New Navy Recruiting Program

Clarification of the Navy's revived recruiting program has been made in a statement by Third Navel District Headquarters. Effective immediately, male citizens of the United States 17 to 50½ are eligible for the naval service if found qualified in all respects. Applicants of induction age may be enlisted regardless of draft status.

Youths of 17 may be enlisted in the Regular Navy for a period of minority; that is, enlistment will expire one day prior to the attainment of twenty-first birthday. Applicants 18 to 30, inclusive enlist in the Regular Navy for a period of four years.

The statement also indicated that male citizens of the United States 17 to 50½ may be enlisted in the Naval Reserve for a period of two, three or four years with the proviso that "in the event of war or national emergency declared by the President to exist during my term of service, I oblige and subject myself to serve until six months after the end of the war or national emergency if so required by the Secretary of the Navy unless I voluntarily reenlist or extend my enlistment."

Vets' Wives and Babies Can Get Medical Care

Following through on a recommendaiton made by Congress, the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor, announced that wives and babies of recently discharged service men, under certain conditions, are now eligible to receive medical and hospital care under the Emergency Maternity and Infant Care program. A service man's wife may now apply at any State health department for care for herself and for her baby after her husband's honorable discharge from service, provided that at any time during her pregnancy he was in the fourth, fifth, sixth or seventh pay group of the services or was an aviation cadet. The same holds true in case the husband or father is promoted, a prisoner or war, missing in action, or dead.
