The Tricky Fox.

A Kendaiman while hunting near a river saw a fox [illegible] in the river. [illegible] make at full speed for an opening in the ice where the rushing water of the river could be plainly seen from the bank, says the Sentinam. At the edge he stopped turned, followed his tracks back to the bank and then ran some distance down the stream and sat there. Soon a dog came crashing out of the woods, trying finally, but on the fox's trail. Now, dogs when on a chase of this kind trust almost entirely to their noses. This one was no exception. He ran along the ice, head down, and when he reached the hole he could not stop, but plunged into the water and disappeared forever. Then the fox trotted away with every sign of satisfaction.

Stupid Husband of a Noted Singer.

Catalani's husband, a handsome Frenchman, was even more unintellectual than his wife—he was stupid. Once, having found the pitch of the piano too high, she said after the rehearsal to her husband: "The piano is too high. Will you see that it is made lower before the concert?"

When the evening came, Catalani was annoyed to find that the piano had not been altered. Her husband sent for the carpenter, who declared that he had sawed off two inches from each leg, as he had been ordered to do. "Surely it can't be too high now, my dear?" said the stupid husband soothingly.

The Cause of His Grief.

The danger of explaining all one's motives is illustrated by an incident from China. A kind hearted old gentleman had found a small boy crying and stopped to see what was the matter.

"Why are you crying, my little lad?" he asked.

"Boohoo!" said the boy. "Billy Wells hit me, and father hit me because I let Billy hit me, and Billy Wells hit me again because I told father, and now father 'll hit me again because Billy Wells hit me the second time."

Short Talks on Advertising
By Charles Austin Bates.

No. 3.

It is continuous effort that pays in advertising as in everything else. A business man doesn't keep his store open one day in the week or one week in the month, or three months in the year. If he advertises in such a way, that is the impression people will get.

It is continuousness that has made the names of certain patent medicines, baking powders, bicycles, soap and other necessities worth millions of dollars. Other men may make just as good medicines, and baking powders, and bicycles and soaps—but the people do not know it, and they continue to buy the articles that are persistently advertised.

People are very forgetful. They have to think pretty hard to remember the vice-presidential candidate two campaigns back, and yet he was pretty well advertised at the time.

It has been truly said that the time to advertise is all the time. In business there is no such thing as standing still. A business man must go forward or he will fall back. Even if you do just as much business this year as you did last, some other fellow is doing more business and he is getting ahead of you."

Each year's effort should be to exceed last year's sales. The only sure way to do it is to advertise. Advertise in busy times because the iron must be struck while it is hot, and advertise in dull times to heat the iron.

It can be done.

Who was the vice-Presidential candidate two campaigns back?

The Conductor's Baton.

According to the investigations of a Frenchman the credit of inventing the conductor's baton belongs to Lully, the composer, who eventually had cause to regret his invention. Before he adopted the baton conductors were in the habit of pounding on the floor with their feet or chapping their hands to mark the time. Lully found it wearisome to keep his foot constantly in motion and so used a stick to strike the floor and beat time. He used a pole six feet long. One day he brought down the pole with such force that it struck his foot and made a deep wound. He paid no attention to the matter. The wound grew worse and ultimately caused his death.

After his time conductors tried more and more to improve the baton, and it was ultimately brought to its present form.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble: too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

SHOOTING IN SCHOOL

Two Men Fatally Shot and a Boy Injured.

DISPUTE OVER A POKER GAME.

Pistol Fight in Breathitt County, Ky., Between Four Men—Civil Authorities Declined To Act and Soldiers From Jackson Made Arrests—A Mulatto's Record of Shooting.

Jackson, Ky., July 22.—In a pistol fight at Cave Run schoolhouse, three miles east of Jackson, between James and William Barrett on one side and Mack Howard and his 14-year-old son on the other, James Barrett was shot in the head. Mack Howard's elbow was shattered by a bullet and James Vires, aged 12, who was in the schoolhouse, was shot in the abdomen.

The boy may recover but the two men are thought to be fatally hurt. The fight followed a dispute over a poker game.

The civil authorities declined to take action and two details of soldiers from here were sent into the country and arrested the Howards and Barretts.

Barrett is a light colored mulatto. He admits having shot 13 persons fatally and wounding nine.

INDICTMENTS FOUND.

Hargis' Teamsters Charged With Arson and Gardner Plummer With Attempted Bribery.

Jackson, Ky., July 22.—The grand jury last night returned indictments for arson against Edward Tharp and Joseph Crawford, teamsters for the Hargis brothers, charged with setting fire to Ewen's hotel last month.

An indictment was also returned against Gardner Plummer for attempting to bribe. It is charged that he offered B. J. Ewen $5,000 to leave town so that he could not testify in the trial of Curtis Jett and Thomas White.

HILTON'S GRANDCHILDREN.

Application to Surrogate For Removal of Their Guardian.

New York, July 22.—Application was made to Surrogate Fitzgerald by counsel for three grandchildren of the late Judge Henry Hilton, for the removal of Nathaniel S. Smith as their guardian.

To each of the children was left $10,000 by their grandfather and counsel claimed that Mr. Smith, who married their aunt, had improperly lent one-third of the estate to his wife on a mortgage on their country home at Greenwich, Conn.

Counsel for Mr. Smith said the investement was perfectly legitimate and brough in a fair return. However as soon as Mr. Smith heard it was objected to he at once lodged the amount so invested in the hands of a trust company in this city. Surrogate Fitzgerald reserved decision.

OUTSAILED HER COMPETITOR.

Shamrock III Trimmed Her Trial Horse by 33 Minutes 17 Seconds.

Atlantic Highlands, July 22.—After her narrow margin of victory Monday Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger yesterday trimmed her trial horse by 33 minutes 17 seconds in a 20 mile race.

Much of her big victory was due to a fluke in which she covered miles of water while Shamrock I hung idle in a calm. Another thing which the sailors say brought good luck to the new boat was the presence of Sir Thomas on her deck.

The race was to have been for 40 miles, but a shift of wind spoiled the plan and the boats sailed a close reach east southeast from Scotland Lightship and back, the last five miles about dead to windward. After the regular race the yachts sailed a broad reach of six miles along the Jersey coast. Shamrock III outsailed her competitor.

California Fruit For London.

This fruit will arrive in London Thursday of next week just two weeks after leaving California.

Two Cars Thrown Into River.

Galt, Ont., July 22.—A rear-end collision occurred yesterday on the Canadian Pacific railroad about 1 a. m., between two freight trains on the west end of the long Canadian Pacific bridge over the Grand river here. Two cars were thrown into the river. Four bodies have been recovered so far, and there is thought to be one more body still in the wreck at the bottom of the river.

Old Woman Murdered.

Pleasant some time after midnight. It is reported that two men entered the house and assaulted the woman, who was 76 years of age.

Uncle Sam's Indian Wards.

An interesting social and economic transformation has begun in Indian Territory, as a result of which in a few years the "wards" of the government will be transformed from tribes to units and placed on their own individual responsibility. Under an agreement with the "five nations" the work of segregating the lands owned by two of the "civilized" tribes, the Choctaws and the Chickasaws, is under way. The 23,500 Choctaws and 6,500 Chickasaws own 11,010,605 acres. Of these each Indian is entitled to the equivalent of the value of a farm of 310 acres of average land. The former slaves of these Indians are to receive each 521 acres of hill land or 20 acres of rich valley land. There are to be sold at public competition 445 acres of mineral land, containing coal and asphalt, and from the public sale of a smaller area for town sites it is calculated that the proceeds will be $20,000,000.

The Chickasaw and Choctaw Indians are the richest people on earth, inasmuch as the poorest of them has a citizenship worth at least $10,000. Any Chickasaw or Choctaw who can get the consent of the authorities may go into the open market and sell for the sum mentioned what he is entitled to receive when he comes into full possession of his property.

Whether they will retain their wealth after the government has withdrawn its parental care and the tribal fortunes are decided remains to be seen. The Indians in question will certainly have a good start. The two tribes will get $20,000,000 for their property, and they have money in the national treasury already, paying them a good interest, and when this is divided each will have much more than a competency with which to begin the battle of life. But each man will have to fight his own way, and it will depend with the Indians, as with the whites, upon the caliber of the man whether he wins or loses. It is, however, apparently the only practical way of settling the Indian problem.

Live Stock Movement and Prosperity.

If the live stock trade may fairly be taken as an index to economic conditions generally, it would seem that a firm and even level of prosperity is maintained with at least fair prospects of continuance.

According to figures furnished by the department of commerce and labor through its bureau of statistics, the receipts of live stock for the month of May at the five leading western markets were larger than either of the two preceding months, a total of 2,512,501 head having arrived, compared with 2,461,868 head in April and 2,346,410 head in March of the current year. The usual course of trade is in the other direction, and these larger receipts may be partly accounted for by the excellent condition of pastures throughout the producing sections, owing to the more prolonged period of rainfall. For five months, ending with May this year, 12,581,790 head of stock had been received at Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis and St. Joseph. For the corresponding period in 1902 a total of 12,502,506 head was reported, showing that this season is fully up to that of 1902 in this branch of trade. In 1901 the receipts amounted to 13,213,926 head.

The movement of live stock from Kansas City and St. Joseph, as compared with that of a year ago, is also encouraging. During the five months under consideration 306,974 head were sent from these two markets, whereas in 1902 only 237,588 head were sent, and in 1901, 272,196 head. These figures indicate that the feeding flocks of the stock raising sections tributary to the large slaughtering centers are steadily being rehabilitated. This should result in lower prices to the consumers of live stock products.

The New York millionaire who, sued for $250,000 by a broken hearted widow, declares that he will impoverish himself fighting her claim sooner than give a dollar for damages exhibits a sort of tenacity of purpose that is highly approved by the legal profession.

Death and the Philosopher.

A certain philosopher was in the habit of saying whenever he heard that an old friend had passed away: "Ah, well, death comes to us all. It is no new thing. It is what we must expect. Pass me the butter, my dear. Yes, death comes to all, and my friend's time had come."

Now, Death overheard these philosophical remarks at different times, and one day he showed himself to the philosopher.

"I am Death," said he simply.

"Go away," said the man, in a panic. "I am not ready for you."

"Yes, but it is one of your favorite truisms that Death comes to all, and I am but proving your words."

"Go away! You are dreadful!"

"No more dreadful than I always am. But why have you changed so? You have never feared the death that has come to your friends. I never heard you sigh when I carried off your old companions. You have always said, 'It is the way of all flesh.' Shall I make an exception in favor of your flesh?"

"Yes, for I am not ready."

"But I am. Your time has come. Do not repine. Your friends will go on buttering their toast. They will take it as philosophically as you have taken every other death."

And the philosopher and Death departed on a long journey together.—Charles Battell Loomis in Brandur Magazine.

An English Sanctuary.

Beverley minster, 180 miles north of London, is the shrine of St. John of Beverley, who died in the year 721. In 938 Athelstan, king of England, gave several privileges to the monastery, one being the privilege of sanctuary. This was not merely for manslaying; it was open to all wrongdoers except those who had been guilty of treason. For ordinary offenses, such as horse stealing, cattle stealing, being backward in accounts or being in receipt of suspected goods, a man came into sanctuary about a mile from the monastery or church. There used to be four crosses on the main roads leading to Beverley marking the limit of the area. In cases of manslaughter and murder it was not sufficient to be within one of these crosses. Before the fugitive could claim sanctuary he must enter the church and seat himself in a stone chair known as the "frid stool" or "freed chair." To this place many fled for refuge from all parts of the country.

French System of Harbor Work.

Paris, June 10.—Congressman Burton, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee of the house of representatives, had an extended conference with the minister of public works, M. Marcejouls, comparing the French and American systems of administering river and harbor work which developed that there are several features in the French system which Mr. Burton regards as being practical for adoption by the United States. Owing to the magnitude of the American river and harbor estimates, totalling $300,000,000 Mr. Burton says the French system requiring localities to contribute a share of the expenses of improvement is worthy of serious consideration.

Youth's Unrestraint.

"Don't you sometimes long for your childhood's happy days?" said the sentimental person.

"Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "there are times when I would enjoy hanging on the fence and making faces at people I don't like instead of having to say: 'How do you do, dear? So glad to see you!'"—Washington Star.
