"Slap the Jap"

As pupils in a nation at war, we are also pupils in a school at war. Thus we, as individuals and as a group, can, should, and must play a vital part in the defense program of America. We can do our part if we SAVE money to buy as many War Stamps as we can possibly afford. They are available in each grade room or at the office; save scrap, such as old keys, to contribute to the salvage metal drive — or old razor blades and tinfoil, as some rooms are doing.

SERVE the school, community and nation by making the most of the facilities offered us and our parents in the way of Girl Scout training, Red Cross training, First Aid and Home Nursing courses, Defense courses, enemy plane spotting training (American Legion Observation Post) and work as an air-raid wardens;

CONSERVE in the class-room by making the most of our supplies such as paper, pencil and textbooks as well as the electric lights and heating facilities. We can make what we have last as long as possible.

SACRIFICE many things, among them what we enjoy the most, out-of-town athletic contests and skating parties. We must not waste gasoline and tires so our types of diversion must be changed to accomodate this new type of life which we are to lead — beginning today.

Are you doing your part? How will you "Slap a Jap" and help keep America free? V. M. L.

Don't You Agree?

Many of us have wondered why we receive the marks we do, but we never bothered to inquire into the matter.

Students of ACS, it would be well worth your while to know. Perhaps if you knew there would be many more assignments handed in to the teachers on time.

I have asked several teachers how they mark us and here are a few things that count: Assignments properly done and on time, getting to class on time, attitude in class, attitude towards lessons, general estimate on class work, quizzes, and five week tests.

Many of us come into class a few minutes late. Of course a few minutes doesn't matter is what we tell ourselves. Think about this: Suppose that each of us came into class two minutes late every day for a year. Add this up and you'd be surprised at the time we have wasted. Today, of all days, to waste time is to invite self-destruction.

About our behavior and attitude in classes—we are here to learn, not to fool. Yes, all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, but there's a time and a place for everything and a class is not the place for play.

Attitude in classes is important. Perhaps there are times when we are asked a question we cannot answer, but it is very impolite to act bored to tears with a situation for which we, ourselves, are responsible.

Finally, as we all know, class marks and five week test marks are most important, of course, in obtaining report card averages. But it is easy to see that they are not everything.

So, students, let's not wait for New Year's to make resolutions that we know we won't keep.

I am going to make mine now and keep them. I would like to see a much larger honor roll and fewer people in the detention room. How do you feel about this? Don't you agree? SM

"Why John Got an 80"

Johnny comes rushing into his first period class. Late again! The second time this week. He looks at the teacher. The teacher looks at Johnny, and Johnny looks guilty — for he knows. He knows the story. For Johnny has already been reminded of his failing.

Later the teacher looks over her record book. Report cards come out the following week. Just about as many 80's as 85's after John's name, with an occasional 90 and 75. She includes his test mark, adds the column of figures and divides. Result 82.51%. Shall it be an 80 or and 85?

But then she remembers how frequently John comes in just a little late. The assignment must be repeated. She remembers that John often neglects to bring with him his paper and pen. The rest of the class marks time while the annoyed teacher gives her private pupil his instructions, while he searches for his supplies.

Comes a vicious jab of her pencil and Johnny's report card mark is 80%. Do you blame her? P. H. T.

United We Stand

Last Tuesday, Nov. 3rd, our parents and perhaps some of our brothers and sisters, took advantage of the very thing the Allied soldiers are giving their lives for.

They went to the polls and voted. This right to vote is one of the most priceless possessions we, as Americans, have. Perhaps we sometimes feel that other people are more richly endowed with worldly goods than we are. Money does us little good if it is confiscated by the Nazis.

We show our confidence in the men at the front by voting. They feel that we are using to the utmost the opportunity that they consider valuable enough to die for.

The dictators certainly do not encourage this freedom in occupied Europe. It would mean the downfall of their entire system of concentration camps and forced labor. This freedom, coupled with freedom of speech, press and religion, constitutes a major part of our Declaration of Independence. Without these freedoms the word democracy would be an empty phrase.

Our parents helped to uphold democracy when they voted. It makes no difference for what party they voted. The country is no longer divided now that elections are over. It is united in back of the newly elected officers.

We are united today as Americans! Together we stand or together we fall. JB

Twenty-four on High School Honor Roll

Pupils having an average of 90 per cent in three major subjects, with no report card mark below 85 per cent, achieve first honors.

Those having an average of 85 in three major subjects, with no mark below 80 achieve second honors.

Andover Central To Continue Basketball

Limited Schedule Planned With Transportation by Common Carrier. School Buses May Not Be Used.

With the use of school buses banned by the New York State War Council for transporting athletic teams, the fate of interscholastic basketball in Andover hangs in a precarious balance. The school officials and board of education have expressed their approval of the continuation of the sport with a limited schedule with transportation by common carrier.

Since it has not been possible to secure stopping permits for the Erie railroad, the only facility left for transportation is the Hornell-Olean bus line. This will make it necessary to play all games on Saturday afternoons, since the bus line does not operate an evening bus. The State War Council will permit the transportation of teams by volunteer private cars with "A" ration cards.

The schedule for the season will therefore be largely limited to those schools that can be reached on the bus line and might include Wellsville, Alfred-Almond, Scio, Belmont, Friendship, Cuba, Hornell and possibly Canisteo, providing those schools decide to have basketball.

At the Allegany County basketball meeting held at Belmont last week, it was voted to discontinue all leagues and championships in the County for the duration, but permitted schools to establish their own schedules. Many schools have already abandoned the sport entirely on an interschool basis.

Since the interschool program in Andover will involve a limited number of games and a limited number of players, it is expected that an extensive intramural basketball will be run with some of the games played in the evening.

Seniors Announce Play Committees

The committees for the Senior play, "Brother Goose," which is being presented Nov. 24th, have recently been chosen.

These committees consist of:

High School Exhibit Tonight

Theme Is Our School's Place In The War Effort. Parents Invited To Meet Teachers

In celebration of American Education Week, the Junior-Senior high school department of Andover Central School invites parents of high school pupils and any other parents or friends to an exhibit showing what the local school is doing to further the nation's war effort. The exhibit is held in the central school building this evening (Thursday) from 7:00 till 9:00 p. m.

An informal tea will be held in the homemaking room during the evening at which parents will have an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the high school teachers. Both fathers and mothers are welcome.

The high school library will also be open so that visitors may see the annual Book Week display.

Teachers Issue "A" Gas Ration Books

Gasoline ration books were issued Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and Thursday in the Andover Central School. Registration hours were from 4:30 until 7:30 o'clock on Monday and Tuesday and from 7-9 o'clock on Wednesday and Thursday. The ACS faculty registered the people in the cafeteria.

Only "A" ration books were issued there. People wishing to apply for "B" or "C" books must apply for them thru the Wellsville rationing board. The basic "A" book must have been obtained first, however. JB

Ag. IV Boys Visit William Joyce Farm

The Agriculture IV class went to the William Joyce farm last Thursday for a field trip. Mr. Joyce explained to the boys the importance of the feeding and milking of the individual cow. He also explained the importance of good breeding and importance of a good herd sire and where to locate a good herd sire.

Mr. Joyce, who has just purchased a herd sire, showed the boys the records of his own herd, which is an average of 437 pounds of butterfat and 12,800 pounds of milk. The boys summarized the month's milk and butterfat.

The Ag. I boys are marking and studying the fattening, killing and dressing of poultry for market. BD

FRESHMAN GIRL IS "UP AND COMING A. C. S. ATHLETE

This reporter has discovered a real athletic find this week. It happens to be a Freshman girl named Lois Jean Matison.

Last Wednesday Lois played an excellent game of soccer and it has been noted that she not only has ability in this sport but that she is also proficient in softball.

In addition to this, her classmates have reported that she is a member worth having on a basketball squad.

Another noteworthy player Wednesday afternoon was Alta Hawks, who played "goalie" on one team. Because of the small number of girls participating in this class, the usual intramural teams did not play, consequently there were no specific scores this week. MB

Library Council Elects Mary Baker President

The members of the Library Council met with Miss Anderson in the library Friday during activity period to elect officers. They elected as president Mary Elaine Baker; vice president, Arretta Dunham; social chairman, Clara Hann. The girls signed up for desk duty in the library for various periods during which they have study hall.

The Library Council girls are planning a tea to be held next week Thursday, during Book Week, Nov. 16-20. Committees were appointed and plans were made for the tea.

The girls volunteered to decorate the grade room bulletin boards for Book Week for the teachers if the teachers had no other plans.

Have You Read These?

"Rebecca," is considered one of the best books in the library. It is a story of a man's second marriage after his first wife had committed suicide. The author is Daphne Du Maurier.

"The Complete Stories of Sherlock Holmes" by Arthur Conan Doyle, is a story of the imaginary detective-wonder and his companion sleuth, Dr. Watson.

"Botany Bay" by Charles Nordhoff, is a very interesting Australian story.

"Get Thee Behind Thee," by Hartzell Spence is a story of a young fellow's life as a preacher's son. This author also wrote "One Foot In Heaven."

These books are all very interesting and good to read. FMM

Library Council Plans Book Week

Book Week will be celebrated in the Andover Central School during the week of November 16-20. The book booth, however, has been set up this week so that parents coming to school during National Education Week may visit the library and see the books on display.

The Library Council is in charge of decorating the bulletin boards in the grade rooms.

A contest in connection with Book Week will be held next week for the Junior High School classes.

On Thursday of Book Week the Library Council members will be hostesses at a tea, to be given in the library. BB

With Needle and Spoon

The girls in the Homemaking A class held a buffet luncheon in honor of Bernice Ray who left to go to Whitesville where she is now attending school. The luncheon was held October 30.

They are also getting ready for the exhibit to be held November 12 and 13. The girls are making charts on nutrition and are studying school lunches.

The Homemaking 7 girls are studying personalities. Miss Mahl has held personal conferences with each girl discussing her good and bad points, suggesting ways to correct each bad point.

A Hallowe'en party was held during class period by the Homemaking 9 class on October 29. They had doughnuts and cider for refreshments.

They also had a tea party last Thursday for Meta Rice. They invited Miss Baker and several Freshmen. Tea and cookies were served.

These girls are now studying "The Happy Way of Doing Things," a topic which deals with personalities. NAC

Book Week To Be Featured Here

OUR community will participate in the nation-wide observance of Book Week, November 15-21. This annual opportunity to arouse public interest in books and reading has long had the active support of our librarians, teachers, social agencies and civic groups. Although Book Week is dedicated primarily to boys and girls, parents and others interested in young people or books will enjoy the special exhibits on display in libraries, schools and bookstores.

The poster for Book Week shown above was designed for this twenty-fourth nation-wide annual observance of Book Week.

This year more importantly than in the past the contribution of books to living in a world at war is emphasized. As President Roosevelt has said, "It is part of our dedication always to make them weapons of men's freedom."

Riding the Bus With Mr. Holt

"How such small 'kids' can make so much noise is something I never could figure out," thinks Mr. Chas. M. Holt as he pilots Bus No. 1 over the Elm Valley route.

His occupation when not driving Bus No. 1 is that of an auto mechanic.

Genial Mr. Holt was born and raised in Jamestown, N. Y. and resided for some time in Arkport, N. Y., before he came to Andover.

As one might surmise by looking at him, his favorite sport is boxing and his favorite food is fried chicken!

Mr. Holt says that "it takes two hours every day to drive the bus." At present there are 60 pupils on his bus and there have been as many as 73 pupils.

Many funny incidents happen on the bus, but quite the funniest incident Mr. Holt can remember was when Norma Crowner made out his report. When it said time out she had 9 o'clock and time in 1 a. m. She forgot to erase this and the report went into the office that way.

If one is a man of good character, is a good driver and has the ability to get along with children, he meets the requirements for being a school bus driver, according to Mr. Holt, better known as "Chuck."

Perhaps we don't appreciate what a bus driver has to contend with while on his route. Some of these are people who do not stop for the bus, big trucks, muddy and slippery roads and bad hills.

People often have serious thoughts as they drive along. What the other driver is going to do and whether all the buses will get in on time are usually what occupies Mr. Holt's mind.

Mr. Holt has proven very satisfactory as a school bus driver in Andover and we all hope that he may continue to supervise the Andover school buses. WG

Farm Bureau Establishes Machinery Repair Clinic

The Allegany County Farm Bureau has arranged a farm machinery repair clinic for the two weeks of November 16th thru 23rd in the Hyland blacksmith shop at Angelica.

Farmers will repair their machinery there themselves with the help of P. T. Luce, district agricultural engineer. The only charges will be for replacement parts. Machines should be brought in early to facilitate obtaining parts before the end of the clinic.

Mr. Luce has a complete set of tools and is well experienced in their use. He will do the necessary welding and forge work. If the clinic should be swamped with excessive welding, some of the jobs may be referred to commercial shops.

The two Wednesday afternoons will be devoted mostly to tractor tune up. Tractor overhaul work will be reserved for the week of December 6th in the city garage, Belmont, where special tools for the job will be supplied by the extension service.

Clifford R. Harrington, county agricultural agent, expressed hope that farmers would avail themselves of this opportunity to get their machinery in work shape for next year, since machinery will be rationed and scarce labor can't afford to tinker with machines when they are needed.

Mr. Harrington expects to have machinery repair clinics scheduled in other parts of the county this winter.

Hen Lays "V" Egg

A hen on the Howard Tuttle farm is patriotic and wants the world to know it. Monday morning she laid an egg with a prominently marked V (for victory) on the shell. The egg was a large white one, with a rather thin shell, except for the "V" which was thick and rough but quite regular in shape. The side strokes of the "V" were about a half inch long and three-sixteenths of an inch wide.—Friendship Register.

Quick Transit

Mrs. Maloney was telling her neighbor that she had just received a telegram stating that her soldier son had arrived safely in India that morning. The neighbor was amazed by the news. z

"What!" she exclaimed, "That seems impossible, Mrs. Maloney. The telegram must have traveled at a terrific speed."

"Sure, and faith it must have," said the proud mother. "Would you believe it, when I received the envelope the gum on it was still moist."
