DO'S AND DON'T'S.

DON'T buy your Clothing of a House that advertises to give something for nothing. It can't be done.

DON'T buy clothing of a house that has a different price for every customer.

DON'T buy a suit of a house that advertises $15 Suits reduced to $3.98. It's a delusion and a snare.

DO buy your clothing of a house that always does business in a straightforward manner with no misrepresentations of any kind.

DO trade with a house that says to you "Bring your purchase back and get your money if you are not satisfied." No risk then.

DO buy of a concern that never gives you disappointment in any way, durability, style or price. That's the kind of a house to tie to.

UNION REVIVAL MEETINGS.

The Meetings Still Growing in Interest and Doing Much Good.

REV. C. H. HARRINGTON IN CHARGE

New Converts Being Added to the List Almost Daily—Large Audiences Assemble Almost Every Evening.

The revival meetings started by Evangelist Bell of Buffalo a fortnight ago at the Methodist church still continue, with the interest seemingly on the increase. Altho Mr. Bell was unable to remain with the Andover people longer than the ten days for which he came, the services have been continued the past week by Rev. C. H. Harrington, of the Baptist church, with unabating interest, few being the unoccupied pews in the spacious auditorium of the Methodist church building.

There have been special services held every night with the exception of Saturday evenings. Thanksgiving evening a large audience greeted the pastors, and they were repaid for coming, Rev. Mr. Harrington's subject being "The Jailer's Thanksgiving."

Sunday afternoon a meeting for "men only" was held in Prest's Opera House. A goodly audience assembled, many of whom have not darkened a church door since led thru it by their mother's hand. The meeting was the largest of the kind ever held in the village. Mr. Harrington's subject was "Traps and Trappers," and he vividly pictured the traps and pitfalls before men, giving a plain and forceful talk, which was intensely interesting. A number of men expressed a determination to lead a better life. The speaker's earnestness and zeal, accompanied with his truthful statements eloquently delivered, won for him the respect of every man in the room, and could but have left in each of their hearts that which will do them good.

Sunday evening the Presbyterian church was filled. Mr. Harrington's eloquent and logical presentation of God's love and mercy held his hearers, and was listened to with earnest attention.

Monday evening the meeting sustained the interest already attained, and a number of men made a start for a new life.

Tuesday the meeting for children was an illustrated stereoptican lecture.

Whether the number of converts be large or small, the good these meetings are doing to our community is inestimable. It awakens the spiritual life of the community and brings to the minds of all that there is something to live for besides the accumulation of wealth, and helps us all in our efforts to be better men, to be better neighbors and to practice in our lives what is preached in our churches. Every community needs a series of revival meetings about so often to shake the dust out of the old Christians, whether new converts are added to the fold or not. May the meetings go on in the good work commenced. The appointments for the services, as far as we have been able to learn, are as follows:

Wednesday evening, "The Swelling of Jordan."
Thursday evening, "The Crystal River."
Friday evening, "Almost."
Sunday, "No Pardon."

The services in the afternoon at 2:30, Thursday, "Mothers Meeting." Friday, High life meeting, subject, "Abundant Life."

Mr. Harrington's methods are earnest, wise and careful, lacking entirely of anything sensational.

Shot Off Two Fingers.

A very unfortunate accident occurred Thanksgiving-day, while Ray Smith, accompanied by other friends, was out hunting. As they were marching along in quest of game, with their guns cocked and hands on the trigger, Mr. Smith espied that on the muzzle of his gun there was a quantity of snow. He reached with his left hand to brush it away. The effort to reach the muzzle of the gun with his left hand gave pressure enough to the fingers of his right hand that were upon the trigger of the gun to spring the locks and explode the charge of powder, blowing off the ends of his first two fingers. Medical aid was immediately sought, and the fingers amputated, the forefinger just below the second joint and the second finger just above it. It was fortunate, however, that no member of the party was within range of the charge at the time of the accident. Mr. Smith has the sympathy of the community.

Mrs. F. S. Maxson Dies.

Thru a Cleveland, Ohio, paper handed us by the kindness of a friend, we glean the sad intelligence that Mrs. F. S. Maxson, who at one time resided in Andover, died Wednesday night last after a lingering illness of two years, the last nine months of which were spent in bed. The funeral service took place at the residence, No. 52 Bell avenue, Friday afternoon. The deceased having been a member of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church for a quarter of a century, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, conducted the services. The interment was at Lakeview.

Mrs. Maxson was born near Cooperstown, N. Y., seventy years ago, and has lived in Cleveland since 1872. She leaves a husband and one son, W. B. Maxson.

Mr. Maxson at one time clerked in Dr. Harman's store, and was once connected with the Andover postoffice.

Making a Success in His Calling.

We clip the following words of praise of an Andover young man, of whom Andover people are proud, from last week's Allegany County Democrat of Wellsville:

Jesse L. Grantier, who a short time ago opened a law office in our city, is steadily climbing up the ladder of his profession, and is one of the brightest and ablest young lawyers of the county. He recently won his first case in the Appellate Court at Rochester, reversing the decision of Judge Hooker unanimously. Mr. Grantier is deserving of success, and is composed of the qualities that will get it. He is an agreeable gentleman to come in contact with, and during his stay in our city has made hosts of friends and acquaintances. We are always glad to have people of this kind locate in our midst and become permanent fixtures.

"Lights Out."

Varnum G. Hall, who was well known in this town, was born in Scott, Cortland county, N. Y., Nov. 30, 1822, and passed out of the activities of earth life Nov. 26, 1901, thus being within four days of 80 years of age. His parents settled in Alfred while the subject of this sketch was quite young. Arrived at manhood he married Elizabeth, daughter of Stephen R. Smith, who lived on the farm now owned by Eli H. Turner. A daughter, Catharine, and two sons, Benjamin F. and Addison A., were born to them. The first wife died June 3d, 1866. Some years later he married Catharine Burdick Cartwright, who died Oct. 6th of this year.

During the great revival of the winter of '70-'71, Mr. Hall was converted and baptized into the Second Alfred church, leaving its communion in 1871 to become a constituent member of the Andover Seventh-day Baptist church, in the membership of which he died, and in which he faithfully performed his Christian duties. He fought for the Old Flag in the War for the Union and served under "Uncle Billy" Sherman in his famous march to the sea. His comrades spoke of him always as a man who did a soldier's duty everywhere and always. He was a member of Edward Seaman Post, G. A. R. of this town, and a delegation from the Post attended his funeral which was held at his late residence under the conduct of his pastor, Rev. Stephen Burdick, on Friday last.
