VACATION FOR VICTORY!

Just because you usually lie around during the summer months, drink lemonade and read the latest novel, there is no reason to continue the habit this summer.

America is putting forth a united effort this year to conquer the Axis. No war, however small, can be won with novels, hammocks and frosty glasses of lemonade. If you have some extra space, why not plant a Victory Garden? A little excess energy, the kind you usually spend grumbling because the hammock is too uncomfortable, could be put to excellent use in making an ideal Victory Garden.

Next winter the long hoped for shelves of canned goods will be a realty. There's really nothing like canned vegetables as far as vitamins are concerned. Even spinach tastes good when it's canned.

You can always buy War Stamps with the money you earn at odd jobs. It's really surprising how soon the stamps mount to $18.75—and that's enough to buy a Bond! That may sound like a lot of money, but that goal is soon reached if you buy stamps regularly.

So, don't follow your habit of being useless this summer. Make good use of your time. JB

How It Feels To Take the Back Row

Yes, there we were, the Class of 1942, occupying the two back rows in a section reserved for the Seniors.

How proud we felt! This was to be our last assembly together. We seemed to dominate the entire audience, the freshmen, sophomores and the juniors. We were confident and wholly optimistic.

The senior awards were presented. Each recipient walked proudly, head high and self-assured, to obtain his certificate of honor.

And finally, when the school song was sung, we arose and were followed in that by the lower classmen. Queer little thrills seemed to pierce our backs, our eyes became misty. Why? We knew that this was our last rendezvous. Yet we were happy, yes, too happy.

The band played a stirring march. And while the audience arose, we, the Senior Class of 1942, stepped briskly out, saying "good bye" to dear old A. C. S., our schoolmates and teachers! PEL

With Needle and Spoon . . .

For the past two weeks the Homemaking A Class and the 9th grade have been studying textiles, including their names, fibers, yarns and weaves.

The seventh and eighth grades have been making chocolate drop cookies and fruit salad.

Home Ec. VI girls have been studying the care of household equipment, which includes the care of flatirons, shades, silverware, windows, electric cleaners, gas stoves, linoleum, the shampooing of rugs and the waxing of furniture.

The homemaking classes helped prepare the food for the Junior-Senior picnic held last week at Cuba Lake.

The 7th and 8th grades have been making some more paper mache puppets and bowls.

On the bulletin board there are examples of French, plain lap and flat seams.

Copies of sugar saving recipes may be obtained by the public at the Homemaking Dept. PEP

Pomona Grange Meeting Held In A. C. S.

A Pomona Grange meeting was held Friday afternoon in the ACS auditorium. Rev. Frank Karr from Canaseraga was the guest speaker.

His talk was preceded by two chorales by the ACS band. The ACS sextet, consisting of Elaine Pope, Marilyn Hardy, Anna Hardy, Catherine Perry, Marion Stevens and Anne McDonough rendered two selections, "A Lullaby" and "To You." Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson gave a vocal duet. The entire group also participated in singing.

A dedication was given to all Grange members who had died during the year.

There were 47 Grange members and it is felt that all enjoyed the memorial service. JB

Barometer Falls Rapidly

A very rapid fall of the barometer from the demonstration shelf to the floor was witnessed last Tuesday afternoon during general science class.

The reason for this behavior is unknown, but it was believed that the good behavior of the Freshman class during the period affected the air pressure.

With the aid of three boys the mercury was salvaged from the remains of the barometer.

The barometer, however, can be repaired. CMH

Sophomore Dramatists Present First Play

Surprising lramatic ability was displayed to a junior-senior high assembly audience last Friday morning, June 5, when five members of the Sophomore class presented their first bit of drama in a one-act play entitled "Elmer Cleans Up."

The play was one of humorous inclinations with good character portrayals.

The cast included: John Redfield, John Potter; Clara Redfield, Norma Crowner; Elmer Redfield, Warren Dolan; Mary, Doris Sick; Nancy, Mary K. Cannon.

The play was directed by Anne McDonough and Paul Kilbane, under the supervision of Miss Pauline Anderson.

As a result of this play, it is obvious that the plays to come will be successful in the development of the abilities of these would-be dramatists. ALH

County Welfare Committee Elects Officers

Some 45 persons representing nearly all the towns of Allegany county met Wednesday evening, June 3rd at the Kinney House in Cuba for the annual dinner and election of officers of the Allegany County Public Welfare Committee of the State Charities Aid Association.

The following persons were elected by unanimous vote:

Mrs. M. E. Kenyon, Alfred, chairman; Knight Thornton, Wellsville, vice chairman; Miss Dorothea Snyder, Andover, secretary.

The executive committee follows: Dr. Dorothy Grey, Belfast; Andrew F. Haynes, Fillmore; Rae Rowan, Wellsville, Leland Kriedler, Canaseraga; M. Carey Drake, Friendship and F. L. Gere, Cuba.

Annual reports covering work of the Children's Committee, the Central Index Committee and the Unemployment Committee were presented, showing an active year and the importance of the groups functioning in the various localities.

The speaker, Nicholas Rezak, now regional representative of the Office of Civilian Defense, needed no introduction, as he has for the past two years been the Allegany county representative of the State Charities Aid Association. Mr. Rezak brought the war situation and the job of each citizen who is interested in public welfare close to his listeners in his presentation of the subject, "Allegany County and the War."

Alden E. Bevier, Area Director of the State Department of Social Welfare and Miss Helen V. O. Kerr, acting director of the Public Welfare Committees Department of the State Charities Aid Association were also out of county guests who contributed to the discussion. Judge Ward Hopkins, M. Carey Drake of the County Office of Civilian Defense and Dr. I. G. Howe, county commissioner of Public Welfare, were called on for informal discussion of the local phases of the war effort. Dr. Howe congratulated the committee on its work to date and expressed his belief that the group will find many new and necessary services to perform in the trying months ahead.

Women's Army Auxiliary Corps Organizes

Mrs. Hobby

Mrs. Rogers

THE WOMEN'S ARMY AUXILIARY CORPS, authorized by an Act of Congress sponsored by Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, will open an Officers' Training School at Fort Des Moines, Iowa. Mrs. William P. Hobby, Director of the Corps, announces that candidates will be trained mainly in leadership, administration and military procedure. Candidates will remain at Fort Des Moines for eight weeks of intensive training and will be paid $50 a month during that period.

The procedure of application and selection is as follows: Officer candidates must be citizens of the United States, between the ages of 21 and 45. They may be married or single. They must have had at least a high school education, be in good health, and of excellent character. In order to secure a representative group of women from the entire United States, recruiting is to be on a regional or Corps Area basis. No applications sent to Washington can be given consideration.

Applications must be obtained, in person, from the local recruiting station and when properly filled out, must be returned, in person or by mail, to the appropriate main recruiting station. The women whose applications are satisfactory will then be notified as to the time and place of examinations. The applications of those who pass these preliminary tests will be sent on to the proper Corps Area, where they will be examined and sifted by a Recruiting Officer and two women assistants.

Each one of the nine Corps Areas will recommend at least sixty candidates for final consideration. In addition to the recommendations made by the Corps Area, Officer Candidates will be recruited from among the volunteers who have served with the Aircraft Warning Service. The War Department will make the final selection of the approximately 450 candidates.

THE PURPOSES OF THE CORPS, the first of its kind in American military history, is to enlist women volunteers for military service with the Army to replace, and release for combat service enlisted men who are now performing certain non-combatant duties.

The Corps, while not a component part of the Army, is the only women's organization, except the Army Nurse Corps, authorized by law to serve with the Armed Forces.

Units of the Corps may be called upon to serve in Zones of Operations, as well as in the Continental United States, but only in non-combat duties.

Ultimately, the Corps will take over the major part of the Aircraft Warning Service, numerous Army administrative duties and whatever suitable tasks its members can fulfill. It will be under military discipline, with uniforms and insignia, living quarters, food, and medical and dental treatment provided by the Government, and will draw Army pay.

Under the terms of the bill, the Corps may be expanded to a total of 150,000 women, if and when necessary. General enrollment will not begin until after an Officer and Non-Commissioned Officer cadre has been trained, a matter of approximately 3 months. Formation of this Officer cadre will begin at once.

Louisa's Letter

You are always writing about girls who can't stay away from their parents but keep leaving their husbands and running back to Mamma because they get home sick. Well, suppose you tell us something about the mothers who can't let their daughters alone.

My mother and I were very companionable before I was married and she hated it very much when my husband and I moved to another town to live. But it didn't stop there, for scarcely a week passes that mother doesn't come down to spend several days. She leaves father home, as he has to stick to his job, and my two sisters who are old enough to be having dates, while she visits with me.

Now my husband is getting to the point where he is not as glad to see mother as he used to be. We are invited to young people's parties but if mother happens to be on one of her visits, we have to stay at home with her. I don't know exactly what to do. As far as I am concerned, I love mother and would enjoy her coming if it were not for the fact that I know how father and my husband both feel about it.

Answer

You are evidently your mother's favorite child and she enjoys being with you so much that she forgets how selfishly she is acting.

In the first place, if she has two young daughters and a husband her place is at home where she can look after the management and comfort of her home and family. If she can arrange to run down to see you for a day that will be very nice or if she pays you a visit every now and then it will be all right. But for your mother to spend half of her time with you is ridiculous.

She evidently doesn't realize that she is not only neglecting her own home, but paving the way for trouble in yours. A man always likes to come first in his home and if he has to play second fiddle to his mother-in-law for half of each week it follows, as the night the day, that his fondness for her will gradually dwindle and in time actually turn into dislike.

So someone had better let your mother realize what she is doing. Perhaps you could talk to your father and he could say something to her about it.

However, if she keeps on staying with you so much, I think it will be unfair to your husband to keep on refusing invitations whereby you would get to know people better and probably help him in his business as well as social life. So simply tell mother that you hate to leave her but you have already accepted an invitation and feel that you should go. If she is afraid to stay in the house alone, hire someone, if necessary, to stay with her until you return from the party,

Yours,
LOUISA.
