Business Change.

T. McTighe has sold the balance of his stock of merchandise to J. C. Ross of LeRoy, N. Y., who has leased the store of M. McTighe for a term of five years. Mr. Ross is a well known and highly respected business man of LeRoy, and we welcome him to our village and predict for him a prosperous future in our midst. Mr. Ross will move his family here in a short time.

Last Week's Wellsville Fire.

The property damaged was the post-office, no insurance, Vienna Bakery, loss estimated at $1200, insurance $1000; H. Reuning household goods, loss $500, not insured; Genesee Club, loss $1800, insurance $1000. The Knights of Malta lost the entire furnishing of their lodge rooms on which there was no insurance. The loss on the building cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy, but the insurance of $4,500 will hardly cover the loss.—Wellsville Reporter.

This Means Business.

CHARLES NEWTON HOOD,

Humorous Writer, Humorous Lecturer,

Will deliver his famous Lecture, "REMARKS—Relevant and Irrelevant, Pertinent and Impertinent," at the Presbyterian Church, Andover,

Friday Evening, Mar. 3, '93.

Mr. Hood is one of the cleverest of American humorists. His wit has a certain sympathetic quality, which, while it provokes the heartiest laughter, never does so at the expense of the most sensitive feelings. His fun never offends. He is a success everywhere.

A RARE TREAT!

DON'T MISS IT!

Admission 25 cents.

ROCKWELL BROS.

Our 10 days' Special Sale was a lively one, but we're still the possessors of a lot of Ladies' Jackets, Winter Dress Goods, Rose Blankets, Comfortables, etc., which we are willing to close at actual cost.

Our carpet room is attractive, but the new spring carpetings are still more so. Business in this department has begun in dead earnest. Our Dry Goods and Millinery buyers leave for New York next week, but in the meantime we are opening several cases of new spring novelties, orders for which were placed early in the season.
