The Way to Settle It. The recent victories for arbitration augers well for the settlement of future labor troubles. The victory in the great strike of the coal miners last winter and recently the workers in tin in South Wales struck for an advance in wages and some 27,000 workers were locked out for weeks. When the employers found the men could not be conquered by forced idleness, they turned to arbitration. Of course mutual concessions were made on both sides, but the dispute was soon settled. Employers all over the world are learning that arbitration will quickly settle strike issues and evidence is accumulating to show that it is better to settle the difficulties before both sides pass the point of reason and large losses are incurred.

More Politics. Evidently the Fusion party of New York city are going to be wise in their actions and present a solid front for good government against Tammany. It looked for a time as tho Mr. Low would have to sail thru the disturbed waters of internal disruptions in his party. However, sensibly, the independent Democrats and all the different political factions have withdrawn their objections and Mr. Low will have the united support of all lovers of good government. Edward M. Grout, a Democratic city comptroller, believes Mr. Low's administration has been successful and he will be renominated for comptroller. District Attorney Jerome is out with a letter against the present mayor, but good politicians think it will only solidify the Low followers. If Tammany wins this year she will have to make a strong fight.

The President's Friend. The newspapers have been telling the people that one man is a guest of the President in many of his journeys and has been called the President's chum, Jacob Riis, and many are asking who is Jacob Riis? He is not a politician, not an office holder. He is the best living example to day of what a man may become He came from Denmark. Soon he became penniless, walked the streets days and sought the shelter of police stations nights, finally got a chance at newspaper work, became police reporter, out of his experiences wrote "How the other half lives," became interested in municipal reform, attracted the attention of Roosevelt, then police commissioner, who sought him out at his office and the intimacy has continued ever since. President Roosevelt has spoken of Riis as the strenuous citizen. He has refused repeated offers of offices made by Roosevelt.

It will not make much difference which side of Main street you walk on now, both sides have walks of which a city might be proud.

When the merchants keep the lights burning in the shop windows then Main street will be bright at all hours.

"Bill Deverey" was defeated in "debate" last week and the strange thing is that he cries fraud.

THEY ACTED WISELY AND WELL.

The Board of Education acted with their usual care and foresight when they employed as their attorney Hon. Jesse S. Phillips to prepare the papers and advise in questions, incidental to the work of building and preparing the bonds for raising the money voted to pay therefor. The following extracts, taken from letters on file with the Secretary of the Board of Education and without Mr. Phillips' consent, speak for themselves, one from the attorney general's office, the other from the comptroller's deputy.

Albany, Aug. 12, 1903.

My Dear Mr. Phillips:

The papers in the matter of the proposed issue of $11,400 of bonds of Union Free School District, No. 1, of the town of Andover, . . . I have carefully gone thru this morning and have given the comptroller a favorable report on them. In no previous case that has come before me have I been able to approve the papers upon their first submission. It was, therefore, with a feeling of relief and pleasure that I encountered my first set of papers to which there can be raised absolutely no objection. . . . I beg to express to you . . . the hope that the influence of your good example in careful and painstaking attention to details in the preparation of legal papers may spread among others of your profession.

Very truly yours,
GEO. F. SLOCUM,
Deputy Attorney General.

Albany, Aug. 13, 1903.

Dear Mr. Phillips:

. . . There is no prescribed form in which the bonds must be drawn, but, inasmuch as you have done so well with the preliminary work, he (the comptroller) suggests that you prepare and submit a proposed form of bond for approval. . . . Allow me to congratulate you on the care with which your papers are prepared. The deputy attorney general has spoken with me concerning them and I know these are the only papers, which as originally presented have been in form sufficient for approval during my term of office.

Very truly yours,
OTTO KELSEY,
Deputy Comptroller.

These are words of high praise, coming as they do from an office under the control of Democratic appointees of a Democratic attorney general, and while Mr. Phillips is to be congratulated on the words of commendation, it is evidently the reward of close work and ability. The Board also are to be commended in having so able an attorney, thus saving the annoying and perplexing delays incident to papers imperfectly drawn and perhaps large expense and trouble to the taxpayers of the district. The writer can recall instances where bonds, imperfect in form, raised technical questions which resulted in large additional payments of interest and ultimately in the issue of new bonds or legislative action, thus incurring increased expense. However, thru the judgment of the Board in employing able counsel, no question of that nature is ever likely to arise. Thus Andover scores another point thru the judgment and ability of her citizens.

Disregard of Law. Some writers attribute the spirit of lawlessness and crime, of which lynching is an example, to the lack of force of present day Christianity. The fact is that the student of conditions finds that the exact opposite is true. Christianity only as shown in its broadest sense could voice such language as that recently uttered by President Roosevelt and Governor Durbin of Indiana. One of the most glaring evils in our civilization is disregard for law. Large corporations are too often using the corrupting political influences of bribery to shield themselves from legal responsibilities. To hang lynchers will not stop lynching. A new order of administrative practice is needed. A respect for law must begin in the home with the child and be carried thru the whole range of our social and political order. It was the stern, just, loving parents of puritanical days that made the old fashioned law respecting communities.

* * *

When the Christian nations get moving, some practical gun shot Christianity may save the lives of Christian Armenians and Bulgarians.

* * *

The superintendent of the silk mill, Mr. Chovet, is a practical silk man of 28 years experience and when things move, they will move right.

Take It Out of Politics. The Times of London in a conspicuous editorial has some very pertinent and sensible suggestions concerning the gross scandals connected with the postoffice department. It suggests that the tale of corruption reveals the facts that the civil service is made a part of the political machine, and the man appointed knows he is in office only because of services rendered his party and concludes that it may be difficult to punish individual cases of dishonesty. The Times has a right to criticise. Our general post office receives one hundred and sixteen millions of dollars and expends about four millions more. Always a deficit of four millions. Perhaps when the general postoffice is entirely divorced from politics the increase will pay all the running expenses. However, under the present administration the people are satisfied that the search light of investigation will be turned in all the dark corners, revealing whom it may.

Dowie's forces commence their attack on New York city's wicked people in October. Wonder what the drug stores and saloons will do then?

* * *

Now is the time to hear about corn crop failures. Like the peach crop it fails annually, but somehow there are always peaches and corn to.

* * *

Bryan, Hearst and now Carrie Nation have unlimited forces in denunciation of President Roosevelt. Queer combination isn't it?

* * *

Have you heard the whistle yet? Be patient. The silk mill people are doing all in their power to expediate matters.

* * *

The horses in Andover seem to catch the spirit of hustle. They actually trot on Main street.

Keep Talking Up. The spirit of the times as far as Andover is concerned is optimistic. Everybody is helping talk the town up. A walk thru the streets where improved sidewalks have been laid people remark, "How nice," and this is especially true of Main street. The people see the town is growing and a fine spirit of being ready is evident in the business men, who are laying cement walks, not because it's necessary, but for improvement's sake. That's the spirit that will make every word count, and the men on the streets and in the homes have a good word for Andover. We are forgetting it can't be done in the true spirit of optimism that is in the air and now believe all things are possible. It's that spirit that helps in morals, religion, and society. The cheerful talking up spirit is helping our village. There is a more hopeful outlook and hopeful spirit and it can be kept going by talking it up.

England's Politics. England seems to be enjoying (?) the sensation of a turmoil in Mr. Balfour's cabinet. Mr. Chamberlain seems to be a lover of sensations and endeavored to create a sensation by resigning from the cabinet, but his leaving was not nearly as sensational as his departure from the Gladstone cabinet. England's political moves are little understood in this country. However, Mr. Balfour and Mr Chamberlain believe there should be closer union between the colonies and mother country, a preferential tariff for the colonies and retaliatory tariff for other countries as a part of the new fiscal scheme. As to the method and expediency of the same comes the difference of opinion, and why Mr. Balfour should undertake to dictate to Mr. Chamberlain his duty is not yet clear, yet the indications are that a retaliatory tariff may be adopted by England.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

DEATH OF LYDIA A. WEST.

The Passing of an Aged Lady, Mother of Mrs. S. D. Pickett.

Mrs. Lydia Ann West died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. D. Pickett, Tuesday, Sept. 22, aged 86 years. She was the widow of Rev. A. T. West, who died eleven years ago, since which time she has made her home with the family of her daughter, Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Pickett.

Mrs. West had been a sufferer from ill health constantly since coming to Andover, and therefore was not much known to many Andover people, but she was a lady of activity and ability, and come from a family of Methodist ministers; her husband, father and uncle being clergymen.

Funeral services were conducted at the M. E. parsonage Wednesday afternoon, the pastors of the various Andover churches assisting, and remarks by Rev. H. D. Bacon. The body was taken to Livonia for interment.

The Republican Caucus.

The republican electors of the town of Andover meet at Prest's Opera House to-morrow evening to nominate town officers. No great amount of strife is being shown, and no factions or other disturbing elements have come to sight. It will simply be a case of renominating the gentlemen now in office, which will be but a just recognition of the efficient work performed by them.

The Event of the Week.

What the News man has seen and heard the most of in Andover this week, is the children swarming around his desk, about four deep to every line of copy written, with this expression "Will you please sign my paper?" The boys' and girls' Black Cat contest is on at A. M. Burrows' department store this week, and judging from the number of youngsters employed in it, it must be all kinds of a success.

A Large Order.

Probably the largest order ever given for paint in the State of North Carolina, was received by the Odell Hardware Co., of Greensboro, N. C., from W A. Irwin, Esq., of Durham.

The order was for 5,000 gallons of Devoe lead-and-zinc paint, to be used on the large Irwin Mills and their cottages now being built in Hartnett County.

Many of the leading paint manufacturers were eager to secure this order, and it speaks volumes that the preference was given to Devoe lead-and-zinc, which is undoubtedly the foremost paint in this country to-day.—Greensboro (N. C.) Record.

BLACK CAT BRAND
CHICAGO-ROCKFORD HOSIERY CO.
KENOSHA, WIS.

BLACK CAT HOSIERY.

Black Cat Hosiery is the most widely known brand on earth. Thousands of children all over the United States have been calling the attention of people to this fact during this week. Black Cat Stockings wear better, wear longer, require less mending, never change color and are more comfortable than any other kinds, because they are knit TO WEAR---of the TOUGHEST THREAD that goes into a stocking. Extra splicing at heels, toes and knees makes good wear doubly sure. They are knit to FIT. No lumps or knots or skimpy toes, or "tight across the instep." ELASTICITY, STRENGTH and a dye that's LASTING and IMPROVES with WASHING. Black Cat stockings make less mending for mothers, more comfort for children. They cost no more than ordinary kinds. You'll get full value for your money if you insist on having Black Cat stockings.

New Fall Dress Goods.

The very newest weaves and colors in Fall and Winter Suitings are now all here. The line includes Granites, Herringbone Granites, Zibelines, Mixed Suitings, Cheviots, Crepes, Voiles, etc.

BLACK GOODS.

DUTCHESS TROUSERS.

"Ten cents for a button, one dollar for a rip." That's the kind of guarantee that goes with Dutchess Trousers. They are not only WELL MADE but the word "Dutchess" is a positive guarantee of CORRECTNESS IN STYLE. We have received this week the new ones for Fall and Winter wear. There's a nice variety of patterns. Come in and look them over.
