To the Wearers of the Seven League Boots—or—Do You Wear Them at Home?

Oh, we thught not, so why should you wear them in school? Your school is your home six hours a day—five days a week!

Perhaps the girls wear boots in school all day, just because it takes too much time to remove them before school. Or, it might be that, because the boots are usually covered with snow or mud, one hesitates to subject one's hands to the water and mud on them, when it is much easier to leave them on. Certainly they aren't worn because they look well, for they don't.

Altho there may be many reasons for leaving boots on, there are better reasons for taking them off.

First, perhaps, is the noise they make swishing together as the wearer moves. Irritating, to say the least. Second is the way they look—in no way do they enhance the physical charm of the wearer for they are pleasing neither to the male or the female eye. Third is the fact that the wearing of boots during school hours is not healthy. Boots cause feet to perspire and doctors say that that may easily result in a severe case of athlete's foot. Fourth, they leave marks which are hard to remove from the beautiful floors of our new building. Have some consideration for the janitors! Fifth, save your boots by wearing them less in school, the rubber priorities should make the boots more valuable because one may not be able to buy them in a few weeks.

So, even tho we do not like to take those few minutes to remove our boots, it is better to do so than to wear them, now that we all know that they aren't healthy, are very disturbing, and do leave "tracks" wherever we go! JB

Andover May Have Defense School

Central School May Be Approved For Auto Mechanics and Metal Work Courses

Communications with the State Education Department and the Office of Defense Training Programs are now in progress seeking approval for Federal supported courses in auto mechanics and metal work in Andover Central School for out-of-school young men in this area.

Each course will run for ten weeks and instruction will occupy 15 hours per week. The courses will be given by an expert mechanic and the program will be supervised by Mr. Fribolin, agricultural shop instructor of Andover Central School.

The courses are designed particularly for young men on farms between the ages of 17 and 24, altho others who desire the work will also be admitted. The work will include repair, maintenance and operation of tractors, trucks, and other farm machinery. Welding and sheet metal work will also be included.

The courses will start as soon as approval is received. The work will be held in the school shop during the evenings or on Saturdays. Any young men wishing to enroll should drop a card to Mr. Carl Fribolin or phone or call personally at the school at once.

Air Raid Practice Held

Friday morning the students of ACS had their first air raid practice. At 9:05 the alarm rang—five rings on the classroom bell.

The students marched from their rooms into specially designated corridors on the ground floor.

All those in the east wing marched down to the lower east wing corridors. All those in the west wing marched down to the lower west wing corridor. Those in the cafeteria, music room, homemaking room and rooms 211, 212, 213, 214 and 215 marched down to the corridor outside the cafeteria. The students in the gymnasium marched out to the two wings off the gym floor.

The air raid practices will be held every week until all the students are familiar with the procedure. After that they will be held only occasionally. SM

Guess Who?

Mademoiselle, young, pretty, wise and fair
Has deep blue eyes and dark curly hair.
She has a friend. "Not female?"
You're right.
Who has managed thus far to keep out of sight.
She loves to swim, to dance, to play cupid
Not with your heart, with arrows, stupid.
Amamusm? We love her. She's kind to all,
She's only been with us since early last fall!
Ah, oui—vous avez raison,
Yes, she's a teacher. You all know her well—
But who she is, we will not tell!

Alley Oop Arrives From Florida

Wilbur Lehman, an ACS student, is the proud (?) possessor of Alley Oop, the newest arrival in the science department of A. C. S.

Alley Oop's skin is mottled, green and brown. He has beautiful greygreen eyes which go very well with his handsome face. Alley has a wonderful personality and, while Mr. Maloy cautions all visitors not to disturb him, he seems to show an active interest in surrounding activities.

Who is Alley Oop? Why, he's the baby alligator "Swig" Lehman received from Florida. Be sure to visit him in the science room. JB

Toxoid Clinic Given at School

A toxoid clinic was held Thursday, Feb. 5th for pupils of preschool age and those in school under ten years of age, who had never been inoculated for diphtheria.

There was no charge for the treatment which was conducted by Dr. Scott. He had as his assistants Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Hoover.

Quite a number of children took advantage of this medical treatment and the clinic was believed to have been a success. FMM

CHIT-CHAT

We wonder why Susan Mc has been so dazed lately.

The Freshmen have been very quiet lately! (There is always a lull before a storm).

Wasn't it terrible that the bus got stuck, Clara? (Don't worry, he'll keep up in "them thar hills.")

Miss Colberg should give a warning when she accidentally starts knocking the senior boys around the halls, eh "Pepper?"

Many of the sports fans attended the infantile paralysis fund dance after the victorious game at Scio Friday night.

We hope you return to school soon Stan, we need you.

Mumps sure are popular around ACS. Most everyone has had a "date" with them.

At last the girls have stopped wearing boots in school. In fact, just one girl still wears them.

Scio girls proved themselves to be "scrappers," didn't they, Ruth H. and Marge B.?

The Senior English students are writing to their favorite personalities in hopes for a reply.

Hope the mumps don't get you down, Marge Davis.

Marian S. and Anna H. have been having quite a race. So far it's nip and tuck. Too bad Chuck Holt couldn't be twins.

Who did you give your pigtails to, Anne?

Sorry you "crushed" your glasses Rose.

When do rehearsals start for the Senior play?

Why were you "so" disappointed on the bus Friday night, Susan?

Why was Pat so eager for the Richburg game to be staged?

When is this Ag and Home Eco. sleighride party coming off? Right now is a good time.

Miss Anderson still thinks she is going to get those awful mumps!

The condensory is getting to be quite a popular rendezvous for evening strollers, eh —— ? PEL

Kindergarten Strives For Victory, Too

The Andover kindergarten, under the direction of Miss Catherine Rectenwald, is doing its part to help win this war. The children are buying Defense Savings Stamps.

It has been suggested that each child buy at least one ten cent Defense Stamp a week and put it in a book of his own. He will not only be helping Uncle Sam but he will also be learning to save.

When a ten cent book is filled the child has saved $18.70. This book, with five cents extra, which makes a total of $18.75, may be taken to the bank or postoffice and exchanged for an $18.75 Defense Bond. In ten years this book will yield $25.

The stamps may be purchased from Miss Rectenwald at the kindergarten each Tuesday.

The total sales for this week's campaign have amounted to $2.00 at present. The following patriotic kindergarten pupils have already contributed to this worthy cause—Sandra Skuse, Patricia Reisman, Ruth Atwell, Gerald Green, Agnes Dickinson, Robert Sherman, Theodore Smith, Edward Harkenrider, Ann Marvel, Patrick Crandall, Carol Nye, James Mickle, Mary Jane Sackett, Beverly Loucks and Raymond Hoffman. Air Raid! Clear The Bus!

In conjunction with the air raid drills, which are being held in school, the A. C. S. school buses are also having air raid drills. On each bus there have been appointed to assist the students of the bus.

The drills have been practiced several times with the greatest efficiency. At the signal of the bus driver, students leave the vehicle as quickly as possible and take refuge under the nearest place of shelter—bush, tree or barn. If there is no such refuge nearby, instructions have been given advising each person to lie flat on the ground.

The following students have been appointed as junior air raid wardens:

Bus No. 1—Louis Sherwood, Bernard Burger.

Bus No. 2—Brice Kenyon, Carl Beihl; Jean Lawrence, Charles Nevol

Bus No. 3—Albert Rice, Richard Biehl.

SCIO HOLDS LOCALS TO 25-23 WIN LAST FRIDAY

The Purple Panthers of Andover Central School just eked out their sixth league victory last Friday night by two points. The locals held a 9-6 lead as the first quarter ended.

However, from there on they played ragged ball and did not make a point in the second quarter. Scio began to hit the hoop during the first half and led at half-time 10-9.

In the second half, "Pepper" Ryan and "Naze" Dolan began to throw them in from out in front. However, Scio matched the locals, basket for basket, and, with two minutes remaining to play, the score was 23-21, in favor of Scio.

At this point "Naze" Dolan threw in two baskets that gave the Panthers the victory just before the final whistle blew. This leaves Andover still in a tie for leadership with Whitesville. The locals have to beat Richburg, while Whitesville has to get by Allentown only.

"Pepper" Ryan and "Naze" Dolan were the offensive spearhead for the Purple and White, scoring 18 of the 25 points. "Pepper" totalled ten and "Naze" made eight.

Potter and Farwell were high for Scio with nine and eight points respectively.

ACS

WILDCATS WHITE-WASH SCIO JUNIORS BY 33 TO 4 SCORE

The Wildcats of Andover Central School really went on the prowl last Friday night and came home with a 33-4 victory.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt from the opening whistle. At half-time the locals were well ahead with an 18-0 lead. This lead was increased in the second half and the locals coasted to an easy victory.

Ludden, Shellman and Driscoll were high for the locals, each tossing in eight points. Jim played his usual outstanding game at guard, as well as his offensive eight points.

ACS

ALF-ALM. JAYVEES TROUNCE WILDCATS TO TUNE OF 33-18

The Alfred-Almond second team ran up its win streak to eight consecutive games without a loss this season, at the expense of the local Wildcats.

The visitors went into a lead of 5-4 at the end of the first quarter and were not headed afterwards. The locals played a hard offensive game but were overpowered by the stronger club. Alfred-Almond made most of their counters on fast breaks to "Chuck" Robinson, their star forward.

Robinson was high scorer for the evening, hitting the bucket for 16 points.

"Jim" Driscoll and Dick Ludden were outstanding for the locals.

PURPLE PANTHERS DROP THRILLER TO A-A BY 27-24

The locals bowed before a favored Alfred-Almond team last Tuesday evening on the local hardwood by a close 27-24 score. This marked the second time this year that the Panthers have been defeated by the larger school.

This proved to be an outstanding game and was witnessed by a majority crowd from both schools.

Andover matched their opponents, basket for basket, thruout the entire game and never remained far behind, going as far as to draw even with them a couple of times, but never going ahead. Alfred-Almond led at every quarter but never by over three points. Andover held them to a 7-4 quarter score, 15-14 half-time score and 20-18 at the three-quarter mark.

This loss makes it three out of twelve for the Purple and White this year, two losses to Alfred-Almond and one to Whitesville. This loss to Alfred-Almond broke Andover's win streak at seven straight.

The locals showed up with some fine passing and good teamwork and also dropped in some difficult shots from all over the court. Andover played this game with two of their first team players out with injuries, Stan Ruger and "Slip" Karcanes. "Slip" was out with a knee injury and Stan with a broken ankle.

"Naze" Dolan proved to be the local scoring threat, dropping in four baskets and a free throw, for a nine total. "Chuck" Holt also was high in the scoring column with eight points. "Chuck" Ferguson took over the evening's scoring honors for Alfred-Almond with 12 points. Fran Crossett, high scoring Alfred-Almond forward, was closely guarded and could only account for seven points. In their pre-season encounter with Andover, Crosset scored 18 points and Ferguson scored 13 points for Alfred-Almond in registering a 41-34 win over the Purple and White.

Score by periods:

Alfred-Almond ---	7	15	20	27
Andover ---------	4	14	18	24

Referee: Sid Miles, Wellsville.

PANTHERS MEET JASPER HERE TOMORROW NIGHT

For their last encounter before taking on the Richburg cagers next Thursday, Andover Central will play host to a greatly improved Jasper five on the home court Friday night. Jasper has shown signs of improvement since it lost to Andover by a top-heavy score earlier in the year and the locals are looking forward to a close battle. Karcanes is expected to be back on the active list for the Panthers and the starting lineup will consist of "Pepper" Ryan and "Whitey" Gorsuch at guard, "Chuck" Holt at center and "Naz" Dolan and "Slip" Karcanes at forwards. Fire in the Janet Cornell house corner of Main and Hill street, called out the fire company Monday morning. The fire was quickly extinguished and slight damage resulted.

Selecting Your Personal Pipe

A system for helping men through the labor of picking a pipe that fits the face, and a tobacco that pleases the taste has been worked out by Joseph Ross, president of a New York pipe salon. "We sit down quietly and discuss the whole problem," said Mr. Ross. "It is the way a doctor would do. We ask all kinds of questions and try to get a case history. Then I write out a temporary prescription." The smoker is urged to try a bowlful of that, and this, and to ask questions. "Often they have been cigarette smokers and they fail to realize that a pipe has four times more fire volume," he said. "We explain this and suggest slower, more deliberate puffs." At present there is a trend toward aromatics. Ross can serve blends flavored with peach, brandy, apricot, mint, rum, honey, berry juice, nutmeat, grapes, snowapple, wild cherry, Hawaiian beans, maple and the mixed juice of five fresh fruits.

Celebrating Great Occasions

In ancient history, legend has it that Cleopatra dissolved a pearl worth $375,000 in her big moment of meeting Mark Anthony. Emperor Vitellius celebrated his victory over one Otho by just eating mostly flamingo tongues. Messer Marco Polo, his father, and his uncle, after years of absence in far Cathay, appeared in their ragged garments, slit the seams and released streams of diamonds, rubies and sapphires, proving to all that they were genuine Polos and relatives worth having. And going back about two centuries it is found that Benjamin Franklin in 1750 decided to kill the Christmas turkey by means of the latest thing, electricity. In the excitement, he forgot to let go of something and the current missed the bird and gave Franklin one of the shocks of his life.

Salt Water Fish

Fish and shell fish have about the same food value as meat and are usually cheaper than meat. Salt water fish and shell fish are particularly important because they are rich in iodine. Today you can get salt water fish either fresh or quick-frozen in practically every city or town in the United States. Broiled fish steaks, served with butter, lemon and parsley or a tart sauce, are always successful. To broil a fish steak, use your broiling rack. Grease it lightly to prevent fish from sticking. Place steak on rack and broil about six inches under medium flame. Turn and broil on other side. When fish begins to fall away from bone, the steak is done. Season with salt and pepper, dot liberally with butter and garnish with lemon slices and parsley or watercress. Serve very hot.

Louisa's Letter

Dear Louisa:

The boy I have been going with for three months will have to go to the army next month. He hasn't a commission and we are wondering whether we should get married now as he may be away for a long time. We had not planned to get married until next fall. What would you advise us to do? ANNIE L.—N.H.

Answer:

I think you will be wise to wait until he comes back. After all, you had not planned to be married for seven or eight months and lots of things can happen in that time. There is even a small chance that the war will be won by that time, altho the chance is a small one, indeed.

However, I can't see where you have much to gain by getting married now and you do run the risk of a great many complications if you do. Getting married doesn't change a person's character and you can be just as faithful and loyal to a man where you are single as if you were married. It is also a good idea to know a person a little longer than three months before you sign up with him for life. —LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

I have treated my wife and children shamefully in the past and they have reached the point where they care very little for me. Just recently I have realized how badly I have behaved and I am very remorseful. How can I win back their love and faith? I admit I do not deserve either. REPENTANT.—Ala.

Answer:

You have taken a long step when you realize and admit your faults. You did not tell me in what ways you had mistreated the family, but from their attitude it must have been pretty bad.

It is hard to win back love and trust after we have betrayed them so often, but if you persevere you may have some measure of success. Just keep on trying, even in the face of suspicion and distrust, and you might, at long last, win your loved ones back again. Good luck. LOUISA.

Dear Louisa:

My child's teacher gives him so much home work to do that if he does it all he has not time for play. The rest of the parents are complaining about this too. Don't you think we should take this up with the school board? PARENT—Okla.

Answer:

I think it will be better for a few of you parents to talk with the teacher about it. She may be glad to co-operate with you and eliminate some of the home work if you approach her in the right way. If she is unwilling to do so, I would advise you to see the principal. No child should spend his entire afternoon doing home work and he certainly should not sit up until all hours of the night with written assignments. LOUISA.

Grade News

In the first grade many people are out because of bad colds and mumps. They have made Valentine clowns and a house in which to put the Valentines. They check off the days of the month on a calendar drawn by Miss Butler.

In the second grade there are 11 absent with the mumps.

The third grade has started a Good Readers' Club. They read one or two books a week and record titles and a story of the books. They are paying five cents for two weeks for a party every two weeks. They also welcomed a new girl, Norma Short, who comes from Binghamton.

In the fourth grade a bulletin board entitled News Flashes, is viewed. Pupils have brought articles for it.

In the fifth and sixth grade they have made Washington and Lincoln booklets.

In the seventh grade they have elected new officers: Mayor, Beverly Stevens; Mayor Pro-tem, Doris Wintenberg; Treasurer, Patricia Ludden; Secretary, Dorothy Mead; Sergeant-at-Arms, Carl Loper.

In the eighth grade Basil Dunham is absent. They are going to make Washington booklets.

All grades are preparing for Valentine parties.

DISH FOR THIS WEEK

Honey Raisin Pie uses honey in place of sugar, it uses stale bread crumbs, and it provides the family with mineral-and-vitamin-rich raisins and nuts.

Honey Raisin Pie

¼ cup of hot water
¾ cup of honey
1 egg yolk
¼ cup of flour
¾ cup of fine bread crumbs
1 teaspoon of cinnamon
½ teaspoon of ginger
¼ teaspoon of nutmeg
2 tablespoons of butter
½ cup of raisins
½ cup of nut meats
1 unbaked pastry shell.

Blend the hot water with the honey, and add the egg yolk, slightly beaten. Mix the flour, crumbs and spices together and rub in the butter. Place the raisins in the bottom of the unbaked pie shell, cover them with the nutmeats and pour the honey-water-egg mixture over the layer of nutmeats. Top it with the crumb mixture and bake it at 450 degrees Fahrenheit until the crust browns at the edges, then reduce the heat to 325 degrees and bake for about 20 minutes, or until the filling is firm.

Suggested dinner with honey raisin pie: Chilled fruit juice, broiled fresh or frozen fish, baked potatoes, stewed tomatoes, raw celery or carrot strips, whole cereal bread and butter, milk for the children, with coffee, or milk for the adults.
