We are safe with Wilson.

• • •

"HE Has Kept Us Out Of War."

• • •

It's America that's at stake, not party.

• • •

Business can be free only when the nation is free.

• • •

A conservative is a person who just sits and thinks, mostly sits.

• • •

Nothing else in the world is standing still, except the standpatter.

• • •

A Progressive-Republican is only a Republican in a way to become a Democrat.

• • •

Out West they say they have found what Hughes has been hiding in his whiskers—a hammer.

• • •

The Wilson administration has given the farmer more than the G. O. P. ever had imagined enough to promise.

• • •

"They say Wilson has blundered—perhaps he has—but I notice that he usually blunders FORWARD."—Thomas A. Edison.

• • •

Wilson won't make war on Germany just to please Mr. Roosevelt, Root, Lodge and Morgan. Therefore it is "anything to beat Wilson."

• • •

When a person stops changing his mind, with the rapid changes of all the circumstances in the world, that minute he becomes a back number.

• • •

To elect Chas. E. Hughes at this time would be like putting a green engineer on the Twentieth Century Limited; no one knows what he would do.

• • •

President Wilson says you can trust the people provided you serve them. Reveal everything and the people will be just; conceal anything and you make them jealous.

• • •

The Republicans PROMISED the workingman a full dinner pail. Wilson gave them three square meals a day, eight hour's work and the highest wages known in history.

• • •

Millionaires are conspicuous figures at all Hughes meetings throughout the country to-day; mechanic and small business men at the Democratic meetings. What is for the interest of the plutocrats cannot be of benefit to the ordinary man.

PATIENCE PRODUCES PEACE

What standing have the Republicans to denounce the Wilson policies as "weak and vacillating" when fourteen Republican Senators and 102 Republican members of the House voted against taking the Lore and Metcmore resolutions that, if passed, would have forced a complete surrender of the rights of American passengers upon the sea?

There is no hope for the Republicans in that quarter.

If there is any one ground which the President has won title to and possession of the confidence of the people it is his avoidance of war.

The Republican campaign managers may spend their millions in full page advertisements in the daily papers in a futile effort to eradicate from the minds of the fathers and mothers of this country that Wilson did not keep us out of war, if they think wise and proper, but it will make no difference. Fathers and mothers know that he has kept us out of war. They know their sons are with them on the farms and in the workshops of the country, rather than on the parched sands of Mexican soil, with their bones bleaching in the tropical suns.

To-day the fathers and mothers of America are thanking God for Woodrow Wilson every time they see the sturdy forms of the young men of this country peacefully doing their daily tasks by their side.

They thank God that Wilson has had the patience to produce peace under the most trying circumstances, when the jingoe Republicans were trying their best to draw the country into a war with Mexico in order to protect the investments of their Wall Street masters.

Instead of criticising and abusing the great man now in the White House at Washington, dear reader, you and I should be down on our prayer-bones imploring the great God of Nations to open the eyes of the blind partisan politicians before it is too late, that they may see, as the fathers and mothers of America to-day see, who is really responsible for America's Peace, Protection and Prosperity.

The saving of neutral lives, the freedom of the seas, and that without orphaning a single American child, without widowing a single American mother, without firing a single gun, without the shedding of a single drop of blood, he has wrung from the most militant spirit that ever brooded above a battle field an acknowledgement of American rights and an agreement of American demands.

He has truly demonstrated that a principle is mightier than force, that diplomacy hath its victories no less renowned than war.

Shall we by his defeat tangle again the untangled international problems? Shall we say to the warring countries: "Open again these settled international questions, his was not the voice or his country?"

When the history of these days come to be written and the children of to-morrow read their nation's story, when time shall have dispelled all misconceptions and the years shall have rendered their impartial verdict one name will shine with golden splendor upon the page that is blackened with the tale of Europe's war, one name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death.

"That name will be the name of the great President that has made Democracy proud that he is a Democrat, and made Americans proud that he is an American."

It will be the name of the student and the scholar who has kept his country true to its faith in a time that tried men's souls; the name of the statesman who has championed the cause of American fredom wherever he found it oppressed; the name of the patriot who has implanted his country's flag on the highest peaks to which humanity has yet aspired the name that carried the torch of progress to victory once and will cary it to victory again, the name of Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States.

"I AM AN AMERICAN"

I AM AN AMERICAN. I hate war and I love peace and honor. My father fought in the Civil War for the cause he thought was right.

He died on the battlefield of Gettysburg.

He left a widow and five small children.

As a child at my mother's knee, I have heard her, as the tears stole down her cheeks, describe the horrors and the miseries of the days of '61.

I have read the words of Sherman, who said—"War is Hell."

I try to picture the sorrow and woe of those stirring times and I see destruction and death in every city and state.

I hear the shrieks of mothers, the wails of sorrowing wives whom relentless Death has made widows; the cries of children awaiting in vain the return of "Daddy."

I see a land once rich in grain become more devastated than if it were visited by the seven plagues of Egypt; a land once peaceful and prosperous, the most miserable country that the sun ever shone upon. I HAVE EVERY REASON TO HATE WAR.

My mind's eye sees the terrific struggle now being waged in Europe—For what, Who Can Answer?

I tremble—like all true Americans—at the thought of our land being engulfed in this maddening sea of slaughter.

I know our President has kept us out of this awful war and I lift my voice both day and night in grateful accents to Heaven for having raised up at this crucial period Woodrow Wilson, who like Washington and Lincoln, has been the saviour of America.

I know that Wilson has preserved unsullied the glory of Columbia—that he has maintained peace without sacrificing honor.

No stain of shame has ever yet besmirched the pages of our history, nor has our flag ever trailed behind the war chariot of king or emperor; and I know that while Woodrow Wilson rules this country, this boast will proudly ring o'er hill and vale with no fear of a discordant echo.

I know that Wilson has endeavored in every honorable way to preserve neutrality with foreign powers, and that his policies and actions have been criticized by men who, like Caesar, would sacrifice country for ambition.

I know men. I know that Christ himself was crucified by His own chosen people because He tried to save them.

Worth Careful Thought

Do you read the label to know whether your baking powder is made from cream of tartar or, on the other hand, from alum or phosphate?

Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes, and adds to the food only wholesome qualities.

Other baking powders contain alum or phosphate, both of mineral origin, and used as substitutes for cream of tartar because of their cheapness.

Never sacrifice quality and healthfulness for low price.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO.
New York

I know that Wilson is sorely pressed and in this hour of dire need asks true Americans to help him fight the moral battles of America. AND THIS I SHALL DO.

My country's flag waves from no lordly castle but flings its folds to the breeze of freedom—the proud emblem of the greatest nation the world has ever known.

THEREFORE

I want no change of administration at this hour of terrible uncertainty. I care not whether Wilson is a Republican or Democratic leader.

He has gone through the crucible period of criticism and slander and has come forth radiant like a mass of molten gold.

I know that on his shoulders rests a government dearer to him than life itself.

I know that at its integrity thousands of people are striking, while at it foreign eyes are glaring, and I know that Wilson has never faltered.

This ordeal with its attending sorrow and sadness occasioned by the ingratitude of some may have aged him, but it has added to the beauty and sublimity of his character and has not only humanized every instinct but has expanded and elevated him to the heights where the venomed darts of slander cannot wound.

I believe the words of the poet: "Great men grow greater by the lapse of time; we know those least whom we have seen the latest; and they 'mongst those who have grown sublime—who fought for Human Liberty are Greatest."

The man who has stood at the helm of state and has piloted us through the channel of danger out into the calm waters of peace, contentment and prosperity — THAT MAN I SHALL STAND BY

That man is Woodrow Wilson.

I shall vote for him because I AM AN AMERICAN.

BLANCHE SWEET

In "The Ragamuffin," Monday Evening. No Show Saturday

Blanche Sweet, one of the most popular stars of the screen, will make her appearance in another Lasky production entitled "The Ragmuffin" by Wm. C. DeMille. This popular star, who has gradually risen to the top of the photo-dramatic profession as an artist of beauty and talent will be seen in this elaborate production as a waif of the streets.

Replete with dramatic action, tense situations and exciting episode, the "Ragamuffin" contains an earnest and emphatic plea for universal life opportunity. Wm. C. DeMille, the author of this photoplay, is one of America's leading dramatists. He has treated the subject of environment in a startling, original, and dramatic manner. Jenny as portrayed by Blanche Sweet, from a lowly beginning overcomes life's greatest temptations through an inward struggle of reformation.

Miss Sweet is also the star of the following other Lasky productions: "The Warrens of Virginia," "The Captive," "Stolen Goods," "The Clue," "The Secret Orchard" and "Secret Sin."

[illegible] OF ASS[illegible]

(From Allegany County [illegible] gram.)

The Democrats of [illegible] made no mistake when [illegible] named Archer C. White as candidate for Member of A[illegible]bly. His nomination meets the approval of his party th[illegible] out the commonwealth, and cites the most profound e[illegible]nasm in the organization. A[illegible] members of the party are p[illegible] and will work to poll the party vote for him.

Mr. White was born on a [illegible] in Whitesville, October 28th [illegible] Attended the district school [illegible] 1876 he took Greeley's advic[illegible] went West. He became a lo[illegible]tive engineer and followed [illegible] occupation until 1902, whe[illegible] returned to Whitesville [illegible] father's health failing he s[illegible] on the old homestead and be[illegible] a farmer, an occupation whi[illegible] is still following with prono[illegible] success. He is a member in [illegible]standing of the B. L. E., di[illegible] 117; Whitesville Lodge 924, [illegible] O. F.; Master of White [illegible]range; a member of White [illegible] Club; and salesman of the W[illegible]ville Dairy Company.

Mr. White was born and [illegible] a Democrat and has strenu[illegible] upheld the principles of the [illegible] during his entire life, being [illegible] in every campaign during [illegible] entire continuance. Doing [illegible]lent work, winning votes fo[illegible] candidates by his persuasiv[illegible]uqence and interest in the [illegible] work. Mr. White does no[illegible]pect to be elected but does [illegible] to poll his full party vote [illegible] he is entitled to do.

There are too many lawye[illegible] the assembly. If the people [illegible] only awaken and look at [illegible] matter in the right light th[illegible] would have fewer members [illegible] legislature and the farmer[illegible] ment a majority. It is too [illegible] that such men as Arche[illegible] White cannot manage the le[illegible]tion of this country and giv[illegible] people what they desire i[illegible] way of laws for the bene[illegible] the many instead of stat[illegible] the benefit of the few, the [illegible]ticians and the money inte[illegible] Think this over Mr. Voter [illegible] you go to the polls and the[illegible] for Archer C. • • •

"Must a President of the [illegible]ed States, in order to win [illegible]tion, take his foreign policy [illegible] Berlin and his domestic p[illegible] from Wall Street?

• • •

Why is it less noble to ma[illegible] peace by means of the pen [illegible] to seek peace by means of [illegible] sword? Is "honor" sacrifi[illegible] the one case more than in [illegible] other?

• • •

There is only one way of [illegible]ng the confidence of the A[illegible]ican public and that is by de[illegible]ng it. Therefore, there is [illegible] doubt of Woodrow Wilson's [illegible] turn to the presidency.

• • •

Because Wilson wouldn't [illegible] war on Mexico to protect [illegible] property Wall Street millio[illegible] have stolen from that poor [illegible]try, and send our young men [illegible]nere to die and be slaughte[illegible] they are going to defeat hi[illegible] re-election if you and I [illegible] flag them.

• • •

Why go on. You know wh[illegible] you are working or fighting [illegible] you know who has kept y[illegible] your job rather than allow [illegible] millionaires to send you int[illegible] trenches, as they desire, an[illegible] you will do if Hughes is el[illegible] Vote for the man who has pr[illegible]ed yourself and your sons [illegible] war.

Here is a paragraph fro[illegible] World editorial, and people [illegible] judge how close it comes to [illegible] bulls-eye for themselves. S[illegible]ing of Hughes: He has not [illegible] against peace, but he has sp[illegible] mightily against all the me[illegible] by which peace has been [illegible]served. He has not sought [illegible] but he has been uproarious [illegible] favor of everything that [illegible] for war. He has had much [illegible] say in vague terms of dom[illegible] Americanism, but not a wo[illegible] approval of the men who ha[illegible]triotically upheld national [illegible] and peace; not a word of [illegible] dangers from alien conspira[illegible]posed and overcome, and [illegible] word of the gluttons of wa[illegible] conquest at home, thus far [illegible]teated and shamed.

—Hoodlums at Friendship, Sunday evening, pulled down the Democratic banner that hung across the street in that village. Officers are working on the case and certain young men will without doubt receive their just deserts. Time has proven that kind of partisan spirit the most detrimental, in a heated political campaign. One person has as much right to his political faith as another. No one has a monopoly of the streets in any American village, and one party has just as much right to swing a banner across the streets as has another. Broad minded people of all partise are to-day thankful that there are differences in our political thought. All they ask is that every one does what he believes right.

CAR FOR EVERY 32 PEOPLE IN STATE

Passing the 300,000 mark a few days ago, New York State can now boast a tenth of all the automobiles in the United States and leads the world in registration. Within the last eight months, 78,000 machines have been bought by residents of this state. Paralleling the enormous increase in cars, the ranks of the chauffeurs have steadily grown until to-day there are 98,000 licensed drivers, or 22,000 more than a year ago. Motor vehicle registration so far this year totals $2,546,487 in fees. In the United States last year license fees netted $18,245,713, of which 90 per cent. was used for country and state roads.

New York State now has an automobile for every 32 residents.

There is a car for every 37 persons in the United States and a machine to every mile of road.

Massachusetts has a car for every 29 residents, Iowa one for every 16 and Alabama one for every 199, Arkansas one for every 212.

The automobile accident report reads like a record of a battle. In twenty of the larger American cities in the last eight months 1,040 persons have been killed and 8,000 injured. Probably those figures do not represent more than one-half the casualties for the country. It is suggested that there must be a general slowing down of automobiles in city and country.

Cutting down the casualties, however, is not merely a matter of putting the screws on the automobilist. It is a matter of the automobilist and the general public getting together and co-operating for safety plans.

DEMOCRATIC MASS MEETING

A Democratic Mass Meeting will be held at The Auditorium, Saturday evening, Nov. 4th, at 8 o'clock. Hon. W. F. Starr, of New York City and Rev. L. H. Buisch, of Wellsville, will be the speakers.

Auditorium, Wednesday Evening.

In producing Mark Twain's famous work, "Pudd'nhead Wilson" the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company presents the first of a series of picturizations of the notest humorist's novels. "Pudd'nhead Wilson" will be followed by "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn" and others.

"Pudd'nhead Wilson" occupies a unique place in the annals of American humorous literature. Its story—said to have been the first piece of fiction which made use of the now familiar finger-print method as a means of establishing identity—is melodramatic, romantic and suffused with a deep note of human sympathy and interest. "Pudd'nhead Wilson, the Southern lawyer, from whom the book takes its title, is a character in American literature, and his crisp sayings will live forever.

No actor of the stage or screen is so well suited to the role of "Pudd'nhead Wilson" as Theodore Roberts, America's leading screen character star. Mr. Roberts brings out the subtile humor of Wilson, who swayed a whole community by his personality during an exciting trial, finally establishing the innocence of a youth unjustly accused. There is a gripping love story through the photo play.
