ANDOVER, N. Y., DECEMBER 12, 1900

VOL. 10. - - $1.00 a Year in Advance

In the half century during which Admiral Kishborn has been connected with shipbuilding and naval construction the changes have been even greater than those expressed in his interesting paragraph. The other day, says the Saturday Evening Post, Sir Robert Giffen, who as the statistician to the British board of trade occupies a most authoritative and responsible position, showed the greatness of this country in a way which our own mathematicians could not surpass. Of course he stood up so far as possible for his own nation. He pointed out the fact that while the United States and the United Kingdom had together only 20,000,000 of people 100 years ago, they have now more than 120,000,000—without including, be it remembered, the various tribes and multitudes under British or American protection. Sir Robert then proceeded to say that the United States has a larger European population than the British empire, and that it is the most powerful state in the world, so far as population and resources are concerned. He added that, while Russia has a much larger population, the inferiority of the units is so great that the preeminence of the United States is not to be questioned. He placed the great world powers in the following order: The United States, Great Britain, Russia and Germany, with France a doubtful fifth.

The summer boarder, it appears, may be useful to his landlord in other ways than in putting money in his pocket. A late comer to a certain seaside resort, whose permanent residents are only 50 in number and whose communication with the gay world during the winter is not close, was filled with pity when he thought of the dreary and monotonous existence the inhabitants must lead during much of the year. He asked a native if the people did not find it desperately dull in winter. "Dull?" he repeated. "Well, I guess not! We have good times at experience meetings." "What kind of experience meetings?" asked the astonished stranger. "About summer boarders," was the answer. "We meet two or three times a week during the winter and tell our different experiences with summer boarders. Guess you wouldn't call our winters dull if you were there!"

Public sentiment will generally approve the action of the New York sheriff who recently arrested a "lady cyclist." She was trying to cover 3,000 miles in quicker time than that distance had ever been ridden before and when the sheriff interfered had already covered 2,600 miles in less than 12 days. She was in such a pitiable condition that people living near the scene of her riding made complaint. It may not be necessary to regard such a person as a criminal but anyone who knows no better than to impose such a strain upon her own health, if not upon her life is better off in custody than out of it.

There is talk of pulling down the old courthouse at Odebolt, Ia., and "Uncle" Billy Smith intends that when the tearing down shall begin he will be there. The old relic was built in 1858 and under Uncle Billy's directions a gallon of rye whisky was sealed up and deposited in the corner stone. Billy is determined that if there is but one drink left of the 42-year-old rye he will have it.

The president usually issues his Thanksgiving day proclamation just before the November elections. In that way, says Youth's Companion, he saves himself from the shafts of the jokers. Were it issued after election, a president's attitude of thankfulness would be ascribed to his own party's victory, if it had achieved victory. If defeated he would be accused of "whistling to keep his courage up."

The pastor of an eastern church stated recently that certain teachers in his Sunday school were paid for their services. According to the pastor the prime requisite of a capable teacher is the ability to tell stories. This is the form in which moral lessons can best be conveyed. And good story tellers, he concludes, are always worthy of their hire.

A three-legged horse wandered into a trap belonging to Mrs. M. E. Marshall, of Brownwood, Tex. Just as she was about to drown the captive it began to sing like a canary. Now the singing-mouse has a neat brass cage, and the neighbors frequently call to hear it sing, which it does hour after hour.

Odd requests are constantly received by congressmen from their constituents. But there are few which surpass this: "Dear Sir: Please send me some volumes of memorial addresses. There is nothing I read with so much pleasure as the obituaries of congressmen. Yrs truly, ——"

It is said there are about 20,000 consumptives in New York city. A physician says that the majority of the people living in tenements had tuberculosis in some form.

The census shows that there are 1,400,000 more farmers in the United States than there were in 1890.

It is sometimes well to be reminded that our ways are as puzzling to the oriental as his are to us. A young Chinese physician in Cleveland, who has a number of American patients, recently told some friends of a case which he had last summer. "Young girl come to me with much sunburned neck," he said. "I say: 'You get this out bathing?' She say: 'No. I get it wearing lace yoke. What you prescribe?' I say: 'Cloth yoke,' and she look offended and go away. I don't see why American girl very funny."

A young western attorney was recently asked why he had so strenuously defended a woman who could not pay him. "I can never forget," he replied, "that she lived at the end of my long paper route when I was a struggling college boy. More than once in winter her kind heart prompted her to rise very early to have a cup of hot coffee ready for her newsboy, fearing lest he might perish with the cold." Such acts defy commercial "repayment" as much as mother-love or sister influence.

An ingenious automobilist of Willoughby, O., who operates an electric vehicle, has rigged up a connection between his stable and his barn by means of which he can, immediately the power is turned off at the trolley station for the night (his lighting current comes from the railway wires), switch his automobile storage battery into use, thus furnishing a current for lighting purposes for the remainder of the night.

The state supreme court of Ohio has affirmed the constitutionality of the act authorizing county commissioners to regulate the width of wagon tires according to the loads carried. Acting under its provisions the prosecuting attorney of Wyandot county sued a violator. The court of common pleas declared the act unconstitutional, but this decision was overruled in the supreme court.

Among the papers read at a recent convention of American ornithologists in Cambridge, Mass., a few days ago, according to a local exchange, was a most interesting little thing on "The Pterylosis of Podargus, with Notes on the Pterylography of the Caprimulgidae."

The Illinois Audubon society is about to checkmate the milliners by securing an amendment to the game laws that shall make it an offense, with penalties, for anyone to possess any part of the wild birds now protected by the law. Some of the milliners have contended that a part of a bird was not a bird.

The town of Buxton, in Monroe county, Ia., has just been born in connection with the opening of new coal fields there. Sugar City, Col., is another civic infant, having been recently established to accommodate workers in an immense new sugar refinery at that place.

Twenty-four leading women of Adrian, Mich., have formed themselves into a military company and will receive weekly instruction in drill from a veteran soldier. Mrs. John Gohagan, wife of the county clerk, has been elected captain.

The wife of Bishop Millspaugh sent an old party gown to a rummage sale in Topeka the other day, and while showing the dress to a customer the clerk found in its folds a valuable pearl ornament lost ten years ago.

A woman has built a house with her own hands near Fountain Ferry, Park, Ind. It is a one-story wooden structure of four rooms, with a stone foundation.

A Missouri weather prophet who reads the future in the leaves of trees says this will be one of the mildest winters ever known on the continent.

Pardon Green Dies.

The hand of death has again visited our sister town, Independence, and this time claimed for its subject Pardon Green. Mr. Green has been a resident of Independence for over twenty years, and was well known in Andover and surrounding country. He was born in Hopkinton, R. I., Sept. 4, 1824, being the third of a family of nine children. He was the son of Wm. B. and Mary Hiscock Green. He was a farmer by occupation and a much respected citizen. Mr. Green had long been a sufferer from Bright's disease, and without doubt his death last Saturday was the outgrowth of that disease.

Funeral services were held in the Independence Seventh-day Baptist church Monday, Rev. Wm. L. Burdick officiating. The interment was made in the Independence Cemetery. He was the father of a family of eight children, five of whom only remain to mourn his loss: Frank Green of Hamilton, Gordon Green of Wellsville, Chester Green of Independence, Mrs. Mary Bledsoe of Wellsville, and Mrs. Leona Davis of Andover, at whose home he died. His faithful wife was called to the land of the leal only one and a half years before him.

Going to be Wed.

Such at Least is the Story About Station Agent Regan of Sheridan.

From the Grape Belt and Chautauqua Farmer:

Station Agent Thomas K. Regan left town a week ago for the ostensible purpose of taking a week's vacation after the arduous duties of the grape shipping season. It now transpires upon the authority of Erie Conductor Gooman that the prime object of his vacation was to wed a charming Andover widow of abundant means and the mother of five children, Mrs. Margaret Jones, by name. The newly wedded couple with their family are booked to arrive on a train to-day, thereby putting an end to the aspirations of many of the young ladies of Sheridan who had hoped at some time in the future to have had the privilege of keeping the brass buttons sewed on an Erie uniform. They have rented apartments in the Reed block where they will be at home to their friends after Dec. 10th.

A little premature, we opine.

Ten Party 127 Years Ago.

Next Sunday is the day held in honored remembrance in Boston and in all New England, and for that matter probably in all the country, as the 127th anniversary of the Boston Tea Party. As the shot fired at Lexington was heard round the world so the tea brewed in Boston harbor on Dec. 16, 1773, made its aroma spread till it reached the senses of even King George IV. It was from a house still standing on the corner of Hollis street that the patriot band disguised as Mohawk Indians started to relieve the ship Dartmouth of her cargo of the tea that had become so obnoxious. When they had finished their work they hastened back to this same house to remove the paint from their faces and to resume their ordinary attire, narrowly missing the soldiers and spies who had promptly taken up the search for them.

Why Grinding.

The finer the better for paint, no matter what paint, all paint, and the best is Devoe lead and zinc. It is ground together.

The most effective little liver pills made are DeWitt's Little Early Risers They never gripe. Benedict & Van Noy, Andover; E. Breeze, Elm Valley.

A Familiar Calendar.

The 1901 edition of the Columbia desk calendar is being distributed by the American Bicycle Co., Columbia Sales Department, Hartford, Conn. It will be sent to any address upon receipt of five 2-cent stamps. This unique and useful compilation has been issued annually for the last sixteen years, and it has come to be regarded as an indispensable article in many business offices and homes.

Many persons have had the experience of Peter Sherman, of North Stratford, N. H., who says, "For years I suffered torture from chronic indigestion, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure made a well man of me." It digests what you eat and is a certain cure for dyspepsia and every form of stomach trouble. It gives relief at once even in the worst cases, and can't help but do you good. HERE AND ELSEWHERE.

Hubs.

Winter.

Christmas next.

Christmas one week from next Sunday.

This is the last week for hunting bridges.

The year 1900 will soon be a thing of the past.

Andover merchants are now doning their holiday attire.

The rotation of time has again brought us to "hubs."

Morrell Livermore has a frame up for a new dwelling on Baker street.

O. Wescott has moved his livery stables to the American House barn.

Merchants thru the entire country are anticipating a heavy holiday trade.

Old fashioned Christmas will be observed at the Baptist church Christmas eve.

Cottage prayer-meeting was held at the home of Miss Lydia Ann Benton Wednesday evening.

Two new members were received at the covenant meeting of the Baptist church Saturday.

Not a very large audience greeted the Boston Concert Co. last Friday night—four being present.

THE ANDOVER NEWS for one year would make a valuable Christmas present to some friend, and it only costs $1.

Floyd Richardson is again at his old job at the Erie yards. He has been doing some extra fireing for a number of weeks.

Born, in Hornellsville, on Tuesday, Nov. 11th, 1900, to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Burdick a son, Dr. Burdick of Andover officiating.

Found, a No. 9 arctic rubber, almost new. Owner may have the same by calling at this office and paying for this notice.

Frank Williams has purchased the Smith property on Barney street of O. Wescott, and will move into it some time this week.

Calvin Slocum was taken suddenly ill Saturday evening with heart trouble. She is much improved, however, at this writing.

The management of the Silver Lake Assembly have petitioned that the legislature of the Assembly be exempt from taxation on the ground that it is a religious institution.

Nelson, N. J., will be honored by a $500 monument of the late Vice President Hobart in bronze by Philip Ryan. A committee of citizens have the funds by subscription.

Lyonel P. Clemons, the corn doctor of Canisteo, who frequently visits Andover, was here last week to Mrs. Amanda Burdick. Mr. and Mrs. Clemons will make Hornellsville their home.

It is said that the residence portion of the county jail at Belmont is too good to accommodate the in-coming family and there is talk of a new bastile. The matter will probably come up before the Board of Supervisors this week.

The entertainments given at the Opera House by the Nina Co., Monday and Tuesday evening, were fine, but the audiences, on account of the near approach to Christmas, and everybody busy, were slim.

The curfew ordinance of Canisteo will be continued, the village paying for the blowing of the whistle, instead of the W. C. T. U., which has borne the expense since the existence of the ordinance.

Allegany's model county house farm, under the management of Superintendent D. C. Grunder, has a wide-spread reputation. A committee from Monroe county recently visited Supt. Grunder and inspected the grounds and buildings.

Theodore Cobb of Spring Mills came over this week and took possession of four of the thoro-blooded Holstein cows of the Hillside Farm. Mr. Clarke says it only cost Mr. Cobb $600 to become the owner of these cows. Surely some farmers can make farming pay.

The big telephone exchange of Hornellsville are placing their new line in operation this week. The Mutual Telephone Co. will have telephone connections with this company, so should any one desire to talk with a Hornellsville business man, he can do so at his own phone.

Fred W. Corran, for many years in the hotel business at Canisteo, and for the past two or three years proprietor of the Hotel Imperial at Andover, has purchased the Grand Central Hotel at Genesee, Pa., and will assume charge of the same in the near future.—Canisteo cor. Telegram.

The relative location of the buildings of the Pan-American Exposition is admirably convenient. They are arranged around a system of courts comprising an area of thirty-three acres and known as the Plaza, Court of Fountains, Esplanade, Court of Cypresses and Court of Lilies.

Some of the trunk lines operating between New York and Chicago have determined to abolish after Jan. 1st, the old custom of issuing half fare tickets to clergymen and religious workers. After that date, clergymen, missionaries, relief committees and Salvation Army workers will be required to pay full fare.

When you hear a person croaking against his own town you may put him down as not amounting to any great pumpkins himself. It would take a regiment of soldiers to keep these very kickers from coming back to their home were circumstances such as to compel them to move away from town a few months.

President McKinley shook hands with more than 2,000 women in the Blue Room at the White House Thursday afternoon. The occasion was a reception in honor of the delegates and their friends attending the annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Washington. The Marine Band gave a concert in the White House conservatory during the reception.

North Tonawanda women owning babies can no longer make them an excuse for not attending divine service. The North Christian church of that village has set aside a room for their reception and care. All a mother now has to do Sunday morning is to take her offspring to the church and turn it over to a committee which will look after its needs and hand it back to the parent after service.

If you ask a man for his ad. or a few locals he will tell you he don't believe in advertising—a newspaper is never read. But let him be caught hugging the hired girl, or chasing a loose piece of calico up the streets after dark, or struggling with a jug of "tamarin" water, if the printing office is in a garret of a twenty story building he will climb to the top and ask the editor not to publish it in the local where everybody will read it.—Exchange.

We copy the following complimentary mention of one of our prominent citizens from the Democrat of last week: Mr. "Con" Lynch of New York, and Andover, was in Wellsville Monday. Mr. Lynch opened a produce store in the metropolis two years ago, and like most of the country boys who go to the city with a determination to win, has succeeded beyond his most sanguine expectations. The young man is entitled to much credit for industry, foresight and business tact.

In Congress last week, when the canteen provision of the army bill was reached, the following substitute, offered by Mr. Littlefield of Maine, was passed by a large majority: "The sale of or dealing in beer, wine or any intoxicating liquors by any person in any post exchange or canteen or army transport, or upon any premises used for military purposes by the United States, is hereby prohibited. The Secretary of War is hereby directed to carry the provisions of this section into full force and effect."

Prof. D. D. Van Allen and wife, who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Burrows last week, are now living in the city of Elmira. Prof. Van Allen will be remembered by many as a former resident of Andover, leaving this place to take charge of several different high schools such as the one at Camden, where he was first Principal, assisted by his wife for several years. Prof. Van Allen had not visited Andover for over thirty years, and his enthusiasm over the wonderful improvement that had taken place here was unbounded. He expressed himself as willing to be banished from the city where he now resides, if he could be located in Andover for the balance of his days. Professor Van Allen is at present making his home with his son, Rev. William Harman Van Allen, rector of Grace Episcopal Church at Elmira.

A Happy Time With Their Parson and Wife.

The Sunday-school classes of Mrs. Orvis and Mrs. Eggleston met at the Baptist manse last Saturday evening for a social time, it being the third wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. V. L. Eggleston. Refreshments were served, and a general good time enjoyed by all.

New Gas Line Complete.

The Andover Gas Co. have completed their line and are now at work in making connections to the surface lines of their customers. Those who use the Andover Gas Company's gas need have no fear of an over pressure, as the regulators and safety tank connections are of the very latest improved patterns, and the company have been to great pains in trying to secure the safest service for their customers possible.

M. E. Mission Band.

The M. E. Mission Band will meet with Miss Carrie Williams Saturday evening, Dec. 15th, at 7:30 o'clock. The following is the program for the evening:

Response to roll call.
Fact about Chinese War Paper, "Mission Work in China," Mrs. R. A. Pease
Vocal duet.
Mrs. Julia Jones, Mrs. Roxie Hann
Recitation, Miss Grace Lauphear
Reading, "Chinese Homes in New York," Miss Helen M. Baker
Music, Miss Edith M. Brainard
Mission Drill, Miss Fannie Spaulding

Yes, "Quite a Difference!"

Canisteo has over 2,000 inhabitants, so the Times-Republican says. Andover has about 1,000, so the census enumerator tells us. Canisteo people read about 5,000 volumes from its free library, according to the same authority, last year, or 2½ books per head. Andover citizens read 3,350 books in the same time, or 3½ books per inhabitant. "Quite a difference," but the "difference" is on Andover's side.

Last month we published the number of books loaned from our library, and in the composition, the compositor left off one figure, a very easy thing to be done, but sometimes it makes "quite a difference." Two weeks ago we corrected that error in our columns. Now the Canisteo Times-Republican man, after seeing our correction, comes out in his next issue, several weeks after the mistake was made, and tries to make capital out of our blunder. If the Times-Republican can find nothing better than two months old errors in his exchanges to fill up his columns, he had better get a few more cheap advertisements.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.
