[illegible] Music Institute, by the Vocal [illegible] which numbered 50 men [illegible] last Saturday evening. The benefit that the musical talent of this town has received in one week's instructions under the management of Mrs. Capitola Brown is almost beyond measure.

The concert given last Saturday evening was one of the finest musical treats on record in this village. The violoncello was played by Miss Grace Cadwallader, greatly to her credit. "Give the boy a chance," was sung and acted by the young members of the class, dressed in costumes, in a creditable manner, it being their first attempt. The song "Good night," was sung finely by a number of the young boys of the class. Four solos were sung by members of the class, first, "Silver Bells," which was sung beautifully by Miss Genevere Davis; the second, "The Wanderer's Story, or Why do our loved ones leave us," rendered by Mrs. Perry Stephens, with much pathos and feeling and seemed to go to every heart; third, Miss Margaret Burger sang, "Wouldn't You?" in a cute and capitavating manner; Mr. C. H. Adams sang the fourth solo in his usual able manner which showed much talent and culture. Then "Mother's Song" sung by Mrs. David Parshall and three daughters, joined by the chorus was worthy of mention as was the whole programme, and where shall we stop? not with the male quartet or the ladies' quartet or the mixed quartet as we would like to take a column to sing their praises. But what took the house by storm was the selections by Salem E. Parker, the manager and also musical instructor, also his songs which of course were sung and acted in a perfect manner. To the great delight of the audience, yet the leading feature of the evening and worth the admission price was the fine exhibit of bone playing by Prof. Kelly of New York City, with an organ acompanyment being played in a lively manner by Mrs. Bowen. Thus ended the first term of music lessons and the members of the class are now waiting in suspense to know if there may be a second term.

Lines

Written for and read at the 15th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cook, Alfred Station, Monday evening, February 21st, 1898.

BY MRS. G. O. HOOD.

Dear friends, Ross and Hattie,
How swiftly have sped
The fifteen short years
Since you two were wed.

Then a young man did vow,
When to Alfred he took
A bright blushing maiden,
He must have a new Cook

To watch o'er his larder,
A bride and a wife
To mend all his stockings
And help him through life.

So they start on life's journey,
Hearts light as a feather;
For love lightens labor
When shared well together.

We have gathered together
Your friends, great and small,
To help you to celebrate
The event, that is all.

Your kindred are many,
As all will agree;
They are almost as numerous
As the sands of the sea.

Your parents, though aged,
Are spared to you yet,
And the counsels they've given
You'll not soon forget.

Many brothers and sisters,
With cousins, are here,
And they all wish to greet you
With hearty good cheer.

'Tis good thus to gather
With those we love best,
For sweet recreation
Bringeth comfort and rest.

While we talk o'er the pleasures
We have shared with each other
In the days of our childhood,
With sister and brother,

Amid all the blessings
Together you've shared,
The rod of affliction
Has not always been spared.

In youth's rosy morning
The flames did devour
All the contents of home,
Swept away in an hour.

But far worse the sorrow
That entered your home
When two precious darlings
From your hearthstone have flown.

May the shadows be lifted,
And your hearts be made light,
Is the wish of each one
Who has come here tonight.

May your pathway be brighter
As the years pass away,
And may sweet benedictions
Fall upon you each day.

There is now due and unpaid from water rents and taps over $200. This certainly is not right and should be and causes the Board of Water Com. a great deal of trouble. The great bulk of water rents are small and they could pay promptly when due without any inconvenience. These small bills should be paid and remember when the collector calls he wants $ per week.

J. L. WILLIAMS, Treasurer.

We commence this week sending statements to those who are in arrears on their subscription to the NEWS. Were it not that we need the money to carry on our business, we would not do such a thing. The indebtedness of each is small, but with six or seven hundred in like circumstances, the aggregate is large. We trust the point is clear, and we hope the amount due will be forthcoming.

Death of Prof. Wm. A. Rogers.

Prof. Wm. A. Rogers, of Colby University, died at his home in Waterville, Maine, on Tuesday of last week, as the result from a fall on an icy walk, causing paralysis. He had accepted a call to the chair of physics in Alfred University, and was to have begun his work therein at the opening of the next school year in September. He had already donated to the University for use in the department of physics about $10,000 worth of valuable apparatus which is to be placed in the new hall of physics, now nearing completion. The university will place nearly as much more apparatus with this, this making a very well equipped department.

William A. Rogers was born at Waterford, Conn., Nov. 13, 1832. He graduated from Brown University in 1857. He was professor of mathematics in Alfred University from 1859 to 1870. He entered the United Strtes navy in the spring of 1864 and served till the autumn of 1865. He was for several years assistant professor of astronomy in Harvard College observatory, going from there to Colby University as a professor of physics. He was a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and of several other similar organizations. In 1892 Brown University conferred upon him the degree of Sc. D. and in 1895, Alfred University the degree of Ph. D. He was the author of several books.
