Porto Rico's Lesson In Economy.

There are doubtless state legislatures in this nation that aim at economy in the expenditure of the people's money, but most of them appear to imitate congress in making appropriations as large as the taxpayer will stand, and sometimes they overstep the bounds and call down upon themselves vigorous popular protest. It is, therefore, refreshing to hear what James S. Harlan, former attorney general of Porto Rico, has to say of the legislature of that island.

In an interview with William E. Curtis, published in the Chicago Record-Herald, Mr. Harlan says that in the last session the appropriations were reduced in order that the surplus in the treasury might be increased. Think of it! Porto Rico not only has no debt and possesses a surplus of $500,000 in excess of all liabilities, but she proposes to put herself in still better financial condition. She takes the theory that her government is like a sound business enterprise with a future and not merely a spending machine. Furthermore, Mr. Harlan declares this policy to be the work of the native members of the legislature, who have exercised a "restraining influence" upon the American members.

Thus the little insular territory sets an example in economy that not only congress, but many of the state legislatures, might well follow. If this keeps up, the "mission of civilization" which the United States recently felt itself forced or called upon to undertake in the Lesser Antilles will be working with a perceptible reverse action. The Porto Ricans will be civilizing us instead of our civilizing them.

Just About Bedtime

take a Little Early Riser—it will cure constipation, billiousness and liver troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are different from other pills. They do not gripe and break down the mucous membranes of the stomach, liver and bowels, but cure by gently arousing the secretions and giving strength to these organs. Sold by O. E. Vars & Son, Andover.

A Surgical Operation

is always dangerous—do not submit to the surgeon's knife until you have tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It will cure when everything else fails—It has done this in thousands of cases. Here is one of them: I suffered from bleeding and protruding piles for twenty years. Was treated by different specialists and used many remedies, but obtained no relief until I used DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Two boxes of this salve cured me eighteen months ago and I have not had a touch of the piles since.—H. A. Tisdale, Summerton, S. C. For blind, bleeding, itching, and protruding piles no remedy equals DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by O. E. Vars & Son, Andover.

While there is fighting in Macedonia every day or two, it is hardly upon a scale that can be called warfare, and it is the opinion of American newspaper correspondents on the ground that the hostilities will not get beyond the present guerrilla stage. The reasons for this confident prediction are that the sultan of Turkey is genuinely anxious to avoid such a struggle as will involve him with Russia and that the Bulgarian and Macedonian bands which are apparently so active are not prepared to make effective war on the Turks even if they were disposed to press their grievances to a final issue at this time. Despite the present show of armed force the New York Tribune correspondent is convinced that the Bulgarians have gone as far as they intend to go this year.

Must Pay Cost of Lynching.

The lesson which has been taught Champaign county, O., is one which some other communities may study with profit. It has been compelled to pay $5,500 to the heirs of a man lynched in that county and in addition about $1,000 in court costs and fees connected with the case.

In 1897 a colored man known as Clint Mitchell was lynched by a mob in the yard of the courthouse in Urbana, a city of about 7,000 people above the average in intelligence and respect for the law. Immediately after the lynching the heirs of the lynched man began a suit against Champaign county for $5,000 damages under a law enacted by the Ohio legislature in 1896. This law requires every county to pay $5,000 to the legal heirs of any person lynched in that county. A favorable verdict was obtained, but the case was appealed from court to court until it reached the supreme court of Ohio, where the verdict for damages has just been affirmed with costs and interest and the constitutionality of the law declared.

Thus after six years the dignity of the law has been vindicated and the taxpayers of the county made to pay about $6,500 for the satisfaction a mob had in lynching a man and for the inefficiency of the authorities in not controlling the mob. The case is an important one in that it proves that such a law is constitutional and that it can be enforced, at least in one state. A similar law enacted and enforced in other commonwealths might lessen the number of cases brought before Judge Lynch.

The grand vizier of Turkey talks very nicely about what the Turkish government hopes to do for the Macedonians and then asserts that it is hampered by complaints of unavoidable bitches. This is the same old story. It is simply a revival of what has taken place when complaints have before been made to the sultan. He is a chronic excuse maker, and no one now knows whether he has any intention of carrying out the reforms he has pledged the powers to make in Macedonia. The chances are that he will not make the reforms if he can help it any more than he pays his debts if he can get rid of it.

One of the reasons given for the excellent physical and mental condition of Pope Leo at the extreme age of ninety-three years is that he has let other people do the worrying about his health. There is a world of truth in that. If there is any worrying to be done, it is wisest to let the other fellow do it.

Dr. Mazzoni has been besieged by relatives and friends of the pope and by journalists, inquiring as to the result of the operation and his prognosis of the disease. To a correspondent he said: "When one considers that the pope should be dead by this time the unexpected may happen and there is still hope. His resisting so long and maintaining perfect lucidity of mind means, notwithstanding the pneumonia, the affection of kidneys and the difficulty of breathing, there is no poisoning of the blood.

Doctor's Optimistic Opinion.

"Between being at the point of death and returning to what his holiness is now, there is certainly such a difference as to permit the most optimistic views.

"To properly understand the change which has taken place it must be considered that yesterday the conviction was so sure that he would die during the night that notwithstanding the contrary opinion of Dr. Lapponi the pope's surroundings insisted on having extreme unction administered.

"Evil tongues even insinuate that some members of Pope Leo's immediate circle counted on the bad effects that such a function was likely to produce on a weakened organism but the pope resisted splendidly. Indeed, he seems to have acquired fresh strength.

"I don't dare to say anything positive. It is very easy to be deceived, especially in the presence of such marvelous resistance. I merely venture the impression that there is a probability that the pope will die but I do not believe death will occur yet."

The marvelous vitality and recuperative energy of the pope were never more forcibly demonstrated as by the series of events preceding, accompanying and following yesterday's operation.

Returning to Dr. Lapponi, he asked: "Will it be painful? Remember I cannot stand much pain."

Instead of Dr. Lapponi, Dr. Mazzoni answered: "I can assure your holiness that you will feel no pain." The pope concluded: "Then do whatever you think best."

When the operation took place nobody was allowed in the room beside the doctors, except Pope Leo's valet, Centra; even his nephew, Count Camillo Pecci, left the room. It was thought desirable that the pope should reverse his position. As soon as this was proposed the pope himself made a movement, showing again his spirit of activity and determination. Dr. Mazzoni, however, took him in his arms. Pope Leo smiled and exclaimed: "Brave professor, I congratulate you. Although I have become so light, I must still be rather heavy."

Much Relieved by Operation.

Pope Leo remained sittting up in bed during the whole time of the operation without need of support. The pope went through the whole affair without amitting any feeling of pain. He was extremely pale, almost diaphanous and somewhat tremulous. As soon as the operation was over his holiness felt much relieved. Dr. Mazzoni at once administered a cordial.

The pope afterwards expressed a desire to see the liquid which had been extracted from his thorax. The pontiff then asked for minute explanations of the apparatus used in the operation. "It is a most ingenious instrument," he said, "but your hand is also very clever. That is why the operation was successful in not giving me any pain. I thank you."

After half an hour's peaceful and apparently refreshing repose the pope awoke and inquired about the doctors. Hearing they were both in the next room, he said: "I thought they had gone. What do they stay here for? What are they plotting?"

Dr. Lapponi re-entering the room said: "We are preparing bulletins regarding the operation, saying it was successful in all respects."

"Very well," replied his holiness, "I wish to see myself these bulletins in their exact text."

He they went on speaking about the causes of his illness. "I would like to know," he said, "from what it comes. I think I have always followed Dr. Lapponi's advice."

"Not always, your holiness," replied Dr. Lapponi gently. "Well," retorted Pope Leo, "you could not expect to remedy my old age."

After a short silence the pope, turning to Dr. Mazzoni, said: "In the last consistory I appointed as a cardinal a fellow citizen of yours, Cardinal Laliani, who comes from the Marches. Do you know him?"

"Yes, your holiness, I know him I hope that that will not be your last consistory."

"I am afraid so," sighed the pope sadly. After which his head fell upon the pillow, as though extremely tired being again the prey of exhaustion. The happy and cheerful expression of the pontiff at the moment when he was in the very shadow of death astonished the doctors. The pope him self seems to glory in his ability to present a calm and bright demeanor.

SLIDES TO LIBERTY.

William Rudolph, Charged With Murder and Robbery, Escapes From St. Louis Jail.

St. Louis, July 8.—William Rurolph charged with killing Detective Schumacher and robbing the bank at Union Mo., escaped from jail here in the most sensational manner.

Rudolph was in the exercise-corridor about 5 o'clock with 20 other prisoners when a fight broke out among them. The guards ran to the scene and Rudolph, seeing his opportunity, ran up three flights of stairs, leaped to the top of the cells, swung himself to the skylight, smashed through it, and in a moment was on the roof 60 feet from the ground.

With desperate courage he grasped an electric light wire and slid down 50 feet, when the wire broke and he fell to the ground. Unhurt, he ran through Sergeant Dawson's house out into the street and got away.

Rudolph was gone some time before he was missed. Matron Mrs. Wilhelm saw a man in the trusswork near the loosened skylight and raised the alarm. This led to the discovery of the escape.

Rudolph and his partner, George Collins, had been captured at Hartford, Conn., after a long search, following the Union Bank robbery. They were brought to St. Louis and placed in jail for safe keeping pending their trial.

SHUT OFF BY FIRE.

Imprisoned Miners Found a Way of Escape After They Had Lost Hope.

Pottsville, Pa., July 8.—The interior of the Kaska William mine at Middleport took fire and a large number of men were imprisoned. For several hours their lives were despaired of. The entombed men wrote letters of farewell to their families. After all hope was gone an old working was discovered through which the imprisoned men were rescued, some of them unconscious.

Six of the miners, who live at Middleport, were imprisoned in a shaft ablaze for several hundred feet. The miners were prepared to die and could hardly credit their senses when their rescuers appeared from the depths of the forgotten old working.

The fire is still raging and it is feared will cause the closing of the colliery for a year. The Kaska William colliery is operated by the Truman H. Dodson Coa company of Bethlehem and shipped 160,000 tons of coal last year.

Boxer Indemnity Paid.

Washington, July 8.—The state department has been notified that the Chinese government has paid the third installment on account of the Boxer indemnity. The money was placed in the hands of the United States fiscal agents at Shanghai Saturday. The settlement was made on the basis of the rate of exchange at the time the Pekin treaty was signed the United States reserving all rights to further compensation if it shall appear that the indemnity payments are to be made on the basis of present rate of exchange, which will be much higher.

Wonderful Drifting Qualities.

New York, July 8.—A Sandy Hook calm, familiar to cup racers, prevented more than a brief trial of the two Shamrocks, but an hour's windward work in a very light wind afforded the new cup hunter an opportunity to demonstrate again her wonderful drifting qualities. Pointing higher and footing faster, the new boat worked out to windward of the old one and 45 minutes after the start was an eighth of a mile to windward of her. Then the wind died away and the trial was abandoned.

Extension of Oregon Short Line Sold

New York, July 8.—Transfer of the Calientes extension of the Oregon Short Line to the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake road, controlled by Senator W. A. Clarke, was made by the Harriman interests today. The consideration is said to have been $11,000,000. A representative of the Clark interests says that it has not yet been determined when the bonds against the new property will be issued.

Case of George F. Miller.

New York, July 8.—Abram J. Rose, counsel for George F. Miller, who was indicted by the federal grand jury in Brooklyn which investigated sales of automatic cashiers to the postoffice department, made a motion for permission to inspect the grand jury minutes. The motion was denied.

Education For Public Office.

The plea of Andrew D. White, former president of Cornell university and later United States ambassador to Germany, for the establishment of facilities at twenty-five American universities for the instruction of students in public affairs to fit them for officeholding has been variously received.

Theorists have welcomed it enthusiastically as an extension of the time worn idea that the college men are the leaven of the nation, while practical politicians have scoffed it. One critic, the New York Evening Post, tersely observes that there are plenty of college men in politics today, and public life in many cases would be a good deal purer if they were out of it.

Upon the advisability of providing the fullest opportunity for instruction in public affairs there can be no difference of opinion, pertinently observes the Pittsburg Dispatch, but it should be aimed to fit the students for citizenship rather than for officeholding. Until there is a much more general education in the duties of good citizenship we fear there will be little opportunity the student who has fitted himself for officeholding by special collegiate training to have much chance of putting his knowledge to practical use.

The special training that is considered most to qualify for office nowadays is not knowledge of the duties of the office, but demonstrated ability to pay the price in votes or influence. Even if Mr. White's suggestion were executed it is very questionable whether the graduates of his class in officeholding would find their diplomas an unfailing sesame to public employment. The people are apt to have ideas of their own in regard to slates, whether filled by political bosses or college professors.

New Use For Aleutian Islands.

As the world gradually becomes filled up use is found for the regions which old geographers were wont to condemn as sterile, barren and worthless. The proposition to turn the Aleutian islands into a sheep pasture is a case in point. Ever since their acquisition from Russia in 1867 these islands have been the least known territory of the United States. There are about eighty of them, stretching from the southwestern peninsula of Alaska westward into the Pacific in a chain 1,500 miles long. Their entire area is less than 6,500 square miles, and they are inhabited by about 1,500 Aleuts, a race resembling the North American Indians, who, it is said, are fast dying out. Few, if any, white men live on the islands. The islands are mountainous, but contain fertile valleys, wherein grows wild grass peculiarly delightful to cattle. In the summer of 1901 a Washington sheep company landed 1,000 sheep on one of the Aleutian islands as an experiment. It was found in the spring that the flock had not increased, owing to the depredations of wolves, but that otherwise it had thriven. The company, satisfied with the experiment, proposes to land 5,000 cattle and 25,000 sheep on the archipelago this summer and to take up permanent pasture land.

New York financiers seem to be worried over the fact that the Pennsylvania road is going to use real money in improving its terminal facilities instead of adopting the Wall street plan of floating them.

A St. Paul woman has applied for divorce on the plea that her husband has adopted the writing of verse as a life vocation. Why didn't she put it on the ground of nonsupport and let it go at that?

Cholera Infantum.

This has long been regarded as one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases to which infants are subject. It can be cured, however, when properly treated, and that is necessary is to give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy and castor oil, as directed with each bottle, and a cure is certain. For sale by O. E. Vars & Son, Andover, and N. E. Coston, Greenwood.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood

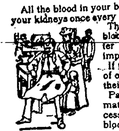
All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.



The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y. one very bottle.

SOME NEW FACTS ABOUT APPENDICITIS.

Why Some Need Fear If Careful.

Hospital records indicate that nearly one-third of all surgical operations are for appendicitis, and the unfortunate feature is that eighty per cent. could have been avoided altogether.

The old theory about grapes and other seeds has been discarded, and any good doctor will tell you nowadays that constipation causes appendicitis almost without exception.

The opening into the appendix is no larger than the head of a darning-needle, but if the least foreign substance enters, inflammation ensues, and there is sure to be trouble.

Constipation and appendicitis will never trouble you if your bowels are regulated with Laxakola.

"Constipation: Its Cause and Cure," a little treatise worth golden dollars, is wrapped around every 25 cent bottle.

SERUM EXTRACTION.

Popes General Condition Improved by Operation.

REGATHERING OF LIQUID FEARED

In Which Case the Operation Would Have to Be Repeated—Dr. Mazzoni's Hopeful Opinion—Pope's Marvelous Vitality and Recuporative Energy—Fell Into Uneasy Sleep.

Rome, July 8.—Pope Leo is now sleeping, but his head lies uneasy on the pillow. The alleviation brought about by the operation of removing the fluid from his pleura was followed later by a restless period and fresh doses of chloral, digitalis and and caffeine had to be administered. Under their influence the pontiff fell into a slumber which, however, was not very peaceful on account of the difficulty the patient has in breathing. Seeing Dr. Lapponi always at his bedside, the pope just before falling asleep said kindly to him: "Now, it is your turn. You must sleep."

Rome, July 8.—Dr. Mazzoni assisted by Dr. Lapponi's son, who is also a doctor, has finished the analysis of the liquid extracted from the pope's pleura. What is feared is a repetition of serum in the pleura in which case the operation will be repeated in about two days.

Dr. Mazzoni has been besieged by relatives and friends of the pope and by journalists, inquiring as to the result of the operation and his prognosis of the disease. To a correspondent he said: "When one considers that the pope should be dead by this time the unexpected may happen and there is still hope. His resisting so long and mainta
