AndoverHighSchool TIDBITS

The Assembly program for Friday, October 25th, was given by the eighth grade, under the direction of Mrs. Chrines. The program was as follows:

Chorus—"Button Up Your Overcoat."
Piano Solo ..... Ruth Slocum
Chorus—"Weary River," and "Pagan Love Song."
Skit—"At the R. R. Station."
Accordian Selection -- Boyd Rogers
Piano Selection ..... Ruth Slocum
Virginia Reel "In the Gay Nineties."
Chorus—"Louise."
"Home Sweet Home," Boyd Rogers

After the program a concert, given by the National Broadcasting Company's Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch, was enjoyed by all. It was "Music Appreciation Hour."

This fine music was rendered by the Stuart-Warner radio set up for the occasion by Earl Dawson.

The program was enjoyed by every one. Let us have more "Music Appreciation Hours."

One would hardly have recognized the high school library Wednesday, October 23rd, when the faculty and a few friends gathered for a joyful evening. The decorations were harbingers of Hallowe'en. A special treat of the evening was a radio donated for the evening by Earl Dawson.

Card playing and games were engaged in. At a late hour refreshments were served. Everyone in attendance expressed a wish for more of such enjoyable parties.

OVER-AND-OVER

It's Test Time in Andover High this week. This means our time is pretty well used up. The teachers will have to suffer when they correct our pitiful papers.

Wednesday, October 30, was the day of the Big Junior Hallowe'en Party. More about this next week.

Friday and Saturday of this week are the days for Teachers' Conference in Rochester. This means no school for the students Thursday afternoon and Friday.

BY E.W. HOWE
THE SAGE OF POTATO HILL

Rockefeller's Ability. Wise Fox. Impudent Criticism.

I have never believed in fortune teller, seer or prophet; the wise man is one able to profit by events after they happen.

John D. Rockefeller displayed ability not only in making money. When his stomach failed some years ago, he investigated the subject as he did an oil field, and made it function again to his advantage. The Rockefeller Foundation, his tribute to philanthropy, is as well managed as the Standard Oil Co. . . . Altho the disposition is not to think better of him, Mr. Rockefeller was once regarded as the world's greatest sinner. If he could be judged justly by some unknown power, I believe his rating, from the cradle to the grave, would be as high as that of any other man that ever lived, all because of his enormous common sense; his knowledge that honesty is the best policy.

Intelligence is merely that cunning exhibited by a fox; knowledge of traps, dogs, men, poison, inherited and acquired from long experience.

A fox, celebrated as smartest of dumb brutes, is never prejudiced or fanatical; he is able to use every particle of sense he has.

If a fox encounters suspicious tracks, he doesn't stop to argue that he is entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, but makes off to safer territory. When a man encounters danger, he too frequently stops to argue about his rights, and the danger overtakes him. A fox knows no heaven except hen roosts where there are neither dogs nor men; every fox is his own doctor, preacher, and philosopher, and never yet has there been a fox urging foxes and men to make up, and love each other. Foxes have become famous because they use all the intelligence they have, a good habit most men lack.

Constructive criticism is often great impudence. Here are our best men in transportation, finance, manufacturing, farming, mechanics, navigation, engineering, merchandising, and in all the other legitimate activities of life. They have at least done so well that our country ranks first in all essential respects. But there come a lot of palpable second raters who declare that everything has been done wrong. The bulk of these constructive critics are much like barbers talking about the money problems of the world, or tennis players discussing the problems of transportation.

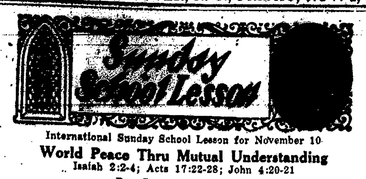
If a man harms himself in spite of repeated warnings easily understood, he is lacking in intelligence. I do not care how many powerful poems he may have written, or how many eloquent sermons he may have delivered; if he does not exercise ordinary practical sense and fairness in affairs most vital to him, he is not intelligent. Jean Jacques Rousseau is a famous man, but the man was not intelligent; his private life proves it. A man's private life is the real testing ground. Lazarus is also a famous name, but the man failed so utterly we hear of him only to teach us charity.

Our Own Talkie Vodvil

Porter: "Miss, yo' train is comin."

Pedantic Passenger: "My good man, why do you say 'your train' when you know that the train belongs to the company?"

Porter: "Dunno, miss. Why do yo' say 'mah man' when yo' knows ah belongs to mah wife?"



International Sunday School Lesson for November 10

World Peace Thru Mutual Understanding

Isaiah 2:2-4; Acts 17:22-28; John 4:20-21

Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D.

In addition to the above Scripture the following has been indicated for study by the Lessons Committee: Isaiah 11:6-10; 19:23-25; Ephesians 4:4-6, 13-19. In fact, the Bible is a Peace Book and reveals the only basis for mutual understanding that will be effective in all cases. The boldness of the various writers is a marvel. No matter how distressing were present conditions, they, by faith and thru divine revelation, declared that peaceful conditions would come. The boldest claim of all was that this peace should come about thru the advent of the Prince of Peace.

It remains for the world to see how literally the prophecy of Jerusalem as a peace center will be fulfilled. It must have caused a gasp when Isaiah proclaimed a highway uniting warlike Egypt and Assyria with Jerusalem enroute. Here were nations that were always at variance and each was striving for the possession of Palestine as the key to the other. A wonderful portrayal of peace is given under the parable of beating the swords into plowshares and the spears into pruning hooks. Up to this time nations had been impoverished by the cost of war and they had not thought of using war-making materials for peaceful pursuits. The very idea of being a student of war methods was to be abandoned.

Paul advances the teaching as he addresses the cultured and philosophical audience in Athens. He sought to impress them with the idea of the brotherhood of man thru the Fatherhood of God. As such they should not lift menacing arms against each other. There in culture in the pursuits of peace even more than in the conquest from wars. Manhood is advanced in other ways than by acquiring skill in murder.

Jesus startled the woman of Samaria at the well of Jacob when he proposed kindly dealings between the Jews and the Samaritans, who for generations had been at bitter enmity. War is too often caused by national ambition which is fostered by national boasting about superiority. This Teacher of Peace asserted that place of worship had no value; it was a heart condition as the individual spirit sought communion with the Supreme Spirit. Being greatly interested in a common cause does away with national pride and self-interest. The Christian is indeed a world citizen and as such he sees the true worth in his brethren in all parts of the earth.

Were half the power that fills the world with terror,
Were half the wealth bestowed on camps and courts,
Given to redeem the human mind from error,
There were no need for arsenals and forts.

—Longfellow.

THE DECISION THAT OFTENEST MAKES RICH MEN.

Is the decision to save a certain amount REGULARLY, and to put it in the bank, where it is safe and where it will grow.

Decisions on many points of business affairs may or may not turn out to have been wise. But as to this decision there can be no doubt. It is one hundred per cent. certain to make a man independent, if it is adhered to.

"What's good for my wife's fallen arches?"
"Rubber heels."
"What shall I rub 'em with?"

I prefer meat cured with Old Hickory Smoke Salt to meat cured in the smoke house.

The meat is juicier, has a better flavor, keeps fine and is much less trouble to cure than by the old method.

I think Old Hickory can't be beat for flavor and it certainly saves so much in time and labor.—Signed.

This testimonial is from a user of Old Hickory Smoke Salt. Name on request.

Everyone who has seen the new 100 line of New Method Radiant Gas Heaters say they are the most beautiful stove they have seen anywhere.

If you like to be up-to-the-minute in design, style and efficiency, nothing but this 100 Line New Method will quite please you.

Price of largest size—$24.50.

Special prices on all colored and fancy glass ware.

We wish to reduce this stock before the holidays and offer the line at one-third off regular prices. This brings them so low you cannot afford to let this opportunity pass.

We now have the new O'Cedar Auto Polish, and it will do wonders at brightening up the finish on your car.

It cleans and polishes at one operation, giving a hard enamel surface that will hold its gloss for a whole season.

Don't let your car go into winter without this protection, it will save you a new paint job next spring.

Polish sells regularly at $1.00 for a pint bottle, or if you wish, buy a bottle of O'Cedar furniture polish and an O'Cedar Oil Mop at $1.60 and we will give you a bottle of Auto Polish free.

Mother: "Yes, Archie, dear, those little boys next door have no father or mother, and no kind Aunt Sophia. Wouldn't you like to give them something?"

Archie, with great enthusiasm: "Oh, yes, mama! Let's give them Aunt Sophia!"

Westclox—for restful nights and busy days.

When you wind and set your Westclox be it a Sleep Meter, Big Hur or Big Ben you can set your mind at rest so far as being aroused in the morning is concerned.

Your Westclox will call you right on the dot rested, refreshed and ready for the day's work or play.

There is a suitable Westclox for every room in the house, one for your car, and a Pocket Ben to carry with you.

Plain or luminous dials and a variety of finishes in color, or nickeled.

Nowhere can you buy more accurate time keepers for many times the price.

Protect the babies from hot stoves with fire guards. Two sizes, $1.45 and $1.75.

A big chief pencil tablet, three lead pencils and a bottle of Globe fountain pen ink all for 15c.

Fancy fruit and flower baskets, attractive colorings, liberal sizes—45c to $1.00.

We can now supply complete set of utensils demonstrated by Miss Tompkins at the Better Baking School.

Dough Blenders, Cake Coolers, Plate Cleaners, Wood Mixing Spoons and Spatulas.

You may buy them singly or in sets, all the items are inexpensive and you must be convinced that they add much to the ease and pleasure of cooking and baking.

When the army doctor examined the new recruit, the former was a little puzzled at the black spot on the latter's stomach.

"Where did you get that spot?" asked the doctor.

"That," answered the recruit, "is a tattoo mark."

"Tattoo mark?" questioned the doctor. "What is it supposed to represent?"

"Oh, that's my girl's name," replied the recruit.

"What is your girl's name?" asked the doctor.

"Elizabeth," answered the recruit.

"But that spot does not spell Elizabeth," said the doctor.

"Well," answered the recruit, "it did when I was fat."

Dr. Probasco Flew to Finger Lakes

Casting aside any fear he may have entertained for flying in "little runts of planes," Dr. Probasco climbed into the Ford tri-motored cabin ship at Wellsville field last week on a couple of occasions and got a big kick out of the experience.

The cabin is fitted out with easy chairs and one can move about if they choose. There are most modern conveniences for the passengers also.

The first trip "Doc" made was over Whitesville and Wellsville and the second was a cruise to the Finger Lakes section near Hammondsport and return.

The return gave "Doc" a splendid and often hoped-for bird's eye view of the section where he lived in early life (Independence) and the ship practically sailed over the homestead.

All those who made the trip are enthusiastic over the experience.—Whitesville News.
