Contribute Your Old Books

A campaign is being carried on in our school to collect used books which will be forwarded to the boys in the service. Reading material is said to be limited in the army camps and we civilians can improve this condition by sending along books which we may have read and put away on the shelf.

Students, when you have a little spare time, go thru your book cases, rummage in the attic, and look in those boxes in the cellar for books which you would like to contribute. Make a stack of these books and carry as many as you can to Miss Anderson, who in turn, will send them down to the library to have them shipped away.

Bring all the books you have—even those which you think are useless or whose type does not appeal to you. Remember all men in the army do not have the same taste in books. Some would enjoy books like "Men of Power," "Gone With the Wind," and biographies, while others would find enjoyment in that set of Horatia Alger books which have graced the attic and collected dust in many of our homes.

Bring all the books you have, students. Let's fill the workroom so full that Miss Anderson will have to move out—or call the expressman! JR

BOOTS

While walking down the corridors of A. C. S. a person may witness the fashions. Among these are the wearing of boots by the girls.

Boots were made to be worn outside during bad weather, but for some unknown reason they are being worn inside during school hours.

These boots are very unhealthy, when they are worn inside all day. They also leave ugly looking black marks on your legs. Some of them make marks on our floors also, especially the gym floor.

We know the boots are fashionable, but they really look better in the lockers than they do walking around our halls during school hours.

How About a Valentine Dance?

With February approaching, comes Valentine's Day on February 14th. Since the Student Council has not sponsored a dance since last fall, why not get busy and plan a good old fashioned square dance, topped off with hearts and arrows and everything?

And if there is to be a dance, everyone of you ACS'ers should be there. Come on, away with you "wooden soldiers" and so on! Act as tho you wanted to have fun once in a while and were in love with the world and everyone near you. PEI.

Pupils Contribute Over $50 to Red Cross

Faculty Contributes $93

In the recent drive for Red Cross funds, Andover Central School, both pupils and teachers went "over the top" with a total contribution of nearly $150.00. Of this amount the pupils contributed $54.49 and the faculty $93.00.

In the contests among homerooms grade 6 with Mrs. Schwarzenbach as teacher and grade 4 under Miss Gottlieb tied for first honors with a contribution of $6 from each room. In the high school contest, Miss Baker's eighth grade room won with a total of $4.15. Each winning room was presented with a Red Cross flag.

Pupils Have Good Regents Record

Over 90 Per Cent Have Passing Marks

Altho relatively few pupils take Regents examinations in January and many are those who have once failed the examinations, a study of the results in Andover Central School shows that a high percentage of local pupils passed the State examinations.

In the high school Regents 27 papers were written and 25 of them or 92.6 were given passing marks.

In the junior high school department 106 preliminary Regents papers were written and of this number 98 received passing marks, making the per cent of passing 92.5.

Another Steinmetz Comes Through

Time and time again an immigrant came thru with the products of a master mind. This immigrant was Charles Steinmetz, a hunch-backed German-Jew of recognized genius.

This week, it was learned that another Steinmetz came thru — a Steinmetz with a sturdy figure, curly hair, a flashing and likewise something labeled Axx filled his brain cavity. This sunny "Steinmetz" registered a perfect score, 100, in geometry and that's no cinch. Ask "Pepper." In addition he attained 95 in American history, 90 in English and 86 in physics.

We salute you, Vic! JR

Pupils Change Homerooms

As a result of passing final examinations in various subjects, several pupils have been promoted and have taken their places in the home rooms in which they now belong.

Paul Ryan and Louis Sherwood are now well established in the Senior homeroom. Betty Halsey and Brice Kenyon are Juniors and Jeanne Halsey, Harold Joyce, Eldon Kaple and Weslie Lehman are now full-fledged Freshmen. JB

Faculty Learns Home Nursing

The faculty women are 100 per cent enrolled in the home nursing course being given in the home economics room of A. C. S., under the leadership of Mrs. Harriet Hoover and Mrs. Claire Backus. They are learning the essentials of first aid, and home nursing.

Mr. McKibben To Leave A. C. S.

Frank McKibben, a popular eighth grade teacher in Andover Central School since 1939-40, will soon leave his duties here to join the armed forces of our country. Mr. McKibben enlisted in the marines some time ago and has passed several of the required physical examinations already. Providing that he passes a final exam in Buffalo on February 3rd he will be taken immediately for the duration.

Mrs. McKibben will assume his duties as eighth grade teacher until he returns.

The staff members of the Hi Herald join with the rest of the students in ACS to wish him good luck and "bon voyage". JR

Sawdust and Nails

Among sawdust and nails, the shop boys are really doing some very fine work. "Rolly" Kemp has finished a magnificent work table for Miss Baker. This table is complete with large drawers which will make excellent storage space.

The F. F. A. boys have ordered 350 White Leghorn chicks which they will raise for broilers to sell at Easter time. This is an FFA project.

Six Ag boys are enthusiastically looking forward to another trip to Ithaca to attend Farm and Home Week, Feb. 8-10. Under the supervision of Mr. Fribolin, who will take them up in the station wagon, they will enter contests which consist of judging livestock. These boys are: Chick Gath, Llewellyn Fairbanks, Dewey Northrup, Francis Horan, Leo Lewis, and Brice Kenyon. PEP

To Stan

We realize that your ankle probably is pretty sore, Stan; but can't you hurry it along and return to school? You did so well at Whitesville! You must show your "stuff" again. We do want the championship, you know.

The Senior class misses you—John Dean especially. Poor John became flustered while "filling the president's chair" and appointed Wendell and Wanda to "get a date" —(He meant for Adult Night).

That "SCR" on Hi Herald articles is missed too. So come back and "hop around" anyhow! JR

Junior Band In Full Swing

One more musical organization has recently been added to the music department, according to the observation of spectators who were watching and listening to the efforts of the Junior band in the Ag. room Thursday afternoon.

Miss Hanneman has organized this band in order to help the students become accustomed to playing together so that in future years they may fill vacant places in the Senior band.

This band, which now consists of 17 members, will meet every Monday afternoon. It is hoped that these players will continue their good work since they will be needed in the future Senior band. MJH

CHIT-CHAT

The game Friday night certainly proved to be a thriller. Let's hope that the boys keep up the good work and carry on to a championship.

Andover's two bus loads of pupils more than filled Whitesville's mammoth gym to capacity and forced some spectators to seek refuge on steam pipes and radiators in order to watch the game.

Our sympathies go out to Stan "Stretch" Ruger who suffered a sprained ankle while leading our team to victory.

Weekly quiz: What four A. C. S. students made a tour of the condensery grounds last Sunday night?

"Flash" Vars worries about the trig. test went for naught as he "breezed thru" with a 76.

Freshmen Write Autobiographies

The Freshman English students, under the direction of Miss Anderson, have written their autobiographies. They were finished January 12th and 13th.

The autobiographies consisted of six chapters (1) family; (2) strange experiences as a small child; (3) first birthday; (4) first school days; (5) most important event of grammar school; (6) future ambitions. Other chapters were added by the Freshmen if they had any. They brought baby pictures if they had any.

They put the autobiographies together and put covers on them of colored paper with a title.

Following are two excerpts from these biographies:

Eighth Grade Graduation
(by Clara Hann)

My eighth grade graduation was the most exciting experience of grammar school for me.

During the week of final examinations I worried constantly. Two weeks before our teacher had notified Craig Snyder and me that we would be valedictorian and salutorian respectively. The worry, fury and excitement which ensued during those next few weeks were like a fairy story. Everything happened at once. There were hours of preparing our program, days of buying new clothes, gifts arrived and last (but not least) came Regents. The latter was where the worrying came in.

Finally the fatal night arrived. Everyone was nervous and some were irritable.

Every boy and girl as he or she stepped forward for his diplomas seemed to wear the same expression on his youthful face. Each one seemed to be torn between happiness and sadness.

Altho we had been waiting for this day for years, we were suddenly sorry that it had arrived! Yet we were looking forward to many happy joyous hours in high school, and everything did progress smoothly, however.

My Rendezvous With Fate
(By Marjorie Vars)

It was a lovely day and I wished to go out but mother said "No." so I began to amuse myself in a little rocking chair. This chair was placed neatly before the large window in the living room. The sill of this window came almost to the floor.

I took a doll and began to rock violently back and forth. Suddenly I felt myself falling backwards. I heard a crash and felt myself falling into what seemed to be too far for the floor. When I finally hit, I was sitting neatly on the grass. When I began to struggle up and I knew I rocked thru the window. I was frightened but not as much as of what was approaching in an apron and with a club big enough to lick Hercules.

My real rendezvous with fate came when I very acrobatically turned a few somersaults down the stairs. I made a very good three-point landing—on my two elbows and my head—on a nice hard floor. I tried to pick myself up but found that my rudder had neatly pierced the bookcase which was at the bottom of the stairs. I examined myself and found I had a sprained ankle and an extra bump on my head.

PURPLE PANTHERS UPSET WHITESVILLE BY SCORE OF 30-24

Move Into First Place Tie

A determined Purple and White team led by "Slip" Karcanes and "Stan" Ruger overpowered a strong Whitesville club 30-24 last Friday evening and moved into a first place tie with Whitesville.

The locals played one of their best games of the year in this win. They played and worked together as a team, during the first half Whitesville was completely baffled by the locals' fine passing and offensive work.

The locals started off the scoring at the beginning of the game and held a 16-9 lead at halftime. It was during the third quarter however, that our passing attack bogged down and Whitesville moved up to within three points of us at the end of the third quarter. With a last determined smash, Andover dropped in nine points at the beginning of the final quarter while Whitesville was held to six, four of which were dropped in at the final minutes of play, but were too late and not enough to count.

"Slip" Karcanes and Stan Ruger together dropped in 26 of Andover's 30 points, 13 points each. "Naze" Dolan and Gorsuch accounted for the remainder.

Stan scored six field goals and a foul shot for his total while "Slip" Karcanes was dropping them in from all around the basket, he scored four field goals and five free throws out of seven tries for his total.

A deciding factor in this win was the locals' accuracy on the foul line compared with their opponents'. Andover made six out of 14 fouls compared with Whitesville's four out of 19. Another deciding factor was Stan Ruger and "Chuck" Holt's back board work from which Andover had control of the ball a considerable share of the time.

This win, altho an important one, proved also to be a very costly one. Stan Ruger suffered a badly sprained ankle which will probably keep him out of uniform for at least two weeks. Stan will probably miss the Allentown game tonight besides the Alfred-Almond and Scio games the following week and possibly a lot longer.

Summary:

Andover (30)	field	foul	ttl.
Karcanes, rf	4	5	13
Dolan, lf	1	0	2
Shellman	0	0	0
Ruger, c	6	1	13
Gorsuch, rg	1	0	2
Holt, lg	0	0	0
Total	12	6	30

Whitesville (24)	field	foul	ttl.
Snow, rf	0	0	0
Nelson, lf	0	1	1
Chapin	2	1	5
Freeman, c	0	0	0
Clark, rg	3	1	7

Totals	10	4	24

Score by quarters:

Andover	12	16	21	30
Whitesville	6	9	18	24

C-2 League Standings

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Andover	4	1	.800
Whitesville	4	1	.800
Richburg	3	2	.600
Allentown	1	4	.200
Scio	0	4	.000

Andover now needs to win at least three more straight league games to finish on top, either tied or above Whitesville. Among these the hardest will be with Richburg. The locals beat Richburg a week previous to the Whitesville game but will really have to play ball to do it again. Richburg plays a return game with Whitesville on Whitesville's court in a couple of weeks. If Richburg wins all Andover has to do is to repeat wins over Richburg, Allentown and Scio and the Panthers should not have much trouble with the latter two, altho Richburg may prove to be troublesome. WILDCATS DEFEAT WHITESVILLE BY 22 TO 10 SCORE

The Andover Wildcats kept up their good pace in the second team league race by trimming Jayvees of Whitesville 22-10. This game was a one-sided affair with the locals dominating throughout the game.

Jim Driscoll played his usual reliable game for Andover and also tossed in three foul shots.

West and Shellman were high for the locals with six points each.

ANDOVER FACES ALLENTOWN AT ANDOVER TONIGHT

The Purple Panthers continue play in the county C-2 league tonight (Thursday) when Allentown Union invades the Andover Central gym to try for revenge against the 59-27 win that the locals put over in a pre-season encounter on the Allentown court. The local cagers shouldn't have too much trouble repeating this performance, altho the loss of Stan Ruger will probably mean a great difference because Allentown also has Keith Gowdy, lanky center, whom Stan kept pretty well bottled up in their last game.

Andover also has two games next week, Alfred-Almond on Tuesday in the Andover gym and Scio, Friday at Scio. Alfred-Almond also has a tall center whom the locals will have a hard time stopping, this is Chuck Ferguson, tall, high scoring center, supposedly the best in the county. MG

Farm Machinery Program Planned

Farm machinery dealers, vocational-agriculture teachers, and members of the County Agricultural Defense Committee met in Belmont recently to make plans for an intensive farm machinery repair program in Allegany county. This program will be carried on the extension service and the Allegany county Farm Bureau.

Plans call for six three-day clinics to be held around the county under the difection of an agricultural engineer who will help any farmer repair a piece of machinery brought to the clinic. Clinics will be held in Andover, Scio, Friendship, Fillmore, Angelica and Canaseraga.

The purposes of the clinic are to provide a warm, well lighted room and to have tools and technical help available to assist farmers in the repair of their common machines.

Soon after April 1st, several one-day tractor tune-up meetings will be held around the county, and these will be followed by field demonstration meetings on machinery adjustment, according to the announcement by Mr. Kredller. Local chairmen in charge of arrangements are William Joyce, Andover; Willard Young, Scio; Raymond Strahan, Friendship; William Hodnett, Fillmore; C. R. Mapes, Birdsall and Bonner, Shay, Canaseraga.

Louisa's Letter

Dear Louisa:

My daughter who is only 17 years old ran away and was married to a boy not much older than she is.

Her father and I told her never to darken our door again but I wonder if we are not punishing ourselves as much as we are her. The boy is not bad but they were both too young to get married and he hasn't a very good job.

I worry a lot about her. I don't know whether to back down on my word or not. "Worried Mother"

Answer

"Wise men change their minds, fools never," is as good today as it ever was. Wouldn't it be a terrible world if we had to carry out, to the letter, all the statements we made when we were angry or terribly upset?

To begin with, why should any parent, whose child makes a mistake, think that because of this mistake, the parent must make it harder for her to make the best of it?

Let us admit that your daughter was too young to get married, that it would have been better for her to finish school and then by that time the young man would have been better able to support her or she might have been prepared to help support a home.

All of this is probably true. Your idea in wanting her to wait was because you thought she would be happier if she did wait, wasn't it? In other words, your primary concern was the happiness of your child and not just a display of your authority.

Well, she didn't wait and altho her chances of happiness are less as a result of her choice, still they are not completely destroyed. Perhaps she and her young man will make a go of it yet. And you and her father can help them. Holding malice in your heart is childish and out of date. Forgive your daughter and do what you can to make her marriage a successful one. A helping hand now and a mother to turn to for advice may mean the difference between a happy marriage and a disillusioned divorced womn later on. If you really have your child's best interest at heart you are taking a very poor way of showing it by ordering her to keep away from your home. LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I am a grandmother, but my daughter-in-law evidently considers me a nurse maid.

Several afternoons ago I was ready to go out and spend a few hours away from home when my two small grandchildren came in to see me. They said they had come to spend the afternoon, so I had to take off my hat and stay at home because I didn't want the youngsters to think I wasn't glad to see them. Later on I learned that their mother had gone to a party.

What would you do under the cirgumstances? Grandmother.

Answer

It would have been the least your daughter-in-law could have done to find out if it suited you to keep the children before she just sent them over.

If I were in your place, I wouldn't hesitate to tell her that she must find out whether it was convenient for you to keep them or not before she went off and left them. If she paid no attention to you and sent them again when you had planned to go out, I should take them wherever she was and tell her that, while I should love to have them, I had planned to be away for the afternoon and they would have to come back for another visit when I was going to be at home.

Be nice and pleasant about it, for you don't want to cause hard feelings in your family and I am sure you don't want your grandchildren to feel unwelcome at grandmother's house. LOUISA.
