Heroism. In every paper one picks up some display head will at tract attention to a deed of heroism performed by some person. The record is read and the world applauds and yet there is recorded every day somewhere, the record of heroism in the world of morals that attracts no attention, is unheralded and unknown men and women fighting battles, winning victories that are immeasurably nobler than the physical feats of heroism Then have a kind word for the fellow that is trying, and there are scores of them. A little sunshine, a word of cheer may make a hero of a man in the terrible conflict of life. It takes a hero to stand against custom and smile when things look black. However, there are many such, and, after all, it's true heroim.

More Cardinals. It was thought at the time that Pius X. was elected Pope of the Roman church that the influence of the American Cardinal had much to do with his elevation to that office. Now that Cardinal Gibbons has returned to America he seems to be confident that one possibly two American Cardinals will be added to the Sacred College at the next Consistory. The ten millions of Catholics in the United States are certainly entitled to a fair representation in the body of authority in the church. Their numbers alone are not the factor that merits them recognition, but no people on the face of the earth are more loyal and generous in their support of the church than the American Catholics. There are men, the equal in intelligence and loyalty to the church in America, as can be found in any country where the Catholic church has her following.

The fact that you can walk now on the street without soiling your shoes ought to increase the sale of shoe blacking. Shiny shoes are an evidence of cleanliness.

The new school building will reflect great credit to the judgment of the Board and be the pride of every citizen in the district.

Too bad, isn't it, that there is not some way to get rid of that narrow walk on the east side of Main street? Two cannot pass without one going into the ditch

THE NEGRO.

The Chautauqua discussion of the Negro, brought about by the recent lynchings, the proposition by a Southern Congressman to present a bill for the repeal of the fifteenth amendment has awakened a new interest and been the cause of a wide study of the Negro question. The sober and considerate utterance of a man, who certainly, because of his large experience in religious, political, and business affairs, is qualified to speak, deserves special and careful consideration. Ex-Governor William J. Northen of Georgia delivered the utterance referred to. He said, "I will trust them in every relation far more confidently than I would the mongrel population of self announced socialists, anarchists, and outlaws, who do the menial service in other sections." In closing he gave his personal experience with the Negro. "For all these years I have had occasion to watch closely the relation between the races in Georgia, and I say to you most positively, that there has not been a time since the war when we were more in harmony than we are to-day."

The words are reassuring because of the source of their utterance, and will do great good, in both North and South. Not only the Negroes will cause difficulties, there are other difficulties because of other unassimilated people in our nation, but these perplexities cannot be removed by fretting them away, neither does it help in their solution to let men who are blinded by prejudice or hereditary opinions discuss them. The marvel of it is that the Negro has made the improvement that he has forty years passed and he is commanding the respect of the world because of self reliance and ability. When Israel was brought out of bondage and thrown on their own resources it took them, with all the power of Divine and hereditary advantages, over forty years to become a people of power. Booker T. Washington is meeting the problem intelligently and humanely. The Negro cannot be deported or exterminated. The question of his stay and what to do with him should be met fairly and squarely. Let him have a chance as wide as human power can give and opportunity to prove his manhood. The fact is in a little time we will get over our childishness. The old men of the South with their deep dyed prejudices will have passed off the scene of action. Only fair play, education in trade and arts will lift the Negro out of his ignorance, rudeness and clanishness. Both the whites and blacks will be better by this working together and our national life will be bettered as well.

King Edward. England's king is surprising the heads of the old political parties of the empire by his active participation in the re adjustment of the troubles caused by the disruption thru resignations in his cabinet. The leaders have learned that Edward is no figurehead and he has taken hold of the work with the tact of a veteran. This (while it is novel) means that England is to be governed by her king rather than by a set of politicians in favor with the court. King Edward's long experience in the managing of public affairs, thrust upon him by his mother, Queen Victoria, in the later years of her reign, came where it can be used. and shows the wisdom of the late queen. The early years of the life of the Prince of Wales were not very promising. However he has shown as king his knowledge of affairs and statesmanship, which is undoubtedly more to his credit than a weakling in character who would allow the government to be centralized and the power and authority passing into the hands of the cabinet. Perhaps he sees the danger of the people demanding wider liberty and the choice of ruler. His whole purpose, seemingly, has been to magnify the crown and authority of the king. Evidently King Edward is to be the ruler in fact as well as name.

The future of Andover is assured if rents are not put too high and village lots are kept in reasonable prices. Again, don't drive good people away by exorbitant prices.

One of the crusades that might be inaugurated is a crusade against the spitter on the sidewalk.

BIG H HARMONY.

That harmony with a big H has perched itself on the standard of the Republican banner of the town of Andover was very evident at the town caucus held in Prest's Opera House last Saturday evening. The appointees for the nominations, or, as in most cases, re-nomination, are men well known, and are particularly qualified for the several position for which they have been named. They have administered the affairs of the town entrusted to them with fidelity and in the intetest of their constituents, and are men seemingly with diplomatic power enough not to have enemies. It is well that so tranquil and successful caucus could be held and with honor to whom honor is due. The credit of very much of the Republican unity belongs to Arthur B. Burrows and his lieutenants. It goes without question that the following will be elected to their several offices: Supervisor, Henry Stephens; Town Clerk, L. A. Burrows; Collector, Thos. H. Comstock; Assessors, J. C. Green, Orange Smith, Frank W. Potter; Overseer of the Poor, Geo. W. Wescott; Commissioner of Highways, Elijah B. Rollins; Justices of the Peace, E. R. Carpenter and J. W. Richardson.

We haven't heard the whistle yet, but we expect to in the near future.

The silk mill certainly has an air of business about it these days and it will not be long before the girls will be weaving.

The burglary at Cannon's store last Monday night is another argument in favor of a night police. Sooner or later it will have to be had.

Only two days to close out the balance of my stock. Hats 10, 25 and 50 cents, some better ones, corsets silkateen, embroidery silks, a few yarns, come and buy at your own price.

MRS. S. J. MOURHESS.

Another Reason Why. Those who have followed the history of state canals have often read the story of political jobbery, and the recent effort to increase the burdens and expend $101,000,000 for a barge canal is a good scheme to kill. The Albany Journel quotes Governor Tilden as saying in respect to the misuse of funds, intended for canal improvements, "The interest which fattens on abuses of public expenditures is intelligent, energetic and persistent. Acting as a unit, it takes part thru its members in the organization and the doings of both political parties; seeks to control nominations; rewards friends and punishes enemies; and it begins to operate by every form of seductive and coercive influence upon public officers as soon as they are elected. The vast mass of taxpayers are occupied in daily industries, on their farms and in their workshop, and cannot easily, and do not, in fact, make a business of politics. Useless works in the specious garb of improvements are undertaken, because of the indifference of the public officers, the inertness of the taxpayers, the indefatigable efforts of an influence seeking a benefit for its locality, which costs it an insignificant share of the burden imposed on the people; or the eager activity of the class who seek profit in contracts for construction, without reference to the utility of the work." The fact is evident that the canal proposition for many reasons should meet defeat and the more the taxpayers study the objections the more It will appear to be an unwise expenditure of money to vote for the $101,000,000 proposition.

More light. Now it's a pretty good advertisement for a merchant to have well lighted display windows, and it, wouldn't cost much to keep the lights burning.

The Andover Stamping Works will be a success if the careful looking after little things will do it. Supt. Rundell is certainly seeing that no useless expenditures are made.

LECTURE TO THE GOOD TEMPLARS.

"Lights and Shadows" Was the Title of an Illustrated Lecture by Rev. Mr. Harrington Monday night.

The Rev. Chas. H. Harrington delivered an interesting and forceful lecture in the I. O. G. T. hall last Monday evening on Lights and Shadows. It was illustrated with fine stereoptican views and aroused considerable enthusiasm as he took his hearers from Plymouth Rock to the present day pointing out the Lights and Shadows of civilization. It is hoped Mr. Harrington will consent to deliver the lecture many times. It is worthy of a hearing by the thousands.

The I. O. G. T is growing and much interest is manifest in the meetings.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution, and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

We have all known men who waste a dollar's worth of time trying to save five cents.

Those who keep posted on foot ball say many changes are made in the game this season.

The village of Andover is fortunate in obtaining so many new walks, and good ones too, this year. Wellsville has a damage judgment to settle because of injuries sustained by one of her ladies that will amount to enough to pay all the rebates granted by Andover Village Trustees this year.

Deserving a Crowded House.

The proceeds of the Operatic Concert Company next week Saturday evening will go to the manager of the company, C. W. Pickette, to reimburse him for time spent in preparing and organizing the company. And over people should see to it that a crowded house listens to this entertainment, as Mr. Pickette has done much for music loving Andover, and here is an opportunity to show appreciation.

The meeting was voted a decided success and the members take hold of the work with a zest.

Broke His Leg.

Richard Lunds, while skidding logs to the mill below town from the Corwin lot, Tuesday, broke his right leg between the knee and ankle, a log which he was skidding rolling on him. He was taken to the Osborn hame near by and Dr. Witter of Wellsville summoned, who reduced the fracture. He is at this writing quite easy. Mr. Lunds' home is near Stone Dam.

While in Chicago recently, Mrs. C. W. Rogers called on Philip T. O'Connor, a former Andover boy, who wished to be remembered to all Andover people. Mr. O'Connor sent the Andover High School a flag some time ago, and begs the privilege of sending another to float over our new school building.

As Bad As the Thief.

The thief that broke into Cannon's store the other night is no worse, in our eyes, than a person who will go and purchase the same articles on credit when he knows that he will never pay for them.
