Cut to Fit

Has the significance of this phrase ever arrested your attention? Hasn't it occurred to you in the past, that mighty little so-called ready-made clothing is cut to fit? Ours is.

Nothing better can be made. Only shorely tested and trustworthy fabrics and trimmings are used. The patterns and styles are up-to-date.

In short, our Ready-to-wear garments have reached that degree of fitness, style and character that is otherwise to be found only in the better grade of custom-made clothing. The difference in price in favor of SCHAUL & ROOSA clothing is practically the only difference.

Men's Suits $8. to $25.

Overcoats are loose and boxy. Every one has the close fitting collar and hand padded shoulders. In three lengths, short, medium and long.

Overcoats $8. to $35.

Rain Coats $10 to $22.

Perhaps our illustrated catalogue will help you in determining what you will wear this Fall and Winter. You may have a copy for the asking.

Stepped Against a Hot Stove.

A child of Mrs. Geo. T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Keiltar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment and especially valuable for burns, cuts, bruises and sprains. For sale by O. E. Vars & Son, Andover, and N. E. Coston, Greenwood.

ERLICH BROS.,
READY-MADE CLOTHING FOR WOMEN,
148 Main Street, Hornellsville.

A Knotty Legal Question.

The courts of Massachusetts have before them an unusually knotty problem, bearing upon which there is apparently no law or precedent.

It appears that a young woman, formerly employed in a North Adams paper mill, while sorting rags found a valuable diamond ring. She showed the treasure, and her employers promptly took it away from her. When she asked for it they asserted that it was theirs. Thereupon she began what has proved a tedious litigation with the end still in doubt.

The decisions regarding articles found in a shop are said to be quite clear. If an employee discovers a lost piece of property on the shop counter or other specified place where goods are displayed it belongs to the proprietors. If it is found on the shop floor the employee may after waiting a reasonable time for the owner to appear take permanent possession of it. But it appears that there is little or nothing in the books that touches upon the ownership of a diamond ring found by an employee in the rags that were the property of her employers. The appearance of the owner and the identification of the property would of course solve the matter, but he fails to do this notwithstanding the widespread advertising the case has received.

Perhaps the oriental method of administering justice in complicated cases like this might be employed with fairly good results. There the cadi hears both sides with close attention and settles the dispute by pocketing the bone of contention. We do much the same thing in the occident, only the lawyers instead of the magistrates get the bone.

No Coaxing About It.

"Why did you let that girl coaxing you into subscribing for her book?"

"Coaxed me! She didn't coaxe me. She just looked into my eyes and drew one or two long breaths."—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Overenthusiastic Ovation.

All the world loves a lover, and, according to Thackeray, a goodly portion of it dearly loves a duke. Now, when the ducal lover espouses an American heiress with about as many millions as she has fingers and toes naturally this adoration is intensified. This sort of thing, however, seems to have been overdone in the "ovation" given in New York the other day to the Duke of Roxburghe and his bride, Miss Goelet, on the occasion of the celebration of their nuptials. It was to be expected that the marriage would attract great attention, and it was not surprising that the fashionable thoroughfare on which it took place should have been densely packed with curious and more or less admiring people. But it is going somewhat beyond the limit when the marriage of a rich girl belonging to the fashionable set to a British duke inspires women to crawl through coal holes to get into a church through the cellar under the chancel; when it leads "expensively dressed" women to grovel on their faces in dark corners and under pews to hide themselves away from the police; when it makes them creep under awnings and renders it necessary for the police to draw them out by their feet, and when they are led to mob by thousands the bride's carriage in the open street, trampling on one another in a desperate struggle to thrust their heads through the carriage door to catch a glimpse of the bride and groom.

According to the accounts printed in the New York papers, it would be no exaggeration to call the demonstration a riot, which the police were well nigh powerless to quell. The disturbance illustrates one of the effects of the modern appliances for the production of notoriety. When a certain number of people who are distinguished from their fellow citizens only by the facts that they have nothing to do and plenty of money with which to do it have not only their "social functions," but their down sittings and their uprisings chronicled, and are treated as a class apart and of peculiar interest, it is no wonder that both they themselves and the people who read about their doings should imbibe an exaggerated notion of their importance. When one of them arrives at the point of marrying a duke and the wedding is advertised long in advance and in minute detail the natural result is such an outbreak of organized and hysterical vulgarity as attended the Roxburghe-Goelet wedding.

Colds

"I had a terrible cold and could hardly breathe. I then tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and it gave me immediate relief."
W. C. Layton, Sidell, Ill.

How will your cough be tonight? Worse, probably. For it's first a cold, then a cough, then bronchitis or pneumonia, and at last consumption. Coughs always tend downward. Stop this downward tendency by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

Three sizes: the strength for an ordinary cold; 50c., just right for bronchitis, hoarseness, hard colds; etc., $1, most economical for chronic cases. Keep a bottle on hand.
J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

Congress and Cuban Reciprocity.

It is wholly improbable that the extraordinary session of congress will accomplish anything more than the work for which it was convened, the adoption of the Cuban reciprocity treaty. If indeed it does so much as that. It is announced that Mr. Cannon, who has already been determined upon by the Republican caucus of the house as speaker, will appoint only one or two of the committees at the opening of the session, thus preventing the consideration of general legislation and requiring congress to devote itself exclusively to the matter directly in hand.

The treaty for reciprocal trade with Cuba, which was defeated at the last session of congress, provides for a 20 per cent reduction of duty on Cuban sugar, tobacco and other products of the Cuban soil imported into the United States and for a reduction of from 25 to 40 per cent on articles of American manufacture imported into Cuba. It was signed by the representatives of the two governments on Dec. 11, 1902, and when ratified by the senate was amended by that body by the requirement that it should not take effect until it had been "approved by congress." This amendment was adopted in order to meet the constitutional objection that changes in the tariff could not be accomplished by treaty, but must originate in the house of representatives.

It is vigorously maintained by prominent members of the house, and more particularly by Mr. Littlefield of Maine in an article in a recent issue of the American Economist, that this amendment is of no effect, that the house has no constitutional power to approve a treaty, any more than to disprove one, and that in this case there is no treaty, for what purports to be such is an unconstitutional, although, of course, unintended, usurpation by the president and the senate of the power possessed by the house alone of originating all bills for raising revenue, which include all measures in any way modifying the tariff.

If Mr. Littlefield and those who support his contention are correct and persist in maintaining their position the treaty is likely to become involved in a question of procedure which may prevent its approval at this session.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

NO PAY, NO PAPER AFTER JANUARY 1, 1904.

The "News" Adopts the Cash in Advance System, Believing it Better for both Publishers and Readers.

The ANDOVER NEWS is to-day the only paper in Allegany county printing eight six-column pages all at home, that does not charge more than $1.00 per year subscription. It is a close thing to issue such a sheet at that price and make both ends meet. The price of print paper has doubled within the past four years. The only way the NEWS can possibly maintain the present $1.00 rate is to carry no deadheads. Believing it unjust that a good subscriber be taxed to help pay for his deadbeat neighbor's paper, we have determined to adopt the "No pay, no paper" policy January 1st, 1904, and live rigidly up to it after that date. Kindly read the label on your paper and if you are not credited beyond Jan. 1st, 1904, you are hereby notified that your paper will then be discontinued unless you walk up to the Captain's office and settle before that date. After Jan. 1st, 1904, all subscription accounts then due will be placed in an attorney's hands for collection.

THE PUBLISHERS.

A dispatch from Duluth calls attention to the loss of wooden freight vessels on the lakes this season. One firm has lost seven, all comparatively modern. No steel ship has been lost thus far. Apparently the day of wooden craft on the great lakes is rapidly passing.

A Washington item says that more bridal couples have visited the national capital this season than ever before, but it is not known whether this is due to the president's views on race suicide or the matrimonial example of sundry senators.

It is said that the students of Columbia university earned $50,000 during the summer vacation in the harvest fields. It is a question whether they will earn more than that in the professions the first year after they graduate.

Receiver Smith must be a very rude sort of a person to employ such vulgar terms as "wholesale plunder" and "swindle" in connection with the operations of such eminent financiers as the promoters of the shipbuilding trust.

Cured of Piles after 40 Years.

Mr. C. Hisney, of Geneva, O., had the piles for 40 years. Doctors and dollars could do him no lasting good. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured him permanently. Invaluable for cuts, burns, bruises, sprains, lacerations, eczema, tetter, saltrheum, and all other skin diseases. Look for the name DeWitt on the package—all others are cheap, worthless counterfeits. Sold by O. E. Vars & Son.

Not a Sick Day Since.

I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured and have not seen a sick day since. Neighbors of mine have been cured of rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles and general debility." This is what B. F. Buss, of Fremont, N. C., writes. Only 50c. at O. E. Mrs. Isaac Willets has recently paid the debt which has been standing against the Episcopal church in Belmont for some time.

Clarence Wait was boarding at the Carroll Hotel at Portageville and lost all his clothing and twelve or thirteen dollars in money by the fire last week Sunday night.

All indications point to the double tracking of the Erie across Allegany county next summer. There will be three tracks from New York to Hornellsville and two from Hornellsville to Salamanca.

DEATH OF GEORGE MUMMEY.

Another Belmont Citizen's Death. Funeral Held Last Sunday.

He was born at Black Creek, Pa., and was married on Sept. 26, 1885, to Miss Etta Davis, who survives him, together with one daughter Bessie. Deceased came to Belmont about two years ago and engaged in the undertaking and furniture business with J. H. Bissell. Last summer he removed from this village to Bradford, but later returned to Belmont. About a month ago while moving a piano to his rooms over the Davis store, it fell and jammed his head against the wall and he has been ill in consequence ever since.

Mayor and Council Committee Secured an Agreement After Long Conference.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Mayor Harrison announced that an agreement had been reached and that the men would return to work today.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—The police on the cars were ordered by Inspector Hunt that if compelled to use their revolvers they were to fire into the mob with the intention of hitting somebody. There is to be no more shooting over people's heads, the inspector declared.

Last evening the committee of the city council, which has at different times endeavored to mediate between the company and strikers was called together at the request of President Hamilton of the street car company, who desired to make a statement to it. This was carried in by Attorney Biles and Mayor Harrison immediately afterward summoned Attorney Darrow and President Mahon of the street car men.

They promptly declined whatever proposition the company had submitted for the mayor thrust his head out within a few minutes after they had entered his office, saying: "There is no chance of an agreement."

The mayor then called in the council mediation committee and they were locked up with representatives of the street railway company until a late hour.

EUGENE WARE TO RESIGN.

Announced That He Will Retire From Office Next November.

Washington, Nov. 25.—It can be announced that Eugene F. Ware, the commissioner of pensions, will retire from that office by about the middle of November of next year and will return immediately to the practice of law in Kansas. The decision to resign and return to private life is the result of his long felt dissatisfaction with the nature of the duties of his office.

Mr. Ware's acceptance of the president's tender of the office shortly after the appointment of his predecessor, H. Clay Evans, to the post of consul general to Great Britain last spring, created considerable surprise at the time.

He had a law practice that was one of the largest in Kansas and it brought him considerably more than his salary as commissioner of pensions. He had not been in the office long before the demands that the work made on his time and strength and the constant friction that has been incidental to the place under every administration led to his distaste of the office.

Ex-Senator Pettigrew, Richard Whiting Blue, who was the representative at large from Kansas during several sessions of congress, and ex-Representative Samuel W. Peters of Kansas, have been mentioned in connection with the successorship to Mr. Ware.
