A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Golobick of Colusa, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from rheumatism and nothing relieved me tho I tried everything known. I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for liver and kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by O. E. Vars & Son, Druggists, Andover.

Just a Little Longer.

The Special Muslin Underwear Sale has finished five weeks of uninterrupted bargain giving. We now begin the sixth week with as much enthusiasm over the values as on the first day of the sale. That the public has appreciated this sale is attested by the quantities of garments disposed of. We have re-arranged the stock for this week—taking odd pieces and broken lines and repriced them for quick clearance. The sale will soon end and it will be a long time before equal bargains will again be offered.

Short Talks On Advertising

By Charles Austin Bates.

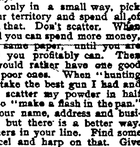
More things enter into advertising than are generally supposed. In fact every thing that connects a name and a business in people's minds is advertising.

Membership in churches and clubs and societies, the quality of social entertainments, public charities—all these things and more are advertising. But greater and broader, and better and easier than all these is newspaper advertising. You may think of that without thinking of the other plans, but no scheme of publicity is complete without the newspaper.

Properly prosecuted, newspaper advertising will always pay. That here and there is a man who says: "Advertising doesn't pay, I've tried it," proves nothing but that his method was faulty.

Advertising is business news. It tells of things which are of great daily importance. It is of more account to the frugal housewife to know where she can get certain necessary commodities at a less price than usual than to know all the troubles in Siam or Alaska.

The news should be news. It should not be allowed to grow stale with repetition in the same old way.



"Find some point in which you can hit hard on that."

If you can advertise only in a small way, pick out the best paper in your territory and spend all of your advertising money in that. Don't scatter. When your business grows, and you can spend more money, buy more space in the same paper, until you are sure you are using all you profitably can. Then add another paper. I would rather have one good "ad." than half a dozen poor ones. When "hunting for bear" I would rather take the best gun I had and load it properly than to scatter my powder in half a dozen poor guns, and so "make a flash in the pan."

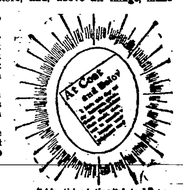
Publishing merely your name, address and business will do some good, but there is a better way. Be different from the others in your line. Find some point in which you excel and harp on that. Give prices and specialties. Try to make the advertisements interesting and readable. Make them characteristic of your store, and, above all things, make them true in letter and in spirit.

Don't say that you haven't the time to attend to your advertising properly. Really, you haven't time to do anything else. Advertising is the most important thing about any business. It is the vital spark. What good does it do you to have the very best thing or the very greatest bargain on earth if people do not know it?

In running a newspaper, James Gordon Bennett, Sr., said, the important thing was to "get the news and then make a dom fuss about it."

First get the right sort of goods, in the right location, at the right prices, and "then make a dom fuss about it" in the best paper you can find.

The truth will follow.



"Proves nothing but that he matched wit fatality."

"Advertising is the vital spark."

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

REMARKABLE RALLY.

Pope In No Worse Condition Than on Monday Evening.

SAT UP AND RECEIVED CALLERS.

Physicians Say Pontiff May Die at Any Moment Even in a Period of Apparent Revival—Constant Relapses Are Wearing Down His Constitution—Doctors Perplexed

Rome, July 15.—The pope passed a comparatively tranquil night, but the depression of his forces continues.

Rome, July 15.—Another remarkable rally in Pope Leo's condition occurred yesterday afternoon after a morning in the course of which his holiness suffered spells of delirium and at times his strength sank to the lowest ebb, and now he lies in no worse condition than he was on Monday evening, except for the steady diminution of his strength.

Monsignor Bisleti, master of the chamber, visited the sick room just after midnight and on emerging stated that the pontiff's condition was unchanged. A little later the pope fell into a sleep which, it was announced, was fairly tranquil, although the patient's respiration is troublesome.

Yesterday's rally was characteristically opposed to every medical theory and consisted in getting out of bed, on which two hours previously the pope himself had made all preparations for death. Unsatisfied with this exhibition of vitality, he transacted business and received four cardinals with whom he talked in an animated way.

In fact Pope Leo's record for yesterday, little of which appeared in last night's official bulletin, would be incredible if it were not confirmed by the doctors and cardinals present in the sick chamber. None seemed more perplexed than the doctors themselves. Dr. Lapponi said frankly: "I can not imagine how the pope manages to keep alive."

According to the physicians the pontiff may die at any moment, even in the midst of one of those extraordinary intervals when his mind and body present a comparatively sound appearance. All those around the patient now no longer since ceased to hold definite opinions regarding the duration of the pontiff's existence.

The slow but progressive diminution of the strength of the august patient foretells the approaching end of the struggle with death, but the doctors will not venture to predict how near the end is. Constant relapses, they say, such as created alarm early yesterday, are gradually wearing down the pope's constitution, which seems immune from any specific disease. Most persons are inclined to the idea that Pope Leo may go through periods of three consecutive days of yesterday's ups and downs till, as Dr. Rossini puts it, "his pulse stops forever."

Three causes may accelerate the end, namely, continued inability to take nourishment, which was exhibited today; sudden heart failure or the progression of pleuric disease.

The latter is thought the least probable. As day succeeds day it becomes pathologically clear that it is a case of a very old-man dying because he has lived his allotted time.

The pope himself yesterday afternoon ordered the four cardinals to be admitted and received them standing; he who is supposed to be at the point of death saying: "Please be seated." He recounted the impressive ceremony of the morning when he received the benediction of the Franciscan order.

The cardinals informed him of the worldwide prayers for his life. Pope Leo answered that he was much gratified but that he was ready for his final departure, concluding by saying: "God's will be done."

Even more striking was the pope's interview with his secretary, Monsignor Angeli. His holiness sent for him, saying he wished to see certain papers, which the secretary brought. Then, after a short explanation, Mgr. Angeli wished to get the pope's decision on the matter, but Pope Leo said: "Well, well, not today. We will do that some other time."

A curious controversy is proceeding between the Vatican medical body composed of 10 doctors of lesser importance than Dr. Lapponi, and several foreign physicians over the embalming of Pope Leo's body. Several foreigners having offered processes of embalming, each more wonderful than the other, the Papal doctors unearthed pontifical bulls giving the right to embalm the pope solely to the Vatican medical body.

PRESIDENT'S CONGRATULATIONS

Exchange of Cablegrams Regarding Palma Trophy Victory.

Oyster Bay, July 15.—President Roosevelt is delighted over the success of the American riflemen in recapturing the Palma trophy in England. The following exchanges of cablegrams regarding the contest has taken place:

"London, July 11.

"President Roosevelt, Oyster Bay United States.

"American rifles, ammunition and men won a victory today over Great Britain, France, Norway, Australia, Canada and Natal, and bring back the Palma trophy.

"JONES,

"Secretary National Rifle Association of America."

The president responded as follows

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 13.

"Jones, Secretary:

"Accept my heartiest congratulations for the American victory.

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Messrs Wolf, Levi and Straus concluded their conference with the president and left for New York by the 4:18 train. Prior to their departure they announced that, while their conference had been eminently satisfactory, they were not in a position at this time to discuss the result of the interview. The petition in its modified form was presented to the president, but it is understood that signatures to it are yet being added and probably will continue to be added for several days.

REPORTS FROM SAMOA.

In Some of the Villages There Is Complaint of Scarcity of Food.

Washington, July 15.—Commander Underwood, commandant of the naval station at Tutuila, reports to the navy department under date of Pago Pago Samoa, June 12, that he has just concluded a visit of inspection of the towns in the western district of Tutuila.

He found the health and sanitary conditions of the various places good and as a rule the roads fair. In some of the villages the people still complained of the "famine."

Commander Underwood says that while food is not so abundant as usual there is still enough to keep the people from suffering and in a few weeks the new crop will have brought back a condition of plenty. The natives generally seemed satisfied with the operations of the government.

A Mormon settlement, with five Mormon elders in charge, was found at Palemlo. The elders have cleared 24 acres of land and are teaching the natives to read and write and to plant and cultivate.

New Venezuelan Minister.

Washington, July 15.—Senor Don Augusto Pulido, the Venezuelan charge d'affaires called at the state department formally to announce the appointment of General Hernandez as Venezuelan minister at Washington and of himself as first secretary of the legation. Venezuela has been without a minister at Washington since 1899 when Mr. Andrade was promoted from this post to be Venezuelan minister at London, where he afterwards died. Mr. Pulido, then second secretary, was left as charge d'affaires and since that time has represented his government here in that capacity.

Shoots Bear Carrying Baby.

St. Joseph, Mich., July 15.—The brave act of a mother saved the life of her child from a terrible death near Prescott. Mrs. Frank Gray, with her family of four children, was picking berries, when a large bear appeared. The three older children ran to the house, leaving the baby under a tree. The bear picked it up and started off with it, when the frightened mother secured a rifle and shot the animal dead. The child escaped with slight injuries, having only been hugged by the bear.

Judge Decided Against Corregan.

Syracuse, July 15. — Justice W. S Andrews has decided against Charles H. Corregan, who sued Typographical Union No. 55 for damages. The union two years ago expelled him for remarks made against labor leaders Corregan is a leading Socialist and in 1900 ran for governor on that ticket. The justice held that he had not exhausted all opportunity for reinstatement or redress within the organization.

Body Found in Hop House.

Utica, N. Y., July 15.—The body of Henry Eckes, a farm hand, was found yesterday in a hop house in Middle field. He had been missing since July 4th, when he committed a petty theft It is thought that while in a repentant mood he went to the hop house and took poison.

Outbreak of Rabies.

Albany, July 15.—The state department of agriculture was informed by Dr. H. B. Ambler, veterinary of the department of an outbreak of rabies yesterday in the town of Montgomery, Orange county. The disease is said to have been more or less prevalent there for several months.

Venezuelan Claims Arbitrators.

Washington, July 15. — Secretary Hay has invited the Czar of Russia to name and appoint from the members of the permanent court of The Hague three arbitrators to constitute the tribunal which is to determine and settle the questions submitted to it under the Venezuelan claims treaty.

The Steel Corporation Presidency.

The appointment of an assistant, W. E. Corey, to President Charles M. Schwab of the United States Steel corporation is taken as a text for many newspaper sermons on modern finance and financiers, because it is generally believed that Mr. Schwab, for well understood reasons, has been removed from control of the corporation.

The New York Evening Post thinks that "the predominant feeling of right minds, in the presence of Mr. Charles M. Schwab's final breakdown, after receiving many rude buffets of fortune, is one of pity. He seems a victim. His generation and the system of great finance upon which it was his lot to fall have proved too much for him. The fine natural abilities with which he set out, the physical vigor, the mental energy, the technical training, the mastery of men—today they all appear but as so much splendid promise wrecked. The vast and remorseless machinery of financial speculation has drawn him in and left him bruised and bleeding. But he has been unconsciously a powerful moral teacher. He has revealed to the observant the true nature of that world of 'high finance' into which he so rashly ventured, with all its desperate chances and wild audacity and gambler's passion, so destructive, as we see, to physical and moral life alike. He has shown us what comes of 'thinking in hundred millions' and living in a mad revelry of luxury. The get-rich-quick method of Wall street appears, in the light of Mr. Schwab's misfortunes, no better morally, and not even any more successful in the long run, than fleecing schemes on the Bowery. And he has done not a little to remind us that the old fashioned moralities and the well tried rules of business are still supreme. Financial follies surely come home to roost. New syndicates cannot enact new laws of morality. The gambler remains a gambler still though he hazard millions."

Interference With Telegraphy.

As might have been expected, Neville Maskelyne's frank admission that it was he and his associates who endeavored the other day to cut off the wireless messages sent from Poldhu, Cornwall, England, to Professor Fleming, who was lecturing on the subject at the Royal Institution in London, has caused a commotion in the British telegraphic and scientific world. Professor Fleming denies, with heat, that he was using a syntonic apparatus, and adds triumphantly that this disposes utterly of Mr. Maskelyne's pretense that he had disproved the secrecy of the Marconi system by intercepting a message with an untuned apparatus.

J. Henniker Heaton, the well known British postal and telegraphic reformer, joins in the fray with a suggestion that willful interference of this sort is either a civil or a criminal offense and asks whether it is true that Mr. Maskelyne's experiment was prompted by a cable company. He then makes the following highly interesting statement: "One of Mr. Marconi's friends is, to my knowledge, prepared to wager £1,000 that he is able to prevent a cable message from being sent by land or sea in any direction without touching the wires. Of course the cable companies have, in the high sense of honor of their rival, a sufficient safeguard."

It is a pity that Mr. Heaton was not a little more explicit regarding this remarkable power, which might have such almost inconceivable consequences in time of war or desperate speculation.
