SUFFRAGISTS WILL SOON ASSEMBLE

Allegany County Women Will Hold Convention at Angelica May 16. Mrs. Livermore and Mrs. Shuler Speakers.

The Allegany County Suffrage Convention is to be held at Angelica, at the Library building, Tuesday, May 16th.

Mrs. Arthur Livermore of Andover is to be one of the speakers. We give the following regarding this wonderful woman suffrage worker.

MRS. ARTHUR LIVERMORE

Helping Her Voteless Sisters

Working for better civic conditions has thrown many a woman into the suffrage fold. This might be said of Mrs. Arthur Livermore, who has certainly done efficient civic work to find how greatly handicapped women are without the tool of enfranchisement.

But Mrs. Livermore has other reasons for being a suffragist besides this. She comes from the state of California where women's political freedom is assured. The daughter of Judge and Mrs. Henry Wells of San Francisco, Mrs. Livermore might be herself a voter, if she were on the Pacific instead of the Atlantic Coast. But, being before all, a true American, she is eager to see east joined to coast in equal privileges.

Since, as Henrietta J. Wells, she graduated from Wellesley college, Mrs. Livermore has been one of the prominent women leaders in educational and civic activities. She was one of the founders and the first president of the Women's University Club of New York City, she was also president of the Wellesley Club, and has organized and led many suffrage activities. She maintained a suffrage headquarters for her three years. As president of the Suffrage Society in Yonkers-on-the-Hudson, she, during her term of office, succeeded in winning suffrage pledges from one-half of the enrolled voters of her section. She is at present one of the four directors of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Miss Harriet May Mills of Syracuse and Mrs. Dexter P. Rumsey of Buffalo, making the rest of the directorate.

One of the most picturesque of Mrs. Livermore's activities is that of president of the Fairview Garden School of Yonkers. Under her direction, 600 boys and girls have free garden plots and a large club house. This activity has made her know to the magazine reading public as the author of articles on garden schools. She is also the author of many other writings, mainly on educational topics.

Her speeches before fraternal, political and labor organizations have led to an extension of her influence beyond the confines of her own section of the state. She is among other women who in the mind of the speaker who testified to the ability of the women of his town to vote. When someone said in his hearing that women should not have the ballot as men, they do not [illegible] He retorted, "What is your home town, you know?" "Yonkers," said he.

WHERE THE SHAMROCK USED TO GROW

The Kaiser's Cows are grazing
Where the Shamrock used to grow;
How long they'll pasture on that green
There's no one seems to know.
But if we judge the future
By what's happened in the past,
There'll be no more grass for Pat's jackass
Where the Shamrock used to grow.

Oh, Johnny Bull!, Oh, Johnny Bull!
What are we going to do?
You said that you would lick the Dutch,
And now it's up to you.
You've got to get a hustle on,
For there's one thing you should know,
They'll be growing plants for sauerkraut
Where the Shamrock used to grow.

BOOSTER VS. KNOCKER

When the Creator had made all the good things, there was still some dirty work to do, so He made the beasts and reptiles and poisonous insects, and when He had finished, He had some scraps that were too bad to put into the rattle-snake, the hyena, the scorpion, and the skunk, so He put all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped with jealousy, marked it with a yellow streak and cawed it a KNOCKER.

This product was so fearful to contemplate that He had to make something to counteract it, so He took a sunbeam and put in the heart of a child, the brain of a man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet and a grasp of steel and called it a BOOSTER; made him a lover of fields and flowers and many sports, a believer in equality and justice, and ever since these two were, mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates.—Author unknown.

HAZEL DAWN

In Strong Dramatic Role at the Auditorium, Saturday Evening

Hazel Dawn, the beautiful and accomplished young star who recently permanently abandoned the stage to appear on the screen exclusively, under the management of the Famous Players Film Co., returns to Andover beginning Saturday evening, in the latest production of that company, a photo-adaptation of Edith Bernard Delano's stirring romance "The Heart of Jennifer."

This latest feature on the Paramount Program presents one of the strongest stories of the day. Audiences will find in it romance drama and thrills a plenty.

In the title role of Jennifer, "Miss Dawn is called upon to portray a pretty and popular society girl, who, because of her self-sacrificing nature, gladly give up this life of enjoyment for the quiet, simple life of the northern woods, so that her father may escape the danger threatening him of financial ruin. As Jennifer, Miss Dawn bides well to eclipse her sterling characterizations of her previous screen successes as "Noble" and "Clarissa."

With a distinctive and pleasing screen personality, an abundance of grace and beauty, and limitless energy, Miss Dawn is daily proving a greater right to be placed among the foremost photo-play stars. The prominent position which she relinquished on the stage in order to devote all her time to screen productions is rapidly being replaced by the distinguished place she is winning in the larger sphere of the screen.

As "Jennifer," Miss Dawn is totally lovable and decidedly impressive. The feature will be considered one of the foremost screen successes of the hour.

DO WE NEED TO PAVE GREENWOOD STREET?

Three-Quarters of Andover's Produce Comes to Town Over That Road. Let's Build Roads For the Farmers Now.

In another column of this issue of the News will be found a notice of a special village election to be held May 2nd, to determine whether we begin the work of paving Greenwood street this summer or not.

We can see no reason why this much needed improvement should not be made immediately. Our entire bonded indebtedness is but a mere bagatelle when compared with that of other villages of our size and class. $12,000.00 would pay the entire amount.

We now have pavements extending to the corporation lines on the roads to Wellsville, Genesee Valley, Indian Creek and South Hill, to Alfred. Railroad Valley and East Valley. But three-quarters of all the produce raised in this community and hauled to the Andover Market comes to us from the Greenwood street road.

If good roads are a benefit to the automobilists who use them mostly for joy-riding, why not construct them for our farmers who furnish the sinews upon which we all survive and are dependent?

No possible improvement to better the condition of our farmers living east of Andover could be made than to pave Greenwood street.

There may naturally crop out a little opposition on the part of some people living on the west side of Main street, because they have some poor road troubles of their own which bulks big in their minds, but there is nowhere in the village anywhere near the need of road improvement as that existing on Greenwood street.

The Village Board now have funds in hand sufficient to pave about 150 feet, and if the appropriation asked for carries, so they will have money to begin the pavement of Greenwood street at once, they will expend the present available funds from this years highway appropriation in paving on the west side of Main street, otherwise they will use it on East Greenwood street as far as it will go.

As a matter of pure economy we should pave this street at once. For the past ten years we have expended on this street more money per year in keeping it in even passable condition, than it would have cost us had we paved the street and made the annual payments of interest and principal required and we would have had the benefit of a fine road to use and had a good brick pavement left for future years of service.

Only two years ago three hundred dollars were spent in an effort to improve Greenwood street by drawing in load after load of stone and gravel and rolling it down with a steam-roller. To-day it is as bad as ever, or worse, as the pulverized stone, now worked up into a mud hole, will have to be all removed and hauled away again.

Instead of spending three hundred dollars for stone at that time, had we paved the street, we would be paying but a few dollars annually—less than we are now paying—and in fifteen or twenty years at the longest it would be all paid for and we would have a street to be proud of. We have been paying very heavily for a very poor road. It is now time to go at it right and have the job done for life.

The entire cost to the taxpayers which the Board is asking for will be less than 30 cents on a thousand dollars valuation a year. The cost to the abutting property owners will be but 50 cents a foot.

This subject was thoroughly discussed at a meeting of the Community Co-operative Club a couple of weeks ago, and it was unanimously decided to stand back of the Village board in whatever action they deemed wise to make. They have now told us what they want and are expecting the hearty support and co-operation of every one of the 110 members of that Club.

Get busy boys and see that Andover does not take a backward step.

To pave Greenwood street is the greatest thing that can be done at this time to better Andover.

ANDOVER CHAUTAUQUA BEGINS AUG. 2

On the Program are Judge Lee S. Estelle of the Omaha Juvenile Court and E. J. Ward, Government Community Expert.

Beginning Aug. 2nd and continuing mornings, afternoons and evenings for five days, the community Chautauqua will be an attraction in this city. Announcement of the date and the full list of talent to appear on the program has just been received by the committee.

The program will be held in a large tent to be pitched in some convenient location, and the five days of music, entertainment and lectures promises to be of surpassing interest.

The course has already been booked in about seventy-five prominent cities and towns in New York State and Pennsylvania and includes many notable attractions. Among these will be Judge Lee S. Estelle, the juvenile court judge of Omaha, who was among the first to bring to national attention the need of providing a special court to care for juvenile offenders. He will deliver his great lecture on "The Saving of the Children."

Government Expert Coming

The administration at Washington is represented by Professor E. J. Ward of the bureau of education and a man who has won national fame as a community center expert. He will discuss the problems of community growth, the development of a stronger and more effective interest in the work of commercial clubs, farmers' unions and other civic and improvement organizations.

Among the musical numbers is Josef Mach's Bohemian Band said to be one of the leading concert bands appearing among the Chautauqua this summer. The band has as soloists Torcom Bezazian, Russian baritone, famous for his phonograph records, who will appear in the garb of a Russian Cossack; Josef Mach, Jr., a violinist of extraordinary genius, and Josef Mach himself, one of the greatest Bohemian cornetists in this country.

Other musical numbers are the Castle Square Entertainers, one of the best known male quartets. The company was organized six or seven years ago and has made brilliant appearances in Boston, New York, Chicago and other large cities and on some of the largest Chautauquas in America.

Featured at Conventions

Also the Edna White Trumpeters, headed by Edna White, greatest woman trumpet soloist. Their concerts in the Court of the Universe at the Panama-Pacific exposition last summer were attended by thousands. They have been particularly popular and have been strongly featured at great national and international conventions in both this country and Canada, have played in Carnegie Hall in New York and in many large concert halls.

The Imperial Russian Quartette, with Mme. Elvie Strenert-Loseff, soprano, will appear in full Russian military costume present ing Russian folk songs with Russian balaika accompaniment and instrumental numbers on the violin, cello and piano.

Other features are Dr. George P. Bible, author, educator and lecturer, whose "Fads and Extremes" has become a Chautauqua classic and who is regarded as one of the best of the standard lecturers of the Chautauqua and Lyceum.

An Evening For the Children

Newton, Prince of Magic, will furnish an evening of rare fun and mystic entertainment for the boys and girls.

The Regniers will appear in a most unique program of character makeup, including a very clever sketch with original songs and trombone solos.

J. Lorenzo Zwickey, Swiss-Canadian crayon and water color artist, will present an art entertainment with a pointed talk on subjects of applied art.

Special plans have been made for the boys and girls in a morning Chautauqua in which they will enjoy games, picnics, a story telling hour and a score of interesting things. This Junior Chautauqua will be in charge of a trained play director, whose duty it will be to see that the boys and girls are given a big time while the Chautauqua is in session.

To Be Community Affair

The committee's plan is to make the Chautauqua as much a community affair as possible, and they will begin a thorough canvass for the sale of season tickets about a month before the date, and an efficient advertising campaign will be carried on throughout the surrounding country.

Get busy and begin to boost for OUR Chautauqua.

"FI-FI"

The Senior Class play "Fi-Fi" drew a large house Monday evening. The receipts were $206 in all, the class netting nearly $60.

The play was pleasing throughout and was staged by local talent, all of whom are deserving praise.

The play opened by the daughter of the keeper of a toy-shop being put to sleep by the sandman, and she saw in her dreams all the toys come to life by the use of magic smelling salts.

It was nice, clean and entertaining throughout including specialties. Over one hundred participated in the evening's entertainment.

COMMUNITY CLUB MEETS

Next Thursday evening, May 4th, comes the next regular meeting of the Community Co-operative Club. Every man living in this community, measuring a territory in miles around the Village of Andover, who is a well-wisher of Andover, and is willing to assist in its growth and prosperity, is most cordially invited to these meetings.
