Mrs. Enos' Lecture.

North Bingham cor. to the Ulysses Sentinel:

Mrs. F. B. Enos, of Andover, gave a very comprehensive and interesting temperance lecture at the church here last Saturday evening; subject, "To whom shall we go?" She is a very eloquent speaker, and her thoughts are brilliant, and convincing to a marked degree, that license does not advance the cause of prohibition, but "Christians should vote as they pray." After the lecture, by request, Mrs. Enos kindly gave a vocal selection, and being encored, sang two more pieces very appropriate to the occasion. All were much enjoyed by the audience. On Sunday, she spoke to the children in the Sunday-school, encouraging them to sign the triple pledge, and closed with a beautiful poem nicely rendered, and a song. Should Mrs. Enos pass this way again, she would be warmly welcomed. All wish her merited success. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. Spooner of Hornellsville.

OFF FOR THE KLONDIKE.

Washington County Men Made the Start on Wednesday.

The Reporter some time ago told of the expected departure of Washington county men for the Alaska gold field. The Pittsburg Times of Wednesday says the following concerning the trip:

A party of six experienced men of Western Pennsylvania will leave Pittsburg this afternoon over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for the Klondike. Those composing the party are Augus Leidecker, aged 47 years, and his son Carl Schurz Leidecker, aged 19 years, of Bayne, Allegheny county; George W. Ireland, aged 34 years, a son of L. N. Ireland, of Ireland & Hughes, Pittsburg, in whose oil well tool works he has been engaged as foreman of the forging department; Romeyne Akin, known as "Dubbs," aged 20 years, a son of Jerome B. Akin, the well known oil man of Washington, Pa.; John Freeze, aged 29 years, of Coffey Station, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, near Taylorstown, Pa., and C. C. Fulton, aged about 35 years, of Washington, Pa., an uncle of young Akin. These men are all practical oil drillers and operators, and will take with them two complete sets of drilling tools for use in prospecting for gold. August Leidecker, the oldest member, and leader of the party, has also had considerable experience in the mining regions of the west. The men will take from $700 to $800 each with them, and supplies sufficient to meet all their needs for at least two years' stay.

At Seattle the members of the party expect to complete the purchase of their outfit, consisting mainly of provisions and other necessities. From Pittsburg they take with them only clothing, medicine chest, drilling tools, Winchester rifles, revolvers, etc. From Seattle they will sail at their earliest opportunity, taking a steamer to Dyea, thence they expect to cross the left branch of the Chilcoot pass to Lake LaBarge. Here they will build their own boats and rafts on which to transport their provisions, of about one ton to each man. Across Lake LaBarge 50 miles to the Lewes river, thence to the Yukon river, and along it to the mouth of the Stewart river; whence they will proceed up this river for a distance of 230 to 240 miles by boat until they reach the Beaver river and Frazier Falls, where they will begin their prospecting in American territory.

August Leidecker said the party would probably be increased to at least 20 men before they reached their destination. A number of railroad men and others from Pittsburg and vicinity, who will soon follow, have arranged to meet them at the entrance to the Chilcoot Pass. It was possible, he said, that they might decide to change their present outline route when they reached Dyea or the Yukon river and heard the latest news from the returning gold hunters.

His brothers, Jacob and Aaron Leidecker, the well known oil operators of Butler, and J. B. Duffey, of Washington, Pa., and others are in Pittsburg to see the gold hunters depart.

That Supper and Entertainment.

As announced last week, the oyster supper was served and the entertainment given last Saturday evening, at Prest's Opera House, for the benefit of the suffering and starving Cubans. The benefit was instituted and arranged for by the ladies of Andover, irrespective of church affiliations. The following is the programme presented:

Music ..... Cannon's Orchestra
Reading ..... Miss Alice Watson
Duet ..... Misses Edith Baker and Ethel Jones
Club swinging ..... Miss Mabel Brown
Recitation ..... Miss Carrie Hincher
Music ..... Cannon's Orchestra
Recitation ..... Earl Slocum
Home, Sweet Home ..... Ladies' Quartet
Piano duet.
Misses Ruth Randolph and Margaret Wood
Vocal solo ..... Miss Minnie Clair
Recitation ..... Fannie Ware
Physical Culture Drill ..... White Shield Society
Music ..... Cannon's Orchestra

We cannot specially mention any one number on the programme as being superior to the other, as each was performed to perfection. Every one of the participants is so well known to an Andover audience that the fact of being on the programme is sufficient guarantee of satisfaction.

The supper that preceded the entertainment was complete in every detail, and those who served on the tables were unusually busy for two hours. The object was laudable, and the people appreciated the efforts of the ladies, which was shown by their liberal patronage. The receipts of the evening were upwards of $50. Andover against the world!

We were pleased to see the 41 married men approaching Holy Communion last Sunday. The other 25 or 30 will also put in an appearance for the same purpose at an early date, we hope. We wish to think that the absentees either forgot our request, or were lawfully prevented from executing the same.

The boys that were confirmed last September, and all the unmarried ladies of the parish—including the young girls also—will strive to go to Holy Communion either Friday, March 4th, or next Sunday. Now, ladies, an evidence of your faith, your obedience, and your attachment to your church practices.
