GENERAL MILES AND HIS CRITICS.

There are always those whose aim in life is to tear down and climb on the ruins thus created to so-called fame and glory. The Springfield Republican, the chief organ of the Anti-Imperialists, says in an editorial on Gen. Miles' report: "Does the black and bloody record of our Philippine conquest emerge from the darkness of official connivance and concealment?" This is what might be expected from a journal which has allowed itself to be the channel thru which the slanderers against the government vented their spleen. The opportunities that came to the government in the East were responsibilities that had to be met. The army was and is treating with a lot of half bred savages who have yet to learn the truth of dealing with (in the language of the street) "white folks." Now Gen. Miles' report is a truthful statement of facts, not a critique on the Government. Mistakes were and will be made and ever will be where human whims and passions come into play. Rather indeed has Gen. Miles proven that the administration is endeavoring with all the power at its command to make the situation in the East one that will reflect credit upon the American people. Thus Gen. Miles' critics reckon without analyzing, without knowing where the facts are known. No other people or government could do what has been done for the Philippines, and thru efforts of the American Government. Endorsed by the American people, the Filipinos will be led into the beneficent light of civilization, and the critics or anti-imperialists, whose cry has been humanity, will find the cause of humanity is best served thru the channels now being employed by the administration.

Phillips at St. Louis. The honor conferred upon our Assemblyman (no, upon the whole of the people of Allegany county) by the appointment of Hon. Jesse S. Phillips as a member of the committee representative of the people of New York at the St. Louis Exposition. It is significant of the fact that "Our Jesse" is considered for his worth, that his ability is recognized by the leaders, and that he can be trusted by the organization. It is evidence also of the truth of the statement in these columns a few weeks since that it's not always rhetorical fireworks that count for solid worth. St. Louis was proud of New York's military display. The people of the state read with pleasure and pride the glowing accounts, the Governor's address and the National Guards showing, and none could be more delighted than "Old Allegany" that our Jesse had been thus honored.

Croker to be Out-Crokered. All the eyes of the world are watching the political game in the metropolis of this country. Tammany is ever alert and determined by means, fair or foul, to be reinstated in power. That Croker will not return to this country is evidenced by the fact that Murphy is in the saddle and has so entrenched himself that he has more power than even Croker had. The finance committee of Tammany Hall, who had practical control of the organization, has been shorn of its power and placed it in the hands of the chairman, who will appoint the district leaders, and they will be responsible to him. Thus will it be that Bill Devery of the "Ninth" will be ignored. A follower of the "Gibsonites" will be named, and it looks as if "Hall" will let Devery fight in the Ninth as long as he pleases, but will give him no recognition whereby he can extend his antagonism against the powers that be of Tammany Hall.

Looking at the piles of lumber and stone close by the rotten walks in some of our streets much needed improvements are soon to be undertaken.

BEEF STEWS vs. HIGHBALLS.

Under the above caption the Democrat and Chronicle of Rochester gives an interesting write against the treating habit:

"The man who is ready and willing to drink highballs as long as you pay for them, and who will "blow" a dollar on drinks in return without a thought, will not be able to find the price of a beef stew for you if you are "broke." This is a pretty severe jab at the treating habit, and no doubt it has a pretty solid foundation in fact. Yet how much more wholesome is a beef stew than a highball, how expensive is bibulous good fellowship, and how many millions of drinks are poured into unwilling stomachs merely for the sake of preserving an appearance of sociability. The treating habit makes people drink liquor when they don't want it. If the custom were extended to beef stews much real good would come to humanity. But ten cents for a beef stew looks twice as big as a dollar for highballs, in many people's distorted view of 'friendship.' This delusion prevails especially in the United States, where the fashion of treating is probably the most powerful cause of intemperance."

Is it beef stews or "highballs" that make the otherwise quiet people disturbers of the peace and frequent visitor to the places where—well, "you'll said."

It was rumored last fall that new walks were to be put on parts of Main street. Where are they?

Carnegie has given something for a temple of peace, but the most lasting and beneficial gift ever given to the race was that $600,000 to Tuskegee Institute.

The papers say that gambling will not be allowed at Saratoga next summer. Wouldn't it be a good thing if it were not allowed in some places nearer home?

Get the village cleaned up. The visitor for the summer will soon be here, and no better advertisement for Andover could be than to hear the visitor say, "What a pretty, well kept village?"

A gentleman went into the post office and threw down two cents. The clerk asked, "What do you want?" He replied, "An automobile, please." No, it wasn't in Andover. The clerks are too pleasant, and know what two cents mean.

The Delineator for June.

The June Delineator is especially strong in fiction and presents the usual charming display of fashions. It contains a group of four college stories, each of which is a fine specimen. Clara E. Laughlin has a serious paper on the domestic relations of woman, and Mrs. Birney contributes a helpful article on Childhood. Almost every phase of the home is treated in the various Departments.

The Designer for June.

June being the favored month for weddings, that issue of the Designer gives special space to articles of interest to the woman who expects soon to be a bride. The fashions and millinery shown in this month are charmingly summery and dainty, and so too are "Fashions and Fabrics" and "Points on Dressmaking," both of which have left heavier subjects to discourse on the light and airy side of woman's attire. A new department is "A Page of Puzzles" for the little folks. The usual departments are none of them permitted to flag in interest.

Improving the Highway.

Commissioner H. D. Smith has been doing a good job of roadmaking the past few days at the narrows. All the mud and top dressing was scraped off the road and then load after load of coarse gravel drawn and filled in. This was given a top dressing of fine gravel and makes a fine piece of road that will last.

Against Homicidal "Buck Fever."

As a possible remedy for the great number of "hunting" casualties and fatalities yearly occurring in the Adirondacks and other forests of New York there has been introduced in the legislature at Albany a bill which would make the shooting of a human being for a deer no longer an accident, but manslaughter in the second degree when death ensues and a felony punishable by fine or imprisonment when the victim is merely wounded.

There may be sentimental objections to the measure, and should it become a law there will be great difficulty in enforcing its provisions, for the man who is unfortunate enough to shoot his friend instead of a beast naturally and rightly receives much sympathy, but there is much to be said in its favor.

As every sportsman knows, the man who will shoot at a sound in the bushes on the chance that it is a deer, or he whose nerves are strained to such a pitch that he will shoot a man in full view on a forest trail, is not fit to be trusted with a gun at all.

The real remedy for random shooting would be the examination of all would be gunners and the refusal of licenses to the flightier or more nervous sort. Since such an application of the merit system is impracticable, a very good second best is this bill, punishing heavily the careless use of firearms. Undoubtedly a few convictions under the proposed law would greatly lessen the number of instances of homicidal "buck fever."

The announcement that diamonds are becoming more expensive is not likely to greatly disturb the average citizen as long as the price of coal continues to go down and ice does not go to an excessively high figure.

Mrs. Dennis Daily Dead.

The body of Mrs. Dennis Daily of Salamanca was brought to Andover on train 102 Monday morning, and carried to the Blessed Sacrament church, where the funeral was conducted. THE DISTURBER'S COLUMN.

Here's Where the Judge Gets Even With The End Men.

Did he dream of the girls?

A. B. Burrows has been a delegate to the teachers' institute at Spring Brook this week.

C. H. Lever and O. G. Whitcomb say the end men couldn't give away tickets enough to fill another house if they were to perform.

It is a wonder in the minds of the public if Bill Snyder saw any little girls in his dreaming the other night.

John Cannon blew all his gas at the old bachelors. Since John got married he has changed his politics, and is now a howling advocate of woman's rights.

Dr. John Common's song pleased himself so well he is now singing it to his patients in place of an anesthetic to put them asleep.

Bill Snyder feels sore at Burrows because Art didn't tell him he was to spring that "Hornellsville girl" on him, and make a minnie of him right in front of the whole audience. 'Twas sad to make him blush so.

When the time came for the end men to show up they became stage struck. Having overheard some of the boys planning to throw eggs at them if they roasted certain ones, they flatly refused to go on the stage or change their faces, until the speaker announced that their gags were all harmless and very mild, and would not hurt the feelings of any. "Please be kind enough to sit on the eggs" before the braves appeared. Still they hesitated, till Colonel Bundy, who was acting as stage manager, went thru the crowd to see who was there. On his return he told them a lot of naughty boys were present, but Lever, Backus, Kinney and Van Fleet were all there, and they would take their jokes in good part, so advised them to bunch all their gags and fire them at the four. They agreed with the Colonel and accordingly bunched their jokes. It was too bad to scare the little boys so, as they will never want to go on the stage again. They have great ability in their line, and their loss to the minstrel people will be hard. They should be complimented on their jokes as they must have taxed their minds to the utmost to think them all up.

PLEASE BE FAIR.

The Renson Andover Boys Disappointed Wellsville, Was Because they Knew Nothing About it.

The Reporter of Wellsville must be sore over Andover on account of something. Every opportunity that comes their way to dig Andover people they embrace it. This week they made a libelous attack on the Andover baseball team. It seems the Wellsville boys advertised a game between their nine and the Andover nine, without even consulting the Andover boys, and it so happened that our nine could not meet the appointment by the management of the Wellsville team. If Wellsville will treat the Andover boys fair they will receive fair play every time in return.

With her family she took up her residence in Mount Vernon about 20 years ago, and has lived her until the time of her death. She was a consistent member of the First Baptist church and a loving and devoted mother.
