233 YEARS AGO TO-DAY

William Penn Completed His Famous Treaty With the Indians and Acquired Possession of What is Now Pennsylvania

Every man and woman of forethought will see the wisdom of acquiring possessions. None of us can hope to own enormous tracts of land, yet nearly every person may possess the title to some property by carefully and economically managing their affairs, and opening an account with this bank.

Start saving now and let us help you.

"GINGLES JINGLES"

SMILES.

To lubricate the wheels of life there's nothing like a smile. It makes the going easy and lot up grades all the while. A smile or two will do force good On dreary days and rainy It lets the cloud in cheerfulness and carries you of your ills. By smiling you will catch the light in life, and the rays of our days will be no nights but bright and pleasant days. Just swing in line and can the blues and smile and don't complain The clouds you'll find will clear away and sunshine follow rain. Nobody will it do you good to come through with a smile, but all you come in contact with will imitate your style, and thus true happiness you gain, but in no other way can you be truly happy, so just try it for a day, and note the change it makes in you and in the ones you meet and watch the grouch hike in to clear and discontent retreat. Scoess is smiles commercialized, they get you by for gain, so join the brotherhood of smiles and Mason jar your care.

HAZEL DAWN

A Sensation, "The Masqueraders" Wednesday Evening

It is seldom that an actress who has gained an international reputation as a musical comedy star and who has never appeared before the footlights in anything but musical comedy roles, could suddenly leap into popular favor as a motion picture actress. This remarkable feat has been accomplished by Hazel Dawn, of "The Pink Lady" fame, under the guidance of the Famous Players Film Company.

Deprived of her voice, her violin and her wonderful dancing Hazel Dawn, by her personality, her rare beauty and her remarkable histrionic ability, has captured the motion picture public with the same ease with which she brought Broadway to her feet amid the glare of the footlights and the clash of the orchestra.

Miss Dawn followed Bronson Howard's "One of Our Girls" her debut as a photo-players by the picturization of the celebrated comedy, "Niobe," in which she attained a great personal triumph in the role of the statue that was brought to life. It was purely a comedy role that did not bring into play her emotional powers. It did establish her, however, as a motion picture comedienne.

In "The Masqueraders," in which Miss Dawn has been starred by the Famous Players Film Company, the beautiful musical comedy enchantress will more than prove her claim to recognition as one of the foremost dramatic actresses on the screen. Miss Dawn appears as Dulcie Larondie, a young beauty who becomes a barmaid, marries a baronet who proves to be a despicable character, and eventually finds the happiness which is her due in the man who has loved her since she was a small child.

Dulcie is the supreme test of Miss Dawn's ability as an actress. Hitherto she has won her audiences by her beauty, her personal charm, her bewitching smile and her innate cleverness. In her latest role, however, she must add to these qualifications, interpretative genius of the most potent quality. That she has done this, everyone will agree who sees her in the Paramount Picture.

L. E. DAVIS ACCUSED OF ROBBING THE BANK

Lewis H. Davis, who for seven years served as cashier of the Citizens' National Bank, is in jail at Belmont, charged with robbing the bank. The defalcation was discovered while he was in New York attending the Masonic Convention in May. On his return he was charged with the crime and admitted the facts. His resignation was accepted and the company that gave bonds for his honesty was notified. Thursday an agent of the company arrived in this city. It was learned that Davis was at his cottage on Silver Lake. Officer Ellsworth telephoned him to meet the doctor in Hornell Friday. Ellsworth and the bonding company agent went to Hornell Friday and when Davis appeared placed him under arrest. He was brought to Belmont Saturday morning and lodged in jail. Davis is 45 years old. It is said he has been living beyond his means. He claims he used the money to pay old debts owing by him when he came here. It is a sad case. Davis has an interesting family of four children, two boys and two girls, nearly grown. Bonding companies never show any mercy. They make examples of every defaulter. Davis is doubtless in for the full extent of the law. The bank is said to be fully protected.—Wellsville Democrat.

RAILROAD ITS EMPLOYEES

Following Letter Has Been Sent by the Erie to Individual Employes Engaged in Train, Engine and Yard Service.

New York, June 22.

Sir:

To support the efforts of the organization representing men in train and yard service of the Entire United States, you are asked to vote upon the demand for an eight-hour day, with time and a half for overtime.

It is found by careful investigation that to comply with this request in freight and yard service would add to the payrolls of the Railroad Company approximately two million three hundred and thousand dollars per annum, which is an increase of 37 per cent. This is not a guess, but is reached by applying the terms of the demand to the past year's operation.

If the vote of the men on the Erie Railroad will determine whether or not they bind themselves to strike if necessary to enforce these demands.

How far would the men in the service go in insisting upon such a demand if the movement were local to the Erie Railroad, and not concerted throughout the United States?

Do you think it is fair to the Erie Railroad Company for you to insist upon this unreasonable request at this time, when the general condition of the road has not been fully established and cannot be for at least two years?

Do you think it is wise to insist upon demands which, if granted, would stop all improvement work now under way, or hereafter to be undertaken?

Are you going to help your employer, the Erie Railroad, to develop in every respect into a first-class railroad, or are you going to take it by the throat and pull it down?

Have you ever stopped to think that the Erie Railroad would be of no to-day as a transportation system with the facilities of fifteen years ago? And that, to go on improving, it must be allowed to make a margin of profit above its expenses?

Do you realize the advantages accruing to yourself as well as to the Company as a result of the improvements made and to be made to keep the Erie Railroad in position to hold its own as a modern railroad with its strong competitors?

Do you realize that the wages of engine and train service at the present time are at the rate of $983,177.02 per year, or 33.9 per cent. higher than the wages of ten years ago, and that during this period of ten years not a penny in dividends has been paid by the Erie Railroad Company to its stockholders?

Are you so dissatisfied with your present wages that you are willing to join in a strike to enforce an increase?

Do you realize that if a joint strike is called the Government will take charge of the railroads and operate them, if necessary, to secure uninterrupted transportation and save the public loss and inconvenience?

Do you prefer to work for the Government under its discipline and tariff and regulation than to continue as at present a free American citizen?

You are asked to [illegible] these questions [illegible] vote by your vote [illegible] see what becomes [illegible] Upon which you [illegible] that you have an interest [illegible] and that you are going to be fair with it.

The management feels confident that all of these questions will be considered wisely by the men as a class because of its confidence in their good judgment, loyalty and spirit of fairness.

An effort to improve your condition is commendable, and always meets with sympathetic consideration, but we ask you not to be drawn into the approaching crisis which will result in disaster to both sides if the demands are pressed to a [illegible]

Yours truly,
A. J. STONE,
Vice-President.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

The Auditorium was well filled Monday evening when the Commencement exercises of the High School were held. As the curtain lifted there floated out from the center the American flag and at the same moment from the orchestra pit the strains of America brought the house to its feet.

The graduating class, numbering fourteen, were seated upon the stage which was beautifully decorated in the class colors, green and gold, the front of the platform being banked with ferns and yellow lilies. Following the salutatory given by the class president, Miss Reva Clarke, the program was given as arranged, vocal solo, Nellie Walsh; classs poem, Agnes Taylor; piano solo, Thomas Lynch; class prophecy, Ruth DeRemer; music orchestra; class oration, Eloise Clarke; piano solo, Florence Baker; class will, Frances Beebe; vocal solo, Mrs. O. SLOCUM—JACOBS

Married in Hornell, June 22nd, 1916, by Rev. Burton Clark, pastor of Park M. E. church, Mr. Earl Slocum, an Andover boy, and Miss Mary Jacobs, of 19 Olive Place, Hornell.

The happy couple took their places under the chandelier in the parlor of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Jacobs. They were married with the ring service and were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Holmes. The bride wore grey chiffon over taffeta of the same shade and carried pink roses. Only the nearest relatives were present.

After a brief wedding trip to Elmira and other eastern points Mr. and Mrs. Slocum will reside at 17 N. Main street, Hornell.

Many useful presents were given them and their numerous friends wish them a long and happy life together.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The directors of the Andover Base Ball Association met Tuesday evening and organized for 1916, as follows:

President, P. C. Berkwater
Secretary, L. I. Bloss
Treasurer, H. A. Inskip
Manager, J. Harvey Baokus

The association is now ready to schedule series games with any non-professional team in the county, on Saturday afternoons only.

WILL KEEP THEM BOTH INTERESTED AND BUSY

No "Nut Too Hard to Crack" the New York State Anti-Saloon Says Its Superintendent, W. H. Anderson.

The Anti-Saloon League of New York last fall started a fight, nation-wide, in order to get pressure into New York from the country at large, to retire a certain man as national committeeman of his party from the Empire State, and I call your attention to the fact that Mr. William Barnes is no longer on the Republican national committee. We do not claim to have done it. But we helped some, and we tackled it at a time when the immediate outcome was not at all certain. Furthermore he was whipped for control of the state committee last spring by a governor who, when asked during the closing days of the legislature session whether he considered it good—sense, good morals or good politics for a legislature in which his party had such an overwhelming majority to protect the liquor traffic from majority rule, came back squarely with the statement that he believes the varous localities have the right to vote on the question of whether they shall allow the traffic of liquor within them and that he would approve such a measure. This is the first time that a Governor of New York State has felt it safe to make such a statement.

Pursuant to the same policy of picking out a shining mark we secured evidence of the violation of the Sunday Liquor Law by the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel which is assessed at somewhere around $15,000,000, and demanded that proceedings be started to revoke its liquor tax certificate. By keeping this up until the attention of the puble was called to the volations by this and other leading hotels, we have, without assuming the burden of any prosecutions or expensive campaigns, created a condition which has both enabled and compelled the Excise Department to take up the matter and serve notice on all the hotels in New York City and all parts of the state and the liquor interests generally that the law must be obeyed.

By putting up to the Mayor of New York City the outrageous violations of the liquor law on Sunday by showing him that he must either enforce existing laws or else stand for laws that can be enforced we have secured from the Mayor of New York City the greatest city in the world, a clear cut statement that he will approve any sane, practical proposition to give the people of New York, now totally disfranchised, power to decide the liquor question.

In other states they may get more actual tangible results than we will show in New York State, but we intend that no state in the Union shall surpass New York State in vigor of campaign, in earnestness of striving, in intelligence of plan, in effectiveness of effort and in results in proportion to means available and obstacles to overcome. We intend to keep our liquor men both interested and busy at home. If the states that can put over a clean sweep for prohibition Congressmen and can ratify the national amendment will work as hard and do as well in proportion to their opportunities as New York is doing, the next national political conventions four years hence will have nothing to do with prohibition save to ratify it as an accomplished fact.

Sam Crawford, the outfielder of the Detroit Americans, is the man that has drove home more runs than any other player in the major League. Mr. Jennings is using him as a pitch hitter. He will be in the regular line up with The Detroit Americans at Wellsville, Wednesday, July 5th. Tuller Field 3:00 o'clock vs. Wellsville Interstate Club.

JOHN HARRINGTON

John Harrington, a resident of Voorhies Hill, died Tuesday morning, June 27th, at the Wellsville Hospital, where he had been operated upon the day previous. Deceased was born in Ireland, Nov. 13, 1848, and came to Andover when a small child. He leaves, beside his wife, eleven children.

Funeral service and burial will be held at Wellsville, Saturday.

NOTICE

There will be no meetings of the Masonic Lodge during the months of July and August unless specially convened.

PROGRESSIVES WILL BACK HUGHES

Colonel Roosevelt, In Letter to National Committee, Flatly Refuses to Run and Recommends G. O. P. Candidate.

Chicago, June 27.—By a vote of 32 to six, with nine members declining to vote, the National committee of the Progressive party yesterday indorsed Charles E. Hughes for President, and the Bull Moose party practically went out of existence as a national political organiation.

The decision to indorse the Republican presidential nominee came at the end of a stormy session. The fight in the committee for Hughes' indorsement was led by George W. Perkins of New York, James R. Garfield, of Ohio, and Chester H. Rowell, of California.

The radical element in the committee vigorously protested against the indorsement of any candidate for President, and tought the majority at every step of the proceedings.

Accept Roosevelt's Declination

After Oscar King Davis, secretary of the committee, had read Colonel Roosevelt's letter finally declining the Progressive nomination for President and urging that Mr. Hughes be supported by members of the Progressive party to defeat President Wilson, the committee voted to accept Colonel Roosevelt's declination and took a recess for luncheon.

At the beginning of the afternoon session, Chairman Matthew Hale of Massachusetts ruled that the next order of business was to fill the vacancy on the ticket caused by the refusal of Colonel Roosevelt to run.

Bainbridge Colby of New York presented the name of Victor Murdock of Kansas, chairman of the national committee. The proposition to run a third party was defeated after a spirited debate by a vote of 31 to 15.

Debate Several Hours

James R. Garfield of Ohio next introduced a resolution indorsing Hughes for President, and directing the executive committee of the Progressive party to co-operate with the Republicans in the campaign.

Chairman Hale ruled that the motion to indorse or recommend the Republican candidate for President was out of order and a debate of several hours ensued.

Finally, James R. Garfield appealed from the decision of the chair and was sustained, 33 to 14. Before the roll was called on the indorsement of Hughes, Bainbridge Colb made an unsuccessful attempt to have all action delayed until August 5th, the anniversary of the birth of the Bull Moose party.
