98 YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The United States and Great Britain Concluded a Treaty Fixing the Boundary Line Between the United States and Canada.

It has always been to the credit of these two great countries that practically no subsequent trouble concerning this question has ever arisen between them. It has not even been necessary to maintain a border patrol between the two countries. In this manner this institution aims at having amicable relations with all its patrons.

There is satisfaction in doing business with a bank of our standing.

A Belmont Progressive Still Advocating Progressive Principles.—Hughes Made a Mistake

Belmont, N. Y., Oct. 24, 1916

Editor of Andover News:

Dear Sir: I am ... that we have at least one paper published in our county that is willing to ... progressive principles.

No ... nomination ... your ... that ... to ... and to support ... party. The ... Republican ... the very core.

I suppose ... thinks that our ... right. We ... have been a little more partisan ... choosing his company ... and not made so many ... while acting as ... State of New York.

One of Mr. Hughes's ... mistakes in my opinion was when he refused to ... say as to whether the old soldiers should have a little additional pension from the great state of New York.

This act was decidedly contrary to a democratic form of government, where the people should rule.

Mr. Hughes said it was unconstitutional. What Mr. Hughes considered unconstitutional to erect monuments over soldiers' graves and to bury soldiers out of state funds, but unconstitutional to help live ones?

Oh pshaw!

NATION WIDE STRAW VOTE IN PROGRESS

Over Rexall Druggists Collecting Vote on President All Over Country. J. D. Chesman & Co. Andover Representative.

The results of the November election, and the name of the next President of the United States may be published before the polls open. This announcement is made by the National Association of Rexall Druggists whose members, numbering over 5000 are now taking a straw vote of over 2,500,000 people from all walks of life and covering every State and Territory in the Union. By special arrangement with J. D. Chesman & Co., a member of the Rexall Association in Andover the results of the Straw Vote will be published in this newspaper.

The fact that the members of the Drug...ists' Association, operating stores in towns and cities ranging in population from 100 to 6,000,000 and scattered all over the country, and that they serve a public comprising all classes, agriculture, industrial, commercial and professional, gives to the poll a representative character.

THE WELLSVILLE & BUFFALO TO QUIT

Officials of That Railroad Say the Running of the Road is a Losing Proposition, After Ten Month's Trial.

Wellsville, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Much fear is expressed in this city that the Wellsville and Buffalo Railroad is to be discontinued after Nov. 1st.

The announcement was received last week from C. A. Finnegan, the president, that the directors have decided upon this step after giving the road a trial for 10 months. Every efficiency method was employed and every known means to get business legitimately, but every month showed a deficit, it was stated. The actual cash loss amounts to $45,000. For the first half year the average monthly loss was $6,000, but after that it dropped slightly, so the main loss for the period of operation under the ownership of the Wellsville & Buffalo Company for each month was $4,500.

The statement goes on to say that the rolling stock of the road is in such poor conditions that it cannot possibly be used after November 1, as breakdowns now are frequent. Even if money to finance the purchase of new equipment could be secured, Mr. Finnegan told a reporter, it would be impossible to buy any at this time or to have them made on account of rush conditions in plants.

All the debts of the company have been met practically as they became due. Any outstanding matters are small and will be promptly met. Mr. Finnegan and his associates, Theodore Hoffner of Buffalo and A. Weiner of Kentucky, bought the road Dec. 13, for upwards of $800,000.

They made the purchase after long deliberation and after it appeared certain that the property would be sold at auction at a good bargain sale. Their idea was to scrap the road but first give it a fair trial in operation. This has been done and there was practically no encouragement given.

The road will be disposed of by the present owners under the most favorable terms possible. They hope to be able to get back the amount of money they paid to acquire title.

TWO AGED LADIES FOUND DEAD

Wednesday Morning the Bodies of Miss Sarah Green and Mrs. Yeoman Were Found Dead in Their Homes

When little Miss Alwilda Stranton went to get the milk pail Wednesday morning, at Miss Sarah Green's, as was her custom, she found the doors locked. It was nearly 8 o'clock and the girl thought it strange. She went to Mrs. Almond Crandall, in the same house, and Mrs. Crandall went into Miss Green's rooms and found her on the floor beside her bed, dead.

It is supposed that she was stricken with heart failure as she attempted to arise.

Miss Green was 78 years of age, and lived alone in rooms in Mrs. Almond Crandall's house on W. Center Street. She had been in poor health for a number of months.

She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Delia Barker, of Buffalo, and Mrs. John Davis, of Andover.

Funeral services will be held at the house to-day, Rev. H. B. Williams officiating.

Burial will be in the Valley Brook Cemetery.

MRS. JENNIE D. YEOMANS

Mrs. Jennie Duwall Yeomans was found dead Wednesday morning, at the home on North Main Street. Deceased was 74 years of age and had been in a critical condition for several months with heart disease.

She leaves three children, Mrs. John Perry, Wm. and James Yeomans, all of this village, and several grandchildren.

Try our "B. B. B." column for results.

MARY J. BRUNDAGE

Mrs. Mary J. Brundage, was born in Greenwood, New York, May 8th, 1859. She was married to Israel M. Brundage, who died Jan. 1st, 1871.

In April 1888 she came to Andover where she has since resided. Oct. 19, 1916, she passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Groff, at Canisteo, N. Y., where she was visiting.

Funeral services were held at the house Sunday, Oct. 22, conducted by the Rev. Joel Glover, pastor of the Canisteo Presbyterian Church, after which she was taken to Greenwood for burial.

Mrs. Brundage is survived by four children, a son, and three daughters, several grandchildren, a great-granddaughter, also a large circle of other relatives and friends.

PROHI CAMPAIGNERS STOP AT WELLSVILLE

Prohibition Party Nominees in Coast to Coast Campaign Made Addresses at Wellsville. Scare Old Political Parties.

Wellsville, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The Prohibition special train with the Prohibition party nominee for president, J. Frank Hanley, and vice-president nominee, Landrith stopped at Wellsville Monday morning and made addresses.

Mr. Hanley is a former Republican governor of Indiana. His denunciation of his old party was based on its failure to take a definite stand against the liquor business.

The train stopped for a ... of about thirty minutes, during which time several interesting speakers were heard.

Ex-Governor Hanley stated that the time is nigh when every political party will be forced to introduce parts of the Prohibition planks in their platform. He continued by saying that this, to a certain extent, had already been done.

The ex-Governor gave out some very interesting data concerning the States that were already dry and that were going to be free from the sale of all intoxicants.

A fair sized crowd greeted the party and manifested considerabl interest in the different speeches. The party continued on their way to Hornell.

HOW FATE DEALS STRANGE HANDS

A Southwest Story of 1896 Which Ended in 1916 in a Mexican Border Town. Sand Storm on the Desert.

(By M. J. Brown)

About twenty years ago in South-west Texas there were two or three bands of hold-ups that made railroading a nightmare to the Southern Pacific and a dread to the passengers.

This was in the days of Jack Ketchem, Sam Bass and like "bad men."

Any time the high cost of living bothered them they rounded up the boys and held up a limited somewhere along the desert between Del Rio and El Paso.

They left the mail alone and seldom bothered the express car. They confined tribute largely to the passengers, hence had only the railroad to hunt them — and for a number of years the railroad did not have very much success.

After a hold-up the band would scatter all over West Texas, and anyone who has been over the great semi-desert tracts of the Devil's river and Pecos countries, knows it is some country to scatter in.

Then too, many of the men in these hold-up expeditions were brave cow-punchers, adventuresome lads who like the excitement and the rain—and the cattlemen would side them out and aid them in every way to elude capture.

Right here comes a story, a true story, absolutely true in every detail.

One dark, uneasy railroad boss a ranch held up a through train at midnight and raided the sleepers. One passenger refused to contribute and tried to use his gun. He was killed.

He was a man of influence and son and his killing aroused the mineral to offer big rewards for rounding up the bandits. Posse after posse was sent into the brush and the most of them were killed or caught.

Among the hunted was a native cowboy, a young fellow with many friends in the cow country — a genial fellow and a splendid rider and roper. He went in with the bunch for the novelty and excitement—and let me tell you if a preacher lived out in the sticks of West Texas for two years he would join a bank-cracking gang just to break the unbearable monotony.

He was wounded in the leg in a get-away one night from a ranch-house where he was hiding. He had out in the brush for days, food being brought him by his friends but the wound became infected and dangerous and he had to give himself up.

He was indicted, tried and sentenced to Huntsville prison for life, and before he went there his wounded leg was amputated.

He protested he had no part in

New Lodge Holds First Meeting With Big Banquet

A delegation of Andover Masons went to Alfred Monday evening attending the first meeting and banquet of the newly organized University Lodge, F. & A. M., of that village. It was a very enjoyable event and probably one of the largest gatherings of Masons that has been held in this section in some time.

The business meeting was held in the lodge rooms, after which an adjournment was taken to Firemen's Hall where the banquet was held. There were delegations from Canisteo, Andover, Wellsville, Angelica, Belmont and Hornell.

A number of informal addresses were made and the new lodge was started under most auspicious circumstances.
