Perhaps you have made up your mind to take

Scott's Emulsion

this summer.

Then look for this picture on the wrapper, a man with a big fish on his back.

Do not let anyone talk to you of something "just as good."

When you want cod liver oil and the hypophosphites you want the very best. You will find them in only one place, Scott's Emulsion.

There is no other emulsion like it; none other does the same work; and no other has the same record of cures.

THE ANDOVER NEWS.

ANDOVER, N. Y., JULY 13, 1898.

J. M. MOSHER & H. S. GREENE,
EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS.

TERMS: $1.00 a Year in Advance.

Lieut. Hobson and his companions have been exchanged.

If such a thing were possible, Old Glory would be in danger of getting the big head.

Schley's celebrated the Fourth of July by destroying Cervera's entire fleet, and taking Cervera and 800 men prisoners.

The resolution to annex the Hawaii has been signed by the President, and the Stars and Stripes are floating on the Island.

General Shafter held up his end of the Santiago campaign in a manner highly creditable to him and the brave fellows under him.

Great as were their victories they were not great enough to make any of Shafter's men look back to those Santiago experiences as a picnic.

We wish to say that from all accounts the "rough riders" are not only fighting up to their advance notices, but in advance of them.

This is the only war in which the United States ever engaged in which there existed an entire unit of sentiment among the people or state..

Just to keep in practice, the cruiser Charleston, which conveyed the first fleet of transports to Manila, stopped on the way and captured the Ladrone Islands.

When the news of the destruction of Cervera's fleet by Schley reached Camara he shook hands with himself for having been smart enough to keep his ships out of range of American guns.

Some of the Indians appear to be working themselves into a notion to take advantage of the absence of the most of the regular troops and try to raise a little Spanish in the vicinity of their reservations.

The large percentage of killed in the casualties at Santiago—about three or four times the old average—removes all doubt about the small caliber rifle being more deadly than the large caliber formerly used.

When the thermometer gets above 90, the chronic kicker begins to get at his grumbling, but our boys at Santiago fought and won a great victory with the mercury at 125. A little soldiering in Cuba might be good for the chronic kicker, and it would certainly be good for those who have to hear him talk.

So far as this country is concerned Germany need not have taken the trouble to officially deny the reported German French Russian agreement to shut the United States out of the Philippines. We never believed the rumor, but should not have been worried any had the agreement been officially announced.

In the hurry of providing supplies for so large an army as that which has been and is now encamped in the South, the most convenient forms of cured meat have played an important part. This has usually been fat bacon. Owing to the uniform supply of this sort of meat the boys have paraphrased the call to "mess" as follows:

"Porky, porky, porky, without a streak of lean,
Soupy, soupy, soupy, without a single bean,
Coffee, coffee, coffee, without a bit of cream."

Members of the G. A. R. sympathize with the "boys."

Beginning with May 1st, or ten days after the war began, the American navy has met the navy of Spain with the following result to the enemy: Cruisers and gunboats destroyed at Minila, Reina Cristina, Castilla, Don Antonio de Ulloa, Isle de Luzon, Isle de Cuba, General Lezo, Marques del Duero, El Cano, Velasco, Isla de Mindanao (transport), one other ship not named. Armored cruisers destroyed at Santiago, Vizcaya, Christobal Colon, Oquendo, Maria Teresa, and torpedo boats Furor and Pluton. Cruiser Alphonso XII. at Havana. At San Juan the torpedo boat Terror was disabled by the St. Paul, the cruiser Reina Mercedes, destined by the Spaniards to be sunk in Santiago channel, was sunk by the Texas before she could be brought to the desired spot, and several small craft have been disabled or captured. Against this very little damage was done to our ships.

These hoppers are the brood of 1881 and will visit the country from New Jersey on the east to Illinois on the west and from Wisconsin to North Carolina."

An exchange explains why a locomotive is like a woman, and is called "she." They wear a jacket, an apron, have seces, hose, and drag a train behind them; they have a lap, need guides, ride wheels, will not turn out for pedestrians, sometimes foam and refuse to work; they attract the men, sometimes act very contrary, and it always takes a man to manage them.

Private postal cards can now be legally used. The cards may be white, cream, light gray or bluff; of the government size, 3¼ by 5½ inches. Upon the addressed side the words, "Private mailing card, authorized by act of Congress of May 19, 1898," must be printed; in the upper right hand corner there should be an oblong diagram with the words, "Place a one-cent stamp here" and in the lower left hand corner the words, "This side is exclusively for the address."

Mrs. Hattie G. Lee, of Hornellsville, recently received a letter from the Cuban Junta that her son, Wellington G. Lee, and Carl F. Weiss and Fred C. Santee, the three young men who left Hornellsville in August, 1896, and entered the service under the Cuban flag, are all dead. The information comes from a Col. Pillot of the Cuban army, who recently died in New York city of wounds received in the Cuban war. He is understood to have reported that they all died in hospital in the province of Pinar del Rico. Col. Pillot spoke very highly of the American boys who, with equal heroism but nearly two years in advance of the men under Shafter and Sampson, gave their lives for Cuba Libre. They were all members of the Forty-seventh Separate Company and are its first costly sacrifice to the cause for which it is now enlisted. As is well known, they went in charge of one of those dynamite guns which proved to be such a terror to the Spanish army and did such effective work in the Cuban cause. How long they served or what were their experience may never be known as not one word was ever received from them after they landed in Cuba, by any of their friends.
