Profit from Swindling. One La Bountie, confidential clerk and bookkeeper for a prominent law firm in Buffalo, was recently detected as having embezzled $500,000 of the trust funds confided to the firm. The story as given out has many elements of a fairy story, and yet they are apparently genuine. La Bountie invested the funds in real estate, and now it seems the profits on his embezzled investments is $100,000. One of the facts evident is the apparent trust reposed in men by the business world. That a clerk could divert a half million undetected shows a great advance in the state of society and business. Were it not for this general trust in business honesty, business as it is conducted would be impossible. However, La Bountie's case is an exception and a warning that precaution should go with trust.

Oil Country. What will we do when coal oil gives out? was the question asked by many who had seen sperm and lard oil superseded by kerosene. Evidently the oil will last for many years. We no sooner learn that the wells of Pennsylvania are slowly failing, when new territory in Texas, Kentucky, Kansas, and the Indian Territory is opened and yielding thousands of barrels a day. The new territory being developed in our vicinity promises wealth for many as long as the price of oil keeps up. What effect the new territory will have on the price of oil is a future consideration, but the fact is evident that nature will continue to supply the oil for a long time to come.

Watch the Shamrock. The recent trial spins of the yacht Shamrock in the waters of the lower bay and around Sandy Hook has made the fact evident that Sir Thomas Lipton has a remarkable boat, and is increasing the interest in the coming international races. Every landlubber who cannot tell a single striker from a schooner is becoming interested in the outcome of the races, and should Sir Thomas succeed in lifting the cup it will be a source of pleasure that a true, gallant sportsman got it. The conduct of the races and the gentlemanly manner of the contestants and participators in the races have done much to elevate the sport.

Thru the Air. The recent triumphs of those interested in traveling thru the air promises to be augmented by the Langley air ship or flying machine built upon the plan of the structure of the Buzzard. Upon the top of a house boat, resting in the quiet waters of the Potomac, representing $70,000 and twenty years labor, is the hope of Professor Langley, and everybody hopes that the machine may fly, because it is due this generation that the air ship succeed, and because again it will be a triumph of American scientific genius, and Langley's success will be the reward of patient painstaking effort.

The number of dwellings that have been newly painted has given the village an air of cleanliness and prosperity.

Mrs. S. Lowrie Slocum resumes work at the bakery again, after a vacation of a few weeks.

VILLAGE LIFE.

The Brooklyn Eagle recently had an article on the carelessness and lack of the progressive spirit in many of the villages in the country at large, and intimated how much better and far ahead city life was. The facts are, that the villages are waking up to the possibilities that are within teaching distances. Village life may have its drawbacks, but it also has its charms during these days of the heated term. It is an appreciable fact that nowhere can as much comfort be found as in the cool shaded home in the village. Village life is not the life that it was twenty or even ten years ago. Conditions have changed. The advent of new industries that seek to get away from the great trade centers where labor troubles conflict and disturb investments of capital, have had much to do with the changes. Most villages have educational advantages unexcelled by the large city school. The teacher has a better opportunity to do individual work with the pupil. On the whole, life in the village is on a higher plane than the city. The moral tone is higher. True, there may be many religious bodies. These may have their differences and petty jealousies, but they make life better, brighter and stronger. Then there is the village "gossip," that retailer of news whom nothing escapes. No yellow journal, with its sensational headlines, can equal the sensations that may be caused by the ready tongue and vivid imagination, the root of much trouble, the monger of new real and unreal, the life and despair of many, and yet, like the poor, the gossip is always with us. Andover has all the good qualities that go to make a progressive village. Life in winter or summer is pleasant. Her hospitality cannot be excelled, her friendliness unequaled, her dispensers of news never beaten, her educational institutions unsurpassed, her churches manned by conscientious men and sustained by faithful people, look forward to new conditions and changes thru the coming of new industries and new families. There may be social changes, but her wide-open, progressive spirit, will never be shorn of its welcoming power, so we extend welcome to all the new comers.

My Lady's Pocket. If the writing of "Os burne," in the daily press, be true, the handbag that "Mi lady" carries is to be larger and larger. Last spring the women carried a bag several sizes larger than a hand purse and had a long chain attached to the wrist. This has been superseded by a big, almost square affair, similar in shape and size to the Boston bag. It has a leather handle and has become so popular that it threatens to displace the smaller one, so to be strictly up to date on her shopping tour, my lady will need to have one of the larger bags.

Thanks to the Erie. That Andover's efforts to increase her growth is appreciated and widely known, is told in the recent improvements in and around the depot and the painting of the water tower. The Erie officials are to be congratulated for the help they have given in creating a favorable impression on the traveler who reaches our village. Perhaps some day that black bed of coal ashes at the east side of the depot may be covered with dirt, and a grass plot made with a flower bed in the center. It would lend a beauty to the neat and clean depot.

Talk about the Erie trains being late, a train recently pulled into Beaumont, Texas, 1,040 days late. It was caught in the great Texan flood of 1900, and has stood on the track which recently was connected with the Main line.

How about the streets? It might be well to help the improvements along, now that the Narrows are completed.

The truth is, the taxes are as low and lower in Andover than many villages its size in New York state.

Corsets are selling cheap at Mrs. Mourhess', as well as everything else.

A Proposed Currency Plan.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune has sent to his newspaper the details of one of the propositions for monetary reform which have been brought before the senate finance committee for consideration prior to the coming session of congress. This proposition has apparently met with considerable favor from the committee.

It is proposed to authorize the issue of what is called additional currency by national banks up to 25 per cent of their capital. On this additional currency the government would levy a tax of 5 per cent per annum. It is believed that with such a tax the banks would call for the extra currency only at times of serious stringency in the money market and would retire their new notes as soon as rates fell so that there would be no profit in the issue. Under the plan about $200,000,000 would, it is believed, be available, which should be ample to relieve any stringency. The additional currency would be secured by the bank assets and by the accumulation of the 5 per cent tax, which would become a sort of insurance fund. In order that there might be no delay in meeting a demand for the currency the government would have the notes printed and ready for delivery, and to avoid delay in retirement the banks would be permitted to deposit other currency than the new notes and thus stop the tax. It is pointed out that if a bank should apply for this currency at a time when there was no general stringency the treasury officials would have reason to believe that such a bank was in trouble.

IT'S BETWEEN SEASONS

as they say. Nearly everybody has been supplied. It's been a busy season here—and no mistake.

Our business doesn't interest other people very much we know—but straws show which way the wind is blowing.

If we made more suits last year than the year before, we deserved to do it—no question about that.

If you haven't ordered yet, there are still lots of good things left.

The Kansas newspapers jeer at the suggestion that the New York students now working in the grain fields may have, through their cultured manners, a wholesome influence on the natives of the Sunflower State. The jeer is well placed. The effete east can teach Kansas nothing regarding either manners, morals or money.

Tobacco has claimed another victim. This time it is a Kalamazoo (Mich.) man, who smoked $400 worth of cigars a year. He was only eighty-eight years of age and had he abjured the weed he might have lived to be a hundred.

So long as the farmers of the country are harvesting bumper crops it is not likely that the stock gamblers and market manipulators of Wall street can do much permanent injury.

The annual Harvest Home will be held about the 3rd week in August.

Seven Andover persons went on the I. O. O. F. excursion to Celoron Wednesday.

No reason for any one being idle these times, unless it is that "tired feeling."

Miss Nellie Potter is laid up with a bad sprain in her foot, which accident befell her Friday afternoon.

The Rev. Chas. H. Harrington will conduct a service at Elm Valley school house next Sunday at 3:30.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. H. C. Coleman for a Mothers' and Parlor Meeting on Thursday, Aug. 6th.

Rev. Chas. H. Harrington supplied the Baptist church at Wellsville last Sunday in the absence of the pastor.

The new Lodge of Rebekahs will meet at their rooms, in the Odd Fellows' Hall, next Wednesday evening.

Edson D. Barnum, a former Superintendent of the Poor of this county, is dead at Denver, Colo., aged 66 years.

The Genesee conference of the M. E. church to be held in Olean in September will be attended by 341 preachers and 250 laymen.

New Matron.

Mrs. Thos. Shannon will be named as the matron of Davenport Orphan Asylum, succeeding Mrs. J. L. MacPherson resigned, who has held that position the past twenty-five years.

A Fine Turnout.

S. G. Beach, agent for Dr. J. N. Norwood's kidney medicines, was in town Sunday and Monday, placing the remedies on the market. His team and output, said to be worth $1,000, was a very attractive piece of furniture.

Real Estate Transfer.

The sale of two acres of land in the town of Wellsville, advertised for sale in the News the past few weeks, known as the Bartholomew Coats property, was bid in by W. B. Wright of Scio Thursday at public sale.

Will Pay Transportation.

The New York state commission for the St. Louis exposition will pay transportation charges to St. Louis and return on all cattle, sheep and swine owned in New York state awarded first premium at the New York state fair to be held the week of September 7th, 1903, at Syracuse, N. Y.

Civic Number of the Chautauquan.

The progress made in elevating and beautifying American life in city, town, and country is perhaps best recorded by a brief survey of the lines faced during recent years in the direction of the various phases of "improvement." A digest of this betterment legislation enacted in the different states during the year 1902 appears in the civics number of the Chautauquan (August), which will be suggestive and helpful to improvement workers.

Pioneers' Great "Pick-Nick" and Excursion to Silver Lake.

On Thursday, Aug. 6th, the Annual Festival and "Olden Tyme Pick-Nick" of the Western New York Pioneers' Association will be held at Silver Lake, N. Y. An unusually attractive entertainment program has been arranged for both old and young. Two bands of music and addresses by prominent men. The Erie Railroad Company will run low rate excursions. Holders of tickets on the bicycle at the Cottage Hotel are notified that the drawing will take place on Friday evening, July 31st.

VERY HARMONIOUS GATHERING.

THE REGULAR REPUBLICAN CAUCUS LAST SATURDAY EVENING.

L. A. Burrows, Clinton E. Hann, J. W. Richardson and Charles Howland Represented Andover Republicans at Convention at Cuba Yesterday.

The Republican caucus held at Prest Opera House last Saturday evening was one of the most harmonious political meetings ever held in this township. Every one seemed to be in line to fight the battle to a finish, to preserve the good times now enjoyed all over the nation because of the wise guidance of the Republican party.

The caucus was called to order by Edwin M. Livermore, chairman of the town committee, who was, on motion, made permanent chairman of the meeting and John M. Mosher secretary.

By a unanimous consent of all present, Hon. Jesse S. Phillips was accorded the honor, for the fourth time, to name the delegates to the County Convention to be held in Cuba on Thursday of this week.

After thanking the caucus for this evident mark of esteem and confidence in a neatly worded and timely speech, Mr. Phillips named L. A. Burrows, Clinton E. Hann, J. W. Richardson and Charles Howland as delegates, and Jesse C. Green, E. M. Livermore, Orange Smith and Elmer Kaple as alternates.

A motion was then made and carried that the secretary of the caucus be instructed to cast the vote of the caucus for these gentlemen.

E. M. Livermore, Henry Stephens and B. B. Hann were made Town Committeemen.

After giving the chairman of the delegation power of substitution, the caucus closed.

MORE ERIE GOSSIP.

Surveyors Said to Be Looking up a Better Grade for the Old Reliable than Over Tip Top Hill.

Railroad rumors say a party of surveyors have been at work between Almond and Scio, trying to find a more practical grade for the Erie than by coming over the hill at Tip Top. This contemplated movement would run thru West Almond and save ten miles of road between Hornellsville and Belmont, but when railroad men abandon a fine balasted track such as the Erie now has and give up valuable right of ways to go moon chasing by the way of West Almond and Squintville, money will grow on bramble bushes and every one will own his own flying machine.

DISTRICTS CONSOLIDATED.

Andover Election Precincts Merged Into One, Since Purchasing a Voting Machine.

The Town Board dissolved the two Election Boards in this town last week and created a new one, consolidating the two districts into one, as is permissible under the law where voting machines are in use.

The Inspectors of election of the new board were chosen as follows: J. W. Richardson and F. L. Bloss republican members and J. A. O'Leary and John Casey democrat members. The clerks will undoubtedly be chosen from old inspectors.

If you have anything to buy, sell or exchange, you can reach almost every one in this section with an item in the News. Only 5 cents a line. tf
