CHAUTAUQUA ENTERS NEW PHASE

Permanence of Parent Institution of Chautauqua Movement Now Definitely Established.

Over Quarter Million Dollars Being Spent on Plant at Chautauqua, N. Y., This Year, Making Largest Single Year's Development in History of the Movement Since 1874—New Entrances, Public Buildings, and Residences, All of Permanent Construction. City of Tents No Longer the Type to Represent the Chautauqua Idea.

NEW developments which are going on at Chautauqua, N. Y., in buildings approaches and transportation facilities differ greatly from the prevailing notion of a chautauqua as a transitory thing. Brick paved highways, double track inte-urban car lines, entrances of brick and concrete in good architectural design, landscape treatment on a broad scale, educational buildings in comprehensive groups, hotel rooms with steam heat and other like conveniences, private residences costing a fortune to build do not grow up around an enterprise of fleeting character, yet all these things are taking shape this spring at Chautauqua. The fact is that the parent institution of the Chautauqua movement, on Chautauqua Lake, has within a decade passed into a wholly new phase, the "city of tents" giving way very fast to a city that "has foundations." Electric light and power plants, gas mains, water supply and sewage systems, paved sidewalks, year-round office buildings of fire proof or slow burning construction are among the things that one by one have supplanted the earlier makeshifts. Over a quarter of a million dollars is just now being expended to present the assembly to 1916 visitors in its new character as a permanent institution, definitely come to stay.

The Chautauqua assembly at Chautauqua, N. Y., will this summer offer to the visitor's view two important and striking improvements in two approaches—the water gate or pier, where will enter the visitor coming by steamboat from other points on Lake Chautauqua, and the land gate, where will enter the visitor coming by trolley from any direction or by motorcar over the excellent highway which connects with the great east and west thoroughfare at Westfield, N. Y.

Chautauqua's New Land Gate.

The general highway improvement is the most extensive enterprise now under way at Chautauqua, N. Y. This has been secured by generous co-operation with Chautauqua Institution on the part of the State of New York, the county of Chautauqua and the Chautauqua Traction Company operating the electric railroad from Jamestown to Westfield. It comprises a modern passenger station, double tracking of the trolley line, a new brick paved highway and important changes in the boundaries of the assembly enclosure.

Plans were made in 1913 by the State for the improvement of the highway. A magnificent new state road is now open through Mayville to Westfield, connecting with the great roadway east and west, known to all automobilists. The line of the highway at Chautauqua was changed and straightened and paved with brick. This change has made possible the addition of a considerable acreage to the lot and park space of the institution. It involves also the double tracking of the trolley line, the laying of needed switches and the construction of a new and complete station. The plans for the station building are by Freeburg & Fidler, architects, of Jamestown, N. Y.

There will be a double track in front and a switch to the rear for freight, baggage and express. The building will be 56 by 225, built of red brick, stone and concrete. The design will harmonize with the present permanent Institution buildings, with red tile roof and wide, projecting eaves. The outside passenger platform will be 28 by 72, so arranged that outgoing and incoming traffic may be separated. On the inside will be the Institution ticket office with incoming and outgoing passes, the exchange office, news and candy stands and the rest room for ladies. Toilet rooms, inside and outside, will be provided for both sexes. Adjoining the traction ticket office will be the baggage department with checking and transfer offices, the freight department and the express department, all to have ample platform space for loading and unloading. Work has already been begun so as to assure completion before the season opens. The cost of the structure will be some $30,000 and incidental improvements by the Traction Company perhaps $10,000 additional.

The Institution has expended for land and buildings and for the improvements made over $40,000. The special piece of brick highway has cost the state and county $17,000, while the Traction Company expenditures, as just indicated, will aggregate at least $40,000.

For a quarter of a century the water gate was the principal and almost the only entrance to Chautauqua, and it will be remembered for its natural picturesque beauty by every one who has visited the assembly during the past forty-two years. More recently, since the development of the electric railway and since the automobile has become so important a factor, the roadgate has received the larger share of visitors, yet it has had nothing to suggest the real character of Chautauqua. It has been like the railroad approach to many a town, a back door entrance, crowded and comfortless, without character or convenience.

The change in the highway and trolley line has made available to the Institution a tract about 4,000 feet long, varying in width from 10 to 300 feet, or nearly thirteen acres, and brings the total area within the enclosure up to about 200 acres. The new section is laid out into eighty-eight lots and into parking. The lots thus made available for lease are somewhat larger than the older Chautauqua lots. Two of the new streets formed are named Harper and Massey avenues, to commemorate services to Chautauqua by Dr. William R. Harper of the University of Chicago and the Massey family of Toronto. In this extension about two acres have been added to the present playground park, and the natural beauty, of a stream and ravine at point will be enhanced by planting trees and shrubs. A plaza near the station has also been reserved for park use. The planning of this addition has been done by George Y. Bittner, a specialist connected with the New York firm of Samuel Parsons & Co., landscape architects.

The Chautauqua High School, the Institution Garage and car parking place, the excellent Chautauqua golf links and the industrial center comprising repair shops of various kinds are located west of the Chautauqua enclosure on the highway and trolley line.

Chautauqua's New Water Gate.

Second in importance to the improvements of the land gate at Chautauqua, now under way, is the construction of the new pier building, on the site of the old wooden structure, which was torn down last fall. The Miller Memorial Bell Tower, erected in memory of the late Lewis Miller of Akron, O., co-founder with Bishop John H. Vincent of Chautauqua, and jeweler demanded addition to of the music department. The new building will occupy ...tion on the slope south of ...wood Memorial building, which ...itors remember, and will ... style to the architecture of the Hill group.

The Packard Estate at Chautauqua.

The first really pretentious estate to be built on Chautauqua has been laid out by Mr. William Packard of Warren, O., a member of the Packard Car Company, on a tract adjoining the Institution on the north. Landscape work has been under way all winter, and is the son of the late William Packard, one of the pioneer residents of Chautauqua Lake and of those influential in the development of Lakewood several years ago. The property which Mr. Packard has bought lies between the Chautauqua Traction Company's line and Chautauqua.

Among the many excellent homes at Chautauqua, that of this winter by Mrs. A. J. Lee, known as the St. Elmo will call attention. It is a handsome and commodious new structure and by artistic blending into the general architectural scheme of the central lake is a real ornament to the place. The contractor among steam heated rooms and private baths. Mrs. Lewis has a very positive faith in the future of Chautauqua.

Hotel Athenaeum is building an addition to its service equipment. Several boarding houses and private cottages are being built or enlarged.

In addition to projects already under way at Chautauqua, N. Y., such as a new pier building, new ...station, new school building and ...ing houses, there are expectations concerning a home for Methodist Deaconesses provided for in the will of the late James Fenton of Buffalo. This his executor hopes to build this spring at an approximate cost of $000 to $30,000. lake and along the north boundary of the Chautauqua Institution enclosure. From this particular point there is an unexcelled view from Mayville on the north to Long Point on the south, and it is undoubtedly one of the most desirable residence sites of the entire lake region.

The house is to be three stories high, of brick, stone and steel construction, red tile roof, absolutely fireproof. It is set in a grove of elms, which surround it on all sides but one, that facing the lake.

Directly to the south of the residence gardens are planned, terminating in a wild growth of shrubbery, threaded with trails leading to the docks and boathouse, to an artificial waterfall, a lily pond, tennis courts and vegetable gardens.

A cottage for the gatekeeper and tenants is now under construction, and other buildings will adjoin this cottage.

The landscape work has been done under the direction of Mr. H. L. Avery of Cleveland. Eighty-four full grown trees, mostly elms, have been transplanted by Mr. Herbert L. Hyatt of Cleveland, forester, who has transformed an uninteresting, bare hillside into a well-wooded slope. A great quantity of small planting is also being done.

The Packard residence when completed will probably represent an expenditure close to $175,000.

The new pier building will adjoin the Chautauqua Institution ticket office, waiting rooms, check room, baggage room and refreshment booth. The second floor will be entirely devoted to a covered promenade. A most attractive building is promised by Green & Wicks of Buffalo, the Institution architects.

For the past two years there has been a marked improvement in this entire section of Chautauqua, in ground, park and cottage betterments, to which the new boat landing and water entrance will give final emphasis.

Summer Schools Growing.

The growth of summer schools throughout the country is being largely shared by the pioneer summer schools at Chautauqua, N. Y. This year's addition to the Chautauqua Summer Schools on College Hill will be in the form of two sixty foot ends added to the sides of the rectangle already well defined. When completed all the classes, comprising 3,000 students, will be provided for in this building, with the open end of the quadrangle toward the lake and "the old chestnut tree" a venerable Chautauqua landmark in the center.

It is to be hoped that friends of popular education will come forward to make possible in the immediate future the completion of this unique group of buildings which will serve as classrooms, laboratories and dormitories.

cent of Chautauqua Assembly, is an impressive enhancement of the natural charm of "the point." The new pier building, which will cost about $10,000, will be another added ornament.

The new pier building will be a two story structure of 40 by 100 feet, with concrete columns and red tile roofing. The first floor will contain the Institution ticket office, steamboat ticket office, waiting rooms, check room, baggage room and refreshment booth. The second floor will be entirely devoted to a covered promenade. A most attractive building is promised by Green & Wicks of Buffalo, the Institution architects.

SUFFRAGE PLANKS OF THREE PARTIES

Now that woman suffrage is something all political parties need in their business of electing the next President of the United States, it has become a fashionable addition to national party platforms. Twelve states have granted woman the franchise. This means that there are 92 electoral votes for President in which women will have something to say. Therefore, the two most conservative political parties with an eye to the November ballots have done this year what they have been begged to do at every national convention since 1868. They have endorsed the principle of woman suffrage.

Several "third" parties during these 48 years, had done this; but the first one, with a real chance of winning a presidential election, that was brave enough to take the plunge and back up votes for women was the Progressive Party of 1912. Their first suffrage plank read: "The Progressive Party, believing that no people can justly claim to be a true democracy which denies political rights on account of sex, pledges itself to the task of securing equal suffrage to men and women alike." In 1916 it made its expression still stronger. "We believe that the women of the Country who share with the men the burdens of government in time of peace and make equal sacrifices in time of war, should be given the full political right of suffrage both by state and federal action."

That was all right, but "third parties" can afford to take longer political chances than stand patters, so it was something new under the sun when the following plank was incorporated in the G. O. P. platform this year on June 8th. "The Republican Party, reaffirming its faith in government of the people, by the people, for the people, favors the extension of the suffrage to women, as a measure of justice to one half the adult people of this Country, but recognizes the right of each state to settle this question for itself."

As between the two long-standing parties the Republicans had taken the lead. Their National Convention came first and the Suffrage plank in their platform set a pre-cedent. On June 16th, the Democratic Party followed suit, declaring that it "favors the extension of the franchise to the women of this Country, state by state, on the same terms as men." This plank was accepted by the solid vote of the New York State delegation to St. Louis, every man of the ninety refusing to be switched off to the "minority plank" which would have left the question of woman suffrage out of this year's platform.

There can never be any going back on these planks. They express nationwide acceptance of the righteousness and justice of equal suffrage. The year 1916 marks an epoch in American political history.

BANANAS AND VOTES "TABOO" TO HAWAIIAN WOMEN

Bananas were taboo for woman in Hawaii just a little while ago and any caught in the act of eating forbidden food were put to death. Hawaii is progressing however. The worst superstitions at last have been removed and after a long campaign for "fruit for women" the bars have been let down and women eat on equal terms with men.

Now the "taboo" for women that was once on bananas is on ballots.

"GIVE A WOMAN AN INDIAN'S CHANCE"

"Whenever they are capable of assuming the privileges of citizenship," Secretary Lane of the Department of the Interior has the power to admit Indians to United States citizenship. On May 13, 1916, he gave 286 Sioux Indians the power of the ballot. For women, however capable, there is no such provision in 36 states of the Union. "Give a woman an Indian's chance."

VOTES FOR CLEAN FOOD.

How Dirty Dishes and Garbage Pail Hash Demand Votes for Women.

Dirty dishes are a part of woman's every day job. Making hash is sometimes also a part of her job. But, according to the returns of the committee that did the investigating for the New York City Board of Health in restaurants and eating houses, she cannot always be sure of the first of these things or know that the second is fit to eat unless she has a vote.

In some of these restaurants husbands and sons eat luncheon. Although the housewife may furnish breakfasts and dinners that are 99 99-100 pure, vicious promptings in the lunch menu will do their unpleasant best to upset her calculations and find a lodging in the stomachs of the most hygienic family.

Out of the 75 hostels examined by the health inspectors nine were rated "not good." A greenish-blue fowl in one ice-box "so dead that even a dog would bury it" spoiled the record of one of the cleanest kitchens. Two lobsters with "an ancient and fish like smell" were rescued from a salad by the inspectors. Hash made of scraps from diners' plates was a common sin, and in one place a chef had begun to fry liver which the trained nostrils of the one women inspector distinguished as "spoiled for many days." Lack of screens permitted the unwatched fly free entrance into most kitchens and dirty dishes were the commonest vice of all. Underground and unventilated kitchens, adulterated milk, open garbage pails and dirty ice were among the committee's findings.

In San Francisco, California—where women vote—it is unlawful "to carry on or manage a restaurant, or kitchen where food stuffs are cooked, prepared, sold or disposed of for human consumption, unless the door, windows or other apertures are effectively closed with screens." All food must be made of concrete or waterproofed materials. Bakeries must be adequately lighted and ventilated so that there will be a complete change of air four times an hour. Workmen must wear washable garments and these must "at all times be kept clean."

The making and distributing of food is woman's age-long task. Why the her hands so she can only do a part of it? Give her a voice in making and enforcing laws that protect the third meal, the one her husband eats down town.

The United States means US as well as you.

NEW YORK STATE OFFICIALS ENDORSE SUFFRAGE

"Government should know no sex."

The Mayors Conference of New York State, meeting in Syracuse on May 31st, did not go on record as endorsing woman suffrage, but many of the mayors present signed a petition urging a resolution for suffrage.

A strong delegation of suffragists was received by Mayor Walter R. Stone, who introduced a resolution citing "the responsibilities of women and their untiring efforts to upbuild the best interests of cities."

The Conference decided not to take any action upon suffrage as if is not a "purely municipal" question; but many city officials and mayors believing that they were "no less bound to serve the interests of women than those of men," expressed themselves as "in favor of removing from the women of their municipalities the discriminations which now put them at a political disadvantage." Among these men are: Roslyn M. Cox, president of Mayor's Conference; Walter R. Stone, Mayor of Syracuse and Louis Will, ex-Mayor; Farrington M. Thompson, Mayor of the City of White Plains; H. M. Hoffman, Mayor of Elmira; Julius Frank, Mayor of Ogdensburg; James L. Lennon, Mayor of Yonkers; A. C. U. Thompson, Mayor of Middletown; Comptroller Joseph Mellen of Yonkers; City Clerk J. W. Haworth and City Treasurer, A. Van Houten were also signers. So were Councilman E. M. Garthmart, Commissioner of Public Works, Miguel T. Hanik and Charles C. Jenks, Commissioner of Finance of White Plains; City Treasurer, Chas. G. Hauchet of Syracuse; M. E. Conan, Comptroller, and Dwight Collin of the same City.

"We've tried tandem—Let's try team work. Our Country, too," say the Suffs.

CONCERNING SUFFRAGE

Politics no place for women! There lives not the woman, who according to "Everywoman" is not caught in a veritable spider web of politics which controls the cream she puts in her coffee as well as the street car that carries her to pay her taxes.

Do women want to vote and will they vote if they can? To this question Professor Wood of the Denver Law School answers emphatically "yes." That they seldom seek office; that they never neglect their children for the polls; that they have great influence in securing humane laws; and that they go safely to the polls with their own menfolk all these things he vouches for as having been seen by him.

Former Congressman Burton of Idaho has admitted that he voted against woman suffrage in 1896 when it was adopted by his state. He has also admitted that it has so raised the moral tone of political life thruout the state that he is glad to confess himself a convert to votes for women.

Is it true that crime among women in Nevada has increased a hundred per cent since the state adopted woman suffrage? was the question put to a Nevada resident the other day during a trip east.

"I suppose it has," was the answer, "as in February 1915 there was no woman in prison and in February 1916 there was just one."

In the exciting debate early in June in the lower house of the Louisiana Legislature that terminated in a majority vote for woman suffrage the leading opponent introduced an objection which was a war cry from the one based on the inability of women to go to war. It ran as follows:

Girls can dance and girls can sing,
And girls can play croquet;
But they can't strike a match on the seat of their pants.
Because they ain't built that way

"They tell me," said a perfervid orator during the suffrage debate in the Lousiana Legislature, "that women want to vote so they can serve on juries," and he fixed the women present with a scathing glance and asked, "how would you women like to spend the night shut up in a room with your fellow men?"

That question is said to have merely amused Charlotte Perkins Gilman who replied when it was put to her as a poser. "Women do spend the night in a room with a lot of men now," and in reply to the horrified question "Where?" she blithely answered "in sleeping cars."

A WORD TO CHAUTAUQUA Season Ticket Holders

And to Those Who Haven't Bought Season Tickets, but Probably Will.

THE Chautauqua will be with us for five days.

It will be held in a large waterproof tent, seating a thousand or more, and will thus be in the out of doors, and the place will be the coolest spot in town.

Every effort will be made by the local committee in charge to make the week one of extreme profit and enjoyment to Chautauqua patrons, and they hope these splendid numbers which are coming will be heard by every person in the community.

Programs will be held afternoons and evenings of the five days, the afternoon programs beginning promptly at 2:30 o'clock, the evening programs at 7:30. There will thus be ten programs in all, and in some of them two attractions will be heard.

A Junior Chautauqua Too.

The Junior Chautauqua will be under the care of a trained play director from New York City and will meet in the forenoons each week day of the Chautauqua. Every boy and girl should have a season ticket and enjoy the full delights of the Junior Chautauqua. They will learn many new games. Participate in athletic events, and the younger folks will have a story telling hour each day. Other special features have been planned.

A beautiful souvenir program booklet has been issued which gives all the particulars. It shows pictures of the talent, with descriptions of each attraction; gives the program for each day and prices of tickets. The season tickets reduce the cost more than a half. They are sold by the local committee and will go up in price when the tent is raised. If you haven't yours, get them today and get in this great community procession, and you'll say it's the best five days you ever spent.

WHY SUFFER WITH BACKACHE, KIDNEYS OR RHEUMATISM NOW?

Letter Tells of Long Looked-for Prescription.

Dear Readers—I am making a personal appeal to those of you who are afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble, that you give up the use of harsh salts or alcoholic kidney medicines and in their place take a fair treatment of "Anuric." I have taken many of Dr. Pierce's medicines for the past twenty-five years with good results. I suffered with kidney trouble for some years. I recently heard of the newest discovery of Doctor Pierce, namely, his "Anuric" Kidney Tablets. After using same I am completely cured of my kidney trouble. I recommend, heartily, all sufferers to Dr. Pierce, for what he has done for me cannot be estimated too highly. A doctor pronounced me a well preserved woman for my age, all due, I believe, to Dr. Pierce's medical aid.

Yours very truly,
MRS. MELINDA MILLER.

NOTE: You've all, undoubtedly heard of the famous Dr. Pierce and his well-known medicines. Well, this prescription is one that has been successfully used for many years by the physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for kidney complaints, and diseases arising from disorders of the kidneys and bladder, such as backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, congestion of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, scalding urine, and urinary troubles.

Up to this time, "Anuric" has not been on sale to the public, but by the persuasion of many patients, Doctor Pierce has finally decided to put it into the drug stores of this country within immediate reach of all sufferers, or send 10 cents for large trial package and free book.

Simply ask for Doctor Pierce's Anuric Tablets. There can be no imitation. Every package of "Anuric" is sure to be Dr. Pierce's. You will find the signature on the package just as you do on Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, the ever famous friend to ailing women, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, proven by years to be the greatest general tonic and reconstructor for any one.

A worth-reading ad of a store in a newspaper like this will be read by most of the worth-reaching folks in a town like this.

Its the standard family cough syrup in use over 40 years. Get a bottle at once. Keep it in the house as a cold insurance. Sold at your druggist.—Advertisemnet.

A VERY SENSIBLE CORN REMOVER

A raccoon will get the corn in the field and a Racoon Corn Plaster will get the corn on your toe if you give it a chance. That' why so many people are saying, "The Coon Gets the Corn." Will you let him get yours? Why not end your painful corns by trying Racoon Plasters at once? Delays are dangerous. Ask your druggist for a package or write, Racoon, LeRoy, N. Y., for free sample. 29
