BATTLE AT MUKDEN

Collision Between Armies Believed to be Imminent.

JAPANESE ADVANCING IN FORCE.

River Hun is Direct Front of the Russian Army—General Attack by Land and Sea Expected at Port Arthur. Russian Baltic Fleet Reinforced by Four Warships.

Port Arthur is again the center of interest as regards the war in the Far East. A general attack by land and sea is regarded as likely to follow the Japanese assault upon the redoubt protecting the water supply of the fortress and town, and participation of the fleet under Admiral Togo is looked for. In this latter event it is expected that the remnant of the Russian squadron in port will sally forth to engage the Japanese ships.

Eight and possibly nine Japanese divisions are reported to be advancing on Mukden and another battle between the armies under General Kuroki and Kuropatkin is imminent.

St. Petersburg has heard that the Russian Baltic squadron has been reinforced by four warships purchased from Argentina.

Mukden, Sept. 21.—A battle is imminent. The Japanese are advancing with eight and possibly nine divisions.

The crops of tall millet have nearly all been harvested, affording a better field over which to fire on the flat plains. The river Hun is the direct front of the Russian army.

CONTINUED ASSAULTS.

Japanese Attack Redoubt Which Protects Port Arthur's Water Supply.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 21.—Interest is again concentrated upon Port Arthur owing to news that a general storming of the fortifications there has begun. A few belated telegrams from General Stoessel, the commander at Port Arthur, published Tuesday afternoon, recording the repulse of the Japanese and continued attacks, strengthens confidence in the ability of the defenders to hold out despite the furious onslaughts of the Japanese.

The last attack mentioned by General Stoessel took place the night of Sept. 14 and was directed against redoubt No. 8, which protects the water supply of the city. The redoubt is about two miles beyond the line of permanent forts, and the attack upon it shows that the Japanese were not within striking distance of the main fortress.

Reports from Shanghai that some of the defences had fallen into the hands of the Japanese as a result of the general assault on Sept. 20 are not confirmed from Russian sources.

The latest telegrams brought to Chefoo by Prince Radziwill have not yet reached the war office. It is understood that these dispatches contain details of the landing of strong Japanese reinforcements at Dalny, which would tend to confirm the belief that it is the intention of the Japanese to storm the fortress and that the warships will probably take part in the attack. In this event Rear Admiral Wiren's division will doubtless go out and engage the Japanese fleet. All Russia is anxiously awaiting news from the beleaguered garrison. Public feeling has been aroused to a high tension by the dreadful picture given by Prince Radziwill of the sufferings of the Russian army there.

The sensational announcement that General Kuroki has crossed the Hun river unopposed and that the whole Japanese army is advancing upon Mukden is overshadowed by anxiety for Port Arthur. Moreover, the announcement does not receive complete credence here, as being in direct contradiction of official news issued by the general staff.

General Kuropatkin announced only two days ago that there was not a single Japanese east of Bentsiaputse. How, it is asked, could General Kuroki, with 100,000 men, slip past General Rennenkampff's Cossacks and cross the Hun river near the Fushun coal mines, 330 miles east of Mukden.

Fushun is situated on the road from Bentsiaputze, where General Kuroki crossed the Taitse river. This road is carefully watched by General Kuropatkin's outposts between Mukden and Sintsintin. A strong guard has been placed at the Fushun mines which General Kuropatkin will not give up without a struggle, as the loss of the mines would involve the cutting off of the coal supply for the whole of the Manchurian railway.

Filibustering Expedition Reported.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Rumors of the formation of a filibustering expedition in the United States directed against one of their number has caused agitation among some of the Central American republics. Representatives of Honduras and Guatemala have requested the state department to prevent the formation and departure of any hostile expedition from a United States port. The state department requested the treasury department and the department of justice to make an investigation and to enforce strictly the laws forbidding the incubation of any hostile expedition in the United States directed against a friendly government of another state

PETER'S CORONATION.

Takes Place Today at Belgrade—Coronation Postage Stamps.

Belgrade, Sept. 21.—King Peter has received a personal letter from Emperor Nicholas, written in a very friendly tone.

The representative of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria at the coronation of King Peter here today arrived at Belgrade accompanied by 400 Bulgarians. He was warmly welcomed.

All the street decorations have been ruined by rain, which continues to fall.

The coronation postage stamps bearing in double relief the heads of King Peter and his grandfather, Karageorge, founder of the Karageorgevitch dynasty, with the years 1904 and 1904 were issued yesterday.

The royal insignia was solemnly conveyed from the palace to the cathedral where it was guarded throughout the night by soldiers. The procession through the principal streets headed by a cavalry escort and the heralds and followed by a detachment of guards, carrying the king's standard, and the crown, orb and sceptre borne respectively by the premier, president of the skupshtina, war minister and president of the state council, in state coaches. The bodyguard company of the guards brought up the rear. The regalia was received by the metropolitan and three archbishops who placed it on the high altar and consecrated it according to the orthodox ritual. Only invited guests were admitted to the cathedral during the ceremony.

The regalia is simple. The sceptre is ornamented with one large diamond.

CUMBERLAND'S ARMY

Thirty-Fifth Annual Reunion at Indianapolis.

GENERAL BOYNTON RE-ELECTED.

Letters of Regret at Inability to Attend from President Roosevelt, Judge Parker and Whitelaw Reid—Latter Pleads for Correction of Some Historical Data.

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—Gray haired veterans of the civil war assembled in the Claypool Auditorium last night for public exercises which marked the closing of the first day's session of the 35th annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland.

General H. V. Boynton of Washington, D. C., president of the society called the meeting to order and Judge D. W. Howe welcomed the visitors. General John T. Wilder of Knoxville, Tenn., who during the bloody campaign of the Cumberland army, commanded the famous "Wilder Brigade," responded. General Boynton then read letters from President Roosevelt, Whitelaw Reid and Judge Alton B. Parker.

President Roosevelt's Letter.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 30,

My Dear General Boynton:

Permit me, through you, to extend my hearty good wishes to the Society of the Army of the Cumberland at its reunion in Indianapolis. I only wish it were in my power to be present.

The record of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland is indeed noteworthy. Three of its members were presidents of the United States—Grant, Garfield and Harrison. Four commanded the army after the civil war—Grant, Sheridan, Sherman and Schofield. Two reached the supreme court—Matthews and Harlan. You have had many members in the cabinet, in the senate and in the house of representatives, one of them, General Keifer, becoming speaker of the house.

For this exceptional record you are entitled to the respect and admiration of your countrymen; but after all, the great claim, the undying claim that you have upon all the people of this nation rests upon the fact that all of you, from the major general to the private, did your full part in that great brotherhood of men who formed the Union army from 1861 to 1865, and who during those four years rendered not only to our people but to all mankind the greatest service which it was given to any men of the nineteenth century to render.

The men who served in the great civil war left to their children and their children's children, unto the remotest generation, not merely a reunited country, not merely the sense of belonging to a nation which has before it a future so vast that even its most loyal sons can hardly venture to anticipate it; but you left to them also the memory of the way in which that formidable army of fighting men when once the war was ended, turned forthwith to the pursuits of peace and showed themselves good citizens at home just as they had shown themselves good soldiers at the front.

In any great crisis of war this nation must rely mainly upon its volunteer soldiery, and the veterans of the civil war have left us forever the model of what such a soldiery should be. We of the younger generation owe you a debt greater than we can ever pay, alike for the lessons you taught in war and for the lessons you taught in peace.

With the heartiest regards, and with every cordial wish for the success of your reunion, believe me,

Very faithfully yours,
Theodore Roosevelt.

From Alton B. Parker.

Rosemount, Esopus, Aug. 31.

General H. V. Boynton.

My Dear Sir—I very much regret that it is impossible for me to attend the thirty-second annual reunion of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland. Will you be kind enough to convey to the society assurances of my regret and very grateful appreciation

Very truly yours,
Alton B. Parker.

From Whitelaw Reid.

Camp Wild Air, Upper St. Regis, N. Y., Sept. 9.

Dear General Boynton:

An invitation to address your society on the battle of Pittsburg Landing can only be esteemed by any man who was there as a privilege and a great honor. I beg to tender my sincere thanks for it, to you personally and to the historic body you represent.

Over 20 years ago General Sherman wrote me a similar invitation, on behalf of the Army of the Tennessee. It happened that I was just going to Europe for a considerable absence and was thus compelled to forgo the opportunity; but in expressing regret I ventured to tell General Sherman that if ever I should be able to meet such a call, I should hope to have the Army of the Cumberland as the audience.

Unfortunately, for me, your meeting comes at the exact date when my position as a director of the Associated Press requires attendance for our annual meeting in New York. Nothing but such clear duty would now prevent me from standing up before the honored survivors of the army that saved a lost field in the greatest battle of the civil war at the West, and recounting, face to face, what I heard of the anticipations of leading commanders from their own lips the night before; what I saw on the first morning of the battle along the bank of the river for three miles below Pittsburg Landing; what I saw that first, foreboon on the field itself; when and under what circumstances I saw the advance of Buell's army greeted on the narrow strip of land by the river side into which our people had been forced and especially when and how those splendid, compact ranks advanced over the ground that had been lost.

I should like too to ask this society to consider if it does not yet owe a duty to itself and to its honored dead. Official publications have only recently come to my knowledge, in which aside from personal errors that need not now be noticed, there appears a strange distortion of facts as to when the several parts of the Army of the Ohio became engaged with the enemy on the 6th and 7th of April, 1862. An old book of my own, "Ohio in War," printed long before the official reports were accessible, is quoted as one authority for these statements; but in some of the few cases I have already been able to collate, they agree rather with that work, nor with the official reports, nor with themselves; and the time when certain regiments went into action is set down, on the very monuments the state has erected on the spot, three or four hours after they had been hotly engaged and the field had been well-night regained.

Whether this is due to a blundering effort to shield names which need no such treacherous props to their solid renown and to do it at the expense of the Army of the Ohio, or whether it is due to mere incompetence, the effect is the same. Can your society in loyalty to itself and to its martyrs on that field, permit these misrepresentations to stand? Believe me with renewed thanks and regrets.

Very sincerely yours,
Whitelaw Reid.

LORD MINTO'S RIDE.

Arrived at Battleford on His 500 Mile Trip From Edmonton.

Winnipeg, Sept. 21.—The governor general, the earl of Minto, accompanied by his private secretary, Major Maude, and the escort of the royal Northwest mounted police, under Inspector Gilpin-Browne, arrived at Battleford from Lloydminster, which place was reached last week on the governor's great 500 mile ride across the prairie from Edmonton.

From Battleford the party will ride to Saskatoon, arriving there tonight, and a special train will be taken to Regina. Lady Minto will join the governor at O'Appelle and the whole party will continue the journey to Winnipeg, arriving there on Thursday or Friday.

The transport consisted of six four-in-hand mounted police wagons with driver and off-man each, 12 in all, under Sergeant Adams, which with the 16 men of the escort itself, brings up the force to 28.

Dukhobars Again Marching.

Rosthern, N. W. T., Sept. 21.—Dukhobars, the religious enthusiasts who are settled in this district in large numbers, have created the greatest excitement among Canadian settlers by once more leaving their agricultural pursuits and starting on a pilgrimage in search of the Messiah.

On hearing of the great overland ride being made by Lord Minto from Battleford to Saskatoon, accompanied by a mounted guard of police and much military pomp, they decided that this man who was inspiring such respect from the Canadians must be the Messiah for whom they had been waiting and they immediately started on one of their pilgrimages.

Several of them were promptly arrested by the police here and housed in a vacant building.

Well Developed Case of Rabies.

Ballston, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Several dogs have been shot, a boy is under going the Pasteur treatment and a cow and a horse are under quarantine at a farm in the town of Charlton as a result of the discovery of a well developed case of rabies by Secretary Kelly of the state board of health. A dog owned by Adam Teeling, a farmer in that town which developed symptoms of rabies, bit Teeling's son, a number of dogs and nipped a cow and horse. Secretary Kelly made an examination and decided that it was a true case of rabies.

Justice Robson Renominated.

Rochester, Sept. 21.—The Republicans of the Seventh judicial district met here and nominated Justice James A. Robson of Canandaigua to succeed himself as justice of the supreme court. Justice Robson was appointed to the bench by Governor Odell to succeed the late Justice Adams.

Louise, the princess who eloped, promises to tell some scandals in royal circles. Don't. The world has heard enough of the silly and nauseating dildos of high society. If people, because of inherited wealth or rank, will set themselves up as better than others and yet will lead purposeless and immoral lives, do not pollute the world by telling about them.

The Philadelphia woman who inherited $50,000,000 now has to work night and day to take care of her estate, besides requiring police protection to shield her from the crowds. Before she was left so much money she was comparatively happy.

A New England hen scratched up a diamond. It would seem that the average Yankee has diamonds to throw at the chickens whether he owns enough of the sparklers to throw at the other birds or not.

A Continual Strain.

Many men and women are constantly subjected to what they commonly term "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and despondency. They cannot, as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health-destroying effect by taking frequent doses of Green' August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75c. At L. A. BURROWS.

Burrows' Pharmacy Andover and N. E. Coston Greenwood Claim Pepsikola.

Coston have been selling Pepsikola quite some time now, and they know from actual experience right in their own store just what this famous little chocolate coated dyspepsia tablet will do, and if you make inquiry these druggists will tell you they never knew a remedy to prove so decidedly beneficial in the treatment of indigestion, dyspepsia, palpitation, sleeplessness and other forms of stomach trouble. It certainly ought to give you confidence when you know that every box of Pepsikola contains 10 days treatment, and at the end of that time if you are not decidedly benefited all you need do is to go back to the druggist and get your money.
