Progressives, Co-operatives Plan Campaigns

Plans for electing three student council members at large, to be chosen from the Progressive and Co-operative parties were well under way this week.

The delegates from each of the parties met Wednesday morning to select five delegates from the incoming Freshman class and to fill the vacancies left by those people who have left school or have been promoted to another class.

Each group of delegates then chose nominees for the three members at large and selected a party manager.

At the time the Hi Herald went to press, the meeting had not been held, but the names of the people on each party will appear in the paper next week.

This is the fourth year that this unusual method of electing the three Student Council members at large has been in use. For the benefit of those who are not familiar with it, the entire procedure (in simple form) is as follows:

Five representatives to each party are chosen from each of the four classes. This makes 20 members for both the Progressive and Co-operative, 40 members in all. These parties then meet and each one nominates three representatives at large for the Student Council (six people in all). Each party adopts a platform and planks for the campaign which it will carry on in an effort to have the three candidates elected.

This year the campaign will begin immediately following the potato harvesting vacation. They will terminate in an election to be held about the third week in October. Voting by the student body will take place on the voting machine in the village hall, as has been done in previous years. Those three people who receive the three highest number of votes, regardless of party, will sit on the 1942-43 Student Council.

Miss Pauline Anderson is faculty adviser for the Progressive Party and "Coach" Bob Ingerson will help the Co-operatives form their party platform.

The remaining four members of the Student Council (a body of seven students and Mr. William Maloy, as faculty adviser) are chosen from the high school classes, one from each class selected by popular vote of the class to be its representative. WD

Hi Herald Staff Meets

Staff members of the Hi Herald were given a pep talk by Miss Colberg, last Tuesday afternoon at a meeting which was held in the science room during the eighth period. Miss Colberg stressed the fact that no matter how good the article is, if it isn't in on time it will not be accepted. Rules for preparing the copy to be handed in and the deadline date which is Tuesday night at 4 o'clock were also stressed by Miss Colberg.

At this meeting it was decided that all the members of the Hi Herald staff would meet each week on Thursday afternoon from 3 o'clock to 3:45. Social meetings may be held every two months but no definite action was taken on the discussion of this possibility.

The cub and varsity staff will be announced at the end of the three weeks' trial period which will be October 15. Previous to this each paper is being considered on who is most able to write for the paper.

New pupils trying out this year are Billy Dougherty, Barbara Childs, Louis Wintemberg, Donald Northrup, Ruth Hardy, and Basil Dunham. If there are any other pupils wishing to try out, please give your names to the editor or Miss Colberg. DB

Agricultural Fair Huge Success

Annual Activity Sponsored By Local Exchange Club Draws Large Crowd.

The annual agricultural school fair, put on by the Future Farmers of America of Andover Central School, and the Andover 4 H Club, under the leadership of Mr. Carl Fribolin and sponsored by the Andover Exchange Club, was held Thursday evening, September 24.

An excellent display of garden produce and poultry filled the gymnasium and in a tent back of the school was a fine display of livestock as might be seen at any county fair. Twenty-nine head of calves and yearlings were shown.

Judging the various exhibits was done by Lou L. Burton, County 4 H Club Agent with assistance by Clifford Harrington, County Farm Bureau Agent.

A crowd of approximately 350 people visited the exhibit. The garden produce was sold at public auction during the evening with John Lever as guest auctioneer. Moving pictures relating to floods and soil conservation were shown at the close of the exhibit.

The Agricultural department wishes to thank the prize doners (listed in another article on this page) and the Exchange Club for their contributions in making the show a success.

With Needle and Spoon

The Homemaking A girls have been learning to become better consumer-buyers of food. They have been learning the correct procedure of buying food according to menus. This includes the type of food which must be purchased, the amounts needed, the quality desired and whether or not the quality can be obtained for the price one can pay.

All the Homemaking and Home Economics classes worked last week on halters which were used for the physical examination given this week in the health room. The halters are triangular shaped and of cotton crepe material.

A part of the class periods were used in reviewing and studying for the five weeks tests given last week. BB

Jury Report

The Andover High School has been found guilty in the first degree of excess noise in the corridors. It was found that some noise was justified but too much was unnecessary.

A majority of Andover High students have been found guilty in the third degree for the charge of borrowing. This charge has not become serious as yet.

The Freshmen have been found guilty of setting an example for the upper classmen by acting like grown up boys and girls. Keep it up, Freshmen! CMH

No School Next Week

School Closed for Potato Harvesting

School will be closed all of next week, October 5-10, to give farmers of the area an opportunity of using school children in the harvesting of the potato crop and other farm work. In addition there will be no school held on Monday, October 12, which is Columbus Day.

Some of the older pupils were excused from school during the current week to assist in the harvest. Regular school will start again on Tuesday, October 13, and no excuses for work will be issued beyond that time, except in very unusual circumstances. Make-up classes for work lost this week will be held the week of October 13 and all pupils who were out of school are required to attend these classes.

New Books Purchased For Library

Miss Pauline Anderson, school librarian, has purchased some new books within the last week. These books are for grade and high school use and as soon as they are made ready, they will be available for reading. A list of a few of them follows:

A Golden Age, by Crowell.
The Boy Scouts' Yearbook, by Appleton-Century.
Get Thee Behind Me, by Whittlesey House.
Skookums and Sandy, by Bennett.
Catch a Falling Star, by Dutton.
Fox Island, by K. Pinkerton.

These books are highly recommended and they will constitute a valuable addition to the library. NC

CHIT-CHAT

The first marking period tests started off with a bang for some students, we hear. Nice going!

The FFA fair was quite successful last Thursday night. No cows were found grazing on the delectable school lawn.

The operator must be getting used to putting thru long distance calls from Wellsville. Marilyn and Pat have been receiving them quite often.

What is the favorite pastime among the high school girls during study halls these days?

The girls had a rip-roarin' time at Hardy's Thursday night and we all wish Anna the best of luck.

Classes and study halls seem quite vacant lately, with so many students "on leave" for picking up potatoes.

The Seniors have begun to plan their program for this year. Let's all co-operate Seniors and have a successful year.

Who is the new blonde a-courtin' Anne nowadays? His name couldn't be Louie, could it? She says he's just a friend, but we all wonder.

We notice how the students' voices echo in the strangest places and wonder why there isn't a little more volume put into our school song. Come on, students, let's show them how to sing in the next assembly! MJH-PAK

Kevin Lynch Recovers

Last Friday noon, while playing football on the playground Kevin Lynch fell. His head hit a stone and he was knocked unconscious momentarily.

After being taken to the school nurse's office by Mr. Ingerson, it was determined that he had received a slight concussion. Kevin was dazed for the remainder of the day, but quickly recovered and he is back in school again. CMH

ACS Considers Membership In National Society

The possibility of the Andover Central School becoming a member of the National Honor Society was presented to pupils in the junior-senior high school at a high school assembly held Tuesday morning in the auditorium.

The suggestion was tendered to the student body and faculty members as something for them to think about now and to act upon in the near future. The National Honor Society is an honorary society which functions under the auspices of the National Education Association.

At this assembly plans for Wednesday's election of new members to the Progressive and Co-operative parties were also announced. After singing the school song several times, with Principal Bretsch as director, the group went back to their homerooms and then proceeded to their classes.

Girl Scout Meeting Held Sept. 24th

The Girl Scout Troops of Andover met Thursday night, Sept. 24 in the Home Economics room. The regular patrol meetings were held until 7:30.

At that time Misses Zeil and Seguin arrived to give the girls a few instructions in art and dancing. The first and second patrols met in room 206 and under the direction of Miss Zeil learned a few instructions in art. Patrols three and four met in the corrective exercise room and learned steps in Dutch dancing.

The first and second patrols are working toward their second class badges by taking up art. The third and fourth patrols are also working toward their badges by taking up music and dancing. JB

A.C.S.P.A. Meeting Held

Clara Hann, Susan McAndrew, and Wilma Goodridge were the three representatives from the Hi Herald staff who attended the first Allegany County Scholastic Press Association meeting held this year at Cuba, Thursday evening, Sept. 24th.

The group, accompanied by three faculty members, Misses Hussong, Sherwood and Colberg, journeyed to the Cuba Central School in the station wagon.

After a dinner consisting of fruit juice, chicken leg, browned potatoes buttered carrots, rolls, snow squares and coffee, the business meeting was held.

A summary was made of the ESSPA short course given in Syracuse this summer.

Speeches were given by Miss Grace Larkin from Fillmore; Miss Virginia Hussong of Cuba, Miss Haville from Richburg and Miss Klein from Rushford.

The date of the next meeting is to be announced and will be held in Friendship. CH

Senior Candy Sale Is Success

The first Senior candy sale, held last Thursday afternoon, Sept. 24th was a great success. So much candy was purchased by grade children that the Seniors had to make a special trip down town in order to have more candy available for the high school students. Those girls who sold the candy were: Mary Baker, Doris Mead, Marilyn Hardy, Dorothy Baker and Elaine Pope.

Candy was also sold at the Ag. Fair last Thursday evening by Dorothy Baker. The Seniors will have a candy sale every Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. PEP

Altho she did some practice teaching at Elmira, this is her first year of full-time teaching.

Her favorite foods are sweets, her hobbies are traveling and reading and the sport she enjoys the most is tennis.

She prefers "Mrs. Miniver" to any book she has read and Bette Davis and Cary Grant are her favorite movie stars. As for a picture, "Yankee Doodle Dandy" is the best she has seen in a long time.

Her favorite radio program is the Philharmonic Symphony Hour.

She thinks our school is very nice and suggested no improvements.

We wish Miss Hussong lots of luck and hope she will like Andover very much. SM
