Death of John McEwen.

John McEwen died at his home in Wellsville at 10 o'clock Saturday evening, having been in a semi-conscious condition for several hours preceding his death. Mr. McEwen was stricken with embolism of the right arm on Nov. 18th, causing paralysis, and on the 20th the arm was amputated by Dr. Roswell Park of Buffalo, with the hopes of saving his life. He rallied from the operation and was daily growing stronger, when on Friday morning he suffered another shock affecting the entire left side of his body and which resulted in his death on Saturday evening. His age was 51 years. He leaves a wife and three children. His funeral was held yesterday, Rev. C. B. Perkins officiating, assisted by Rev. A. Coit and others. All the business houses in Wellsville were closed during the funeral ceremonies, and the schools also suspended studies. Several from Andover were in attendance at the funeral.

Mrs. Lois Brown.

Mrs. Lois Brown died at the home of her son, Mr. Chas. Preston, Nov. 20th, aged 76 years. For many years she was a consistent, devout and esteemed member of the First Baptist church of Andover. Though for some years unable to attend divine worship, she endeavored to keep in touch with the church she loved so dearly. She passed away strong in faith. Always a willing, earnest and faithful worker in life, she was beautifully triumphant in death. She leaves one son to mourn her loss. Funeral services were held in the Baptist church, conducted by her pastor, Rev. V. L. Eggleston. Interment in Hillside Cemetery.

The Methodists Raise $250 in Less than Twenty Minutes.

The way to do a thing is to go at it as if you meant to do it at once. That is the way the Methodist people have in raising funds to meet their necessary indebtedness. Last Sunday when Rev. S. D. Pickett stood before his congregation previous to the morning sermon and asked for $250 to meet the expenses of repairing their parsonage and other things of equal importance, the people could not help but hand the money over in full, and after the doxology was sung with a will, the morning sermon was listened to by a large and appreciative audience who went away happy from the fact that each had done something to help and not hinder the good cause.

Unique Temperance Idea.

According to an Oregon exchange, that state has hit on a new and unique scheme to keep her citizens sober. It says: "Every man who drinks is obliged to take out a license costing $5 a year, and unless armed with the document, he cannot be served with liquor at any hotel or saloon." Every six months the names of the persons who take out licenses are to be published in the papers, so the public may know those who are authorized to drink.

Different Points of View.

Old Grimes did chide his lazy son, 'cause he in bed did lay.
Instead of getting up to work with the dawning of the day:
He told him how a laborer once at sunrise in the field
Had found a leather purse which did a thousand dollars yield.
"Oh, that's all right," the youth replied. "An early bird was he;
But the man who lost the money was early bird, don't you see."
—Chicago Daily News.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy and find it to be a good medicine," says Mr. E. S Phipps, of Poteau, Ark. "It cured me of bloody flux. I cannot speak too highly of it." This remedy always wins the good opinion of all who use it. The quick cures which it effects even in the most severe cases make it a favorite everywhere. Expose of Villainy in New York.

It would be but a mild expression to say that the metropolis of New York feels humiliated by the latest—would it were the last expose of villainy within its borders. It has borne with patience the latest revolution in bank robberies; it has endured the yellow journals at their yellowest; it has shuddered at murders of a specular degree and suicides of alarming frequency and of more peculiar quality; it has stood all these as best it could. But when it comes to the latest—the ready made divorce business, it gasps for breath. Here there has been uncovered a flourishing business in which perjury has been as freely on tap as beer in a side-door saloon on Sundays, and whose facilities made it as easy for a husband to shuffle off a wife, or a wife to get rid of a husband, as for a snake to shed its skin. Indeed, all either party to a distasteful marriage has had to do was to press a button and lawyers Maison and Zeimer did the rest.

The business is now broken up. No longer will Mr. Maison, the head devil, set his puppets working, and thru the successive stages of a divorce suit have the right man and right woman at the right spot at the right time—or at least have them each and all ready to swear in such remarkable synchronizing of all the essentials of speedy deliverance from undesired marriage yokes. But Maison and Zeimer have served the public well, not in the way they have intended to do, but nevertheless they have performed an important part in a reform that had to come, for this last stroke of diabolism bids fair to stir up the whole business of divorce. More stringent rules will henceforth mark the whole business, and possibly there are those living who will see the day when the husband or wife who had supplied the cause for a divorce will be just as free as the partner against whom the offense has been committed. Perhaps the reform will go still higher, and the whole question of marriage and divorce be made a matter of national law, bringing absolute uniformity of action in all the states, so that it will no longer be possible for a husband or wife to commit adultery in New Jersey, have the innocent party of the union divorced, and then come over to New York, or vice versa, and marry just as the he or she were as innocent as lambs.

Great Luck of an Editor.
