PROF. PINGREY AGAIN HONORED

Former Resident of Andover and Noted Authority on Law, Gets Recognition by United States Senate

When Darius H. Pingrey was Professor at the Illinois Wesleyan University Law School, he taught International and Roman Law, and published an article in the Chicago Legal News on "The Monroe Doctrine."

United States Senator L. Y. Sherman, on July 23rd, asked unanimous consent of the Senate that it be published as a public document which was granted and the article published.

Senator Sherman in writing Mr. Pingrey said: "I have had a number of requests for the document from various parts of the country."

In the latter part of the '60's Mr. Pingrey was an assistant shorthand reporter in the United States Senate.

Mr. Pingrey is the author of five law treatises, three, one volume works and two, two volume works, which are cited as authority by all the courts throughout the United States. He has press notices from newspapers in India, where some of his law books have gone. Mr. Pingrey has published a hundred legal and economic papers.

Mr. Pingrey is a member of the American Bar Association, the Illinois State Bar Association, the Society for Judicial Settlement of International disputes, the National Geographical Society, the Academy of Political Science of Columbia University, New York City, the American Academy of Political and Social Science of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia ,Pa.

Prof .Pingrey is an old Andover boy, having been raised on Pingrey Hill, receiving his education at Alfred University.

FAKE NEWSPAPER SOLD

Extras Announcing That Thaw is Shot Have a Heavy Sale

New York, Sept. 1.—Thousands of New Yorkers, pouring from beach trains at Brooklyn Bridge during the night, were victims of a fake sensation when they each paid a nickel for a "newspaper" on the front page of which in leters three inches high, they read: "Harry Thaw shot trying to escape." The papers sold like wildfire, it being stated that Thaw was killed, and one or more men with him in his dash for liberty were also killed or injured.

The issue was volume 1, No. 1. of the Sunday Telegram printed in Philadelphia, where no regularly established paper of that name is known. The similarity which the name bore to that of a New York newspaper led to protests to the police and confiscation of about 500 copies from the newsboys. It is estimated that over 100,000 copies of the fake newspaper had been sold in cities between Philadelphia and New York, and in this city, netting the perpetrators of the enterprise about $2,000.

The story was wholly unfounded, Thaw not even having attempted an escape.

GIRL SELL KISSES AND RAISE $20,000

Six Ohio Lasses Aid Hospital Fund Matron Charges Husband $2 For Handshake

Salem, O. ,Aug. 31.—Twenty thousand masculine lips pressed those of six fair members of prominent families last night in a scheme whereby $20,000 was raised toward a fund to endow Salem Hospital through the dispensing of women's kisses at $1 each.

Men, young and old, stood in line to enjoy the osculatory performance. All the women were single. One married woman, seeking to do her part, compromised by shakinghands at 25 cents a shake. One of the victims, her husband, she charged $2 for the privilege publicly of closing his fingers over hers.

COOK FAMILY REUNION

Very Enjoyable Gathering at H. W. Cook's, Monday

A surprise was planned and on Labor Day executed, when members of the Ziba Cook branch, to the number of twenty-one, drove to the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cook and completely surprised that couple. Tables were put up under the maples which surrounded their dwelling and spread with a bountiful dinner to which all did justice.

During the afternoon a business meeting was held at which it was decided to meet next year with J. J. Cook.

The following officers were then elected: President—J .J .Cook; Vice President—H. W. Cook; Secretary—Ethel Cook.

After the usual committees were appointed the meeting adjourned. The different families returned to their homes after expressing their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Cook for their warm reception, and the way in which they helped to make this first reunion a pleasant gathering.

Those present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Z. F. Cook and son, Frank, of Jersey City; Miss Lida Cook of Hornell; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Cook of Ithaca, and Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Cole and daughter, Lucile, of Elm Valley.

The Way the Erie Railroad Helps

Are Good at Making Promises, But Never Executes if It is to Cost the Company a Cent.

An example of the way a railroad company helps build up a town, especially one where they have absolutely no competition, may be had from the action of the Erie Railroad Company in the matter of their extreme smallness in removing a little foot bridge across the Dyke creek on their property in Andover, the past week, and that too in the very face of the fact that one of their highest officials had promised the Andover Business Mens Association to assist in the construction of an overhead foot bridge at that point a few months previously.

The Business Mens Association have repeatedly asked the Erie officials what their reason for deliberately going back on their word was, but they will not give them the courtesy of trying to answer, only saying it must be removed.

In the past few years Andover citizens have raised and spent $100,000.00 in public improvements and in locating industries here. Time and again the Erie Railroad Company have been asked to aid us in one way or another, and they have several times made big promises, But They Have Never Made Good A Single Promise. They are "Cheap Skates," absorbing other people's efforts to improve and never spending a dime of their own funds to assist, not even when their high officials have made promises that they would. There is not five persons or firms in Andover that have received as much direct benefit from the commercial growth of this village as the Erie Railroad Company has received in the increase of their freight, passenger and express business, and they have not spent a red cent to help bring about this large increase. Not only have they not assisted financially, but they refuse point blank to even be accommodating to Andover's factory people, when they could with no trouble whatever to themselves and without any danger to their patrons, done as their Assistant General Manager said they would do, assist in the building of an overhead foot-bridge across their tracks so that operators in our silk mills would not have to walk an extra mile to get to and from their work. All this was properly placed before the Erie officials. Yet they tore out the little foot-bridge.

In the town of Andover there is not a person or a firm who kicks harder or more persistently in trying to get their taxes reduced than does the Erie Railroad Company, yet they are not willing in the least thing to contribute to the commercial growth of Andover, even when that growth greatly increases the value of their own business. They want Andover people to put up all the money for the extension of their business, and then be sure not to call upon them for their just share of even the taxes, they should pay.

It is about time Andover Business Men awoke to the parsimoniousness of the Erie Railroad Company. Now that they have forced a hundred people six times daily to cross their tracks at Main street, a very dangerous crossing, where several people have already lost their lives, it is surely up to the Village Trustees to see that a watchman and gates are maintained at that place. The cheap cry of this niggardly corporation should not longer be heeded by Andover people and village officials.

The thing that Andover needs most at the present time is better and more accommodating railroad facilities.

ARGUMENTS OVER VOTES AT HAND

When Some Women Are Doing Wonders With Ballot, Who Shall Prevent Others

A witty address was made by Mrs. William H. Felton of Georgia at a recent suffrage meeting in Atlanta. She said, in part:

Nine sovereign States have acted in concert, and the women are pulling the business of those States up to a higher plane, and the men are enthusiastic as to results. Whether women want the ballot or will pay no attention to its responsibilities has nothing to do with these established facts. The day of argument has closed—the day of voting is there, and in force.

Whether women will vote as their husbands do has already passed the trial stage in nine States. Whether they will destroy domestic peace is no longer a matter to be voted on. They are in, and to stay.

Whether women are too nice and gentleel to go into a crowd to cast a ballot, or whether bad women will seize the reins of government and blast the fabric, is an ancient story. They are doing their work in a most pleasing way to the men voters who risked these dangers and won the victory. Whether women always tease and nag and scramble to have their own way, and cut up high jinks in every public test, has nothing to do with the steady vote going element in those nine States where the women go to the polls and deposit a slip of paper just as they have been accustomed to go to the postoffice and deposit a letter with a stamp on it. One was only a threat, and the other is the refutation of a false idea.

Whether George Washington did not say "Votes for women," or Moses or Elijah or Jeremiah failed to say "Votes for women" is not worthy of attention now. Whether women were not educated in early times because they were only made for man's use and abuse, has nothing to do with our text. Whether St. Paul's direction to cover a woman's head is to be taken politically or religiously or scientifically or geographically has nothing to do with this burning issue, namely: Women in nine States are doing wonders with the voting privilege, and the question that appeals to every sensible man is whether he can afford to assume the authority to forbid it to other women nearer home?

EDWARD PADDEN

Edward Padden died Saturday morning, at the home of his son, Edward, in Washington, D .C. The remains were taken to Elmira and the funeral services were held from Hughes and Sullivan's undertaking rooms at 9:30 a .m. Monday, and at 10 o'clock at SS. Peter and Paul's church. He is survived by his son, Edward H. and one brother, Albert, of Andover; also a nephew, John Padden, of Elmira.

Herbert Padden, Edward Padden, Mrs .John Lynch, Mrs. Alice Hunt and Leo Hurt were in Elmira Monday, to attend the funeral.

CATE'S BAND

Pride of All American Musical Aggregations in England

Cate's Saxophonic Symphonic Band, the pride of all American musical organizations, are creating an enormous sensation at Stoll's Hippodrome and are drawing capacity audiences nightly.

Chief among them is the wizard of the saxophone, Walter H. Cate, whose execution and tecnique is the most marvelous ever heard here and the tonal volume produced by the organization when in ensemble work is glorious beyond words. The Cates have a one-thousand dollar challenge open to the world that their equal cannot be produced, and they are perfectly safe as far as this country is concerned.

Besides Walter H. Cate, there are two other soloists of note, the sensational cornet virtuoso, Frank B. Cate, whose playing is delightfully pleasing, and Fred O. Cate plays upon the largest saxophone ever seen or heard here. It is a huge instrument over six feet tall ,which rests upon a large frame, the bell of which resembles a mortar gun, with the exception that it is about three times as large and the tones produced are the deepest ever heard from a base instrument. The vibration is such that it may be felt in the auditorium, but the vibration is not alone produced, as the tones are much more powerful than the vibration.—From the "London Performer," London, England.

LABOR DAY

Good Crowd in Andover to Observe Day

A nice crowd came to Andover Labor Day to help observe the day. While there was no great pretention made for the observance of the day in Andover as had been the previous custom, everything, and more, advertised was successfully pulled off.

A jolly party enjoyed the picnic dinner in the Park. In the afternon the sports committee were on hand and the races and stunts were carried out.

The and Concert and the picture show in the evening were good and well patronized.

THE SILENT SPEECH

The Lucy Stone Club took advantage of Labor Day to show their colors and bring the Suffrage thought before the people. An automobile decorated with Suffrage flags in which a delegation from the Club were riding was driven up Main St., where the President, Mrs. Roxanna Burrows, with a few introductory remarks, proceeded to turn the pages of a voiceless speech which was suspended across the car between the national colors. The speech consists of several-printed pages, which, upon being slowly turned present a silent but forceful Suffrage speech. It is a unique way of presenting to the eyes of a crowd a subject which today is acknowledged one of the most important before the public. Members of the Club also passed through the crowd with enrollment cards and distributed literature.

THE BALL GAMES

Two base ball games were enjoyed Labor Day, one with Indepnedence team, and the other with South Hill. It must be that the Angelica aggregation got cold feet, as they cancelled the game, at the very last moment. This may be good base ball, to dodge a defeat like that ,but it isn't square dealing with a team to allow them to advertise a game and then back out when it is too late to make other arrangements.

The Andover town team closed the season Labor Day, by taking two games. In the forenoon they won from Independence by a score of 4-5. Church pitched for Andover and Ludden and Frazier for Independence.

In the afternoon the town boys crossed bats with the South Hill boys and won an interesting game by a score of 6-3. The game was featured by J. Forness, three base hits.

Score by Innings—

South Hill—	0	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	0	—3
Andover—	2	0	1	0	0	0	2	1	x	—6

Batteries, Forness and Lynch, for South Hill; Bloss and Backus, for Andover.

Some slight declines in the coffee market, although not large, aggregate enough so that they should be evidenced either in lower price or better quality.

I have a Rio at 20c and Blends at 25c, 30c, 32c and 35c.

Castle Coffee at 40c is worth the money and making friends every day.
