SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

ABRAHAM'S INTERCESSORY PRAYER.

International Sunday School Lesson for August 9, 1942.

Golden Text: "The supplication of a righteous man availeth much." James 5: 16.

Lesson Text: Genesis 18: 23-33.

Sitting in the door of his tent under the oakes of Mamre, near the city of Hebron, Abraham saw three strangers approaching. In true Oriental custom he ran out to meet them, bowing before them and beseeching them not to pass on until they had refreshed themselves by resting and partaking of food. When they consented, Abraham received them hospitably, had water brought for their feet and had a sumptuous feast prepared for them, them.

In appreciation of this hospitality, Abraham is informed by his guests that Sarah, his wife should bear him a son. Overhearing the remark while in the tent, Sarah, knowing that both she and Abraham were beyond the age when they could expect children, laughed within herself. Here the divine character of the visitors is first revealed, when one of the men asked Abraham, "Wherefore did Sarah laugh?" It is most probable that Abraham himself, did not know that she had laughed. However, the promise was kept and Sarah did conceive in her old age.

When his guests were ready to depart, Abraham escorted them perhaps to the village of Beni Navim, three miles east of Hebron, where, through gaps in the hills the Dead Sea could be seen, and, in the distance before them lay the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, within a half mile of each other.

Until this time, Abraham had not learned of the purpose of the visit of his divine guests. In verses 17-19, God is spoken of as talking to himself about the wisdom of taking Abraham into his confidence and informing him that these two cities, Sodom and Gomorrah, were to be destroyed. Deciding that it was necessary for Abraham, who was to be the father of a great and mighty nation through which all the nations of the earth were to be blessed, to understand God's dealings with his people, God told Abraham that because of their wickedness, Sodom and Gomorrah were to be destroyed.

While they were talking, two of the men departed and went on toward Sodom. Jehovah remained, to talk further with Abraham, who was distressed at learning the fate which was to befall the inhabitants of the doomed cities. Knowing the mercy of God and having full confidence in his reasonableness and justice, Abraham begins to plead that the righteous be not destroyed with the wicked. He begs God to save Sodom if fifty righteous ones are found in the city. God agrees. Encouraged by this promise of God, Abraham boldly makes one request after another, that the city be spared for the sake of forty-five righteous men, then for the sake of forty, thirty, of twenty, of ten. Jehovah promises that he will not destroy the city for the ten's sake, and then departs from Abraham. The presumption is that there were not even ten righteous men in the city of Sodom, for, if there had been, the city would have been spared.

Through these pleas of Abraham two things are clearly shown. First, the nature of God — He is a God of mercy as well as of justice. He would rather pardon than punish, but if punishment is needed, He punishes severely. Second, the value and effectiveness of intercessory prayer — God is "a prayer-hearing and a prayer-answering God. "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. James 5:-16.

Continuing on to Sodom, the two visitors spent the night with Lot, Abraham's nephew. The inhabitants of Sodom tried to seize and mis-treat them and, as a result, were stricken with sudden blindness. The wickedness of the city having been thus proved, Lot was warned to gather his family together and flee to escape the impending destruction. Only Lot, his wife and their two young daughters were permitted to escape. Lot's wife, disobeying the instructions of the angels not to look back on the scene of destruction, perished.

The historical fact of the destruction of these two cities has been proven in recent excavations, plainly they were destroyed by some great conflagration, for everywhere ashes were found. Articles made of pottery, weapons and jewelry worn by women in the time of Abraham have been found on the sites of these ancient cities.

Why did Abraham intercede for Sodom and Gomorrah? He knew their wickedness and knew they deserved the punishment they received. He prayed for these people because he loved his fellow men and could not bear to think of their suffering, even though he knew it was because of their own wrong-doing. With many of us, prayer is a very perfunctory thing — with Abraham it was not — he meant every word he uttered and he was willing to do all he could to have his prayer answered.

According to W. H. Griffith Thomas, "Enlargement of soul, increase of sympathy, a deepening of tenderness, a growing unselfishness, and a gradual conformity to the image of Him, whose main thought is (and was) always for others, will mark the life of the believer who makes prominent the work of intercessory prayer."

Boys and Girls Plan Exhibits For Allegany Co. Fair

Victory Gardens Featured at Fair This Year. Pet Show and Parade on Saturday, Sept. 5.

Several hundred boys and girls, visited in Allegany county during the past month, have indicated an increased interest in exhibiting at the Allegany county fair which will be held Sept. 2-3-4-5. During the month of July more than 250 Victory Gardens were visited and the majority of these boys and girls are planning to exhibit their vegetable crops this year. Emphasis will be placed on exhibits of new and standard varieties of vegetables. Exhibits will be plainly labelled for the benefit of those visiting the fair in order that they may understand better the varieties that have proven successful in the county this past year. Charts will indicate those desirable for storage and those for canning and home use.

The exhibition storage cellar with racks providing for the storage of root crops, potatoes, onions, squash and other vegetables to be used during the winter will have a prominent place in the garden exhibit. Canning vegetables and fruits will be on display with the explanation given of the methods used in canning them. Emphasis thruout the entire exhibit will be on growing, storage, and preservation of home grown produce for year around use.

In order to give all boys and girls an equal opportunity in the winning of increased awards, which are double that of any previous year, two general divisions will be made, one for boys and one for girls having had previous experience and a new division for the new Victory Garden members.

Pet Show and Parade on Saturday, Sept. 5th

In order to get every boy and girl in the county to participate in the county fair program, a pet show and parade will be conducted on Saturday with awards to be presented to each and every contestant having a worthy exhibit. Committees will soon be organized in the various communities of the county for the purpose of interesting the various boys and girls in this pet show and display which will include classes for each and every type of pet owned or cared for by a girl or boy. Pets are to be shown by boys and girls of Allegany county under 15 years of age.

County Court House To Be Heated By Coal

Contract Let for the Installation of Steam Boiler and Extension of Chimney.

A contract for the installation of a steam heating boiler in the Allegany county court house has been signed by Richard E. Hall of Belmont, chairman of the county buildings committee of the Board of Supervisors, subject to securing of priorities from the Federal Government, application for which has already been made.

The new boiler, having a capacity for 56,000 feet of radiation, will be fired with soft coal by an automatic stoker which will be installed by the contracting company, the total contract calling for an outlay of about $2,950. Orders are also to be given for erection of a 15-foot steel extension to the present chimney and installation of an electric hoist for carrying out ashes.

The new steam generating plant will be installed in the present boiler room without disturbing the heating boilers now in use, so that in the event of the finding of new sources of gas supply, a return could be made to gas.

The heating system in the county highway office building will return to the use of coal by the taking out of gas burners and installation of coal grates. A similar procedure will be followed in the jail portion of the sheriff's building adjoining the court house.

G. L. F. to Hold Annual Meeting

Henry James of Genesee, Pa., committee chairman, has announced that the annual meeting of local G. L. F. patron-members will be held at the Legion hall in Whitesville Monday evening, August 17 at 8 o'clock.

The program will include the election of two members of the local patron's committee to succeed Mr. James and Samuel Crandall of Andover, whose terms have expired.

D. W. Kelsey, G. L. F. district manager, will report on the past year's business, following which announcement will be made of the amount and form in which the 1942 patronage dividend will be paid farmers.

One of the features of the meeting will be a discussion of war-time problems faced by farmers and what they are doing to meet them.

"All members of the family are invited to the meeting," Mr. James said, adding that entertainment and refreshments will be provided.

In addition to Mr. Crandall, other committee members working with Mr. James in planning and preparing for the meeting are Edgar Cornell of Jasper, Carl Clarke of Andover, Clair Stebbins of Harrisan Valley, Pa., and Cecil Grantier of Whitesville.

Navy Day To Be "Buy War Bonds Day"

With American warships carrying on war missions, in many parts of the globe, this year's Navy Day will take on unprecedented significance, and the Navy League—sponsor of the annual observance on October 27th, is already laying plans for special marking of the date as "Buy War Bonds Day."

According to an official announcement the Navy Department will give all possible co-operation to the Navy League for the observance, which takes place annually on the birthday anniversary of President Theodore Roosevelt.

The Navy Department announcement said:

"The Navy League will authorize no solicitation for funds, publications or other unofficial projects operated by civilians, many of which in the past have been for personal profit. The Navy League is desirous of abolishing all such solicitations and the Navy Department is in thoro accord.

"Navy Day is primarily a Navy League sponsorship, to which the Navy gladly responds in recognition of the intelligent purposes of the patriotic society. In recent years, however, various volunteer enterprises in support of Navy Day have been started, most of which involve publications or other projects depending upon public subscription.

"These private enterprises are not supported by either the Navy or the Navy League. This Navy Day —BUY WAR BONDS!"
