Miss Eloise Swayzee, a granddaughter of Mrs. L. D. Ersley is among the reported missing from the great theatre calamity at Chicago. Miss Swayzee was attending a convent school and was spending her vacation with her mother in Chicago and was one of the vast audience at the Iroquois on that fatal afternoon.

Mrs. James McKindry of Hornellsville died while on a visit to Mrs. Thos. McDonald who lives between Greenwood and Rexville. She was buried Monday. At the time of her death information was received of the death of her brother-in-law, R. McLoughlin, of Cleveland, Ohio, who was brought here and buried at the same time.

Death of an Estimable Citizen.

On Friday last James O'Connor died at the residence of Mrs. Estelle Griswold, at the age of 78 years.

Mr. O'Connor came to the village from Hornellsville about eight years ago and by his upright life and winning ways soon won the esteem of all who became acquainted with him. Mr. O'Connor was born in Deleware county this state and moved from there with his parents to Wisconsin when a boy. The family moved back to York state settling near Mount Morris. From Mount Morris the family removed to Almond where three of the brothers, Will, Levi and James went into the tanning business. About 1862 Will and James moved to Hornellsville where they were engaged in tanning for many years.

From the latter place James moved to Greenwood in 1896. Mr. O'Connor was married three times and had two daughters by his second wife, who grew to womanhood and both preceeded him to the better land. His last marriage was with Sylvania Baker, familiarly known as Aunt Vine who died in 1901 and his only survivor is a granddaughter, Flora Newman, aged 19. Greenwood feels that it has lost a good citizen.

A Citizen of Greenwood a Witness to the Chicago Calamity.

George Bruce and wife of this place returned last week from a month's visit with their son Ora at Chicago and Mrs. Bruce and her son's wife came near being among the victims of the disaster, as they had the Iroquois theatre scheduled for that day, but owing to a temporary illness of Mrs Bruce, jr., they did not go. Mr. Bruce says that it was a heart sickening sight at the scene of the holocaust and one never to be forgotten.

Practical.

Ponder—Did you ever notice that most of the fires that break out suddenly and spread quickly are due to spontaneous combustion?

Housekeep—No, but I've often thought what a splendid thing spontaneous combustion would be if you could only keep it on tap to light the kitchen fire with.—Philadelphia Press.

"Cure the cough and save the life." Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup cures coughs and colds, down to the very verge of consumption.

Daddy Stumped.

Willie—Daddy, why can a man run faster than a boy?

Dad—Because he's bigger.

Willie—Is that it? Then why don't the hind wheels of a wagon run faster than the front ones?

But dad gave it up.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

A nice thing about having children is that it keeps a man's wits sharpened to prevent them from discovering how much he doesn't know.—New York Press.

Wonderful Nerve.

Charles Lamb's Grace.

On one occasion when Edmund Clarence Stedman was visiting in New England he was called upon by the head of the house while at dinner to invoke the divine blessing. "I was rather surprised and for half a minute sorely tempted," said Mr. Stedman in relating the incident. "Then I rose to the occasion and asked a grace which I remembered." "But, Mr. Stedman," demanded a young woman of the party eagerly, "to what were you sorely tempted?" "To do as Charles Lamb did under similar circumstances." "And that was?" "He looked about the board and asked in surprise, 'Is there no clergyman present?' The host shook his head. Then Lamb prayed, 'For this and all other mercies, O Lord, make us truly thankful!'"

When Wit is Perfect.

When wit is combined with sense and information, when it is softened by benevolence and restrained by strong principles, when it is in the hands of a man who can use it and despise it, who can be witty and something much better than witty, who loves honor, justice, decency, good nature, morality and religion ten thousand times better than wit—wit is then a beautiful and delightful part of our nature.—Sydney Smith.

Rural Circulating Libraries.

The Indiana library commission has put in operation a traveling library system for the benefit of the farmers of the Hoosier State, and it seems to be working admirably. Each library consists of forty books, which may be had by any library association in any village which is willing to pay express charges.

Somewhat to their surprise, the librarians have found that when they put in books on farming or books on making farm life attractive they generally came back unread, while good fiction and biography were worn out with much handling. There is, however, nothing particularly strange about this, as most people who have been brought up on a farm will admit. The farmer does not want to read theoretical books, written by men who do not know his business, and even when they do know something about farming in England or the east it by no means follows that they can tell him how to run an Indiana farm. The farmer's wife does not care for books which tell her how to furnish her house for $500 when she has not $100 to spend for the purpose. The amount of nonsense which is offered to the farmer in the shape of advice is absolutely phenomenal. There are two things which every man thinks himself competent to run, whether he has ever been within gunshot of the job or not. One is a farm and the other is a newspaper. They are both good places to throw away money if a man does not know the work.

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it will wear them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure they would immediately see the excellence of the treatment. Two sizes, 25c. and 50c. Trial size free. At all druggists.

The Mayor Wanted to Know.

In a provincial town a man who was injured in a serious case of assault was driven to the hospital on a brewer's dray, and the shaking he received in transit considerably retarded his recovery.

"Why wasn't the police station ambulance there to remove him?" demanded the mayor, who was chairman of the justices.

"It was in use at the time, sir," answered the chief constable, with a visible embarrassment.

"It generally is when most needed," sarcastically commented the mayor. "In what way were you using it on this particular occasion? Don't evade the question, sir. I demand an answer."

"Very well, sir; as you insist, I will tell you," replied the chief constable. "It was carrying back the gold and silver plate your wife borrowed for the mayoral banquet."

Then the mayor grew crimson and fiercely threatened to clear the court "if any more of that senseless tittering is heard."—Pearson's Weekly.

POLITICS and GOVERNMENT

General.

Bates For Woman Suffrage.

A striking feature of the inaugural address of Governor Bates of Massachusetts was a strong plea for granting the right of suffrage to women. He said it had seemed that prejudice or conservatism inherited from less advanced generations caused us "to persist in a one sided form of government, administered only to the extent of man's wisdom and deliberately refusing to avail ourselves of the benefits to be derived from the fine intuition, the sensitive conscience and the different but brilliant intellect of woman."

Governor Bates.

He referred to women's educational attainments, their taxpaying and other legal obligations, their civic interests, and declared they should have the right to vote if they so desired, "and that, too, irrespective of the question whether other women, similarly situated, desire to exercise that right." Governor Bates suggested that they be granted the right to vote for municipal officers.

Hay Says "No" to Reyes.

A note sent to General Reyes, the Colombian special representative at Washington, by Secretary Hay, Jan. 7, contained a firm refusal to recede from the administration's position in regard to the Panama revolution. General Reyes at once asked that this correspondence be transmitted to the senate for its information.

Bryan's Return Home.

From the moment that W. J. Bryan reached New York, Jan. 9, returning from his social success in Europe, he has been greeted everywhere with great cordiality by Democratic leaders. At New York a welcoming reception was given, including many Republicans as well as Democrats. In reply to the cordial greetings Mr. Bryan made a stirring speech from an international point of view and urged against emulating costly armaments of other powers. He was anxious chiefly that our flag should stand for justice and morality and stated his plan thus:

"Instead of having the biggest navy in the world I would make our government the best in the world. Instead of the American flag float everywhere I would make it stand for something wherever it floats."

The Bryan dispatch to the harmony dinner last week turned out to be all a hoax.

Senator Smoot's Reply.

The reply of Senator Smoot of Utah to the charges filed against him by the ministerial union of Salt Lake City has been made public by the senate committee on privileges and elections. He denies that he is a polygamist and says he is under no obligation by oath or otherwise to the Mormon church which would control his freedom of action as a senator. He denies further that he is one of a self perpetuating body who control the spiritual and temporal affairs of the Mormon church and that the church does not exercise authority to inculcate or encourage the practice of polygamy.

Notes.

Legal and Criminal.

Ex-Congressman Driggs Guilty.

Edmund H. Driggs has been found guilty in the United States circuit court at Brooklyn of having sold his influence as a member of the Fifty-sixth congress by securing for the postoffice department a contract for 250 cash registers, furnished by the Brandt-Dent company of Watertown, Wis. He admitted having received $12,500 from this company and to having subsequently given $2,800 to George W. Beavers, superintendent of salaries and allowances, who is now under indictment. The jury recommended mercy, and Judge Thomas passed the nominal sentence of one day's imprisonment, after praising Mr. Driggs for his frankness during the trial. He said he believed that Mr. Driggs was ignorant of the statute covering his case.

Trial of Machen Begun.

In the District of Columbia criminal court, before Judge Pritchard and a jury, Jan. 11, the trial of A. W. Machen, the Groff brothers and George E. and Margaret J. Lorenz was begun on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the supplies for the free delivery service. Holmes Conrad and Charles J. Bonaparte, special counsel for the government, assist in the prosecution.

A. W. Machen.

In connection with this trial Perry S. Heath, former assistant postmaster general, was summoned to appear as a witness.

Senator Dietrich Free.

The various cases against United States Senator Dietrich of Nebraska were discontinued by the prosecution when in the circuit court at Omaha, Jan. 8, the senator's demurrer was sustained on the ground that he was not yet sworn in as a member of the senate when the actions complained of occurred.

Criminal Notes.

The mother, along with other members of the family of Mabel Bechtel, the Allentown (Pa.) murdered girl, has been indicted as being an accessory before and after the fact.

Margaret Cunningham, the domestic suspected of sending poisoned candy to the children of Michael Casey, Ithaca, N. Y., has been held for trial. It is believed she was jealous of the woman in whose name the package came.

Frank and John Jager, mining stock promoters of Chicago, were arrested on the charge of using the mails in schemes to defraud. Over $800,000 is involved in the case, which concerns the operations of the Model Gold Mining company and the Jager Oil company.

Legislative.

Canal Treaty in Front.

Following the holiday recess the new canal treaty with the republic of Panama became the foremost question in the senate. Senator Gorman, as the minority leader, pressed his opposition by calling on the president to furnish historical precedents for the support of Panama against Colombia. But the growing opposition of the south to Gorman's position leads many of the southern senators to come out squarely for the treaty, so that its ratification was a foregone conclusion. Senator Morgan of Alabama stood out aggressively against it, saying that recognition was making war on Colombia. A Democratic caucus agreed, however, to demand solidly that all the Panama correspondence be given to congress. Thus the senate Democrats have come around in line with their brothers in the house led by Mr. Williams.

Want Postal Scandal Facts.

The minority leaders of both branches of congress after the holidays began movements looking to a legislative investigation—of the postoffice department. This has caused many heated debates. In the house the Hay resolution was referred to the postal committee by a party vote.

In the senate Mr. Clay of Georgia openly declared that the Bristow report showed the absolute guilt of the late first assistant, Mr. Heath. Mr. Gorman admitted that the corruption had crept in gradually and might affect three or more administrations, it having reached the point where corrupt men disclosed the corruption of others. He declared it was not a party matter and that the present postmaster general could not have been responsible for the state of affairs in his department. On this account he could not understand why the Republicans should refuse to give the minority official information concerning the departments. This brought forth a sharp rejoinder from Senator Lodge, who said the Republicans were not afraid of the daylight. Senator Tillman called Heath the "tattooed."

$250,000 For Weevil Fight.

The house has made immediately available $250,000 to be used by the agricultural department in efforts to eradicate the cotton boll weevil and other insects.

Foreign.

Regulating Santo Domingo.

A step toward the policy of American control of the disorderly black republic occurred when Commander Dillingham of the Detroit called Washington last week that the revolution was not one of principle, but between factions. Fighting had occurred at Sosua, endangering the lives and property of American citizens. Consequently he had forbidden fighting within certain limits and had landed marines to prevent any interruption of commerce. This policy of the American commander is thoroughly approved by the administration.

Palma Vetoes Lottery.

A large popular majority in the Cuban congress and probably in the whole republic is greatly offended at the action of President Palma in vetoing the lottery bill last week. He held that a lottery is a towering and corrupting device no matter what the end at which the lottery aimed.

Treaty With China Signed.

The emperor of China signed, Jan. 9, the commercial treaty between China and the United States. This makes the appointment of an American consul at Mukden possible.

Executive.

A Departmental Revolution.

The president has just decided upon an order requiring government employees to continue work until 4:30 p. m. instead of 4, as has been the custom for many years. Representative Gillett of Massachusetts is credited with having set in motion this change, which makes a social revolution in the daily lives of all the thousands of families dependent on the public service at Washington.

Chaffee Now Chief of Staff.

Among a large number of army nominations transmitted to the senate Jan. 5, following the retirement of Lieutenant General Young from active service, was that of Major General Chaffee to be lieutenant general and chief of staff. A number of veterans are advanced for immediate retirement.

Atlantic Squadron Southward.

The ordering of the Atlantic squadron, composed of the Minneapolis, Columbia, Yankee and Hartford, to West Indian waters, and the hurried orders to prepare five troopships for sea were generally taken to indicate the policy of the government in anticipating an attack on Panama by Colombia. The president has asked congress to appropriate $75,000 for military defense of the isthmus.

Chances of the Oriental Conflict

That Japan would land troops at Fusan or Masampho, or both, and establish a Korean base, has been expected all along. She has a force of 200,000 trained soldiers with modern equipment, with 300,000 in reserve, and fifty-eight warships and many smaller craft. Russia's war footing is 5,000,000 troops and 110 warships. Only a part of Russia's force is now available in the east. There are twenty Russian warships at Port Arthur, four at Vladivostok, two at Shanghai, one at Chemulpo, one at Newchwang and one at Dalny. The army in Manchuria is now at about 200,000 and all on the alert. All railroads on the map are completed except the line from Fusan, Korea, to Newchwang. There is also a short line completed between Chemulpo and Seoul.
