The death of Mrs. L. L. Cooley occurred Wednesday at 3:45 p. m. at her home on Corbin Hill, Friendship. She was eighty-two years old and death was due to her advanced age and ill health.

Friendship Girl Injured.

Last Wednesday while Miss Caroline Neugent of Friendship was driving, the horse became frightened near the Scott farm and she was thrown from the buggy. The horse ran a little distance before it was stopped. She was picked up unconscious and taken to her home where Dr. F. E. Howard and Dr. N. H. Fuller were called and found her right leg broken twice below the knee.

The Two Minute Trotter.

The two minute trotter is with us, and the seers and prophets of the harness turf can now say "I told you so." What they have foretold for years came to pass recently when C. K. G. Billings' mare Lou Dillon dethroned the mighty Crescens, trotting a mile at Readville, Mass., in the remarkable time of two minutes flat. The American driver has had his eye on the two minute horse for half a century, but she has come just as the trotter is passing. The saddle horse will survive all the changes of society. Men will always ride, but it grows clear that electric and steam traction in all its forms is destined to dethrone the draft horse. From dray horse to trotter, he is destined to disappear.

However, the trotter has lasted long enough to give the feminine half of nature its most notable physical triumph. The Derby has been won but once by a mare. On the running track the mare is at a distinct disadvantage, particularly in spring races. In autumn events the mare more often figures. The pacing record has been but once broken by a mare. The trotting record has been broken twenty-three times, and of these ten record breakers were mares. Excluding duplication, thirteen horses and seven mares have broken the record. Nowhere else in athletics, in racing or in feats of sheer endurance has a record as large been made by the feminine half or its members enjoyed so numerous a share of triumphs. The present record is by a mare, and it brings the time of a trotting mile to a point little likely to be much reduced.

It took forty-one years to take off forty-one seconds. From Boston in 1818 at 3:00 to Flora Temple in 1859 at 2:19¾. It has taken forty-four years to cut off nineteen and a quarter seconds and come to 2:00. If by 1940 1:50 is reached the trotter will do well, better than one need expect.

The Growth of Population.

A fresh bulletin issued by the census bureau makes some interesting deductions from the census figures of three years ago. It shows that our increase in population during the ten years between 1900 and 1890 was 20.7 per cent, which is a higher rate than can be claimed by any other civilized country in the world, with the one exception of Argentina. It is twice as high as the average rate in Europe. The greatest growth by groups is that credited to the Rocky mountain states; the smallest progress is charged against the northern central states, which profited less than the rest of the country from their birth rate or from immigration. It is also worth noting that in this one decade the growth of population in the southern states exceeded the growth in the northern. It is to be regretted that the census bureau, says the Brooklyn Eagle, can submit no statistics showing the relative value to the country of the various classes of immigrants that are dumped on American soil mainly by way of Ellis Island. They form a large proportion in the estimate of each year's additions to our population. We involuntarily or reluctantly take them into account when we consider the constantly increasing size of the nation. Many of them are undesirable citizens and will bequeath to us an undesirable progeny. Others, again, reach here with no better purpose than to accumulate a little money with which to return whence they came.

In the face of these people we cannot shut the door, because their uselessness to us is not to be proved at the immigration office. The acknowledged presence of them here should serve, however, to moderate the enthusiasm with which we are accustomed to regard the figures and statistics periodically presented for our consideration by the census bureau.

Milwaukee is to adopt a "municipal flag," and the Milwaukee News says the design adopted "should be characteristic and suggestive and free from all frills." Exactly. For a thoroughly typical and beautifully symbolic device what else could Milwaukee adopt than a familiar looking keg with a prominent spigot, surmounted by the word "The," and underneath the famous words, "That Made Milwaukee Famous"

A great deal of interest is being taken in the attempt of the department of agriculture to develop the manufacture of raw silk from native cocoons. Though an experiment at present, it is believed by Secretary Wilson that in time it can be made a paying industry and will furnish a means of livelihood to a great many persons who will cultivate the silkworms.

The Genuine vs. Counterfeits.

The genuine is always better than a counterfeit, but the truth of this statement is never more forcibly realized or more thoroly appreciated than when you compare the genuine DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve with the many counterfeits and worthless substitutes that are on the market. W. S. Ledbetter, of Shreveport, La., says: "After using numerous other remedies without benefit, one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured me." For blind bleeding, itching and protruding piles no remedy is equal to DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. Sold by O. E. Vars & Son, Andover, N. Y.

Week in Spelling.

The young woman was writing to a masculine friend to thank him for a tiny Maltese kitten he had sent her the day before. "I am glad to say it likes me already," she wrote, "for at this moment it is sitting on my knee, a big pink bow around its neck and its paws folded prettily under it."

"But the bow isn't pink," objected the friend who was looking over her shoulder.

"I know it isn't," responded the writer as she scribbled her name, "but I couldn't spell wonder to save my life, and what's a color to a man?"

Another young woman was endeavoring recently to tell her mother something by telephone. "I'm going to study typewriting," was all that could be understood of the communication.

"Spell it!" finally commanded the elder woman when the important word was still indistinct after much repeating.

"I don't know how," came back the answer faintly. "Send some one else to the phone." And the some one else discovered that the unspellable thing the young woman was going to study was stenography.—Baltimore News.

Buried on His Horse.

Lord Dacre, who died fighting for the Lancastrians at Towton, England, in 1461, directed that if he were killed in the battle his favorite war horse should be buried in the same grave with him. According to his wishes, when his interment took place in Sixton churchyard after the battle a tremendous grave was dug, and in it the warrior was buried, seated upright on his horse. For centuries reflections were cast upon the accuracy of this tradition, but a few years ago while excavations were being made close by the reputed burial place of Lord Dacre the pick of a digger struck into a great bone, and upon further search being made the skull of a big horse was brought to the surface. As this was found almost at the very spot under which the body of Lord Dacre was said to lie, it was accepted as confirmation of the tradition, particularly as the skull was found to be standing vertically in the soil. The skull was replaced carefully in its original position and the excavation filled up.

French Automobile Boat Race.

Paris, Sept. 2.—Twenty automobile boats out of 57 which started Sunday in the race on the Seine from Paris to the sea completed the third stage, which only included the section of the river between Elbeuf and Rouen, a distance of 15½ miles. The Mercedes and Flora retained their places of first and second respectively, the former covering the distance in 42:22.

According to the statement of United States treasury officials, the reason why the services of the women inspectors of immigrants are to be dispensed with is that they are unnecessarily severe on the women immigrants, who complain of them as being impertinent in the questions they put to them. Alas, the unkindness of womankind to their own sex!

She Needed Plates.

Superstition and the belief in the incantations of witches are not entirely dead, as the following tale will prove:

One day a gypsy stopped at a house and, pointing to a child, said, "He is sick."

"Yes, he's suffering from rheumatism," said the woman.

"Yes, and I can cure him, lady, if you will let me have six fancy plates, but you must be sure they are nice."

"Oh, anything to get him well," said the woman. "I'm willing to do anything," and she fetched a half dozen fine china plates that had been her pride.

The gypsy set them out in a row, one after the other, placed her hands on the four center ones, mumbled some words over them and said:

"Now, if you will let me take these plates away with me to destroy them your boy will be cured of rheumatism. No more aches and pains for him, lady; nothing but good health, lady. Let me take them, lady, and cure him."

And the curious part of it is the woman did give the gypsy those plates.

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.

Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

AMATEUR DETECTIVE

Badly Beaten by His Prospective Prisoner and Will Die.

LOST $200 HE HAD BORROWED.

Corresponded With a Man Who Offered to Sell $500 in Genuine Money For $200—On Attempting to Make Arrest Was Beaten and His Money Taken.

New Albany, Ind., Sept. 2.—As a result of his effort in the capacity of amateur detective to run down a bill raiser, Charles Marshall of Rego, Orange county, Ind., was so badly beaten by his prospective prisoner that he will die.

Marshall is a young countryman who shortly after joining an amateur detective association received a letter from a man in Chicago offering to sell $500 in genuine currency for $200. The letter was so worded as to give the idea that the bills were raised.

Marshall opened the correspondence and arranged to meet the man, who gave his name as Hite, in a secluded spot near New Albany.

The amateur detective borrowed $200 and when the negotiations with Hite reached the point where the money was to be exchanged, he told Hite he was under arrest. Hite knocked Marshall down with a large stone and started to batter his victim's head into a pulp.

When Marshall was found horribly beaten, several hours later the $200 he had taken to the spot was gone. Physicians at Steward's hospital declare that there is no chance for his recovery.

NEGRO TEACHER SHOT.

While on His Way Home He Was Fired Upon From a Cotton Field.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 2.—A special from New Roads, La., gives further particulars regarding the assassination of L. A. Planving, the negro educator, near Oscar, La., Sunday night by unknown persons.

Planving was principal of the Pointe Coupee Industrial college, an institution for the education of negroes. While on his way home Sunday night on the main road near False river he was fired upon from a cotton field.

The first shot struck the horse which the negro was riding and the second struck Planving in the back of the head, causing instant death.

It is asserted that Planving had been making incendiary speeches to the negroes of the community advising them not to work for or to have anything to do with white people, and it is believed that these alleged utterances had much to do with the assassination.

Booker T. Washington was to have visited this vicinity next month as the guest of Planving and deliver a series of lectures.

OLIVER REFINING COMPANY.

Thomas Oliver of Lockport and His Brother Want Receivers Withdrawn.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 2.—At a meeting of the creditors of the Oliver Refining company, which recently failed for over a quarter of a million dollars, held here a proposition was submitted by the company to pay its liabilities dollar for dollar if the receivers appointed by Judge Waddell were withdrawn and the company allowed to resume its own operations.

The proposition is that Thomas Oliver of Lockport, N. Y., and William Oliver of Lincoln, Nebraska, brothers of John Oliver, president of the company, agree to furnish $100,000 cash at once and assume all the other liabilities, giving notes at one, two and three years secured by deeds of trust on the plant here and their own personal real estate. The creditors adjourned to meet Friday in New York, when the matter will be settled.

King Edward in Vienna.

Vienna, Sept. 2.—King Edward visited the Capuchin church and its vaults in which are sarcophagi enclosing the remains of members of the Austrian royal family. Later he was entertained at a luncheon at the British embassy, at which Emperor Francis Joseph and a number of notable personages were present. A family dinner was given last evening by the Archduchess Maria Joseph, the emperor and King Edward being present.

Sam Parks Released on Bail.

New York, Sept. 2.—Recorder Goff having refused to accept bail for Sam Parks on the ground that it would be discourteous to Justice Sewell of the supreme court, who granted the certificate of reasonable doubt, Parks was taken before Justice Amend in the supreme court and released in $10,000 bail. The bond was signed by John J. Byrne, nephew of William S. Devery, former chief of police.

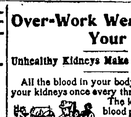
Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.



The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys. But now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

FRED D. ROCKWELL.

A Prominent Corning Business Man Dies.

Fred D. Rockwell, for many years a prominent business man of Corning, died last Thursday afternoon at his residence, No. 124 East Erie avenue, aged 54 years. Mr. Rockwell was born in Howell, Pa., and came to Corning about 30 years ago. His first business in that city was with the then firm of Soule & Ridgeway, with whom he remained about five years, and then embarked in business for himself. For about twenty years he continued in the grocery business, at first alone and afterwards in partnership with C. E. Shumway. In 1899 he purchased the wholesale candy business from E. L. Dickinson, which he carried on until a very short time ago. Failing health compelled his retirement from active business some months ago and the sale of the business later. Mr. Rockwell was a splendid citizen, a good friend and an upright, honorable man; of the highest integrity and fairness in his business dealings and hail fellow well met.

SENSATIONAL ARREST

Three Alleged Counterfeiters Taken Into Custody.

IN A GLEN NEAR HONEOYE FALLS

Counterfeit Coin and a Mill Said to Have Been Captured—Arraigned Before Commissioner Hebard at Rochester and Held in $5,000 Bail Each—Hearing on Saturday.

Rochester, Sept. 2.—A sensational arrest was made at Honeoye Falls in this county by United States Marshal Robert E. Burns of this city, Deputy Daniel Schall and a United States secret service man.

Those taken into custody were William Atkinson and wife and Millie Whitbeck, their boarder, all three accused of counterfeiting.

The home of the Atkinsons is some distance from Honeoye Falls in a secluded glen on the banks of a creek. The alleged counterfeiters were surprised by the officers who secured some of the counterfeit coin, mostly halves, quarters, nickels and dimes, and captured the mill.

They were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hebard and each held in $5,000 bail.

They are in jail and will have a hearing Saturday morning.

ANOTHER POSTPONEMENT.

Attempt to Sail the Third Race of the International Series a Failure.

New York, Sept. 2.—Yesterday's attempt to sail the third race of the series for the America's cup was a failure. There was not wind enough to make it worth while even to send the yachts across the line. A small fleet of excursion steamers, poorly patronized, and a few steam yachts convoyed the racers to Sandy Hook lightship and then hopelessly waited for a fair sailing breeze. A heavy pall of haze and mist hung over a sea with a surface like glass.

An absolute calm was varied at intervals by faint drafts of wind from the southeast and southwest. Reliance and Shamrock III with mainsails and club topsails set circled in ghostly fashion about and through the fleet.

At 10:40 the committee tug Navigator signalled that the start would be postponed until later in the day. An excursion steamer pursued Shamrock III, a band playing "The Wearing of the Green" to relieve the monotony of the long wait. C. Oliver Iselin impatiently paced the deck of the Reliance and Designer Fife was the center of a little group of sailing advisers on Shamrock III.

There was no sign either of wind or a lifting of the foggy haze when at 12:30 the Navigator secured the consent of the racing skippers to a postponement and signalled that the race was off and that another attempt to sail it would be made Wednesday. The discouraged fleet quickly started for home.

Races For Lipton Cup.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—The Chicago Yacht club will retain possession of the Sir Thomas Lipton cup for another year. In the special race between Rita and Sprite which was necessary to decide the winner, the series having ended Monday with both boats tied for first place, La Rita won by three minutes. The race was sailed over a triangular course, six miles in length.

La Rita won the cup last year and another victory will give her permanent possession of the trophy.

Another Triumph For Lou Dillon.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 2.—The Cleveland gold challenge cup race at the Inter-City matinee was won by The Monk, owned and driven by C. K. G. Billings of the Cleveland club. Although there were only three starters, four heats were necessary to decide the event, as when three heats had been trotted each contestor had won one, the other winners of heats being Dolly Dillon of Pittsburg and Warbun of Cleveland.

Aside from this race interest centered in the exhibition of Lou Dillon, the champion trotter, in an attempt to lower the trotting record to wagon of 2:04¾, held by herself. She succeeded in clipping one quarter of a second off her previous record.

Marines Sail For Philippines.

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—The army transport Thomas sailed for Manila by way of Guam. She carried 507 marines for the Philippines and Guam, 25 members of the Fourteenth cavalry and a few casuals. In addition to a large quantity of freight the Thomas takes to the islands $7,000,000 in treasure, of which $2,000,000 is in the new silver pesos and the remainder in Philippine silver certificates.

Weather Indications.

Fair and warmer Wednesday; Thursday, fair; variable winds.

ON BEING A BOSS

If You Sit on a High Place, Don't Gaze at the Clouds

From "Letters From a Self Made Merchant to His Son," by George Horace Lorimer

Consider carefully before you say a hard word to a man, but never let a chance to say a good one go by. Praise judiciously bestowed is money invested.

Never learn anything about your men except from themselves. A good manager needs no detectives, and the fellow who can't read human nature can't manage it. The phonograph records of a fellow's character are lined in his face, and a man's days tell the secrets of his nights.

Be slow to hire and quick to fire. The time to discover incompatibility of temper and curl papers is before the marriage ceremony. But when you find that you've hired the wrong man you can't get rid of him too quick. Pay him an extra month, but don't let him stay another day. A discharged clerk in the office is like a splinter in the thumb—a constant soreness.

Never threaten, because a threat is a promise to pay that it isn't always convenient to meet, but if you don't make it good it hurts your credit. Save a threat till you're ready to act, and then you won't need it. In all your dealings remember that today is your opportunity; tomorrow some other fellow's.

Keep close to your men. When a fellow's sitting on top of a mountain he's in a mighty dignified and exalted position, but if he's gazing at the clouds he's missing a heap of interesting and important doings down in the valley. Never lose your dignity, of course, but tie it up in all the red tape you can find around the office and tuck it away in the safe.

It's easy for a boss to awe his clerks, but a man who is feared to his face is hated behind his back. A competent boss can move among his men without having to draw an imaginary line between them, because they will see the real one if it exists.

Besides keeping in touch with your office men you want to feel your salesmen all the time. Send each of them a letter every day, so that they won't forget that we are making goods for which we need orders, and insist on their sending you a line every day whether they have anything to say or not. When a fellow has to write in six times a week to the house he uses up his explanations mighty fast and he's pretty apt to hustle for business to make his seventh letter interesting.

Right here I want to repeat that in keeping track of others and their faults it's very, very important that you shouldn't lose sight of your own. Authority swells up some fellows so that they can't see their corns, but a wise man tries to cure his own while remembering not to tread on his neighbor's.

ADVICE TO BOYS

Get the Primary Business Virtues Into Your Character

Boys are constantly writing me for advice about how to succeed, and when I send them my receipt they say that I am dealing out commonplace generalities. Of course I am, but that's what the receipt calls for, and if a boy will take these commonplace generalities and knead them into his job the mixture 'll be cake.

Once a fellow's got the primary business virtues cemented into his character he's safe to build on. But when a clerk crawls into the office in the morning like a sick setter pup and leaps from his stool at night with the spring of a tiger I'm a little afraid that if I sent him to take charge of a branch house he wouldn't always be around when customers were. He's the sort of a chap who would hold back the sun an hour every morning and have it gain two every afternoon if the Lord would give him the same discretionary powers that he gave Joshua. And I have noticed that he's the fellow who invariably takes a timekeeper as an insult. He's pretty numerous in business offices; in fact, if the glance of the human eye could affect a clock face in the same way that a man's country cousins affect their city welcome I should have to buy a new timepiece for the office every morning.—From "Letters From a Self Made Merchant to His Son," by George Horace Lorimer.

This would be an opportune time for the czar of Russia to make another plea for disarmament. It would be far more eloquent if it were preceded by the punishment of those who participated in the slaughter of Jews in Bessarabia and by decisive action to prevent a second massacre, which is not unexpected.

It is the boast of the town of Bourne, Mass., that every girl of suitable age there is engaged to be married. This may be welcome news to such young men as have hitherto been unable to decide where to spend their summer vacations.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

NO PAY, NO PAPER AFTER JANUARY 1, 1904.

The "News" Adopts the Cash in Advance System, Believing it Better for both Publishers and Readers.

The ANDOVER NEWS is to-day the only paper in Allegany county printing eight six-column pages all at home, that does not charge more than $1.00 per year subscription. It is a close thing to issue such a sheet at that price and make both ends meet. The price of print paper has doubled within the past four years. The only way the NEWS can possibly maintain the present $1.00 rate is to carry no deadheads. Believing it unjust that a good subscriber be taxed to help pay for his deadbeat neighbor's paper, we have determined to adopt the "No pay, no paper" policy January 1st, 1904, and live rigidly up to it after that date. Kindly read the label on your paper and if you are not credited beyond Jan. 1st, 1904, you are hereby notified that your paper will then be discontinued unless you walk up to the Captain's office and settle before that date. After Jan. 1st, 1904, all subscription accounts then due us will be placed in an attorney's hands for collection.
