Letter to Charles Driscoll.

ANDOVER, N. Y.

Dear Sir.—There was a time when it paid a painter to paint lead and oil, and fight shy of anything else. That was when the market was full of poor paints, and zinc was unknown.

Now zinc has come in, lead and oil must give way—it is too short-lived.

There are two ways to use zinc: you can mix it in with lead in a tub, or buy Devoe lead and zinc, which is ground together by machinery.

If you mix your own lead and zinc, you gain something; if you buy Devoe you gain more, because machinery does better work than hand mixing. Experience is worth something. We have had 136 years of it.

Yours truly,

F. W. DEVOE & CO.

The wolf in the fable put on sheep's clothing because if he traveled on his own reputation he couldn't accomplish his purpose. Counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve couldn't sell their worthless salves on their merits, so they put them in boxes and wrappers like DeWitt's. Look out for them. Take only DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It cures piles and all skin diseases. Benedict & Van Noy, Andover; E. Breeze, Elm Valley.

Trains That Fly.

It is not outside the bounds of truth to say that the trains of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway virtually fly over the ground. No other road between Buffalo and western cities makes such fast time as the Lake Shore Limited, the most palatial train in the world, which makes the trip between Buffalo and Chicago in exactly 13 hours. Other fast day trains are the South Western Express and the Pacific Express. The Fast Mail Limited and Chicago Special make wonderful time at night. In addition to the question of speed, the Lake Shore Railroad is noted for punctuality, safety and the elegance of its cars. Full particulars from your local agent.

Letter from Father Murray.

KARLSBAD, Aug. 9, 1900.

To the Editors of the ANDOVER NEWS:

The rapidity of our trip thus far has altogether prevented us from writing what would be called a civil letter even to every-day friends. So you may easily know that the NEWS could not expect even a short account of our varied experience since June 17th last.

Well, now a word. We are quite as well as when we left home. You last saw us approaching Geneva, Switzerland. All day Sunday, July 15th, from 10 a. m. till 9 p. m., were your vision sufficiently powerful you could have seen us on board one of Geneva's dozen boats enjoying a very agreeable ride on the lake. We went from the city of Geneva to Chillon—made famous by Byron's poem, "The Prisoners of Chillon," — returning again at night, thus making the circuit of the lake. I make no attempt at a description of this beautiful lake, surrounded as it is by hills and mountain peak, whose banks are dotted with hamlets and villas and gardens, vineyards, trees and flowers. It is one of the gifts of bounteous nature for man's enjoyment and delight.

To find us as we are presently located and know the route we took, you would see us leaving Geneva Monday morning, July 15th, traveling by express train via Berne and Zurich, reaching Constance about 10 p. m. After a night's sound sleep we feel refreshed for another day's ride. So arising early we stroll around the city for an hour, visiting on our way the old cathedral, till 10 o'clock, when we board one of the little steamers of Lake Constance. Two and a half hours brings us to Bregens, situate at the upper end of the lake. We hurriedly take our places in the railway "wagon," so as to get near the window in order to enjoy more of nature's beauties. The ride from Bregens to Innsbruck is about five hours. The scenery is at places almost fearfully wild but very picturesque. The railway runs thru the valley of the Ill, or rather the Gulch it might be called. To our left the rocks tower up above us, almost perpendicularly, hundreds of feet in places, and beneath us we see the river wending its way over its rocky bed impatient to mingle with the waters of the lake we have left. At Feldkirch we leave the Ill and follow the Inn down an equally romantic and picturesque valley of gorges and gulches till we come to Innsbruck in the Tyrol. Here we remain till Saturday morning, when at 6 o'clock, in company with ten other gentlemen, we take a tally-ho to the now famous town of Oberammergau, about 25 miles from Innsbruck.

I am not going to say a word about the Passion Play now. We saw it. We shall never forget it. We telegraphed for tickets to the play for Sunday, July 22d, and received a favorable reply. But on our arrival Saturday night we were informed that there was no more room for Sunday and no tickets could be had till Monday. Four thousand people witness the play at once. So many were the visitors that the play was repeated on Monday and Tuesday also, in order that no one present should be disappointed in seeing this unique representation of the Passion of our Redeemer. Of Oberammergau and its Passion Play more later on.

Howland Reunion.

The second annual reunion of the Howland family occurred last Thursday, Aug. 16th, at the home of L. E. Howland, Elm Valley. There were twenty-eight present, and four generations represented. The people became saddened here by the sudden death of their aunt, Mrs. Philip Wetzel, and morning being rainy they did not go to the grove until nearly noon. The long tables were quickly spread, and all gathered around to partake of the bountiful dinner. The afternoon was delightful. Dinner being over they listened to some fine music by the Baker Band. About 3 o'clock Mr. Sweeney of Wellsville appeared on the scene and photographed the company. There was a short program consisting of music and recitations, followed by roll call and reading of the Secretary's report. The good will and harmony of all, and Uncle "Josh's" linen duster, helped to make the day a success. J. H.
