NEW INDUSTRY

Andover is to have a new industry. Edson Langworthy informs the News that he is to open a new garage on the Cannon lot, corner of Main and Elm streets, and will open for business about March first. The building is being placed on the grounds this week.

AN OLD TIME COUGH MEDICINE

For nearly half a century most families in this section have depended upon Kemp's cough balsam for coughs, grip and sore throat troubles. Each package of the balsam also contains a free treatment of some wonderful new laxative tablets that are highly recommended for stomach, liver and bowel troubles. Everybody should use these medicines now, while there is so much grip and sickness. 9

CLOSING OUT

Having decided to close out my Feed Business on Center street, I have rented the building and must give possession on March 1st, 1916.

All accounts due must be settled by that date.

ANY PERSON CAN BUY ...HARDWARE...

But it is not everyone who knows whether it is good or bad until after they have used it. And right there is just a small portion of the wisdom of buying hardware at our store. We know that most people must rely upon what we tell them about the quality of the goods, hence we make it a principle in business never to sell an article that we do not know to be O. K. in every respect. It is the safe way and our way.

Isn't there something you need in making life more comfortable during the winter months? Undoubtedly we have it and can sell it to you at a very close price. No house in this section ever undersells us on guaranteed hardware.

We live near the center of this town, and it is very easy paying our taxes, for in our county and one other county joining it has granted each town to raise $2.50 to be laid out on the public highways, and there is a man who hires a man to work at potash business and gives from sixteen to eighteen dollars per month cash and it is likely that you can hire out here to work if you wish. You must excuse me for not writing to you before as I was waiting to see how things were going to be and now I think that we have been living long enough to form an opinion of the place, and now we shall be expecting you out here in the spring, for there is good wild land here for sale and there are some men who have betterments that they will sell. Sandness says that he can't pay you all this summer, but he will pay some and will pay the remainder next winter.

I have no news at this time only the 19th day of this month we are expecting to go to Angelica, the capital of our county, to see a man hung by the neck until he is dead, between the hours of eleven and one o'clock, for murder. So no more at present. This from your friend and brother. Levi says he can let you have pork this summer and grain next winter, so no more.

HAZEL DAWN IN "CLARISSA

A Drama of Love and Social Intrigue, at the Auditorium, Saturday Evening.

Hazel Dawn, the popular stage favorite, whose charms were introduced to all lovers of refined motion pictures in her former screen appearances in "Niobe," finds in "Clarissa," her latest starring vehicle, her most ideal role. In this stirring romance, based on the famous novel, "Gambier's Advocate," by Ronald MacDonald, Hazel Dawn presents a characterization that combines a captivating manner of portrayal with a force so compelling as to make the role wholly irresistible.

The story is strikingly original, with many startling situations entirely new to the screen. Miss Dawn's admirable impersonation of the central character in this absorbing romance of modern society will appreciably advance her popularity as one of the foremost screen artists of the day.

WHAT BECAME OF THE BEARDSLEY CHILDREN

Miss Erma Loughlen Shows How Nicely the Unfortunate Children Have Been Cared For By Charities Aid Association.

My dear Mr. Backus:

Many many times within the last two years we have been asked to tell people what we have done with the Bearsley children; whether they were bright, and all about them.

We have therefore decided, in view of the wide publicity given the case, that it is only right the public should know how these children are looked after.

The method followed in caring for these children is not unsimilar to that employed in looking after the majority of children dependent upon the towns in Chautauqua County; or those of many of the counties in New York State where the welfare of children has come to be a matter of public interest.

We trust that you will agree with us and with the editors in your vicinity that this is news of sufficient importance to print in your paper.

Sincerely yours,
ERMA JANE LOUGHLEN

Two years ago last month not only Western New York but all the country was aroused by the hold-up of the Chautauqua County officials and the "Sensational Siege of Summerdale." In the days that followed the public learned that a family, self-constituted, but conforming to none of the laws of Christian Civilization, dwelt almost under the "Shadow of Chautauqua Institution."

In this household there was a mother and her two daughters with their nine children under seven years of age; and these babies called one man father.

People know that the father was sentenced to Auburn but they are still asking what became of the children. For a few months after they became charges on the county, they were boarded in a Children's Home. While there the Chautauqua County Agency for Children made sure of their physical and mental condititon by careful watching and thorough examinations.

Three of the children were found to be incapable of becoming good citizens and so were placed in institutions best adapted to their needs. The oldest boy, almost totally blind, is having his other faculties trained to their utmost in a State School for the Blind. Another little child of three, because of improper nourishment, appeared to be on the verge of epilepsy. After a year's care in an elliptic collar he was discharged perfectly well. A third child, one of the older girls, even after two years, still needs institutional care and training.

The six other Beardsleys are mentally fit and physically perfect. They needed only a few months supervision to make them ready for foster homes. But the Beardsley name was too well known in Western New York for any of these little ones to live down. So they were placed in distant communities. Although the foster parents were cognizant of their histories, the children's charm and attractiveness far outweighed their heredity. Strange as it may seem, the children have turned out well, and there has been no complaint from the adopted parents.

However, there are children dependent upon Chautauqua County whose histories are not so bad as those of the Beardsley children but who are almost as much in need of good homes.

There are at the present time for adoption or placement in free homes, four Protestant boys, seven, eight, nine and eleven years of age; three Catholic girls of five, six and eight; and one Catholic boy of six.

These children are desirable children and the Association is looking for good homes for them.

Address—Chautauqua County Agency for Dependent Children, Morning Post Building, Jamestown, N. Y.

MRS. JASON HUNT

One of Andover's oldest ladies, Mrs. Jason A. Hunt, died at her home on West Greenwood street, Saturday morning, Feb. 12, aged 83 years.

Mrs. Hunt has been in extremely poor health for the past year. In May last she was taken critically ill, from which she never fully recovered, but was much better for a few weeks recently.

Elnina Martindale Hunt was born at Homer, Cortland County, N. Y., May 3, 1833. When eighteen years old she came with her people to Andover, and on June 3, 1852 was married to Jason A. Hunt. They have always lived in Andover since they were married, sixty-four years.

She is survived by her husband, and three children, Mrs. Eva Hough of Alfred, and George H. and Jesse T. Hunt of this village, besides seven grandsons and four great-grandchildren. She also leaves one sister, Mrs. A. D. Rathbone of Minneapolis, Min., and two brothers, Ed. H. Martindale and Chas. Martindale of Saginaw, Mich.

The funeral was held at the home, Monday afternoon, her pastor, Rev. Chas. Collins, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, officiating. The interment was in Hillside Cemetery.

Those from out of town attending the funeral were Jason A. Hunt, Jr., of Pittsburg, Pa.; Lawrence R. Hunt, of Wellsville, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Reiman of Angelica.

REBEKAHS OBSERVE CHILDREN'S NIGHT

Pleasant Evening Passed By Members of Andover Rebekah Lodge, Entertaining the Children and Being Entertained

Andover Rebekah Lodge, No. 303., in company with other lodges throughout the state, observed children's night at their meeting Wednesday evening. The children of the members were invited to attend and a fine program consisting of an original poem by Mrs. Flora Deming, a patriotic dialogue by four young lads, and several recitations and musical selections by the young people and little tots.

At the close supper was served the company. The children, as guests of honor, were seated at a large table extending across the hall and attractively centered with a large pyramid cake decorated with tiny flags and candies, which received the enthusiastic admiration of the youngsters.

The following timely poem, written and read by Mrs. Deming, contains so much that is good that we give it to our readers.

LET'S

Let's be more earnest, beginning to-day;
Earnest in labor and earnest in play;
Earnest in action and earnest in thought,
Doing and thinking the things that we ought.
Let's each be earnestly honest with each;
Let's be sincere and well-meaning in speech;
Let's know so very much worth while and clean
We'll never talk about anything mean.
Let's be so busy we'll never have time
For deeds that belittle, tales that begrime.
On our own tasks let's all be so intent
There'll be no moment unworthily spent.
Let's find so much that's uplifting and kind,
Wise and constructive to busy the mind,
That thoughts suspicious, unfriendly and wrong
Cannot have lodgement and cannot belong.
How, each one of us has some duties to do—
Can't do them and those of other folks too;
So let's do our own and with all our might,
And while we're doing them let's do them right.
True, there be neighbors with motes in their eyes;
Let's be consistent and not criticise.
True, there be many afflicted with flaws;
But let's not judge them, because—well, because.
