Good Citizenship. Now that election is over one of the lessons plainly evident to all thinking minds who have been meditating, is the spasm of interest manifested about and around election and the relapse into inertia after election. Good citizenship means much more than a vote cast. When objections are made to purify or make plain the fact of corruption (if such exists) the good citizenship will not only have a conscientious streak a week or two thru the year, he will work at his object 365 days in private and in public. A Republican will continue his work in preparation for the caucus and at the caucus see to it that his ideas of good citizenship are given pre eminence. Political parties are made a blessing by good citizens working for principle, preparing the soil and at the caucus planting the seed. Election day is the harvest.

* * *

Hallowe'en Hoodlumism. It is strange in this age of enlightment how strong we are, yet bound by the silly superstitions of the past. Hallowe'en night was born in superstition. The pranks and mischief that was done was supposed to have been performed by witches. No one believes in witches in these days, and why the fact of so strange and weird a belief should be a license for the silly pranks and sometimes malicious and even devilish carrying on of disarranged minds is past comprehension. After all some things can be endured. The young people regard it as an opportunity to give vent to feeling. That is well, but to injure or destroy property is maliciousness and the officers of the law should see to it that such proceedings are prohibited. The fact is evident, when a village has reached the size and growth of Andover, an officer on the street night and day is often the preventitive of much disorder and sometimes crime.

* * *

A Resume of Business. There are always a number of pessimistic calamity howlers who expect prosperous business conditions to collapse and cry out the words of warning. Many men have cried down brakes on business and yet the fact unwarrants any fear of a change in the immediate future. The failures and perhaps despondent tones along some lines indicate an abnormal inflation of these lines of business. While the situation may not be wholly satisfactory the increased activity in industrial circles is reassuring. Dunn's Review, after a careful inquiry into the situation thruout the United States, says:

"While there is evidence of a setback in the steel industry, and some hesitation in textiles at the East, the general tenor of these reports is encouraging for a continuance of prosperity particularly in the sections where agriculture is the chief occupation. Collections are causing some uneasiness, and financial conditions are unsettled. The monetary storm shifted to St. Louis, and it was found necessary to transfer large sums from this city. Chicago and New Orleans also made demands, and the sub-treasury facilities were utilized so freely that total shipments of currency from New York were suddenly brought up to the average for recent years, despite frequent assertions that the interior could take care of itself this season. Rates for money advanced, but foreign exchange declined, and securities exhibited a firm undertone, resisting influence that would have caused severe liquidation at any previous time this season."

So there is no occasion for a withholding of proposed investments along old lines and conservative futures.

THE ELECTION.

Now that election is over a retrospective glance over the battle field may prove of interest. It was expected that the county ticket would have its usual majority. The strife was made on the town ticket over the offices of Supervisor and Highway Commissioner. Elements of strength was developed in unexpected places for some of the candidates and failure on the part of some voters to thoroly understand perhaps was the cause of much uncertainty. One thing is evident, plainly so, that an exponent of Republican principles thru the medium of a weekly newspaper has its place in the town and undoubtedly was an important factor in moulding public sentiment. However the townspeople are to be congratulated on the fact that the men on both tickets were worthy and qualified for the places, making it a difficult matter for choice and the voters were confronted with the fact that it must resolve itself into a vote for party principle. However, the victory in so far as the town is concerned, was an endorsement of Republican principles rather than an endorsement of persons. The vote on the propositions was a surprise for 149 voters gave no expression as to their convictions. This is the deplorable part of the aftermath for the right of franchise is too valuable not to have been used and the failure to give expression may be because of the new way of voting, indeed, some forgot that the propositions were in another line. The voting by machine was a decided success and proved to be a speedy and correct way of recording the votes. The long delays of waiting for returns and the subsequent anxieties are done away with under the new system. Some may regard the results as significant of the election or the voting of 1904, but the results are no key. The facts are that new questions or elements may arise to be important factors in the next presidential election, and if the predominant party wish to secure the election it will need persistent and emphatic work along all lines from now until election. The campaign of education should begin at once and be carried on systematically and thoroly.

The barge canal bill at this writing seems to have been carried and will prove probably an important factor in more lines than one on the political future of the parties of the Empire state.

Congratulations to Ye Politicians. Perhaps not in many years has so lively a fight been on in the time of town meeting or more properly speaking in town election, and the men running for office and the workers are certainly to be congratulated in the gentlemanly way in which the campaign has been conducted. Now of course there have been charges and counter charges, but the campaign has been free from slanderous mud slinging, and while some of the methods might be criticised, yet the workers are not too blame. If some of the rank and file did not demand it (and do they not debase themselves in demanding it?) questionable methods would not be pursued. If a franchise is purchasable, who can blame the worker? Rather the person who places such a right on the market to the highest bidder should receive the condemnation. But notwithstanding the struggle and strenuous efforts, the campaign has been a comparatively clean one and the workers are to be congratulated and the writer knows whereof he speaks.

* * *

"Elijah" Dowie has probably met his "Waterloo" in New York city and "Zion City" has probably seen the first of the dissolution of its cherished plans and if so what a lot of foolish dupes will be scattered over the country. However, one is reminded of the words in Holy Writ, "If the work is of God let it alone, if of men it will come to naught."

* * *

If politics have been any hotter in New York city the last few weeks than they have been in Andover, it is a hot place.

* * *

Once again. Keep the prices of board and house rent within reasonable bounds and Andover will have her share of new residents.

Exit—the fall election. Enter—the presidential campaign of 1904.

* * *

Do not forget that a little more light on Main street would be an evidence of our village growth.

* * *

Even the most skeptical can see that the village is growing by looking across from the railroad station.

* * *

The new whistle on the silk mill can hardly be distinguished from the dinner bell of one of the hotels.

* * *

Now that election is over, the holidays will soon be at hand and the wise merchant will begin to advertise for holiday trade.

* * *

The number of men that have been employed on the new building of the Andover Stamping works, has and will be a benefit to the business of Andover.

* * *

By the way. If you have not written a protest to your congressman protesting against the seating of a Polygamist Mormon Congressman do so and thus speak for your home purity, your wife and your children.

* * *

Andover has every reason to be proud of the present faculty of the Andover High School. With the new school building completed they will have an equipment and faculty equal to any village its size in the state.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dread-d disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HIGH SCHOOL TIPS.

SCHOOL NEWS AS TOLD BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.

After a weeks vacation all departments in the High School commenced work with renewed vigor Monday morning. The beautiful Indian summer days are great temptations to the hookily inclined boys and girls, however, the attendance average is up to standard, and teacher and pupil are co-operating, one with the other, to make this school year the most successful of any in the history of the school.

Phi Chapter of Theta Phi fraternity held its regular meeting in the school building Monday night. A synopsis of the Grand Lodge delegate's report was given and a new line of work laid out for the term of 1903-04. Phi Chapter is one of the most important auxiliaries in the High School, and the young men are putting forth a straightforward, earnest endeavor to make Phi a model chapter in the fraternity.

The two High school societies, Kappa Zeta and Theta Phi, held a joint meeting at Presto's Opera House Saturday night. Light refreshments were served and a short program rendered, after which a social time was engaged in by nearly all present. The occasion was heartily enjoyed by all.

The next regular meeting of Theta Phi will be held in the school building on Tuesday, Nov 10. A feature of the program will be a mock trial. Below the program is given in full.

INTERESTING LECTURE.

Mr. Harrington is developing unusual strength and gaining a wide reputation as a lecturer on popular subjects.
