government with the public, and most people will agree with him; but a solid foundation is necessary in order to discuss the matter understandingly, and this foundation cannot be had until the people are given an authoritative statement concerning the present condition of the Treasury. Let a plain statement of the seven hundred and odd millions of dollars that are known to be in the Treasury, showing just which are trust funds and which the money owned outright by the government, be given out in place of the present complicated statement that nobody outside of the Treasury department seems to understand at all and which is interpreted differently inside that building.

It is believed that the friends of Mr. Harrison have succeeded in getting Mr. Blaine to promise that he will write a letter which will make it impossible for his name to be longer considered as a Presidential possibility, and which will throw the entire Blaine influence to Mr. Harrison. Mrs. Blaine has been a valuable ally to the Harrison forces, as she is most bitterly opposed to her husband ever going through another campaign at the head of his party's ticket, believing that the worry would kill him. Mr. Blaine, if one may believe his close personal friends, needed very little persuasion as far as the use of his own name is concerned, as he had long ago reached the conclusion that he would never be President, and made up his mine never again to be a candidate. The Harrison boom has received an unexpected accession in the support of Senator Quay and Mr. Clarkson, who have been considered as being opposed to the renomination of Mr. Harrison, and this is understood here to mean that there will be no organized opposition to him.

At the meeting of the Steuben Presbytery, held in Campbell, N. Y., April 21, James A. Miller was received from the Presbytery of New York and licensed to preach the gospel. A call to the pastorate of the Presbyterian church of Angelica was extended to him and accepted, and July 8th named as the day for his ordination and installation.

The new cheese factory on James Guinn's farm began business last week. The indications are that it will prove a successful enterprise for both owners and patrons. A meeting of the patrons was held at the factory last Saturday at which W. F. Snyder was elected salesman and P. Cannon & Son secretary and treasurer. Henry Schwab will make the cheese this season.

A representative of the NEWS was in Wellsville last week and called upon Geo. Howe, who has been confined to the house by illness for about six months. W. E. Green attended the funeral of Mrs. Wm. Dunham at Alfred Centre last Saturday, and was present at the fire which broke out while the funeral services were being held.

Mrs. Maxson Stillman died at her home in Alfred Centre, April 24, in the 88th year of her age. She was a sister of the late Mrs. Mary Benton of this place, who died last January.

Mrs. Phœbe E. Van Liew of this place died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. M. Spruson, in Hornellsville, on Monday morning, May 4, 1891. She had been ill several months. Mrs. Van Liew was born in Andover. She was 46 years old, and leaves four children, three sons and one daughter. The funeral services were held at the M. E. church in this place yesterday at 2 p. m., Rev. G. W. Gibson officiating.

Mrs. E. M. Spruson desires to extend her sincere thanks to those who so kindly assisted during the sickness of her mother, Mrs. Phœbe Van Liew, and especially does she thank the pall bearers and ladies arranging flowers, &c. at the funeral of the deceased.

A funeral was interrupted Sunday at Big Flats, Steuben county, by an unusual cause—the coming to life of the dead. Saturday about 10 o'clock the infant child of F. N. Brown of the town of Corning, to all appearances died. A lot was purchased in the new cemetery at Big Flats. The grave was dug and arrangements were made for the burial at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. When the friends returned from making the funeral arrangements they found the infant had revived. The sexton of the cemetery while waiting for the appearance of the funeral procession was informed that the burial would not occur since the dead had come to life.

A Famous Elephant.

"Lalla Rookh," the undoubted queen of all performing elephants was imported by Thayer & Noyes, at a cost of $9,800, in the spring of 1869. In the fall of that year she was purchased by the late Adam Forepaugh, being the first elephant ever owned by "the prince of showmen." During that winter she was carefully trained and the next season was "the feature" of the show. "Young Adam" made his debut as an elephant trainer with her. Addie often speaks of Lalla Rookh as the best single elephant in the world, and Addie knows them all. In the spring of '71 and '72 she was leased to the Rosston, Springer and Henderson show, they paying the enormous sum of $350 per week for her, the highest rental ever paid for an elephant. Poor Montgomery Queen was the next owner of Lalla, he paying $13,400 for her. When his great show was sold in Cincinnatti at Sheriff's sale in 1878, W. W. Cole purchased her, and she became a bright feature of his show, and made the famous tour of Australia with him, being the first elephant that ever trod the soil of Oceanica. After Mr. Cole had amassed his princely fortune and retired from active business he sold her to French & Co., of Chicago, whose magnificent show, with the exception of his animals which were at Lincoln park, was entirely destroyed by fire in January last. In March Mr. Rogers purchased the entire collection, including Lalla Rookh, for E. O. Rogers' Great Pacific shows. Showmen are as a class superstitious, and by them "Lalla" has always been considered a lucky elephant, having never been with but one unsuccessful enterprise, that of Queen's. She is a very large, handsome elephant, and as gentle as a dove, being only 31 years of age. She is a young elephant, they usually living to be over a hundred years old.

The E. O. Rogers' show is at Andover, Thursday, May 7.

WISPS FROM WELLSVILLE.

DEAR NEWS: Wellsville is a little dull just now. Outside trade is standing still while farmers are getting in their grain, and as one passes down Main street they cannot help observing that the hotel and saloon fronts look lonely, for those who usually sun themselves there have passed away. We do not know if the recent cold wave has wafted them inside, or if they have truly gone to that bourne where the weather never changes. Sometimes we think the latter, as we have often thought that nothing but death itself could tear them from the dear, delightful spot. They may return but at present they are gone.

By the way, we are going to have our fire engine repaired; perhaps you did not know it, but we have a very fine steamer, and since the recent loss of our public school building the citizens of Wellsville have awakened to the fact that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and there is great hustling to get things in ship shape, so that in case our other public building, that is the police station, should get on fire, it could be put out before the entire structure should be destroyed, thereby saving the town considerable money, as much as—well, I don't quite know how much, but as much as ten dollars anyhow.

Measles still continues to favor us with its presence, and that, with la grippe, seems to take demoniac delight in "knocking out" some one in every family in town. Few cases of either have proved fatal so far.

Mrs. John Reynolds is very sick with pneumonia, and several are down with the quinsy. Mr. Reuben Doty is again on our streets and Wm. Duke has so far recovered as to be able to sit up.

Mr. A. J. Applebee has gone to Tennessee to look after his mining and other interests there.

There have been several new arrivals in town, among them a little son at the home of Rev. D. M. Patterson.

Those few warm days brought out the fact that many of our citizens contemplate a removal to various summer resorts during the present season. No hot dusty town for them, but the cool breezes of the lakes (pretty cool too, just now) or the healing waters of the springs, and I suppose Wellsville will be quite dull this summer.

INDEPENDENCE NEWS.

Elder J. Kenyon returned from his visit to Nile last week Monday.

Elder H. D. Clarke was visiting friends in Alfred Centre last week Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. D. D. Remington of your city, was at church here Saturday.

Mrs. W. J. Potter and daughter, Viola, who had been in Andover over a week, caring for Mrs Potter's parents, who were ill of the grip, returned home Saturday afternoon.

There was a social dance at the residence of Chas. Richardson last Friday night.

The young friends of Mr. and Mrs. Corell Livermore made them a surprise visit last week Wednesday evening. A fine time is reported.

Last week Tuesday Dr. F. E. Comstock of Andover, removed two internal tumors from Mrs. Pardon Green, who has been in poor health for a long time, and it is reported that the lady is doing well.

SOME GUMPTION.

Fire at Alfred Centre.

During the funeral service of Mrs. William Dunham, daughter of William C. Burdick, at the church in Alfred Centre on Saturday, at 11:45 a. m., a fire broke out in the art gallery of Irving Saunders, which is opposite the church, and was occupied also by a drug store and Mrs. Fannie Davis' dressmaking establishment and living rooms. From there the fire soon spread to the residences of Dr. H. C. Saunders and C. D. Reynolds on either side, destroying them. The long range of sheds belonging to the church were also destroyed. The combined efforts of students and townspeople prevented the fire from spreading to the residence of M. J. Green and others. J. W. Marsh had his leg crushed while aiding in pulling down a building. It is thought the fire was caused by the explosion of a lamp in the photograph gallery. This is the second time within four years that Alfred Centre has suffered very seriously by fire.
