To Our Soldier Boys –

(Reprinted from the files of the Andover News of March 29, 1918)

SOMETIMES we wonder, we who are left at home, whether or not our boys realize the void that their departure has left in our community, and more than that, the aching voids in the home? And then we go on to wonder if we, ourselves, appreciate, not what we have lost, but what you have bravely surrendered for our sakes?

And from these thots the mind projects itself into the future and we think forward to what you go to meet the ominous force that is menacing humanity—that force that would make you and us mere chattels and pawns on its chess boards. We see that force, arrogant in its strength, insolent in its might and defiant of right and justice. We see it riding down opposition with a ruthless stride and brushing aside human rights as it would straws that impeded its progress. And we wonder how, when the great test comes, you—our joy and our pride—will meet it.

But that does not progress as far as a doubt, for following fast upon it comes thoughts of you as we know you heart to heart. We know you to be boys without fear, standing unafraid before God and man; men of clean lines and clear conscience, whose deep seated consciousness of the justness and righteousness of our cause will nerve your arms to the fiber of steel. We know you for men who would prefer death to dishonor, and in whom the yellow is notably absent. And our hearts are at rest. We can proceed with the less weighty duties that devolve upon us, secure in the knowledge that the honor of our homes and country is safe in your hands.

But we cannot but wonder, boys, if you fully sense the great, the noble thing that you are doing? Do you realize that you are making history—and history such as has never before been written? That is the task you have set yourselves. You have gone to meet a crisis in world history before which all previous crisis pale to meager proportions. You are actors in the great drama of the human race, and on your actions hangs the destiny of a world. We would not seek to awe you by citing the tremendousness of the task before you, but rather to set before you the golden reward that shall call forth in you all of manhood that has come down to you from a line of ancestors who have never known either defeat or dishonor.

These are not mere sentimental musings, dear boys, but they are the truths that impress themselves upon all our minds as we view the mighty problems that the world must solve, and in the solving of which you will represent your people, your honors, your country and your God.

And when your task is completed and you return to us in the triumph of a righteous victory, we trust to have sufficient appreciation to give you that welcome that you will so rightly merit. We hope to be able to show you that we are not ungrateful for your service and your sacrifice.

And at this point we pause to wonder what will be our feelings if we shall fail in the tasks that confronts us and without the faithful performance of which your work will be doubly difficult. And the desire is born that a united prayer shall go up from your hearts that we be given grace to perform our part of the great work.

Colored Eggs For Easter

MY NEIGHBOR thinks we're foolish to color Easter eggs this year. "It's no time for nonsense like that," she says, "with the world at war and the future so uncertain."

"But the trees will soon be green again," I reminded her. "The hyacinth is already in bloom, and there are violets in the upper meadow."

"I know," she said. "Nature goes on as if nothing unusual were happening. But we know that's not so. We read the papers and listen to the radio. Dozens of boys from this very town are in the Army or Navy. Rationing has begun, and goodness knows what will happen before this year is over!"

"Isn't that all the more reason to see that our children have a happy Easter this Spring—with colored eggs and new clothes and special services at the church?"

"No," my neighbor said, shaking her head very firmly. "Easter is supposed to be a day of joy and hope and new beginnings—a day in which to be thankful because winter is over and summer has begun."

I agreed with her. But, as I see it, this year IS a time of new beginnings. In the midst of all this destruction it seems to me there is a sense of hope that wasn't there last year. A year ago at this time we lived under the shadow of a great uncertainty. We were concerned with the war and were trying to help the nations who were fighting for the thing we believed in. But we weren't in it. We were trying to keep on with business as usual and life as usual. Now we're in the war up to our ears. We know that nothing can go on "as usual" until it is won. And even if it does mean "blood, sweat and tears," we feel certain of the outcome.

A year ago this country was seriously divided. Some people thought we should be in the war. Others thought we should do everything in our power to stay out, and altho we were training an army, our industrial system was not yet dedicated entirely to war production. Today all that is different. We know it will take more equipment than we dreamed would be necessary to defeat the enemy, who is efficient and well equipped. We have suffered serious, humiliating defeats. But our industry is really on the march—as factories making everything from automobiles to textiles are converted to wartime production.

Right now, $40 billion worth of war material is the production goal set for 1942. A big increase over the $15 billion worth produced in 1941! This increase means a speed-up in plant conversion and in employee training beyond anything the world has ever seen, but industry is doing it—in spite of delays and misunderstandings. And every day the picture is changed, as labor and management adjust themselves to the need of the day.

So, I see reason for hope this Easter season—reason for thankfulness—and a reason for having colored eggs as usual!—Exchange.

One preacher thinks that if the Bible were prohibited, more people would read it. They might, at that.

Why not make up your mind to do something every day to improve yourself? It will pay handsome dividends.

Regardless of what we think of the social theories of the Bolshevics, the Red army is doing the world a great service.

Accidents on the highways are just as fatal as enemy bullets if you happen to be a victim, but why worry about being killed on the highway?

The people of Andover are the only ones that will ever take enough interest in it to make it really beautiful. Citizens who don't care how their own premises look, don't care how the town looks.

Laws and commandments, in the opinion of some, were made to guide the other fellow always.

A Week of the War

President Roosevelt announced creation of a Pacific War Council which will sit in Washington, representing Australia, New Zealand, The Netherlands, Canada, China, Britain and the United States. Mr. Roosevelt said "It is imperative that all of the United Nations now actively engaged in the Pacific conflict consider together matters of policy relating to our joint war effort." He said the Council "will be in intimate contact with a similar body in London."

Production and Conversion

The President authorized the War and Navy Departments and the Maritime Commission to guarantee or make direct loans to small businesses seeking to engage in war production. Any Federal Reserve Bank may serve as agent for the departments concerned. Loans, discounts, advances and commitments may be arranged with private banks. The War Production Board reported organization of a Bureau of Finance with 35 representatives located in WPB field offices to help contractors and subcontractors in solving financial problems arising in connection with war orders.

The Federal Reserve Board said steel production was at 98 per cent of capacity in the third week of March. War Production Chairman Nelson said more than 100 war plants have already organized management-labor Production Drives. The President approved a plan by Attorney General Biddle to defer Federal antitrust action which would "interfere" with the output of guns, tanks, planes and ships.

Rationing

The OPA said county clerks throughout the country now have 180 million sugar rationing books which will be transferred to schools for registration of commercial sugar users April 28 and 29, and of individual consumers May 4 thru May 7. The office released for rationing beginning April 13 more than 100,000 new typewriters now in the hands of distributors, wholesalers and dealers.

April quotas for tires provides 102,000 new tires and 470,000 recapped tires for essential passenger cars and motorcycles, 275,000 new tires and 250,000 recapped for trucks, and a limited number of recapped tires for war workers, taxicabs, farmers, salesmen and Government agencies. The OPA released for rationing several classes of higher priced cars and those ordered by State and local agencies during 1941. The Office of Defense Transportation will ration ambulances, hearses and station wagons.

Civilian Defense

The President signed a bill providing Federal insurance for homes, factories and farms damaged by enemy action. Civilian Defense Director Landis said establishment of first-aid supply centers which duplicate equipment already existing in the OCD Emergency Medical Service threatens to cause a serious shortage of medical essentials.

Army Progress

All U. S. Army air stations, except those at certain strategic points on the West coast, will hold open house on Army Day, April 6, Air Force Commander Arnold said. Late model fighter planes and bombers will be placed on exhibit, and air force activities will be explained to visitors. Congress completed action on legislation which will enable approximately 20,000 Americans in Canadian and British forces to regain their citizenship and be transferred to the U. S. Army.

The House passed and sent to the Senate an $18 billion War Appropriation Bill including $7 billion for 31,000 airplanes and their equipment. War Secretary Stimson said the Army plans to induct 175,000 Negro selectees this year. He said plastic fuzes will replace the standard aluminum fuzes for trench mortars, thus freeing tons of aluminum and many machine tools for other production. Army Surgeon General Magee listed many physical defects no longer considered a barrier for limited service for officers of the Army supply arms and services.

The War Front

The Army and Navy announced the Navy has been given full command over all anti-submarine activities on both coasts, and Army air units have been allocated to the Naval Commanders of Sea Frontiers. The President awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor to Gen. MacArthur for conspicuous leadership against the Japanese in the Philippines. President Quezon and members of the Philippine Government War Cabinet joined Gen. MacArthur in Australia where they will continue to carry on Government functions.

Prices

Maximum prices for gasoline and fuel oil in 17 Eastern States and the District of Columbia were set by the OPA. To stimulate production of Pennsylvania crude oils, the Office authorized an increase of 25 cents a barrel for all grades. OPA asked retail meat markets not to raise pork products prices above mid-March levels. From April 1 to May 30 "standard" newsprint prices will be frozen at the current rate of $50 a ton, and a permanent price order will be issued before May 30. The OPA set retail price ceilings for new typewriters at March 5 levels, and for radio receiving sets, phonographs, domestic washing and ironing machines, domestic heating and cooking stoves at March 19 levels.

Priorities and Allocations

The WPB ordered manufacture of electric toasters, flatirons and other electrical appliances to cease after May 31, preparatory to converting the $60 million industry to war production. The Board ordered production of straight and safety razors and blades held to the 1940 total of 2,400 million, about 600 million less than last year's output. The Board also prohibited manufacture of metal household furniture after May 31, curtailed manufacture of floor lamps and portable electric lamps, froze manufacturers' stocks of unit heaters and ventilators, and restricted tea deliveries and sales at 50 per cent of amounts delivered and sold in 1941. It also placed pig iron under a complete allocation system and curtailed use of iron and steel in metal office supplies.

The President signed the Second War Powers Bill which provides criminal penalties for priority violations and extends the President's property seizure powers. To conserve critical materials, the WPB prohibited destruction of certain used rubber products and ordered simplification of plumbing fixtures.

Agriculture

Agriculture Secretary Wickard said farmers are making shifts in operations this year which ordinarily would require several years, but with normal weather conditions wartime goals for several commodities probably will be exceeded. To increase 1942 production of packed canned tomatoes and peas for military use, the War Department told canners it will pay higher prices for the pack of those agreeing to guarantee fixed minimum prices to the grower. The Agriculture Department said it will continue to support market prices for designated types of 1941 crop dry edible beans.

Aliens and Disloyal Citizens

Attorney General Biddle reported the Justice Department will start proceedings in 30 or 40 cases, and later in "hundreds more," to denaturalize disloyal foreign-born residents, particularly members of the German-American Bund. The War Relocation Authority said the first large-scale relocation of persons of alien and citizen Japanese residents from West Coast military areas will be established on the Colorado River Indian Reservation, Parker, Ariz.
