FRANK L. GERE,
Treasurer of Allegany County

County Firemen Working Out Mutual Aid Program

Details of a mutual aid plan, now being worked out by the Allegany County Volunteer Firemen's Association and covering all villages and rural communities having organized fire protection will soon be placed in printed form for all local fire fighters.

The plan is to provide in advance for any contingency which may arise—and time has proven that situations have arisen in which one community must ask aid from others, as witness the big Wellsville refinery fire of a few years ago. It also plans out what can be done if the war should reach this county and incendiary or other bombs be dropped on buildings within its bounds.

The plans being worked out follow the visit of chiefs of three village fire departments to Albany in January for a conference with heads of the State Office of Civilian Defense. These county leaders are Dr. J. G. Marvin of Fillmore, head of the county committee; Fritz Graves of Wellsville and Frank Royce of Cuba. Many meetings have been held and the matter approached from many angles.

A chart has been prepared covering the entire county, in which is listed the equipment available in every one of its communities—the number of trucks, the number of feet of hose of various sizes, hook and ladder trucks, etc., everything available for use, along with the name and phone number of the proper officer to be called if help is needed outside.

Departments having more than one truck will be called upon first to give help, and if one community had to spare all of its apparatus at one time, a nearby truck might be called there to give temporary fire protection, etc.

Some time ago the Andover department, with the help of Street Commissioner Boyd, re-threaded all the hose, hydrants and trucks so that they are now of National standard thread, thereby making it possible to hook up with nearly every truck in the county in case of an emergency.

Firemen Take "Exams" At Belmont Today

The members of the Andover fire department and others who have been taking the course of instruction in fire fighting, bombs and war gases at Belmont for the past ten weeks will take the State Regents examination for the course at Belmont this (Thursday) evening.

Owing to the differences in time that the various members are leaving, the school bus will not be used so each will drive or ride with some one else who is also taking the examination.

Undergoes Operation

Mrs. Earl Howland underwent an operation at the St. James Mercy hospital, Hornell Tuesday morning.

Oil Advances to $3.00 Per Barrel

An advance of 25 cents per barrel in the price of Pennsylvania crude oil made local oil producers happy last week, when the market was officially announced at $3 per barrel.

The raise came about as OPA lifted the $2.75 ceiling on Pennsylvania grade crude in the Allegany-Bradford district. The ceiling was ordered last fall by Leon Henderson, administrator.

Gratified producers welcomed the raise and turned to the job of boosting production in the four-state Penn Grade area to a daily average of 85,000 barrels in order to gain another 25 cents per barrel which OPA will approve when production has reached this average over a three months period.

The daily average for the past eleven weeks has been 76,963 barrels, and an extensive drilling program is being launched in order to reach the new goal.

SEEDS!

Many articles in the newspapers during recent weeks have been advising of the shortage of Garden Seeds for the Spring Planting. Our usual supply of seeds were ordered last July and we have just received the shipment. We are pleased to state that we received every pound of each kind of Seed that we ordered and are now ready to supply your needs in the same manner as we have in former years.

The newspapers also advise persons to beware of door-to-door seed salesmen, as their seeds may be of inferior quality. We therefore urge you to look for the quality and the germination on the package of any seeds before you buy!

We also have our usual supply of TIMOTHY and CLOVER SEEDS on hand at prices under today's prices.

PLACE YOUR ORDER FOR ALL SEED EARLY!

Father Dies Unexpectedly At Friendship

Andover friends sympathize this week with Gail Reynolds in the loss of his father, Grant C. Reynolds of Friendship, who died unexpectedly Thursday afternoon, March 26 from a heart attack while at work pressing hay on the farm of Chas. Reed.

Grant Califax Reynolds was born at Friendship Aug. 6, 1868, a son of Joseph and Margaret Witter Reynolds, and had resided on the Reynolds homestead all his life until three years ago when he moved to Friendship village.

December 22, 1897, he was united in marriage with Lettie Mae Robbins, who passed from life August 16, 1938.

Surviving are three children, Mrs. Reba Martin, Bloomfield, N. Y., Mrs. W. Ray Buell, East Aurora, N. Y., and Geil Reynolds of Andover.

He was a member of the First Baptist church of Friendship.

Services were held at the home Saturday afternoon at 2:30, the Rev. Martz Snyder officiating with interment in Mt. Hope cemetery.

WANDERING WITH WILLIE

"OUR only friend" Corp. "Cabe" arose from the dead this week to bombard us in another endeavor to shut us up, but no dice. We have now gotten so used to Cabe giving us his unbiased and unsolicited opinion that our nerves are now like whipcord and the missles coming in our direction from his vitroil-dipped pen just bunce—yes Cabey, we are now what is termed "hardened" to any feelings whatsoever.

But not having heard from you so long we did have a little idea that your Uncle Samuel was running low on food after you ate out Camp Stewart and forcing them to move you to Camp Edwards that by now the grub in the Edwards section was running low and they had been finally forced to send you to Australia where the birds (those little ostriches) grew a drum-stick large enough to give you a decent bite.

We are glad however, that you are still able to write and have decided to forgive us for past efforts to give the public a general idea of your capacities.—Willie.

The letter follows (bless him):

Camp Edwards, Mass.
3-29-42.

Dear Willie:

After several weeks debating whether I should write you or not, I decided I would and here I am.

Willie, after all those unkind things you told about me some time ago, I don't know what to think of you. You very nearly stabbed me in the back, so therefore I think you are in the same class as a Jap. At present they are about as popular as a flock of hens in a seed-bed, so you see where that puts you. When I saw what you wrote about me I was as mad as a cat is when he finds the ground frozen, and that's what I call getting mad.

But time heals all wounds so I decided to forgive you. I realize that in your case when the Lord dealt out the brains there was a mis-deal. It's too bad your head is not made of glass—it would certainly come in handy as a vacuum bottle.

For the past month or so I haven't seen a thing in the paper about you. Are you just plain lazy or did you swear off brow-beating people during Lent?

I suppose you are anxious to know what is going on in the Army here, and how I'm helping win the war, so I'll try to enlighten you a bit.

I've come to the conclusion that if Congress ever gives me a medal it will be for sitting down. Yep, Willie, that's the truth and here's why:

I get up in the morning and sit down to eat. When the barracks is cleaned I set down until 8 a. m.

From then 'till 9:30 we drill and have exercises commonly called Butts Manual. From 9:30 till 11:30 I sit in a classroom trying to soak up some mathematics for gunnery problems. Again I sit down for dinner and on my bunk till 1.

Then comes bayonet practice for an hour. That's a sticker used to chop fire wood, open bean cans and Japs with. From 2 to 4:30 p. m., I sit in another class on fire control or map reading. Then comes supper the same position.

After supper I sit on the bunk and write or else go to a show and you can't see them laying down.

This ought to give you an idea how I'm winning the war, Willie, and I'll bet the back of my lap will be doggone glad when I'm dead so it will get a rest.

I hope this finds you in good health with nothing less than leprosy.

Your only friend—F.E.C.

P.S.—Don't make a pig of yourself eating hams on Easter.
