The Flood. We have again been flooded. That the damage was not greater is almost a miracle. These conditions are such that these things are to be expected, and yet a little energy and persistency in the right direction would help matters much. Much of the water that backs up on the east portion of the village is the result of the narrow channel left thru the culvert. Why not get after the railroad company and compel them to widen the channel? Then the dam that holds the water in the ice pond might be strengthened and made so that these annual rams would not deluge the whole village. The lower part of the villa e, with its new factories and dwellings, will need to be looked after, and an ounce of preventive is worth a pound of cure.

The Irrepressible Turk. There are lively times ahead for the "Sick Man" of Europe. Russia forces her demands at the mouth of the cannon. An attempt has been made to assassinate the American Vice Consul at Beirut, Syria, and President Theodore Roosevelt, with characteristic promptness, has ordered the European squadron to proceed to the vicinity of Beirut to enforce the demand for the punishment of the guilty parties. Of course the particulars are not at hand, but it is evident the seething fires of unrest and revolution will cause a war, and perhaps such as never was known. However, one thing the powers can do is to stop the murdering of the poor innocents in the name of religion. How long will the Turk be permitted to defy the whole world?

What He Thinks. Hon. Frederick Cook, Ex-Secretary of State under a Democratic administration, as reported in the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, gives some reasons why he is opposed to the $101,000,000 barge canal. He says: "I am against it because it will cost this city a large sum of money, and be an enormous burden to the state in comparison to the good that would accrue." When asked what he would suggest as a solution to the canal question, he said: "The general government should build an adequate ship canal, and maintain it for the benefit of commerce generally. Why should we pay all this great sum to transport the produce of the Great West to the sea? If the general government constructs a ship canal, the state of New York will pay its full share. That is fair, but it is not right to make this state meet all the cost of transporting grain to the seaboard." These are words from one of the prominent German-Americans of the Empire state, a keen business man, with large interests, and his familiarity with civic affairs should lend weight to his opinion. Outside of the cities to be benefited along the canal there is a growing sentiment against the measure.

"Don't hitch your wagon to a star," but if you put your wares before the people by advertising, you will hitch a wagon to a horse and deliver the goods.

Evidently new business methods will awaken new ideas and the old slow way of doing things will pass away.

THE JEW.

The Russian persecution of the Jews and the outrages on the Armenians and Bulgarians have caused the thinking world to look again at the Jew and his future. If the world persists in its persecution of the Jew he will eventually and surely rule the world. Persecution, as in other cases, instead of crushing the Hebrew race, has raised it. In the early days of Christian propaganda its votaries suffered cruel and bloody persecution, and yet in 300 years that religion was enthroned triumphant in the Roman government. The blood of the martyrs became the seed of the church. You cannot kill a great cause or a great people by opposition. Two thousand or more years of persecution has not destroyed the racial vigor of the Jew. The autonomy of the race is one of the marvels of history. He has been subjected to prescription and injustice, but thru it all has cultivated endurance and tenacity. Discipline has made him strong. Race after race has lost its identity, been merged into other types, but the Jew lives on magnificent in his individuality; scattered, but the Jew in every instance is a potent remnant. Every river becomes his Jordan, every mountain top his Zion, every city his Jerusalem. The resources of the world are more and more coming into his hand. More and more are the forces of civilization controlled by him, and surely, perhaps slowly, will he gather the agencies that mould the world's public sentiment. Foolish persecutors. If the world will keep up its racial hatred and remorseless persecution long enough the Jew will be master of the world.

The Races. At this writing the Reliance has won two races and would have won the third had the wind held good. Thus proving her ability to (in all probability) hold the cup. The races were as much a demonstration of Yankee seamanship as of Yankee shipbuilding. Undoubtedly Sir Thomas Lipton had in Shamrock III a yacht with sailing ability equal to that of Reliance. The British sailors, however, were outwitted or outsailed on every point. Perhaps no better seamanship or sailors' tactics were ever shown in a yacht race than when on Thursday last Capt. Barr of the Reliance succeeded in jockeying the Shamrock out of a minutes time, and blanketed her so that both got the handicap gun. One result of the races will be to attract attention to the uselessness of the yachts after the races, and a hope that new conditions will be made, that boats will be built that are not mere racing machines. The great cost is another feature. However it seems that the better boat won, and the cup will probably stay in America.

* * *

Industries as an Educator. The commercial benefit to Andover in the coming of the new industries has caused many to lose sight of one important factor in their coming. They will serve as an educator. One to walk down to the silk mill, especially the boy or young man who has never had the advantages of a liberal education, will see much to instruct. The marble electric switchboard with its switches and ampere meters, its lights arranged to tell when current is on, the looms and other machines, each with their separate motor and its almost human mechanism, becomes at once a lesson in practical mechanics. The enameling plant we are sure will furnish equally as much for an object lesson and instruction. Thus right at home many will have larger and clearer views of life and its problems, and gather much to benefit in the way of instruction.

"They say," that is, some say that now the school building is not going to be large enough. How strange and inconsistent some folks are.

Buckien's Arnica Salve.

Has world-wide fame for marvelous cures. It surpasses any other salve, lotion, ointment or balm for cuts, corns, burns, boils, sores, felons, ulcers, tetter, salt rheum, fever sores, chapped hands, skin eruptions; infallible for piles. Cure guaranteed. Only 25 cts. at O. E. Vars & Son's, Druggists.

A Gentleman. It's strange what queer notions some folks have of what makes a gentleman. When Tweed of Tammany fame signed the prison register he gave his occupation as "Statesman." Adams, the policy king, gave his for the same purpose as a "Gentleman." Perhaps some day we may learn in the truly scientific way what a gentleman really is. We are rather inclined to the old fashioned notion of what he is not. He is not dishonest or discourteous. He is not unkind, and altho he may have the wealth of a world and be able to purchase the fawning attention of some and be able to have his hirelings say "My Lord, a Gentleman," lacking in the qualities above some folks would think he lacked the essentials of a gentleman. Blattant, boisterous speeches are usually followed by ungentlemanly conduct. A gentleman is a "gentle man."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

King Edward and Ireland.

In past generations the Irish people have had scant reason for welcoming with any degree of cordiality the British kings to their island, and royal visits have been few and far between. The visit of King Edward is therefore an event of prime interest and significance, and the cordiality with which he was received indicates a kindlier feeling among the Irish people toward the British sovereign. According to the Dublin correspondent of the London Times, "the royal progress from Kingstown to Phœnix park was accompanied by such enthusiasm as has not been witnessed anywhere in this generation. Warm hearted Irish men and women flocked the streets to accord welcome with hand and voice, and, whether or not they loved the king and queen before, they assuredly love them now."

If all this is true it certainly shows a remarkable change in Irish sentiment. Doubtless something in the direction of this rapprochement was accomplished in the spring of 1900, when Queen Victoria visited Dublin and spent four weeks at the vice regal lodge, which was taken primarily as a royal recognition of the distinguished service of Irish soldiers in the South African war.

The cordiality with which King Edward is now received is in large measure due to the apparent desire of the English government to ameliorate the condition of the Irish people through the operations of the pending land bill, and it is significant that on the very day the king was received in Dublin the measure which promises peace and prosperity for Ireland was passed to the third reading in the British parliament by an almost unanimous vote. The bill has the hearty approval of the crown as a step toward more cordial relations between the British government and the Irish, and the visit of King Edward at this particular time may be taken as a tacit expression on his part of his interest in Ireland and his hopes of better feeling.

It is sincerely to be hoped that the favorable action of parliament on the land bill, coincident with the visit of the king, may mark the coming of better and happier days for Ireland, whose woes have been many and long endured.

The case of Joyes vs. Padden, in the matter of settling the waterway between their properties, was heard before Referee G. M. Orcutt of Hornellsville Wednesday. Attys. Jesse S. Phillips and C. L. Earley appearing for the defendant and Serbern & Cheeny of Corning for the plaintiff.

Counting the Ties.

One feature of Friday's storm was the witnessing of Andover's genial supervisor counting the railroad ties from Scio to Wellsville. Some are ungenerous enough to accuse him of walking from Oramel to Wellsville.

Convalescent.

Rev. S. D. Pickett has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be able to walk out again. His physicians give him the encouragement that within a few weeks he will again be able to resume his pastoral duties.

Appointed Claim Agent.

Floyd G. Green, Esq., a well known young attorney formerly of Hornellsville, has been appointed claim agent of the Allegheny and Bradford divisions of the Erie, vice O. J. Grover, transferred to the New York division. Mr. Green will make headquarters in Hornellsville.

Worth $40,000 to Win.

It came out after the unfinished race Monday that Lipton's faith in the ability of the Shamrock III to win from the Reliance, was not on strength of reasons wholly sentimental for he was ready to pay forty thousand dollars to Captain "Bob" Wringer if the challenger should win three out of five races. This is the reward he promised his captain.

Cost More For Roads Than the Property Is Worth.

A Belmont correspondent says: "It has cost the town of Amity more during the past ten years to keep the roads and bridges in repair on the creek than all the property on the road between Crabtree farm and Withey is worth, both ends included."

PLEASE LOOK PLEASANT.

With the Other Blessings, Andover People Pay Small Taxes.—Read the Facts.

Again Andover tax payers have occasion to pat themselves on the back and be glad they live in Andover. It has just been ascertained that the tax rate for the town of Andover the coming fall is among the lowest in Allegany county, if indeed, it is not the lowest. The storms of last year made the matter of taxes a burden to nearly all Allegany towns. Andover was not so seriously used, because so near the headwaters. The recent storm damaged the town of Andover very little, while other towns in the county, still groaning under the burdens caused by last summer's flood, are again hit hard. Take the town of Scio. They were obliged to bond the town for $80,000 for new bridges, and $10,000 will scarcely cover the amount of damage done that town by last Friday's storm.

MOVING THE ENGINE AND DYNAMO.

A Hard Proposition Met by the Men in Charge of the New Silk Mill.

Saturday was an unusual prolific day for uncommon occurrences. After looking over the damage done by the most many citizens put in the remainder of the day watching the progress of workmen moving the 9 ton gas engine and dynamo from the station to the silk mill.

The heavy rains of the preceding days and nights had soaked full all soil that water could possibly penetrate and the moving of such a heavy machine over a newly laid out street and soft roads was well nigh impossible. The feat was accomplished however, so far as the creek, when it was found expedient to unload the machine and roll it the rest of the way. It took six horses and an army of men to stir its great heft in many places.

A SUCCESSFUL MUSICAL.

Held at the Home of the Music Teacher, Miss Minnie Clair.

A musical treat was enjoyed by a large number of the friends and patrons of Miss Minnie Clair last Tuesday evening at her residence on Greenwood street. The musical was given by the pupils who showed remarkable proficiency, the result of thoro and painstaking instruction. The touch, expression and technique of the pupils was all that could be expected for the time they had been under their tutor. Those who participated in the program were, Grace Paine, Inez Whitford, Fannie Burdick, J. Wallace Harrington, Ethel Jones, Georgie Burdick, Lizzie Kaple, Marguerite Burdick, Helen Cory, Mertie Brewster, Carolotta Corwin, Ina Hann and Mae Baker. Miss Clair closed the program and after a time of social chat the company dispersed with pleasant memories of a musical feast.

The pupils left as a mark of appreciation and esteem of their teacher a gift of half a dozen silver orange spoons.

Gives Preference to Sons of Regular Employees.

A new order of the Erie railroad is to the effect that applications from the sons of regular employees will be given preferment hereafter in the matter of situations. It is believed that sons of practical railroad men will have better understanding of railroading and its methods of promotion, and that they will feel a greater personal interest in the affairs of the company.

Paine Accepted Devoe's Offer.

Good yarn: How Devoe got an agent at Delhi, N. Y.

Gladstone & Paine were agents for ——; we mustn't tell names. Devoe wanted 'em. Paine was painting his big Colonial house. Said it took 10 gallons of white for the trim. Devoe sent him 10 gallons and said: if you get it all on, no pay; if you have any left, return it and pay for the rest. Agreed.

He returned four gallons and took the agency. Four or five years ago. He knows now that his old paint was and is adulterated: that's why it took ten gallons to equal six of Devoe.

Go by the name; there is but one name to go by: Devoe lead-and-zinc.

UNIFYING THIS STATE'S EDUCATIONAL SYSYEM.

Following Taken from Thursday's Buffalo Express.

Jesse S. Phillips, who represents Allegany county in the Assembly, was in Buffalo last night. Mr. Phillips has served three terms in the Assembly and has been renominated by the Republicans for a fourth. Mr. Phillips said that the special joint committee of the Legislature to consider the matter of unifying the state's education systems would meet shortly. Mr. Phillips is a member of the committee. Altho appointed some months ago, the committee has not held any meeting yet. As soon as the warm weather is over and all the members can be got together, it expects to take up the matter and go over it exhaustively.

The educational unification question is one of the bugbears of the Legislature. It has come up for several consecutive years. Bills are introduced to abolish the regents and bills are introduced to abolish the state department of public instruction. There is much wrangling before committees and nothing results. It is hoped at the next session of the Legislature to have the matter presented early enough to dispose of it for once and all. The scenes between Bishop Doane, representing the regents, and the Honorable D. E. Ainsworth, representing the department of public instruction, before the Assembly ways and means committee last spring formed one of the features of the session. The question always causes much hard feeling.
