Drowning at Wiscoy.

William Dignan was drowned Tuesday afternoon while bathing in the creek near Wiscoy. He and some companions had been bathing in shallow water when suddenly he called out "Come on boys and I'll show you how to swim," and a few minutes later plunged into a deep hole at the upper falls, swam nearly across it, and then sank never to rise again.

Premature Embalming.

The coroners of Rochester have issued a new order that no undertaker shall begin to embalm a body until twelve hours after death. George Wilson, an aged resident, was pronounced dead Saturday by a physician. The next morning as the undertaker was about to embalm the body and began to pierce the skin, Smith arose from the slab and protested against being so roughly used. Later he dressed and took a walk about town. Hence the recent order.

The Difference.

Did it ever occur to you that editors were human beings? They are just as liable to make mistakes as are other people, doctors, ministers and lawyers. The doctors, however, buries his mistakes in the cemetery, while the fool editor prints his with nonfading ink and sends them post-paid to thousands of critics.

A New Game Law.

A new law of Pennsylvania provides that non-residents of that state cannot hunt within its borders without first having paid $10 for a license, one-half of which goes to the county in which the license is procured, and the other half to the state.

Boy Cured of Colic After Physician's Treatment Had Failed.

My boy when four years old was taken with colic and cramps in his stomach. I sent for the doctor and he injected morphine, but the child kept getting worse. I then gave him half a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and in half an hour he was sleeping and soon recovered.—F. L. Wilkins, Shell Lake, Wis. SALAMANCA GETS LEFT.

LITTLE VALLEY WILL KEEP THE COUNTY SEAT.

Supervisors Voted to Expend $10,000 in Remodeling Present Structure and $300 on Sheriff's Residence. Committee of Five Appointed.

The Board of Supervisors of Cattaraugus county have voted to retain the county seat at Little Valley. At the adjourned meeting of the board called to order at two o'clock p. m., Aug. 10, at the Court House in Little Valley by Chairman Vanarnam, of Franklinville, the matter was again submitted by Supervisor A. W. Bedell of Salamanca, who asked that the county seat be removed to Salamanca. A vote was taken and the proposition stood twenty-one to thirteen. As soon as the result was announced a recess was taken until 4:30 p. m., when the jail problem came up.

For over an hour the subject was discussed and it was finally decided to expend $10,000 on repairing the old jail and $300 on the sheriff's residence. A committee of five was appointed to take charge of the repair work.

Not Over-Wise.

There is an old allegorical picture of a girl scared at a grass hopper, but in the act of heedlessly treading on a snake. This is paralleled by the man who spends a large sum of money building a cyclone cellar, but neglects to provide his family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a safe guard against bowel complaints, whose victims outnumber those of the cyclone a hundred to one. This remedy is everywhere recognized as the most prompt and reliable medicine in use for these diseases. For sale by O. E. Vars & Son, Andover, and N. E. Coston, Greenwood.

England's Peace Budget.

For the first time in four years there has been presented to the British parliament what may be termed a peace budget. In presenting it the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Ritchie, remarked that, whereas his predecessors had been compelled to increase tax burdens, it was his privilege to reduce them.

The South African war, together with the short campaign in China, Mr. Ritchie reported, had cost nearly $1,100,000,000, of which less than a third had been paid out of current revenues, and less than a fifth could be recovered from the Transvaal and China. A full half of this vast sum, therefore, or $550,000,000, was added to the permanent debt of the country. The interest upon this new debt, however, forms the smaller part of the increase in the nation's expenditures. The increased army estimates Mr. Ritchie regarded with great concern and hoped soon to effect reductions in this field, but the increase in the naval estimates he regarded as inevitable and unalterable unless Great Britain's neighbors called a halt in their armaments. If this were done, however, he added, "Great Britain is fully ready to follow suit." The chancellor stated that there were hopeful indications of a movement for lessened armaments, but unfortunately Italy is the only continental country where this movement is strong outside of the ranks of the socialists.

The net result of the increased expenditures is that the peace budget this year calls for appropriations aggregating $119,000,000 as against $515,000,000 six years ago. Heavy as the war taxes had become, it was only possible for the chancellor to propose a reduction of $50,000,000 a year because of the return of peace.

The Culture of Food Fish.

Some interesting figures regarding growth and extent of the culture of food fish in this country are furnished by Charles H. Stevenson of the United States fish commission in an article in the current number of the North American Review. From this it appears that millions of pounds of fish are caught in waters originally stocked by the commission, that thousands of small lakes and streams have been supplied with food and game fish entirely new to those waters and that on the Pacific coast those nonindigenous fish shad and striped bass have become abundant.

There are now thirty-five fish hatcheries in the United States, from which the output last year was 1,488,673,000 fish fry and eggs. Of the eggs and fry distributed 594,491,000 were whitefish, 237,099,000 pike perch, 212,001,000 cod, 163,133,000 flatfish, 104,966,000 shad, 81,020,000 lobsters, 53,599,000 salmon, 27,257,000 lake trout, 6,142,000 brook trout. Of yearling and adult fish 6,870,000 were distributed.

The result has been the addition of great wealth to the natural resources of the nation. Not only has the home consumption of fish been greatly increased, but there has been built up a fish export trade amounting annually to $7,000,000. The work of the United States fish commission, now a part of the department of commerce and labor, deserves favorable public consideration.

We Should Lead the World.

The North American Review publishes some interesting facts and figures from the pen of O. P. Austin, chief clerk of the bureau of statistics at Washington, regarding our exports. These show that within the past quarter of a century the exportation of manufactured articles from the United States has quadrupled, which in itself is gratifying, but as comparisons are made with the same class of exportations from some other countries the showing is not exalting to our national pride. When it is remembered that of the $4,000,000,000 worth of manufactures which enter into international commerce about three-fourths are composed of iron, steel, cotton and copper, of which we are the greatest producers, the disparity of our exports as compared with our resources and facilities will be apparent when it is learned that of the four billions' worth of exported manufactures above spoken of but 10 per cent are sent out from our ports.

Great Britain leads the world in the magnitude of her exportation of manufactured articles, her contribution in this line equaling $1,000,000,000 of the estimated $4,000,000,000 which comprises the annual international export trade in manufactures, or one-fourth of the whole of such trade. Germany follows Great Britain with one-fifth of the total; then comes France with one-eighth, and next the United States with one-tenth, or $400,000,000 worth of exported manufactures.

The writer in the Review offers no explanation of the discrepancy between the facts revealed by his figures and our unmistakable failure to supply the bulk of at least such manufactured articles of export as are of iron, steel, cotton or coppet. It has never been shown that we are behind any of our national competitors in the matter of the production of the raw material or in the facilities for its manufacture. As we possess more of the raw material and have equal manufacturing facilities, it would appear that, other things being equal, the United States should lead all other nations in the value of her exported manufactures, and her failure to do so appears to indicate the existence somewhere in our commercial system or our industrial conditions of a defect which should be sought out and remedied.

Dysentery Cured Without the Aid of a Doctor.

"I am just up from a hard spell of the flux" (dysentery), says Mr. T. A. Pinner, a well known merchant of Drummond, Tenn. "I used one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and was cured without having a doctor. I consider it the best cholera medicine in the world." There is no need of employing a doctor when this remedy is used, for no doctor can prescribe a better medicine for bowel complaint in any form either for children or adults. It never fails and is pleasant to take. For sale by O. E. Vars & Son, Andover, and N. E. Coston, Greenwood.

The summer vacation of the business man is fast becoming an established institution in this country. In the large cities it is the custom of most establishments, from banks to bake shops, to allow the chief attaches one or two weeks—and in rare instances a month—of freedom from their duties, with pay. There are concerns which extend the gracious custom to all their employees, but these are comparatively few as yet. The city worker usually goes either to the seashore or the country for his vacation. When he goes into the agricultural regions and sees the farmer at work, frequently in the harvest field, he is apt to feel, and sometimes expresses sympathy, for the poor overworked tiller of the soil. Farm and Ranch says such sympathy is misplaced. It holds that the man who works "within four walls, among machines that are hot and greasy or at a desk in a restricted office and who gets only a short breathing spell in the pure air of the country each year, is he who is deserving of sympathy.

"The farmer has much hard outdoor work, but there is but little monotony about it, and his physical energy is increased and his wits quickened by the ever changing variety of his work. He has pure air and abundant physical and mental exercise. He must mingle with his stock, provide for their wants and profit by their development. He has something interesting to think of every hour of the day. He has a variety of work to do, and 'variety is the spice of life.' It makes life taste good. He learns recreation is better than rest."

There is wisdom in this view of the farmer's life, and many are the city men who in the midst of the hurly burly of commercialism long for the quiet life that brings one into daily contact with the soil; long for the smell o' the hay, the lowing of the herd and the sweet murmur of the breezes through the fields of growing grain.

With the increasing conveniences, rural postal delivery, telephone and other improvements in the farmer's surroundings he needs not the sympathy of the city toiler who gets only a few whiffs of pure country air in each year.

Pulitzer's School of Journalism.

The gift of a million dollars by Joseph Pulitzer, proprietor of the New York World, to establish a school of journalism at Columbia university is one of the notable benefactions of recent years and is to be highly commended. If journalism can be taught as the profession of law is taught, it is certainly high time that some provision for such instruction should be made. The growing importance of newspapers as social factors is reason enough for the adoption of every means that will make newspapers better. The common belief among newspaper men, however, is that the trade—few would call it a profession—can best be learned in the school of practical experience, and then only by those who have an aptitude for it.

The results of Mr. Pulitzer's experiment will be watched with keen interest, particularly by newspaper men, who, as a rule, have warmly commended it.

The recent report of the Suez Canal company for 1902 affords an opportunity to make a contrast between the work of that canal and that of the Sault Ste. Marie canal. The result is greatly to the credit of the Soo canal, which had a tonnage of 35,961,146 as compared with 11,248,413 on the Suez. The freight of the Suez was carried in 3,768 vessels, while that of the Soo, open only seven months, was carried in 22,659 vessels. The Suez canal showed a gain of 1,500,000 tons in 1902 over 1900. But the Soo canal showed a gain of 10,300,000 tons in the same time. The traffic which passes through the Soo does not, however, constitute by any means all the commerce of the great lakes, which in recent years has grown to marvelous proportions, despite the great increase in railroad facilities.

Another cure for lockjaw has been discovered at the University of Chicago. If the university's versatile professors would follow up this discovery with that of a method for causing lockjaw, to be used on certain politicians and other human phonographs, Chicago's claim to the gratitude of the nation would be undebatable.

A writer on currency improvement favors "a bank note paper yielding to the touch, yet possessing good wearing qualities." If it responds readily to the touch little remains to be hoped for in its staying qualities.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Killed on the D. L. & W. R. R.

R. P. Fiuk was struck and killed by Delaware, Lackawanna & Western passenger train No. 6 at a point near Baker's Mills, two miles west of this village, Friday. Fink had been in Kanona and started to walk down the railroad track to Bath. He was on the west bound track, and, to avoid an approching freight, stepped over on the east bound track, directly in front of the express. The engineer sounded the whistle, but was so close upon the man that no chance was given of applying the breaks. Fink was deaf and apparently heard nothing. He was struck and his body drawn under the wheels. He was decapitated, dismembered and mangled beyond recognition.

Kindly read the label on your paper and if you are not credited beyond Jan. 1st, 1904, you are hereby notified that your paper will then be discontinued unless you walk up to the Captain's office and settle before that date. LINENS.

It is rather hard on those pretty, fancy linens to call them merely decorative. But they're not the chiefly useful, work-a-day bed linens, towels and table linens, but the light and airy species, for afternoon tea tables, pincushions, finger bowls and so on.

Come to-day and ask to see them. You will be amazed to find how much linen prettiness may be bought for so little.

A FLOOD IN KANSAS.

Big Blue River Rose 16 Feet In a Few Hours.

CITY OF MARYSVILLE DELUGED.

Inmates of Houses on the Bottoms Took Refuge in Trees and on House Tops—Town of Vieits Five Feet Under Water—Bridges Washed Away at Baileyville.

Marysville, Ks., Aug. 26.—As the result of a cloudburst in this vicinity the Big Blue river rose 16 feet within a few hours and a mass of water flooded the lowlands, driving scores of people from their homes and doing heavy damage to property. One death by drowning is reported.

Marysville was deluged. In the bottoms 50 houses were almost entirely submerged, their inmates taking refuge in trees and on house tops. Seventy-five persons were rescued in boats. Telegraph and telephone wires were prostrated and severe damage was done to railroads. The river is again falling, although farms for miles around will be under water for several days. At the town of Blue Rapids the river did much damage to farm property.

A wall of water struck Vietts, a town of 1,000 people on the Vermillion river, driving the residents of the lowlands from their homes. Today Vietts is five feet under water. All the stores and perhaps twenty-five residences are inundated. The river is three miles wide.

Slight damage also was done at Marietta, close to the Nebraska line.

The same storm struck Seneca and the Nemaha river is the highest for years. Frederick trees of Baileyville was drowned near that town going down with a bridge over a swollen stream.

ZIONIST CONGRESS.

Discussion of England's Offer of an East African Settlement.

Basel, Switzerland, Aug. 26.—At the session of the Zionist congress Dr. Herzl, the president, submitted to the delegates a letter which he had received from the Russian minister of the interior, Von Plehve, apparently pledging the support of the Russian government to the Zionists in their movement to establish an independent state in Palestine.

The minister said his government was quite favorable to the original program of Zionism, which can rely on its moral and material support when its practical measures tend to decrease the Jewish population of Russia.

The discussion by the congress of Great Britain's offer of an African settlement to Jewish immigrants promises to be prolonged. The Russian delegates opposed the project, while the German, English and Italian delegates urge the appointment of a committee of investigation.

Judge Sulzberger of Philadelphia spoke in favor of the scheme. It is believed that Dr. Herzl is in favor of the British proposition and his views are likely to influence the final decision.

Johnson Wins in Committee.

Columbus, O., Aug. 26.—The preliminary meetings of the Democratic state convention resulted in favor of Mayor Johnson of Cleveland in his contest with John L. Zimmerman of Springfield for the governorship. The state central committee passed upon a number of contests affecting delegates in favor of the Johnson contestants. The Johnson men secured most of the members of the new state central committee which will call the convention next year when delegates at large to the Democratic national convention will be selected and indorsed. Zimmerman's supporters say they will carry the fight into the convention.

The Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when burns, sores, ulcers and piles threaten. Only 25c. at O. E. Vars & Son's Drug Store, Andover.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Relieve the aches of a bad back promptly—cure all Kidney and Bladder troubles.

Mr. Howard D. Jutton, of 1313 Grant street, tinsmith at Colling' shop, Oswego street, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "I became lame and sore across the loins so that I could scarcely get around. Mr. N. H. Cowles, my employer, advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, but I paid no attention. I kept growing worse, and, as tinning roof after roof is very hard on a man's back, I got so bad that I resorted to remedies. Those I tried did me no good, so I went to Mr. Cowles and asked him what he advised me to get, as I had forgotten the name. He said: 'Doan's Kidney Pills will fix you up all right, for they cured me; but you must give them a good, fair show, and take two or three boxes if it is necessary.' Well, I got them, and I felt better by the time I had used half of the first box. Three boxes cured me, and I have not been troubled since."

Doan's Kidney Pills sold at all drug stores; 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
