THE FOOL ROOSTER

He's Always Crowing, but It's the Hen That Lays the Egg

I've heard a good deal in my time about the foolishness of hens, but when it comes to right down, plum foolishness give me a rooster every time. He's always strutting and stretching and crowing and bragging about things with which he had nothing to do. When the sun rises, you'd think that he was making all the light instead of all the noise. When the farmer's wife throws the scraps in the henyard, he crows as if he was the provider for the whole farmyard and was asking a blessing on the food. When he meets another rooster, he crows, and when the other rooster licks him he crows. And so he keeps it up straight through the day. He never wakes up during the night and goes on general principles. [illegible] from a hen she's [illegible] and she don't make a [illegible] about it either.—Self Made Merchant by George Horace Lorimer.

A Word to Nursing Mothers

It is a well known clinical fact that babies who depend wholly on mother's milk never have cholera, and are exempt from two-thirds the ailments which afflict infants.

Some inkling to this has checked the resort to artificial foods and begun to make it "good form" for every mother to nurse her own baby—when she can.

Some try it, and grow weak and sick under the strain. With others the milk flow is insufficient, and the poor baby is at last given over to the tender mercies of the milkman with his corn fodder, and stale slops, and worse.

If any mother within ten miles of our store reads this, we want to give them a hint. Try Vinol. There are many mothers who have found that it enabled them to take more nourishment, restored their strength, and made baby healthy, hearty, and happy.

Vinol not only supports the mother's strength but transmits to the babe the foundation for a healthy childhood.

Vinol contains no dangerous drugs. We are willing to tell you just what is in it and give you the money back if it don't help you. Don't doubt, try it.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

Excise Question, Mortgage Tax and Canals Receive Attention.

LIVELY SPEECHES BY LIQUOR MEN.

Bill Appropriating Fifty Thousand Dollars for Governor and State Troops to Visit St. Louis Exposition.

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 25.—(Special.) Many important questions are before the state legislature this week and while they are not new questions by any manner of means they are not the less interesting on that account. When the mortgage tax, the excise questions and the canal problems are finally decided, the legislature may heave long sighs of relief.

Tax has been dinned into their ears until they are partially deaf, the canal measure has rubbed against them continually and the latest measure on the excise, while it has not been before them a long time, has still presented such an aggressive front that it has really been worrisome to a certain extent. When the measures are all passed upon and there is nothing more to be done the legislators will no doubt be glad to return to their homes.

The Excise Question.

Notwithstanding the fact that it was fully thought that there would be no excise legislation during the present session of the legislature there has certainly proven to be a whole lot. The increased liquor tax has caused no end of agitation, which has by no means subsided as yet. The hearings on the question was the liveliest one so far of the session and called out a tremendous crowd. Of course the liquor element was largely represented and many brewers gathered to hear the arguments and to decide for themselves how the thing was coming out.

Hon. John G. Milburn of Buffalo was heard in the interests of the liquor men of Buffalo and Mayor Kline was heard for the same element of Syracuse. Both of these gentlemen made powerful speeches and were listened to with great interest.

A number of these speakers who were heard protested that the passage of such a bill certainly meant the ruin of the Republican party. The Republicans who favor the bill laugh at this view of the case and protest that instead of hindering the party it will help it on to victory. While the hearing was a protracted one it was not thrashed out to the satisfaction of the liquor men and they pleaded for another hearing.

It looks, however, at this writing as if there would be no doubt about the passage of the liquor tax. Should another hearing be granted it will not be until the bill reaches the governor. It is possible then that the liquor men may have a chance to say something more.

Druggists' Licenses.

Another bill which affects the excise department is that of Senator Green which provides that the flat rate of $5 for druggists be wiped out and makes the rate a graduated one from $100 to $10. It is said that this bill was brought about by the bad behavior of the druggists themselves. When the $5 rate was put into the excise law it was supposed that the druggists would only sell for medicinal purposes. Some one was watching the druggists, however, and complaints were made that they were not so conscientious in the matter of selling liquor as the state thought they would be and finally complaints began to come in thick and fast. It was stated that the druggists were doing a business amounting in fact on a $5 license and this, as may be guessed, was not at all satisfactory. Hence the new bill.

The proposed amendment has for its object the reimbursement of the state for the expense of supervising the drug license business. The department proposes to be fooled no longer. Under the new provisions the druggists will receive no further privileges than they now possess and will still be restricted to the sale of liquors upon a physician's certificate.

Another bill has been introduced by Assemblyman Remsen which creates another office in Albany. This creates the office of state chemist, whose duty it will be to examine all spirituous or malt liquors bottled or manufactured in the state to see that they have not been adulterated with any article injurious to human life. The measure provides that this chemist shall have an annual salary of $5,000 and shall have power to seize for purpose of examination any liquor exposed for sale. Manufacturers of liquors must obtain from the state chemist a certificate of the purity of their wares before offering them for sale. The punishment for selling adulterated liquors shall be at a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment of not more than two years or both.

The Mortgage Tax.

Since the introduction of the mortgage tax providing a rate of 4 mills per annum on real estate mortgages, the talk and agitation have been divided between the liquor and mortgage tax measures. Since the introduction of the mortgage tax another measure has been introduced by Senator Jotham Allds repealing the law which imposes a tax of 1 per cent on the surplus of savings banks of this state and which is the source of about $730,000 indirect revenue to the state. It is announced that if the mortgage tax bill fails this bill will not be passed.

However, it is the general opinion that the mortgage tax measure is sure to become a law and then the Allds savings banks measure will follow suit. This law taxing the surplus of savings banks was enacted two years ago in connection with the tax placed on life insurance companies. Under the mortgage tax bill mortgages held by insurance companies are also subject to taxation. It seems that the original agreement when the tax was placed on the surplus of savings banks was that there was an understanding that they would not be subject to further taxation.

This same assurance was given to the insurance companies and because of that fact the insurance companies, which might have mustered sufficient opposition to kill the bill, withdrew their opposition. Under the mortgage tax bill as originally drawn life insurance companies, savings banks and mortgages held by corporations and loan associations were exempted. Under the measure when it was introduced, however, there are no exemptions save those mortgages of charitable, religious and educational institutions. The tax of 1 per cent on the par value of surplus of savings banks last year amounted to $730,000. The tax on insurance premiums gives the state revenue amounting to $1,600,000. Thus far no bill similar to the Allds bill has been introduced for the relief of the insurance companies.

The Libed Bill.

Several hearings have been given on the libel bill of Senator Marshall and Assemblyman Fowler which seeks to amend the libel law so that publishers and writers of newspapers shall have a chance sometimes to win a suit for libel. The provisions of the measure are as follows: In an action to recover damages for libel, the defendant may prove at the trial facts not amounting to a total defense, tending to mitigate the punitive damages, or to reduce the compensatory damages to which the plaintiff might otherwise be entitled, whether or not such facts were known to the defendant at the time the cause of action arose, if they are set forth in the answer, either with or without the one or more defenses to the entire cause of action. A defendant in default for want of answer may, upon a reference or inquiry to ascertain the amount of the plaintiff's damages, prove facts of that description.

In a civil action for libel the plaintiff shall recover only compensatory damages, unless he shall prove either malice in fact or that the defendant after having been requested by him in writing to do so failed forthwith to retract the libelous charge in as conspicuous and public a manner as that in which the charge was made.

Substitution For Hughes Bill.

The Hughes bill prohibiting discrimination against members of the National Guard has given place to a substitute bill. The substitute bill has caused a lot of agitation in certain circles and the substitute bill will not be lacking in that respect either. The substitute bill provides that a person who either by himself or another shall fully deprives a member of the National Guard of his employment or prevents him from being employed an another or obstructs or annoys said member of the said National Guard, or his employer in respect of his trade, business or employment, because said member of said National Guard is such member, or dissuades any person from enlistment, in the said National Guard by threat of injury to him in case he shall so enlist in respect of his employment, trade or business, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

The bill also provides that no association, corporation constituted or organized for the purpose of promoting the success of the trade, employment or business of the members thereof, shall by any constitution, by-laws, resolution or regulation, discriminate against any member of the National Guard of the state of New York, because of such membership in the National Guard or the eligibility of said member of the National Guard to membership in such association or corporation, or in respect of his right to retain said last mentioned membership.

The measure states that its purpose is to protect a member of the National Guard from disadvantage in his means of livelihood and liberty therein, but not to give him any preference or advantage on account of his membership in said National Guard. The act takes effect Sept. 1, 1903.

About Private Parks.

The Stevens bill regulating the establishment of private parks and creating of game preserves has been reported favorably by the assembly fish and game committee. It has a number of amendments which draw the matter down pretty fine. In its amended form it provides that any person or corporation desiring to establish a private park must prove that he is the owner of the property which he proposes to include in the park, or of exclusive fishing and hunting rights therein and that none of the waters included in the boundaries have ever been stocked with fish by the state.

It looks now as if the proposed law would go in great state to the Louisiana Purchase exposition. Senator Raines has introduced a bill appropriating $50,000 to pay the expenses of the trip. It provides that the money shall be expended in the discretion of the governor and that the troops shall serve without pay.

General Henry has formed a plan regarding the trip. That is that a provisional regiment be formed, representative of four brigades of the National Guard, to be divided into three battalions, one to be mobilized in New York city, one in Albany and the third in Buffalo.

Nails

Had Turned Blue—Limbs Bloated.

Lay in a Stupor From Heart Disease.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Me.

The nails turning blue is a sign of defective circulation as is the bloating of the arms and legs. Other common symptoms of heart disease are shortness of breath from slight exertion, pain in or near heart, smothering spells, palpitation or fluttering, weak, tired and hungry spells, dreaming and nightmare, sudden starting in sleep. In severe cases the brain, stomach, lungs, etc., may become so disordered as to mislead the physicians as to the nature of the disease. If you suffer from any or all of these symptoms your heart is diseased and treatment should not be postponed a single day. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is guaranteed to help you as it has helped thousands of others.

"I owe my life to Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. After four doctors met in consultation on my case, their verdict was that I had suffered from heart disease so long that they could do nothing for me and I would surely die. My brother said, 'While there is life there is hope, we will try Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.' When I began taking it my nails had turned blue and my arms and legs were bloated to twice their natural size, and I lay in a stupor most of the time. After the first few doses the dizziness went away and after three bottles I was able to go around the house and do my work. Both my family and my nurse think I would have been in my grave had it not been for Dr. Miles' Heart Cure."—MRS. ROBERT MORRIS, Sackets Harbor, N. Y.

TESTING METHODS

A test as to the value of newspaper advertising over other methods was made a year ago by the great publishing house of Harper & Bros. Two books were selected, one by a well known popular author and the other by an unknown writer. The latter was selected for the newspaper advertising and the other for the usual channels.

With equal expenditure the work advertised in the newspapers contributed the other in sales by 200,000 copies.

The result was a complete surprise and established the fact that readers go to the newspapers for information with regard to books as well as with regard to most other matters.—National Printer-Journalist.

The best advertising medium for any merchant is the local paper which goes into the homes of the people, as this paper does.

TRIED TO PLEASE THE GIRLS

Emperor Ordered a Regiment to Crefeld That They Might Have Partners.

Berlin, March 25. The photographs of 20 of the prettiest girls in Crefeld have now become part of the reichstag records as a tangible argument why parliament should appropriate funds for the erection of a barracks at Crefeld, so as to enable the girls to have lieutenants as dance partners.

War Minister Von Gossler put the item in the military budget at Emperor William's request, which explained the now well-known story in connection with his majesty's visit to Crefeld last summer. The emperor, at a party one night, was surrounded by a number of girls and said to them:

"You like to dance with my lieutenants, don't you?"

"Alas, your majesty," replied one of the girls, "there are no lieutenants."

"No lieutenants," exclaimed the emperor; "then I will send you a regiment."

Thereupon the emperor directed that a hussar regiment be transferred from Dusseldorf to Crefeld so soon as barracks could be built for the soldiers. Since then there has been a warm contest before the budget committee between Dusseldorf and Crefeld, the former opposing the transfer of the regiment, and during the contest the photographs of the pretty girls were officially presented and filed.

Herr Theodor Kirsch, the Dusseldorf member of the reichstag, contended that his town had just as pretty girls at Crefeld and offered to submit their portraits, but the chairman of the committee said it was not necessary.
